HISTORICAL.

OGDEN CITY.

Ogden City, the capital of Northern Utah, and though at present only the second in importance, probably destined at no distant day to step into the front rank as leading commercial center of this vast region, has a history savoring in its inception somewhat of the woodland air of Cooper's "Pathfinder," while its later development, present standing, and future prospects give it a character eminently imbued with the spirit of modern American progress.

It is one of the oldest towns built up by the sturdy and undaunted pioneers of the Great Salt Lake Valley. The first step towards the establishment of what now is the City of Ogden, and indeed towards the settlement of Weber County was taken by Captain James Brown, of the Mormon Battalion, when, on the sixth of June, 1848, he entered into negotiations with Miles M. Goodyear, an Indian trader, for the purchase of all the lands, claims, and improvements said Goodyear possessed in virtue of a Spanish grant. The Goodyear claim covered a tract of land commencing at the north of Weber Canyon and following the base of the mountains north to the Hot Springs, thence west to the Salt Lake, thence south along the shore to the point opposite Weber Canyon, thence east to the beginning. For all this land, then uncultivated and barren but containing the germs of inexhaustible fertility, the sum of $3,000 was paid. This purchase, it must be borne in mind, was effected under the provisions of the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, not fully a year after the Mormon pioneers had first put their weary feet on the virgin soil of the shores of the American Dead Sea.

The first organization of Ogden City, whither settlers soon came flocking to found new homes, was of an ecclesiastical nature, (Jan. 1851) the branch now named Ogden being divided into two wards, Isaac Clark being appointed Bishop and Jas. G. Browning and James Brown Counselors of the first ward; Erastus Bingham, Sr., Bishop, and Charles Hubbard and Stephen Parry Counselors of the second ward.

This ecclesiastical arrangement was shortly after supplemented by an act of the Territorial Legislature (Feb. 6th, 1851,) incorporating Ogden City. The first municipal election was held on Oc. 23rd, 1852, resulting in the election of the following officers: Lorin Farr, Mayor; (a position held by that gentleman until 1879, with the exception of only three terms occupied by Lester J. Herrick) Chas. R. Dana, Erastus Bingham, Francelle Durfee, and Jas. G. Browning, Aldermen; Levi Murdock, Samuel Stickney, John Shaw, B. W. Nolan, D. B. Dillie, Ithamer Sprague, Daniel Burch, Jonathan Browning, Jas. Lake, Jas. Brown, Joseph Grover, and F. Dempsey, Councilors.

The municipal organization aided these early settlers considerable in promoting individual good by uniting in the accomplishment of public improvements. Of the latter one was a Spanish wall erected all around the city at an expense of $40,000, for protection against probable attacks by the aborigines. Of such, however, we have fortunately seen no record, as the white citizens found it cheaper to feed than to fight their dusky neighbors.

Irrigation, the great secret of the marvelous success of Utah agriculture, was recognized as an indispensable factor for the subjugation of the refractory ground at an early date. In 1852, a canal for irrigating the lower part of the city was taken out of Weber River, it is about 7 miles in length. This was followed, five years later, by the making of a canal on the "Bench"—the upper part of the town. This arduous work in which the citizens generally participated with much sacrifice and privation, cost $50,000—a large outlay for so young a community in such comparative isolation from resources.

The same year, the then existing public buildings having become inadequate for the increasing numbers of religious worshipers, the Tabernacle was built, on the west side of Main Street, between First and Second.

A work of great public enterprise both for the city and a considerable portion of the Territory was the building of the Ogden Canyon road, 1859, which was accomplished at an immense labor and expense, even with some loss of life and permanent physical injuries to others.

With all their arduous labors for internal improvements, however, the people did not neglect the preparations for external defense. On the 10th of March, 1858, the first brigade of the Weber County Militia was organized, with two regiments. The following constituted the general staff: C. W. West, Brigadier General; Daniel Gamble, Brigadier Adjutant; Col. W. Thompson, Quarmaster; David Moore, Col. First Regiment; B. F. Cummings, Col. Second Regiment.

Through all this time Ogden had grown steadily, though not by any means as rapidly as it has since done. For up to 1869, what is now the Junction City, an emporium of transcontinental trade and international traffic, was an inland town, sharing the disadvantages of comparative isolation with the Territory. Its business was mainly local, being principally confined to a system of barter between the storegoods and workshop fabrics of the city man and the produce of the frugal farmer. This state of things, however, changed greatly ere the seventh decade of the century had elapsed. The transcontinental highway, the iron links of which bind the shores of the Atlantic to the plains of the Great West, and the Valleys of the Rockies and Sierras to the slope of the Pacific, made its entrance, and brought with it business, enterprise, capital, life, and enhanced prosperity, though not unmixed with some minor evils. The first of the powerful twin Pacific railroads to sound its whistle was the Union Pacific R. R., the first locomotive steaming into what now was to be "the Junction City," on Mar. 3, 1869. The universal enthusiasm, the exultant greeting, the joy and hopes then finding vent in all classes of a community which had again become linked with their fellowmen by means of rapid transit, can better be imagined than explained. The festive ceremonies of the memorable day have been graphically described by Joseph Hall, Esq., who was specially detailed, at the time, to write an account of the memorable affair for the Daily Telegraph:

"At 11 o'clock this a. m., the U. P. R. R. track layers hove in sight of this city, and from that time continued their march with great rapidity. The citizens exhibited the liveliest enthusiasm, and testified the liveliest joy, as, from the high bluffs and every commanding elevation, they feasted their eyes and ears with the sight and sound of the long-expected and anxiously looked-for fiery steed. Onward and still onward they came, and thousands and thousands of our citizens, both from here and from the adjoining settlements, decked in their holiday attire, gave a hearty welcome to the nation's great highway into this city.

About half-past 2 p. m., they steamed into Ogden, when Col. Daniel Gamble, with true Hibernian enthusiasm, ran up the first flag, which, while gradually floating in the breeze, was soon followed by numerous others. And here let me observe that never, to my knowledge, did the flags of our Union wave more gracefully, or more proudly, than on this auspicious occasion. Our excellent military brass band was soon out, and, under the able leadership of Captain William Pugh, sent forth the soul-enlivening strains of rich music, which, with a salute from Captain T. S. Wadsworth's artillery, gave the preliminary welcome to the iron horse.

"At four o'clock a public stand was erected alongside the track. At five o'clock a procession was formed under the direction of the committee of arrangements, (Col. Wm. N. Fife, Captain Joseph Parry, and Francis A. Brown, Esq.,) which consisted of the Mayor, members of the City Council, the various schools, under the superintendence of their respective teachers, headed by the band, bearing banners with numerous appropriate mottoes, among which the following was conspicuous: 'Hail to the Highway of Nations! Utah bids you Welcome!'

"Pedestrians, equestrians, and crowded vehicles now thronged the festive scene. Wadsworth's artillery having arrived, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired, whose deafening echoes vibrated through the mountains, hills, and vales.

“At half-past five the rails were laid to a point in a line with the Tithing Office Street (now Fourth Street), five blocks north into the city. On the stand were Hons. F. D. Richards, L. Farr, A. F. Farr, Colonals D. Gamble, W. Thomson, W. N. Fife, Major S. M. Blair, Captains Joseph Parry, William Clayton, Major Pike, A. Miner, F. S. Richards, Joseph Hall, Gilbert Belnap, J. McGaw, F. A. Brown, Esqrs., Col. J. C. Little, D. B. Warren, and ———Johnson, Esqrs., and others who were invited, but whose names I did not learn.

“The vast audience being called to order by Hon. L. Farr, of Ogden City, Hon. F. D. Richards was introduced, who delivered an eloquent and soul-stirring address.

“Three cheers for the great highway were then proposed and given, when the wildest enthusiasm and demonstrations of joy prevailed, and loud shouts rent the air. Amid the alternate pealings of the artillery’s thunder, the music of the band, and the long-continued, shrill whistling of the three engines, the waving of hats, kerchiefs, and other demonstrations of pleasure, rendered the occasion such as will not soon be forgotten by those present.

“Addresses were also delivered by Hon. L. Farr, Col. J. C. Little, Major Blair, and A. Miner, Esq.”

Only a few weeks after, in the early part of May, the connection with the West was completed, by the laying of the last rails at Promontory, when the spanning of a continent was consummated and the future greatness of the Junction City assured beyond a doubt.

But Ogden was to have a longitudinal outlet by rail as well as a latitudinal. On the 17th of the same eventful year, near Weber River, ground was first broken for the Utah Central road, a creation of the fertile brain and powerful will of Brigham Young. On this occasion, which was also attended by general enthusiasm of the people of both Ogden and Salt Lake, representative and leading men of both sister cities were present and took part in the interesting exercises. This road was completed and opened for travel, on January 12th, 1870.

Another iron highway, the establishment of which marks a memorable epoch in the history of our city is the Utah & Northern, the first rails of which were laid near Brigham City, in March, 1872, while grading commenced at Ogden in Sept., 1873, and the first train of cars left our city for Franklin, Idaho, on May 22nd, 1874.

In giving the railroad development prominence we passed by a few events of great note and importance in the history of Ogden City, as well as Weber County. The Territorial Legislature of 1868-'69 elected as Probate Judge of Weber County Hon. Franklin D. Richards, who removed to the City of Ogden in 1869, in March, his family followed in May. F. S. Richards was appointed Clerk of the Probate Court, and in the August following he was elected County Recorder.

The same year also witnessed the establishment and short career of the Ogden Daily Telegraph, of which more hereafter, as well as of the Ogden Junction which came into existence with the beginning of 1870.

On Jan. 9th, 1870, Bishop Chauncey Walker West died at San Francisco, aged 43 years. His remains were brought home to Ogden, where a grand funeral was given him on the 16th. His successor in the direction of the Church affairs of the County was Lester J. Herrick, with Walter Thomson and David M. Stuart.

Ogden's civil authorities, ecclesiastical dignitaries, and citizens in general were also numerously represented at the driving of the last spike on the Utah Central, in Salt Lake City, Monday, January 10th.

During the month of July the city was placed under quarantine on account of the prevalence of smallpox. In December, an ordinance was passed dividing the city into wards.

The municipal election of 1871 was one of the most interesting ever held, as the People's ticket showed, on the whole, a decided effort to reconstruct the city government, and also on account of the appearance in the field of a "local reform" ticket, composed of names from both sides of the community. The "People's" ticket which was headed by Lester J. Herrick for Mayor obtained 385 votes to 94 polled by the "Liberal" ticket. This campaign may be considered the starting point of the Liberal party of Weber County.

On the death of Thomas G. Odell, June 18, 1873, Jas. Taylor became City Recorder, which position he has filled virtually ever since.

On the morning of the 9th of August, 1873, a great fire occurred in Ogden, on Main Street, ten stores being totally destroyed, and Z. C. M. I. losing heavily. This woke the citizens up to the necessity of a fire brigade, which was ultimately organized in December, 1874, Joshua Williams chief.

In 1875, great social events of a public nature were the receptions of Governor Axtell and President U. S. Grant. A similar event occurred in May, 1876, when Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, passed through Ogden.

But the great occasion of this year was the grand Centennial celebration, which, in behalf of all Utah, was held at Ogden, with unusually imposing demonstrations. This year was also distinguished by a specially animated campaign in the County election, when a "revised" People's ticket was put in the field. The latter polled 562 votes against 917 obtained by the straight People's ticket. In French Kid Gloves in all shades at Marks, Goldsmith & Co's.

October, the city was visited by the smallpox scourge.

In the February election, 1877, Lorin Farr was returned into the municipal government as Mayor. On the 11th of June, Walter Thomson, one of the most prominent, active, and useful citizens died. In July a disastrous fire destroyed a considerable part of Main Street, the furniture houses of Boyle & Co. and James Gale being the principal losers.

The beginning of 1878 gave Fourth Street an unprecedented boom, the new postoffice, the bank of Harkness & Co., J. W. McNutt's establishment, and the Opera House being among the principal structures, followed by others in the course of years. In May the telephone system was established. The corner stone of the Catholic convent school was laid on July 14. At a Priesthood meeting of December 7, the City of Ogden was redistricted for ecclesiastical purposes. In December the large central room on the ground floor of the County Courthouse was fitted up for the District Court. On December 12th, the Mound Fort schoolhouse was destroyed by fire, the damage being about $3,000. The same month the system of street railways and the formation of a race course was advocated by the press.

On January 15th, 1879, the Ogden Junction gave another instance of its progressive spirit by calling for the electric light—which call took over three years to be answered.

On January 26th, Mrs. Daniel P. Williams, of West Weber, was drowned in the Weber River, while crossing at the McFarlane ford from West Weber to Slaterville, in company with another lady and her husband.

Thursday afternoon, as per previous announcement, the city convention for the nomination of municipal officers met, and after a somewhat turbulent session the following ticket was settled upon: Mayor, L. J. Herrick; Aldermen, D. M. Stuart, C. F. Middleton, J. Stanford, Wm. B. Hutchings; Councilors, E. Stratford, R. S. Watson, R. McQuarrie, I. Canfield, W. W. Burton; Marshal, W. Brown; Recorder, Jas. Taylor; Assessor and Collector, Thos. D. Dee; Treasurer, Aaron F. Farr. This—the People's—ticket was elected on Monday, February 11th, by an average of 690 votes against 45 for the opposition.

About this time, also, a petition was put in circulation (receiving a great many signatures) asking Weber County to buy the Ogden Canyon road and open it for the free use of the public. It was then owned by a company who were obliged to charge toll at such a high rate people traveling to and from Ogden Valley found such a tax burdensome. The petition was not acted upon at the time, but the intended object was realized afterwards.

March 24th will ever be a memorable day in the annals of public improvements in the Junction City, because on that day the work of surveying the proper route for the sewer was commenced under the direction of Joseph A. West.

The Junction, on April 20th, advocated the establishment of a high-school or academy, a desideratum which was ultimately fulfilled in the erection of the Central School. In this connection it is interesting to mention the gathering of representative men of Ogden City, which took place in the Courthouse, on Monday evening, April 21st, to consider the best means of supplying the educational wants of the community. Hon. F. D. Richards was chairman and L. F. Monch secretary of the meeting. Short speeches were delivered by the chairman, D. H. Peery, Joseph Stanford, Job Pingree, D. M. Stuart, L. F. Monch, Edwin Stratford, Thos. Wallace, and Lorin Farr, favoring the erection of a good, substantial central schoolhouse with a view to establish a graded school. The sense of the meeting by a unanimous vote, was the approval of this project, and a committee was appointed, (L. F. Monch, C. F. Middleton, and R. S. Watson,) to draft resolutions expressing these views to the school trustees and to ask them to call a public meeting of the taxpayers when the matter could be properly discussed and legal action taken thereon. The resolution of this committee was duly drafted and published in the Junction of April 23rd. In pursuance to this resolution the trustees called a meeting of the taxpayers for May 6th, but on account of the slim attendance the meeting was adjourned one week, till May 13th, when Trustee Stanford set forth the object of the meeting. Speeches were also made by L. Farr, A. Ross, P. L. Anderson, J. Pingree, W. A. Wade, A. D. Rogers, D. Alexander, and others. The motion of L. F. Monch that we assess a tax on the taxable property of this school district for the erection of a central school-house was carried by 96 against 46. Lorin Farr's motion to assess three-fourths of one per cent. was carried by a large majority, and it was also resolved by an almost unanimous vote that the cost in the erection of the building just referred to should not exceed $15,000.

May 30th the great excursion of delegates of the National Sabbath School Convention (about 350 ladies and gentlemen) arrived from the East en route for the Pacific Coast. They were cordially received on the part of the Territory (Gov. Emery speaking) and Ogden City (Alderman Stanford spokesman.)

In its issue of June 19th, the Junction advocated the establishment of water works, a subject which commenced to occupy public attention and arouse increasing private discussion among the business men and the citizens generally.

At a meeting held June 8th, in the City Hall, the Ogden Driving Park and Fair Grounds Association was formed, which has erected one of the finest tracks in this western country—situated on the bench land in the north-east of the city.

The month of July records the erection of soap works, by Batchelder & Co., in Ogden.

At about 11:30 p. m., July 21st, a storehouse on Fifth Street belonging to W. G. Child, was burned down.

In the evening of July 31st, the remains of the late Joseph Standing, a Mormon missionary murdered by a mob in Georgia, July 21st, arrived in Ogden, where they were paid a fitting tribute of respect by large numbers of his mourning co-religionists.

The Fourth Ward Brass Band, Prof. John Fowler leader, was organized August 12th.

The City Council, in its session of August 8th, took the question of the establishment of water works vigorously in hand, thus laying the corner stone to that great public improvement which has since developed into so beneficial and popular a system.

On August 18th, the Catholic church, on Fifth Street, narrowly escaped destruction by fire. The blaze was discovered in time and subdued, leaving a damage of only one hundred dollars.

At 10 o'clock, a. m., August 28th, the solemn ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new Central Schoolhouse were held. Hon. F. D. Richards, assisted by the trustees and Superintendent L. F. Monch, laid the corner stone and afterwards offered up the dedicatory prayer, after which, suitable addresses were made on the subject of education in general and its progress and development in Ogden by Joseph Stanford, L. F. Monch, Leo Hæfeli, F. D. Richards, and D. M. Stuart; a large number of citizens witnessed the interesting services.

At the close of August, L. B. Stephens made his exit from the Ogden Post Office; General Nathan Kimball succeeded him, who held this office till February, 1883, when he was superseded by E. A. Littlefield, editor and publisher of the Pilot.

October 6th, a fire at the depot destroyed over $6,000 worth of buildings and merchandise in the storehouse and extra sleeping rooms of M. H. Beardsley, opposite the Union Depot Hotel.

October 30th, General Grant and wife passed through Ogden; Governor Emery delivered an address of welcome.

November 21st, formal and festive opening of the Ogden Driving Park.

January 29th, 1880, a joint committee of the County, City, and canals located the spot for the new bridge across the Weber, west of the depot.

February 3d, Thomas Heninger was arrested on an indictment for bigamy, found by the Grand Jury of the Third District Court, November, 1879. He was taken to Salt Lake City, next morning, and was accompanied by Richards & Williams, his counsel.

February 19th, Dr. McKenzie started the temperance movement in Ogden City by an address in Union Opera House. A reform club was founded, which fell to pieces after a few months' duration, the temperance cause, so-called, being subsequently resuscitated by the establishment of a Good Templar lodge.

February 20th, the bill attaching the northern counties to the Second District, and making Ogden the seat of the new First District, with two terms a year, became a law.

February 29th, Governor Murray meets with a formal reception.

March 1st, the residence of D. M. Stuart, on Fourth Street, about four and one-half blocks from Main, was destroyed by fire. Estimated loss, $2,500.

April 12th, the taxpayers of the First District voted a tax of three-fourths of one per cent. to raise the amount necessary to finish the Central schoolhouse, and run the public schools in general.

At the August election, the vote in Weber County was 1,170, nearly unanimous for the People's ticket.

September 5th, President R. B. Hayes and party arrived in Ogden, from the East.

September 26th, the dedication of the Central schoolhouse took place; R. Ballantyne, in behalf of the trustees, after thanking the distinguished visitors from Salt Lake City, gave notice that the public schools of the District would begin next day.

November 2d, Ogden City gives George Q. Cannon 656 votes for Delegate to Congress, Campbell, 58.

November 12th, the City Council passed a resolution that "the Brush electric light be adopted on the conditions proposed by Mr. Ruthrauff."

The new bridge over the Weber River was formally opened on November 27th. This structure, a double-track wagon bridge, which spans the turbulent waters of the Weber River at this point, was built by contractors, Hammond & Doyle for rock work on the massive abutments, and D. Moore for bridge proper, which was constructed of heavy timbers and iron rods. The expense of the erection of this bridge, as well as that of the Ogden bridge, built about four years previously, was borne equally between county and city.

The official number of registered voters in Weber

County this year was 2,779 (1,473 males and 1,306 females). Ogden had 1,168 (602 males, 566 females).

The new building of Z. C. M. I. was dedicated on the 4th of February, 1881; President John Taylor, Joseph F. Smith, F. D. Richards, Horace S. Eldredge, William Jennings, D. H. Peery, D. O. Calder, and Lorin Farr attended the ceremonies.

At the municipal election held on the 14th of February, there was no opposition ticket in the field.

February 16th witnessed the last issue of the Ogden Junction after a little more than eleven years existence.

On March 26th a large fire occurred at the freight offices of the U. P. and C. P. depots; the losses on buildings and freights were placed at $150,000 and $200,000.

In the latter part of April the Ogden Vinegar Works, then owned by Frank Rother, were burned down. They have since been rebuilt, and are now owned by Orth Bros.

On the 11th of May, the Ogden Electric Light Company was incorporated, with David F. Walker, president, James Horrocks vice-president, G. S. Erb, secretary, and H. Schwabe, assistant secretary.

On the 19th the city became a party to the Ogden Water Company, taking the controlling interest in the stock. The company at once set to work to develop the system, which was successfully operated, and the main line, from about one and a half miles up the Ogden Canyon to the reservoir on Fourth Street, was completed by December, and distributing pipes had been laid along the principal streets of the city.

The same day witnessed the first lighting of the electric light tower; bands were out and the streets were crowded with people. The experiment was only partially successful.

On the 27th of May, W. G. Child, James Taylor, and Thomas D. Dee were appointed and approved as members of the board of directors of the Ogden Water Works Company, to represent the interests of the city.

June 20th, many of the stores were lit up by the electric light for the first time.

June 21st there was an old folks' excursion from Salt Lake City. Presidents Taylor, Cannon, and Woodruff participated; also Bishop Hunter and other veterans. About five thousand people gathered at Farr's Grove. The recreation was accompanied with singing, feasting, dancing, and speeches. It was the finest affair of the kind ever held in the Territory.

The following, relative to a cavalry parade to celebrate the Fourth of July of this year, will give subject for quite a suggestive page of Utah history:

TO GOVERNOR E. H. MURRAY,

Salt Lake City, Utah:

SIR:—Under the auspices of the City Council and the direction of the central committee, without distinction of political parties or religious creeds, it is intended to celebrate the Independence Day of our Nation, here, and it has been suggested that a cavalry company would add interest to the occasion but might conflict with some Executive order, we were appointed by a meeting of the various committees, assembled by a call from the executive committee, to ascertain from your Excellency if there were any objections or known reasons why there should not be such a parade. You will confer a favor on us and those we represent by an immediate reply.

With high regard,

R. K. WILLIAMS,	} Committee.
A. S. CONDON,
M. H. BEARDSLEY

The Governor's reply:

To the Hon. R. K. Williams, Dr. Condon, and M. H. Beardsley, Esqs:

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of the 9th instant (June) is received, in which you state that the people of your good city are arranging for a celebration of Independence Day, and that it had been suggested that a cavalry company would add interest to the occasion, but that it might conflict with some Executive orders previously promulgated, and that your committee were instructed to advise with me, etc. The orders of my predecessors, as to the militia, are yet in effect, the same necessity of their promulgation existing. If there was an available company or battalion at hand, I should be pleased to issue the necessary orders for it to join in the ceremonies of the day. There is no authority under the law to authorize the organization of the cavalry company you suggest.

Sincerely wishing you may have a successful and happy celebration, towards which I should be glad to contribute anything in my power officially or personally, I remain gentlemen,

Most respectfully

ELI H. MURRAY.

The logic of this refusal of His Excellency—so reasons the editor of Tullidge's Quarterly—should signify that “there is no authority under the law for the Governor” to either organize or disorganize the militia of a State or Territory.

On the 2nd of July, appeared the following

PROCLAMATION:

Whereas, a great calamity has befallen the Nation, its Chief Magistrate, President Garfield, having been wounded (supposed to be mortally) and prostrated by the bullet of the assassin; and

Whereas, the citizens of Ogden City had previously arranged for a celebration of Independence Day,

Be it known that I, Lester J. Herrick, by virtue of my office as Mayor of Ogden City, do advise the citizens of said city to refrain from all festivities on the Fourth of July, 1881, the 105th anniversary of the Independence of the United States, from deference and respect to the President; that all places of business be closed on that day, and that the proprietors of all places wherein intoxicating liquors are sold are hereby forbidden to open the same on the fourth day of July, 1881.

L. J. HERRICK,

Mayor of Ogden City,

Utah Territory, U. S. A.

At a later date the central committee gave notice of a meeting for the purpose of returning all moneys which had been subscribed for the celebration of the Fourth. It was finally, however, concluded by the various committees and the citizens of Ogden generally to hold a grand celebration of the Fourth and Twenty-fourth of July combined. The celebration came off in Lester Park on the 24th, and the Ogden Herald headed its very elaborate description of the scene and the occasion—"A Glorious Gala Day in Ogden History."

At the August general election, Lorin Farr and D. H. Peery were returned as representatives to the Legislative Assembly for Weber County. Weber County officers: selectman, P. G. Taylor; county recorder, C. C. Richards; superintendent of district schools, L. F. Monch.

In the year of 1882, Ogden put on quite a new appearance. Architecturally, in some of its features, it rivaled Salt Lake City. The Broom Hotel rose on the corner where there had been so long a row of little shops which gave an insignificant appearance to the business part of the city, but where now stands the finest hotel between Omaha and San Francisco. A number of other buildings of grand pretensions were erected on Main and Fifth Streets. During the spring and summer the busy workmen gave life and bustle to these streets, and Ogden in a year seemed to advance a decade.

But Ogden's great historical mark of the year was made in the political campaign of our Territory, which opened a new era in Utah politics. She gave a foremost account of herself in the convention of the People's party held in Salt Lake City in October. The Weber delegation held quite a controlling political influence on that occasion, just as Ogden did in the subsequent campaign. The delegation consisted of F. S. Richards, Judge R. K.

Williams, Joseph Stanford, L. W. Shurtliff, and N. Tanner, Jr.

The political action of 1882 found its resolution early in 1883 in the municipal election. All through the late campaign for Delegate to Congress the Liberal party had their eye on the forthcoming Ogden City election in February, which was doubtless one of the principal reasons of that party making such splendid efforts to rival the People's party in the Ogden demonstrations of the great campaign. None expected that Judge Van Zile would carry the election throughout the Territory against John T. Caine, who marshaled "Young Mormondom" and took the field, while the veteran founders of the Territory sat back in their easy chairs, confident of the result, notwithstanding their own disfranchisement; nor were the Liberal party much surprised that John T. Caine carried a majority over Van Zile nearly equal to the entire vote of the Hon. George Q. Cannon at the previous election. But it seemed possible for the Liberal party to carry Ogden at the municipal election of 1883, and to this end they bent all their energies. Mayor Herrick and the men who had served in the City Council were undoubtedly both popular and able men; but the Edmunds bill rendering it necessary for Mayor Herrick to retire, one division of the People's party resolved on an entirely new ticket for the Ogden City Council. This division sent a majority of delegates to the nominating convention, and the new ticket was constructed with Hon. D. H. Peery for Mayor; Aldermen: First Ward E. Stratford, Second Ward, N. Tanner, Jr., Third Ward, Joseph Farr, Fourth Ward, F. A. Miller; Councilors: Samuel Horrocks, John Pincock, R. J. Taylor, Alfred Folker, John A. Boyle; Recorder, Thomas J. Stevens; Treasurer, Robert McQuarrie. During this preliminery action the Liberal party were all alive with the hope that a pronounced opposition would develop itself in the People's party, giving a chance for a coalition. The People's party, however, won the day, their whole ticket being elected by a large majority, D. H. Peery leading with 1,050 against 813 for J. S. Lewis.

THE PRESS.

Ogden City was, for about nineteen years, without a newspaper of her own. Indeed, for a number of years the only journal published in the Territory was the Deseret News, which was issued weekly. Realizing the truth of the adage that "the pen is mightier than the sword" in many respects, both for good and evil, and being anxious for an exponent of their own—an organ through which they could represent themselves—it was with unfeigned pleasure that in the winter of 1868 our citizens heard that Mr. T. B. H. Stenhouse was intending to publish a newspaper in Ogden. But it was not his intention at that time to move to this city and publish the Daily, Semi-Weekly, and Weekly Telegraph. It was the design of Mr. Stenhouse to issue a weekly journal to be called the Ogden Times. For this purpose he purchased press and material in the East, and when the temporary depot or way station was located at "Taylor's Switch," Mr. Joseph Hall was dispatched to Wasatch to hunt up the freight car containing the material for the Times. But fate willed that the journal under that name should not receive birth in the Junction City. Mr. Hall succeeded in finding the freight and getting it released; no easy task at that period of railroad rustlings. Delays, however, were frequent and lengthy. The winter rolled away, spring set in, and the program of the Ogden pioneer press was changed. It was determined that Stenhouse should move to this city and bring the Telegraph establishment with him. Mr. Hall and Mr. Thomas G. Odell were engaged making preparations and receiving the machinery, type, etc., as they arrived from Salt Lake City, and deposit them in the "Seventies' Hall," where the paper was to be issued. On the 8th of May, 1869, Mr. John Jaques, the Editor, and Mr. T. G. Webber, the able Business Manager, arrived from the capital, and, on the 11th of May, the first number of the Daily Telegraph was issued in Ogden City. But here we must correct an error in relation to part of the name of the journal. It was not called the Ogden Daily Telegraph, but it retained the former name—viz.: Salt Lake Daily Telegraph, and some of the citizens of Ogden took umbrage at this, because they expected the proprietor of the paper would adopt the name of this city for his new venture. Mr. Odell became the Foreman of the establishment, and Mr. Hall the City Editor.

Mr. Jaques had been appointed at a General Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, held in Salt Lake City in April, to take a mission to England, and therefore occupied the editorial chair but for a brief period. He was succeeded by the late Mr. Edward L. Sloan, one of the founders and also Editor-in-Chief of the Salt Lake Herald. After a run of a few months the publication of the Telegraph was discontinued, and the proprietor removed the establishment back to the capital—and thus terminated Ogden's debut in journalism. Among the compositors who had worked on the Telegraph in this city were Mr. John G. Chambers, Mr. Orson H. Eggleston, and Mr. Reuben B. Eggleston; the last named gentleman still plies his vocation in the Ogden Herald office.

For the remainder of the year the people of this city and county were without a newspaper. This condition of things could, of necessity, be of but brief duration. The people must have a journal here—the necessities of the times demanded it. In December of 1869, a company of gentlemen united and organized, under the name of the "Ogden Junction Publishing Company;" and on January 1st, 1870, the first number of the Semi-Weekly Ogden Junction was issued, with Hon. F. D. Richards, Editor, C. W. Penrose, Esq., Associate Editor, Mr. Joseph Hall, City Editor, and Mr. James McGaw, Business Manager of the new journal; with also the same foreman and a number of the same compositors that worked on the Telegraph. On the retirement of Mr. Richards, Mr. Penrose became the Editor-in-Chief. The Junction gained a large and extensive circulation in Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, Nevada, &c. In the month of September, 1872, the issuing of the Daily Junction was commenced. The Semi-Weekly was also continued. In 1877, the company sold out the establishment to Mr. Richard Ballantyne. Mr. Penrose removed to Salt Lake City and became the Editor of the Deseret News, and Mr. S. A. Kenner was engaged as Editor of the Junction.

In this same year the Amateur, a literary magazine, was commenced, under the auspices and in the interests of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association. It was published bi-weekly. Its Editors and contributors were the members of the Association. At the close of the second volume it was discontinued.

In 1878, Mr. Ballantyne sold the Junction to a company of gentlemen in this city, who soon after enlarged the sheet and made it a morning journal; but subsequently changed the time (with changes of the railroad time tables) of publication to an evening paper again. In March of 1880, Mr. Leo Hæfeli became the Editor, and Mr. George G. Taylor, City Editor. These gentlemen continued in this capacity until February 14th, 1881, when that journal suspended.

In the summer of 1875, Legh R. Freeman and wife arrived here and commenced the publication of a semi-weekly paper, bearing their own name—the Ogden Freeman. The first number was issued by the lady, Mrs. Ada V. Freeman. It was very conservative in tone and character—indeed Mrs. Freeman appeared desirous to conciliate the people of Ogden and gain their good will. She succeeded to some extent by her non-interference with the religious and social system of the citizens. But when Freeman arrived here the policy of the paper was soon changed. He was a strong anti-“Mormon”—in fact he was a sort of wild Ishmaelite—his hand was soon turned against every man that he could not bulldoze, but he sometimes met with severe retaliation. Freeman came to Utah on wheels, with his peripatetic press, and at intervals along the route of the Union Pacific Railroad, at various towns issued an edition of his paper which was then called the Frontier Index. In the month of Nov., 1868, while at Bear River City, in Box Elder County, he raised an excitement against him which culminated in the destruction of his press, and had he not made good his escape he would have been lynched by the enraged people. Freeman charges that the rage against him was caused by his exposing some land rings and land jobbers. Freeman was in continual hot water during the time he remained here in consequence of his malignity and abuse of many of the citizens. In 1879 he collapsed, and the same season he started with his family for Montana. While en route Mrs. Freeman was shot by the accidental discharge of some fire arms. The wounds proved fatal. After lingering and severe suffering for a short time she died.

On the first of January, 1879, the Dispatch, a daily paper, was commenced by the Dispatch Publishing Company. Mr. F. B. Millard was Editor, and Chas. S. King, City Editor. It was an anti-"Mormon" sheet and was of course opposed to the religion, politics, and general policy of the "Mormon" leaders and community. In November of the same year the Dispatch was sold to another company consisting of Messrs. Bradford and Cröwell. They engaged Hon. Marshal N. Brewster as Editor. After the journal changed hands it did not live long, although it was more conservative than it had been under the former management. It collapsed for lack of support. On January 31st, 1880, the last number of the Dispatch was issued, and the enterprise sank into the grave of its predecessors.

On New Year's Day, 1880, was commenced another small sheet called the Rustler, by the same Editors and Publishers who first inaugurated the Dispatch. The Local Editor of that sheet, Mr. Chas. King, was himself a "rustler." He was full of zeal, energy, and vim. He was severe on immoral institutions and gave such vivid pictures of several parties who it was charged visited and supported houses of ill-repute, that he incurred their wrath and the vengeance of some of them. The Rustler was a morning paper, and about midnight, on the 22nd of February, a party of masked ruffians entered the office, abused Mr. King, dragged him out into the darkness, tarred and feathered him, and then decamped. The parties who committed the dastardly deeds were known, although the misdemeanor could not be proved against them. But Charley was not only a King, but also a hero and a martyr. The sympathies of all peaceable and law-abiding citizens were with him. On March 15th, 1880, the editors published their valedictory, the Rustler rushed out of existence and was seen no more.

The next Gentile journalistic venture was the Og- den Daily Pilot. Its initial number was issued early in March, 1881, by E. A. Littlefield, formerly editor and proprietor of the Post, Elko, Nevada. Quite a number of the leading firms in Ogden gave to the enterprise considerable subscription and advertising patronage, with the understanding that the policy of the journal would be non-interference. But the first number contained a vigorous and pronounced attack on the religious tenets of the majority of the citizens, so that they withdrew their patronage and, of course, the institution suffered in consequence. Subsequently Mr. Littlefield sold out to a company, he continuing to act as business manager. Instead of improving, however, the tone of the paper continued to grow more abusive, its own friends became disgusted, and the sheet was threatened with collapse. Recently the Pilot changed hands, and with the change came also a change in temper. Its tone under the new regime is courteous and conciliatory. Mr. Wm. M. Thompson is the Business Manager.

Thus it will be discovered that quite a number of newspapers have found their birth and demise in Ogden City. After the suspension of the Ogden Junction, the demise of this journal left the majority of the citizens of Ogden, for more than two months, minus an organ to represent their interests, or to defend themselves against the vituperative attacks of an abusive press. This was a desideratum that was severely felt by the citizens of all Weber County, and they determined to supply this want.

On the 9th of February, 1881, a number of prominent citizens met at the residence of Hon. D. H. Peery, in this city, to take the initial steps for the organization of the Ogden Herald Publishing Company. Mr. Peery was elected chairman and Mr. Joseph Hall secretary. The object of the meeting was thoroughly discussed and a temporary organization was effected, as follows: D. H. Peery, President; L. J. Herrick, Vice-president; Joseph Hall, Secretary; Charles F. Middleton, Treasurer. At an adjourned meeting held in the City Hall, February 19th, a permanent organization was completed, with the above named gentlemen as officers of the company. An Executive Committee and Board of Directors were also elected. The books were opened at once and stock was subscribed. New presses, type, etc., were purchased, and, on the 2nd of May, 1881, the first number of the Ogden Daily Herald (evening issue) was issued, with Mr. John Nicholson as Editor, Leo Hæfeli City Editor, Joseph Hall as Agent and Traveling Correspondent, E. H. Anderson Business Manager, and Alma D. Chambers, Foreman. Mr. Hall traveled in the interests of this journal in Western Wyoming, Eastern and Northern Utah, Idaho, Montana to the terminus of the Utah & Northern Railroad, to San Francisco, Los Angeles, and other places, securing subscription and advertising patronage and writing up for publication in the Herald whatever appeared of interest in the places he visited. In October 1881, Mr. Nicholson retired from the editorial chair of the Herald and removed to Salt Lake City, where he took a position on the editorial staff of the Deseret News. The present Editors of the Herald are Joseph Hall and Leo Hæfeli Esqs.

The Ogden Herald is devoted to the advocacy of the constitutional, religious, civil, political, and local rights of the whole community, regardless of race, color, or creed. Its motto is "Good Will to All—Enmity to None." The Herald supports all measures for the elevation of the moral tone of society to the highest standard of excellency. It furnishes its readers with the latest political, commercial, general, and local news, up to the hour of going to press. The Herald encourages and promotes education, home industries, the development of our agricultural and mineral resources, and the financial, commercial, and mechanical interests of the Great West. In politics it represents the People's Party; in religion, it represents the dominant party in the County.

The Ogden Herald has been established a little over two years, and notwithstanding many others have failed, this enterprise has been successful beyond the most sanguine hopes and expectations of those who inaugurated it. It is well and ably conducted. Its Editors are experienced in journalistic life and have been connected with other newspaper enterprises and institutions. It is high-toned and courteous, and its columns are open to the temperate discussion of all questions of public interest and benefit to the greatest number. It enjoys an extensive circulation, which is still increasing. Its list of exchanges, besides its Utah, Idaho, and other northern contemporaries, comprises a large number of respectable, influential journals published on the Pacific Slope and the Atlantic seaboard. There is an excellent job office attached to the Herald institution, where first-class work can be obtained, and whose patronage keeps its presses constantly running. The Herald's prospects for the future are cheering, and the progress of the Junction City and changes in the arrival and departure of the trains on the railroads centering in this place may necessitate also a change in the issuing of the Herald. In that event it will become a morning journal.

THE SCHOOLS.

Weber County is divided into school districts, presided over by a County Superintendent (Prof. L. F. Monch holding the position at present,) who holds his office for two years. The school matters in each district are under the direction of three trustees, one of which is elected annually and holds his office for three years or until his successor is qualified, thus making the board continuous by leaving two practised trustees in office each year. With the exception of one lately organized, each district, of which there are sixteen, is well supplied with a good, comfortable schoolhouse, constructed either of brick, stone, adobe, or lumber. Some of them are very commodious and neat in their architectural designs, while all are seated with comfortable desks either home-made or imported, the latter of the best patents. The walls of nearly all of these are adorned with maps, charts, blackboards, clocks, in fact all necessary appurtenances usually found in well-regulated district schools. Several of the districts have beautiful groves planted near the schoolhouses, protected with substantial fences. The teachers are generally graduates from the Central School, a few from the University of Deseret. The following statistics were reported in 1882: Number of children in County between 6 and 18 years 3,913. Number enrolled in schools 2,946, or 76 per cent. Number of days schools have been in session, 160. Amount paid teachers, $12,513.85. The average attendance exceeded sixteen out of the thirty-eight States in the Union, prominent among which are New York and New Jersey. The number of days schools have been in session surpassed twenty-nine States, prominent among which are Maine, Vermont, Delaware, and others of the older and leading States. In actual enrollment Weber County surpassed thirty States, among which are Maine, New York, New Hampshire, Connecticut, California, and others too numerous to mention. The average monthly pay of teachers surpassed nineteen, being about $56 on an average per month.

Ogden City is noted for having the finest school building in Utah as well as the best regulated common school system. This building is of the modern style of architecture, constructed of brick and lumber and trimmed with white free stone, the whole being surmounted by a beautiful dome of the Roman-Corinthian style. It is a two-story building, being about 54 x 70 ft. ground plan. It has four large rooms capable of seating about 90 pupils each, with five recitation rooms and a large commodious hall running through the center of the building. The basement is devoted to a heating apparatus whence the whole building receives its caloric in winter. The house is seated with the best patent desks and is well supplied with school apparatus, including a fine piano and organ. It every successive year receives the graduates coming out of four other public school buildings, located in different parts of the city, and having a seating capacity of about 100 pupils each. They are also comfortable buildings, being well supplied with the best patent furniture and general school appliances. The schoolgrounds are ample, well protected with fences, and each has a beautiful grove of shade trees connected with it.

The schools are graded up to the Central School and are under the management of a principal (Prof. L. F. Monch) who in turn acts under three active trustees. There were eleven teachers employed during the winter term. The enrollment was about 800 pupils out of a school population of 1,400. Realizing that there were four other (sectarian) schools in session in the city, each claiming to have an enrollment of 100 pupils, there must have been about 1,100 pupils enrolled out of the 1,400 in one single term, or the remarkable number of 80 per cent. In addition to the common branches taught in the Central School there were classes in Geometry, Algebra, Rhetoric, Philosophy, Physiology, Astronomy, Civil Government, and History of France and England.

The School of the Good Shepherd in Ogden is situated on the corner of Young and Fourth Sts., and is under the charge and control of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Ogden. The school was founded in September, 1870, by the Rev. Mr. Gillogly and placed under the charge of Mahlon N. Gilbert who remained as principal for two years and was succeeded by the Rev. Mr. Wilcox, who resigned after one year and whose place was taken by the Rev. Mr. Tallman who was principal for two years. The school then came under the control of the Rev. Chas. G. Davis who has been in charge since 1875. The total enrollment of the school has been something in the neighborhood of 1,000, and the yearly enrollment is now about 175. There are three departments, the primary, intermediate, and high-school, under the care of four teachers. The new building which they now occupy was erected in 1877, and if the school goes on growing will soon be too small to accommodate the pupils.

The Presbyterian School, which is held in the church building on the corner of Fourth and Franklin Streets, was organized in 1878, with Mrs. Gallagher, the wife of the clergyman then in charge of the church, as principal, who, after holding the position for over a year, was succeeded by Misses Olmsted, Campbell, Scovel, Ellis, Dickey, and Vaughn, the latter of whom is now in charge. The branches of study pursued are those in use at most of the public schools, and the school has met with the most flattering success, owing to the energy and efficiency of the teachers and the system of tuition adopted by them. The school was first held in Peery's Hall, but on the completion of the present church edifice the school was moved thereto and has been there since.

The Sacred Heart Academy situated in this city is one of the finest schools in the country and is located in one of the most attractive localities in Ogden. It is surrounded by beautiful grounds and is in every way an ornament to the city. The buildings were erected in 1878, under the direction of the Very Rev. L. Scanlan, V. F. of Salt Lake City, and on September 16th of the same year it was opened for educational purposes by the Sisters of the Holy Cross, from St. Mary's Academy, Indiana, in whose charge it has since been. The building, spacious and commodious, is well suited to its purposes while the salubrity of the fresh mountain air is conducive to the health of the inmates.

Though under the care of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, the school is claimed to be non-sectarian as regards the influences brought to bear on non-Catholic pupils. It is a boarding as well as a day school, and every effort is made to promote the health and happiness, as well as the moral and intellectual interests of those committed to the care of the Sisters, who offer the advantages of a thorough education to young ladies entrusted to their care. Prizes of various descriptions are offered as incentives to emulate study and lady-like deportment among the pupils. The course of studies pursued embraces all the English branches as well as foreign languages and music, and in fact, the curriculum is as complete as can be found in any school in the country where the best advantages are offered.

The school has met with the most gratifying success, having an average attendance of about 200, day scholars and boarders. Besides the young ladies, the Sisters also take as pupils boys up to the age of twelve years, who, in a separate building, have all the educational advantages of the institution.

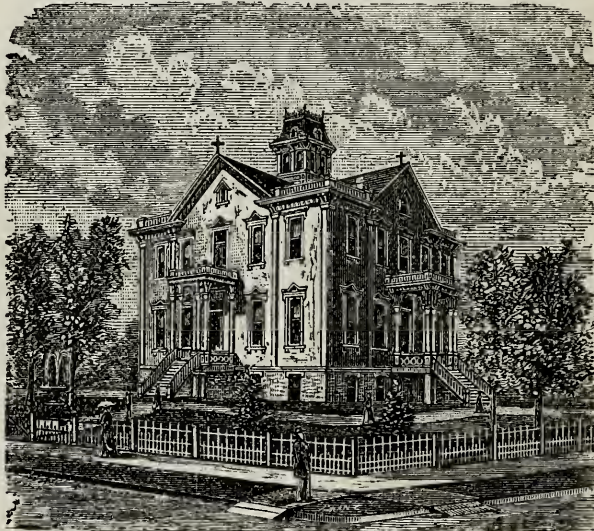

The school under the charge of the Methodist Society of Ogden is the youngest of the denominational schools of the city, and has labored under some discouraging circumstances, but is now in a flourishing and permanent condition. It was originally organized in 1874, but after a hard struggle was obliged to close, owing to great competition and the lack of sufficient means to carry on the enterprise. However, in September, 1880, it was reorganized, under the charge of Prof. T. W. Lincoln, of Salt Lake City, who continued as its principal until April, 1881, since which time it has been under the superintendency of the Rev. A. W. Adkinson, the Pastor of the Methodist Church, here, and its present success is greatly due to his efforts. Mr. Adkinson has two assistants, one in charge of the primary, and the other of the more advanced department. The course of study pursued embraces the ordinary common school branches, and also the science of bookkeeping, as well as the study of the Constitution of the United States. The fall term of the school opens on the first Monday in September.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Presbyterian Society was organized on September 29th, 1868, under the pastorage of the Rev. G. W. Gallagher, who gathered together a little band of twenty in what was known as Peery's Hall, on Fourth Street. In that building the members met, and the pastor and his wife resided until the year 1878, when the place of worship was changed to what was then Union Hall on the corner of Fifth and Young Streets, where they remained until January, 1880, when the present church edifice on the corner of Fourth and Franklin Streets was completed and dedicated and the congregation moved into that place for the purpose of worship. The Church has been in the charge of but two pastors, since its organization; the Rev. M. Gallagher who remained here until February, 1880, when he left to accept a call in Elko, Nevada, and the present pastor, the Rev. J. F. Knowles, who came here in March of the same year. The Church membership is estimated at sixty-two and the attendance at the Sabbath School at about 200. The building occupied by the society is also used as a day school.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The organization of the Episcopal Church in Ogden was effected on July 17th, 1870, under the leadership of the Rev. J. L. Gillogly, who, with his wife, took up their residence in a freight car, near the depot. There were but two communicants in the city at that time, and the services were held in the depot building. The Sunday School was opened in July, 1870. Owing to the discouraging aspect of church affairs, it was recommended by a committee of the diocese, that work here should be suspended for a time, but Mr. Gillogly determined to stay and obtained the consent of the Bishop, to remain for at least a year. In 1871 the site of the present church was purchased, and services were held in an old tannery, on the lot, until 1874, when Mr. J. W. Hammersly, of New York, built the present beautiful little church, in memory of his daughter, Mrs. Livingstone. Mr. Gillogly died in February, 1881, and the present incumbent, the Rev. Samuel S. Unsworth, became the rector. The number of the communicants of the church is at present 95, and the average attendance at the Sunday school is 125.

ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

St. Joseph's Catholic Church, in Ogden, situated on Fifth Street, between Young and Franklin Streets, was, through efforts of the Very Rev. L. Scanlan, V. F., built in the year 1875, and the members of the parish have, since that time, met for the celebration of public worship in that edifice. After Father Scanlan, the first priest in charge was Father Kieny, and following him, Father Smith, after whom came the present incumbent, Father Cushnahan.

Before the church was built, the members of the Catholic communion were using an old building on Fourth Street, above Main, for a place of worship, but since 1875, have occupied their present building continuously. The average attendance is about 400.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Methodist Church was organized in 1870, and services were first held in an old building that stood on the site of the present church. Though the early membership was weak, yet the church flourished, and has now a membership of about forty, there being thirty-four full members and nine probation members. In 1872 the present church edifice was erected, and since that time worship has been continuously held there. The first pastor was the Rev. Mr. Teele, and following him have been Messrs. Strong, Long, Howison, Skewes, Hyde, and the present incumbent, Rev. A. W. Adkinson, who took the pastoral charge on April 1st, 1881. The Sabbath School connected with the church has a membership of about 100 with an average attendance of about sixty. The average attendance at the church is about seventy-five.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

This society was organized in July, 1881, under the charge of the Rev. Dwight Spencer, with thirteen members and in November, 1881, the Rev. Richard Hartley assumed the pastorate and together with Mr. Spencer worked the affairs of the church to a prosperous condition. Services were held in the Odd Fellows Hall for a year or more until December 1882, the congregation moved into the pretty church on Young Street which they now occupy. This edifice cost about $8,000, part of which was raised through the efforts of Mr. Spencer, in the East, and part in Ogden. The present membership is about seventy and the Sabbath School has an average attendance of about 100, which is fast increasing.

THE POSTOFFICE.

There is no one institution in any of the cities or settlements in this country of more vital importance, or which shows more fully their gradual or rapid development or growth than the postoffice. Mail facilities are of primary requirement in the settlement of new sections.

Ogden, among many other towns, suffered many inconveniences in mail matters in its early days. The rates of postage were much higher both domestic and foreign than they are, to-day. Whereas the postage on a letter the usual weight—not to exceed half an ounce—is now only five cents, in those times it was twenty-four cents to Great Britain; besides the vast difference in the time required in transit between then and the present. We can now receive a letter from Liverpool in 18 days after it is mailed, where formerly it required more than that number of weeks to reach us. The first postoffice was established in 1852. Mr Isaac Clark was appointed postmaster. The mails reached but once a month, and were meagre in quantity. In 1854 Mr. Clark died, and was succeeded in the office by the late James G. Browning. He continued in the incumbency until 1856. During his administration the population increased, as also did mail matter and mail facilities. In that year he went out of office and General Chauncy W. West was appointed his successor. Mr. C. B. McGregor, Cols. Walter Thompson and Daniel Gamble were successively assistant postmasters to Mr. West, during whose incumbency the mails greatly multiplied, and the means of conveyances were much facilitated. General West continued in the office until the latter part of 1869. (He died in January, 1870.) During the above-named periods the postoffice in Ogden was only fourth-class, and the first postmaster only received from eight dollars to twelve dollars per annum. On the retirement of Mr. West, Mr. Isaac Moore was appointed postmaster, and the institution became a third-class office and the appointment was by the President of the United States. In 1872, the office was reduced to that of fourth-class, with, of course, a corresponding decrease in salary. In the summer of that year Mr. Moore resigned, and on the 10th of August Mr. Joseph Hall was appointed postmaster, by the Postmaster General. His assistant was his daughter, Miss Thirza A. Hall. Hon. Lorin Farr and Charles Woodmansee, Esq., became Mr. Hall's sureties. By October of the same year the business and patronage of the office had increased so rapidly and to such an amount that Mr. Hall obtained a special re-adjustment, (the office was again raised to that of third-class) and in December he was re-appointed by President U. S. Grant and confirmed by the Senate to be the incumbent of the new office. At the next regular biennial adjustment the office was raised to second-class. Then commenced the fight of politicians for appointment as postmaster in Ogden City. They fought Mr. Hall for about one year, being assisted by the Congressional delegations of Nebraska and Iowa. All sorts of complaints were trumped up against him which can best be explained by the following article on the subject which was published, some time after, in the Omaha Bee:

That doctors do not like to take their own medicine holds good with the members of the Gopher Ring of Nebraska. They do not want Newman punished for holding back funds belonging to the Government. Look at another case, one Sharp was a postal clerk on the Union Pacific, and he wanted to be postmaster of Ogden. He was unfit to hold any office, and a fit tool and associate for the members of the ring. Joseph Hall was then the best postmaster this city ever before or since had. Sharp secured names to his petition through misrepresentation and sent to the notorious Belknap who worked in harmony with Hitchcock and company for the appointment. Some charges must be brought against Hall to get him out of place. Three different special agents were sent here to trap and report against him but each failed. A chief head clerk came and partook of the hospitalities of the postmaster and his excellent family, that he might blacken their character in a report to Washington, but on investigation his report fell, and Mr. Hall stood solid with the Department. Bitter Creek got on a high, three years ago, and stopped traffic over the road for some ten or fifteen days. This office deposited surplus funds at the Omaha office, remittances being made almost daily by registered letter. Registers were unsafe in the postal car at Green River, and the one running between here and there; so Mr. Hall deemed it best to keep them in his safe, and sent them forward just as soon as the road was open. Here was a chance that Yost took advantage of, and the remittances simply reported for the month of April, with the days blank, and a very large remittance, on one day made a bad showing, and Hall was retired and Sharp given the office. Hall did just what the Department would expect him to do under the circumstances, but Hitchcock and Yost took advantage of the situation to make it appear that he was using funds of the Department, and thus accomplished their object. The ring are ever ready to take such advantage of honest men, but when one of their number is fairly caught it is altogether a different matter, and they refuse to take such medicine.

On the 22nd of November, 1875, Mr. Hall retired and Neal J. Sharp entered on his duties as postmaster. He continued in office until the spring of 1877, when he was removed and Major L. B. Stephens was appointed in his stead. Miss Cora B. Stephens, his daughter, remained in the office as his assistant during his incumbency. In September, 1879, he was removed and General Nathan Kimball was appointed postmaster, with Mr. Hall as deputy, Miss T. A. Hall, John S. Corlew, and J. N. Kimball as clerks. The mail service had now become vastly extended, and the mails received at the Ogden office were immense. The registered matter was distributed here through Utah, Idaho, Montana, Arizona, Wyoming, many parts of California, Nevada, and other places on the Pacific Coast. The office was enlarged, the force and the services were increased, and Ogden became one of the most important postoffices between New York and San Francisco.

General Kimball continued in office until the 12th of February, 1883, when he retired. Mr. E. A. Littlefield was appointed postmaster, and is the present incumbent. His assistants are: Mr. John S. Corlew, deputy postmaster, Miss Cora B. Stevens and Mr. W. H. Smith clerks.

The Money Order business of the Ogden office is very extensive, and orders can be sent to and received from Canada, Great Britain, Germany, France, Italy, Sweden, Switzerland, Algeria, and other countries.

THE MANUFACTURES.

Included in the business interests of the city are its milling interests which are quite extensive and give employment to many men, as well as put into circulation a large amount of capital. Being large factors in the material increase of the prosperity of the city they show an amount of enterprise on the part of our merchants that is commendable in the highest degree. These mills are not only beneficial to the city itself but also afford a means of disposal of grain to the farmers of the vicinity which saves them the trouble of shipping the grain to more distant points or becoming subject to the operations of middle men who buy on a merely speculative basis. The following are the mills of Ogden: Taylor's, Farr's, Peery's, Clark & Co.'s, and one being now in the course of erection by Stevens & Stone.

TAYLOR'S MILLS

are on a most eligible site on the line of the Union Pacific Railway, about three miles from the city, on the banks of the Weber River near Riverdale. They are substantially built and have been entirely refitted with the most approved machinery for milling purposes and are of ample capacity for the convenience of customers. These mills belong at present to President John Taylor.

CLARK & CO.'S MILLS

are situated on Main Street, near Fifth Street, and are substantial two-story brick buildings, having four run of stones and a capacity for turning out between 8,500 and 9,000 pounds per day. The machinery is run by steam and is of the latest pattern.

CHEAPEST Place in Town is at Marks, Goldsmith & CO.

THE FIRST FLOURING MILL

that was started in Weber County was that of Lorin Farr who built a mill at what was known as the "Old Fort," some thirty-three years ago, and continued in that locality for about twelve years, when he moved into the city limits and built what is now known as Farr's Mill, on Main Street near the Ogden River, where for nearly twenty-one years he has carried on the business of manufacturing flour and grinding and cracking wheat for the neighboring farmers and merchants. The buildings now occupied by the Messrs. Farr is a substantial stone building with frame wings and stone houses. The power is supplied by a flume nearly a mile in length running from Ogden River to the mills. There are four run of stone with a grinding capacity of some 10,000 pounds of flour per day. These buildings are situated in a most eligible location and have a reputation under the supervision of Mr. Thomas Williams, the head miller, of making a superior brand of flour.

MESSRS. PEERY & MACK

have appropriately named their new mills "The Phoenix Mills," they having arisen from the ashes of the old mills which were burned, last year. The new buildings are situated on nearly the same ground as were the old and when fully completed will be the largest in the Territory. They are built five stories high, the first two being of stone with walls five feet thick at the foundation, and thirty inches on the second story. The third and fourth stories are of brick, with walls two feet and twenty-one inches thick respectively, and the fifth story is of wood covered with iron sheeting. On the east of the building is a grain elevator 36x36 feet and 40 feet deep, having a capacity of 40,000 bushels of grain, while in the building is another elevator 12x12 feet and 50 feet deep with a capacity of 6,000 bushels. All the work about the building is of the most solid and substantial character and put up with a view of staying. The contractors for the machinery are the Gratiot Manufacturing Company of Chicago who take the entire charge of putting in the machinery under the supervision of their chief millwright Mr. Race, and start it and run it for thirty days under Mr. Lally, their expert miller. The power furnished is from a 44-inch Leffel double turbine, run with a sixteen foot head and fall of water. The capacity of the mills will be 300 sacks per day with room to increase to 600 sacks. The following is the list of the machinery: Seven roller mills of various kinds, three run of old stock French burrs for the reduction of middlings, two six reel bolting chests, one grinding reel, one dusting reel, two centrifugals, one six reel scalping chests, two flour packers, seven Smith purifiers; one each of bran-duster, separator, No. 2 mill separator, No. 3 Morgan smutter, No 4 Becker wheat brush, Fairbanks' 60-bushel hopper scales, and seven "Peerless" dust catchers, together with all the shafting, belting, and gearing necessary. All of these will go to make one of the finest mills of the country. There will also be two mill ponds, one covering three and the other one acre. The cost of starting will be about $50,000.

In addition to the numerous mills that are already in and about the city, have now in the course of erection what will be one of the finest mills in the territory. On Wall Street between Fourth and Fifth Streets the building is in course of erection and when completed will probably be the largest steam mill within the city limits. It is well known among millers that a constant and steady increase in scientific milling is going on, and the miller of to-day must combine the qualities of the father of Tennyson's "Miller's Daughter" with the practical mechanical knowledge of the engineer. Taking advantage of these facts Messrs. Stevens & Stone in building their mill have adopted what is known in the East as the "roller process," which has met with much favor among millers and by some is considered to be the best. The gentlemen are putting in a large amount of capital and it is to be hoped that their enterprise may be rewarded by practical pecuniary results.

STEVENS & STONE

FARR'S WOOLEN MILLS.

Fifteen years ago, the woolen mills of Lorin Farr & Son were started on the road to Ogden Canyon. Associated with the Messrs. Farr were Messrs. Randall, Pugsley & Neal. A commodious stone building, with a brick wing and two frame buildings separate from the main works, afforded accommodations for the machinery to be used in the manufacture of woolen goods. Ample water power was obtained from the Ogden River by what is now known as Mill Creek, but in addition to the water power it has been found necessary to add a fine 40-horsepower boiler and engine, with which to run the machinery that was put in to meet the growing trade. In the present works there are 12 looms, 1 "Jack," with 350 spindles, 1 spinning mule, somewhat larger than the "Jack," 2 carding and 2 picking machines and one each of the shearing, washing, and scouring machines. Besides the above there is every convenience for the dyeing and other branches of the extensive business, to which they are adding new machinery every day. The wool used in these mills is purchased principally from northern ranchers and the market for the manufactured goods is found throughout Utah and the northern Territories. The mills are under the immediate charge of Mr. Enoch Farr.

OGDEN BROOM FACTORY.

Everybody, almost, has heard or read of the old song "Buy a Broom." We don't hear the song now and when we want a broom we generally go to the grocery store to buy it. Now for some ten years there has been an establishment in Ogden where the grocers went to buy their brooms. Mr. H. B. Scoville, ten years ago, started the Ogden Broom Factory, and now has his works in the same place, on Young Street between Fourth and Fifth Streets, as when he started. He procures the best of broomcorn from Utah and Nebraska and with the best mechanical means that are known in the business turns out a superior article of large, medium-sized, and small brooms and brushes. His market is through Utah, Wyoming, Idaho, and Montana, and by the superiority of his work he has thus far defied competition from the East. The production of the works is from 300 to 500 dozen per month.

THE VINEGAR WORKS.

In 1876, Frank Rother, started the Utah Vinegar Works, on what is known as Railroad Street near the freight depots. After some time Mr. Rother disposed of the works to Richards and Grant and while under their control the factory was destroyed by fire. It was rebuilt by Rother and E. H. Orth, and then the former disposed of his interest to C. W. Orth, since which time the works have been in the hands of the Messrs. Orth. In this business there is an opportunity offered for the purchase of a pure home-made material at a cheaper cost than the imported vinegar can be bought for. There are three grades of vinegar manufactured at the Utah Works—standard grade, and number 2 and 3, being respectively two and three times as strong. The product is of the purest quality and made of the best materials. The Orth Brothers contemplate adding a pickling establishment to their present business, for the purpose of putting up pickles in barrels, half barrels, and five-gallon kegs, and coming into competition with the large California trade through the North. The present capacity of the works is about 5,000 gallons per month.

THE UTAH POWDER COMPANY

is another of the industrial enterprises upon which Ogden may congratulate itself. The corporation was formed in California and Mr. J. H. Knauss, its general agent, was sent on here to locate and start the mills. Having found an available plat of land in the Ogden Canyon, some three miles from the city, the building of the works was at once commenced and, on September 1st, 1882, the manufacture of powder was begun. There are now nine buildings on the ground, entirely separate from each other, and used respectively as crushing mills, amalgamating houses, press and drying houses, and such other buildings as are necessary for the carrying on of the business. The works are run by water power and every precaution is taken against the possibility of accident in any way. The capacity of the works is one hundred kegs of black blasting powder per diem, and they are turning out all they can make and in fact have every reason to feel grateful at their success in the business.

THE OGDEN IRON WORKS

were originally in the hands of the Ogden Iron Manufacturing Company, but after a series of misfortunes came into the possession of The Equitable Iron and Coal Company of Ogden, with W. G. Case, President; George F. Brown, Secretary; J. M. Langsdorf, Treasurer; and H. W. O. Margary, Attorney. The Company's land comprised 39 acres lying between the Utah & Northern and Central Pacific tracks. In 1882, a new organization was effected and the Works, under the management of R. L. Jones, were started experimentally with great success. Owing, however, to still further complications they remained in statu quo and so remain still. However, a new company has been formed with P. H. Emerson, President; George F. Brown, Secretary; J. M. Langsdorf, Treasurer; and Messrs. R. Harkness, H. Wood, Wetmore, and W. G. Brown, Directors. The buildings and materials on hand are worth about $50,000; the water right, flumes, turbines etc., about $15,000 to $20,000; and the land about $25,000; making in all a valuable property which, as the practicability of working it is a demonstrated fact, it is to be hoped will be used for the benefit not only of the company but of the city.

The fact of Ogden being the junction of several of the leading railroads of the country has been the incentive to the erection of several beer-brewing establishments, where beer not inferior to any imported is manufactured. The oldest brewery in the city is situated on Fifth Street near Main. This institution arose with the advent of the U. P. R. R. and has steadily increased in the extent of its operations and the popularity of its production. In 1882 the U. P. Brewery put out 3,000 bbls. in bottled and keg beer, and the capacity has been increased since, by the addition of new machinery. The proprietors are Messrs. R. A. Wells and Henry Woolner, both business men of good standing.

THE GROVE BREWERY

is the next place where Gambrinus' amber-hued liquid is manufactured. This institution has been in existence for ten years, being started by Herold, Hunt & Co., in 1873, who put up the brewery in Jones' Grove, north of Ogden River, a very popular pleasure resort and a shady retreat in summer. Richter & Fry continued the business and soon secured for themselves a wide-reaching fame for a fresh, foaming malt-and-hops liquid. At present Mr. John J. Fry is sole proprietor and he manages the brewery, which has an excellent patronage not only in local trade, but also abroad, Mr. Fry being well known in all parts of the Territory as a manufacturer of ability and a business man of integrity. The Grove Brewery now stands on the north side of Ogden River, just west of the bridge. This establishment, second to none in the Territory, was opened in December, 1880. It is a fine structure, all of fire-proof brick, covered with a tin roof from which a magnificent panorama of the city and country unfolds itself to the delighted eye. The original frontage was 90 feet, but an addition will soon be built for a malthouse. Spacious cellars extend under the whole building, with cement floors and solid vaults. The beer cellar is 75 feet in length and 25 in width, with a height of 14. The fermenting cellar is the same length, with 13 in width. Over both there are patent icehouses, of a capacity of 2,000 tons, Mr. John Fry laying in his own congealed commodity every season. The capacity of the storage cellar is 2,000 barrels. All in all, the Grove Brewery is among the leading manufacturing establishments in the city and county.

The youngest, but by no means least important brewing establishment is

THE OGDEN CITY BREWERY.

Just across the river from the new Grove Brewery, on the south side of the alternately roaring or laughing Ogden River, Mr. Moritz Richter has erected a series of buildings under the comprehensive name of Ogden City Brewery. Here we have first the brewery proper, in a solid, substantial frame building, 30 by 50 feet. In this department we find the largest boiler in Ogden City, one inferior to none in the Territory, made by Mr. Abram Stevens, of this City. It is a fine piece of work, six feet square by six feet deep. The mash tub also, as all the vats, etc., are Ogden manufactures, of the best lumber, most approved styles, large size, and good workmanship. The malthouse, which will be most perfectly and conveniently appointed, is in course of erection. The cellars, 27 by 30 feet, are very favorably located, cool in summer, not too cold in winter, well aired and ventilated. Their annual capacity is 4,000 barrels. There we find some capacious vessels, large enough not only to furnish a domicile to Diogenes but to hold his whole tribe of Cynics. He has also there the most improved and valuable beer pumping machine—Forster's patent, the only one in use in any Utah Brewery—at the present time. Other modern appliances and improvements have been adopted by Mr. Richter, too numerous to mention. Lately Mr. Richter has associated with him Mr. Nelson McCarty, an energetic business man. The firm are doing a fine trade, owing to the excellence of their goods.

THE RELIEF SOCIETY.

The Ladies' Relief Societies in this County were organized in December, 1867, the one at Ogden City having been effected under the direction of Bishop Chauncey W. West and his counselors, on the 16th of December, 1867. The officers elected at this time for the Ogden Society were Mrs. Mary West, President; Mrs. Harriet C. Brown and Mrs. Nancy Farr, Counselors; Mrs. Mary Ann West, Treasurer; Mrs. Louise M. Hopkins, Secretary.

In 1869, a Co-operative Mercantile Institution was begun by the Society, with Mrs. Nancy West, as President; Mrs. Harriet C. Brown, Vice-President; and Miss Rosalthe Canfield, Secretary and Treasurer. The institution is still in existence, although no longer engaged in mercantile business. The profits derived from its property and investments are used by the Relief Society in its noble work.

In August, 1870, the honored President of the Society, Mrs. Mary West, was stricken by death. A new organization was soon after effected, with Mrs. Harriet G. Brown, President; Mrs. Martha Bingham and Mrs. Sarah Herrick, Counselors; Miss Rosalthe Canfield, Treasurer; Mrs. Amelia M. Frodsham, Secretary.

In 1872, Mrs. Brown tendered her resignation. Her wish was respected, and Mrs. Jane S. Richards was elected President, with Mrs. Harriet C. Brown and Sarah Herrick, Counselors.

On the 19th day of July, 1877, a general County organization was effected, under the presidency of the officers above named. This is still in force.

In addition there is a Society in each of the Ecclesiastical Wards of the County. The names of the various societies and of the Presidents are as follows:

An out-growth of the Relief Society of this County are the associations for young people. Several years ago, before there were any such organizations as now for Mutual Improvement, Apostle Richards and Mrs. Jane S. Richards inaugurated a series of meetings for the young gentlemen and ladies of the community which were so beneficial in their results, that they have been continued until the present time—though now under the names which follow in the two succeeding titles:

THE Y. L. M. I. A.

The Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Association was organized May 10, 1879.

The officers for the County are, Mrs. Sarah A. Herrick, President; Mrs. Emily S. Richards and Mrs. Josephine R. West, Counselors; Miss Rosalthe Canfield, Secretary and Treasurer.

There are seventeen branch associations, the Presidents of which are named as follows:

THE Y. M. M. I. A.

The organization of this Association was effected on the 15th day of June, 1877. The following were the officers of the Ogden City Society: Jos. A. West, President; David Kay, First Counselor; Moroni Poulter, Second Conselor; E. T. Myers, Recording Secretary; R. P. Harris, Corresponding Secretary; Willard Farr, Treasurer; Willard James, Librarian. Previous to that time an association existed in Ogden City, which met once a week in the old City Hall. This organization was under the charge of Apostle Franklin D. Richards, and was organized on the 20th day of April, 1873.

There are now in Weber County twenty-one associations with an enrollment of about 800 members. All the associations are presided over by a Central Board consisting of a superintendent, two counselors, two secretaries, and a treasurer. Each society has a president, two counselors, a secretary, a treasurer, and, in societies where a library is found, a librarian. The first Central Board was organized in April 1878, and consisted of the following:

Joseph A. West, Superintendent; A. C. Brown, L. A. Herrick, Counselors; Washington Jenkins, Recording Secretary; C. C. Richards, Corresponding Secretary. Z. Ballantyne, Treasurer. The present Central Board, which was organized in January 1882, consists of Edward H. Anderson, Superintendent; L. A. Herrick, Zechariah Ballantyne, Counselors; A. D. Chambers, Recording Secretary; Angus T. Wright, Corresponding Secretary; W. S. Harris, Treasurer. The latter was appointed treasurer in January 1883, instead of John L. Wilson who had held that position until then. In the County there are ten libraries belonging to the associations, consisting of about five hundred volumes of valuable works. The Central Board visit among the associations from time to time and various methods are adopted to make the meetings interesting and instructive. The exercises are of a varied nature, consisting of lectures from the Bible, and other Mormon works, science, biography, history, and answering questions. There are fifteen manuscript papers published in the County among the associations, which contain from time to time interesting sketches no miscellaneous subjects by members of the associations. Every three months, a conference of all the associations is held in the Ogden Tabernacle.

THE PRIMARY ASSOCIATIONS.

The idea of organizing an association for the instruction of those of tender years originated with the Relief Society. These associations have for their object the instruction of the children of the Latter-day Saints in religious, moral, and mental principles.

The Central Board of the Primary Associations of Weber Stake was organized June 18, 1880. The officers for the County are: Mrs Josephine R West, President; Mrs Elizabeth Y Stanford and Miss Rosalthe Canfield, Counselors; Mrs Elizabeth N Hill, Secretary; and Miss Emily J Newman, Treasurer.

There are twenty branch associations, the Presidents of which are named as follows:

A. F. & A. M.

The Weber Lodge, A. F. & A. M., held its first meeting under a dispensation, on the 2d of January, 1874, in a room over the present Bank Exchange building, and immediately after removed to a hall over W. G. Child's store. The first officers were C. S. Nellis, W. M.; A. D. Shakespeare, S. W.; Henry Bruce, J. W.; J. S. Lewis, Treasurer; Ed. H. Tallman, Secretary; H. M. Cameron, S. D.; W. B. Ogden, J. D.; Wm. Newton, Tyler.

On the 17th of November, 1874, having received a charter as Weber Lodge No. 6 A. F. & A. M., from the Grand Lodge of Utah, the following brothers were installed :

A. D. Shakespeare, W. M.; James Forbes, S. W.; S. S. Schram, J. W.; J. S. Lewis, Treasurer; W. S. Holbrook, Secretary; L. W. B. Long, Chaplain; E. H. Reed, S. D.; J. J. Clayton, J. D.; S. P. Warden, S. St.; G. W. Murphy, Tyler.

At this writing the lodge numbers 57 members, holding their regular communications on the first and third Thursdays of every month, (July and August excepted) and the following are the present officers: Henry T. Snyder, W. M.; John D. Carnahan, S. W.; Abbott R. Heywood, J. W.; Jesse M. Langsdorf, Treasurer; Herbert W. O. Margary, Acting Secretary; Rev. Samuel Unsworth, Chaplain; Alvin C. Emerson, S. D.; Freeman H. Curtiss, J. D.; John S. Lewis, S. St.; Julius Kiesel, J. St.; George Thompson, Tyler.

Since 1874, only two brothers, members of this Lodge, have died in Ogden. Brother E. H. Tallman on July 11th, 1875, and Brother V. E. Boessel in 1881. Situated as Ogden is, at the junction of five railroads, this Lodge has been called on largely for the exercise of that most truly Masonic virtue—charity; and it has been given with no niggard hand. This fund has been drawn on largely every year, and the calls increase with the opening up of the Great West.

OGDEN LODGE NO. 5, I. O. O. F.,

was instituted October 14th, 1874, with the following charter members: V E Bessel, T E Brown, William Cook, J. B. Goodfellow, George Thompson, G Moritz, and C. Schmalz, and has at present a membership of 40 with the following officers: Joseph B Sewell, N. G.; H C Wardleigh, V. G.; Henry Woolner, Secretary; M J O'Neil, Treasurer. The Lodge meets in Odd Fellows Hall, over the Postoffice, on Fourth Street, every Friday evening. Visiting brethren in good standing are invited to attend this, as well as the other Lodge.

UNION LODGE NO. 6, I. O. O. F.,

was instituted, January 23, 1878, with the following charter members: D Alexander, V E Bessel, George Thompson, J Webster, M Biel, L Newman, John Erikson, and Julius Kiesel. The present membership numbers 30, and the officers are as follows: Charles Bornstein, N. G.; W M Thompson, V. G.; James Lentz, Secretary; Julius Kiesel, Treasurer. Meetings are held every Wednesday in the Knights of Pythias' Castle Hall, in the Peery block on Main Street. The Lodge is in a flourishing financial condition.

James Horrocks, of the other Lodge, is District Deputy Grand Master.

WASATCH TRIBE NO. 3, I. O. R. M.

This benevolent order was organized on March 24, 1882, with James Horrocks, Prophet; Percival J Barratt, Sachem; J R Crandall, Senior Sagamore; M J O'Neil, Junior Sagamore; Joseph Hawkins, Chief of Records; Henry Woolner, Keeper of Wampum. The Tribe now numbers about 30 members and the present Chiefs elected are: Joseph B Sewell, Prophet; J W Browning, Sachem; J T Browning, S. S.; H W O Margary, J. S.; W S Beebee, C. of R.; T J Allen, K of W. Since the organization of Wasatch Tribe they have lost one member by death, Brother W R Reynolds, December, 1882, his funeral services having been quite a feature as the first public display of the kind ever seen in Ogden.

G. A. R.

On February 10, 1881, John A Dix Post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic, was instituted in Ogden City by the Commander of the Department of Nebraska, Paul Vander Voort. Charter members were: L B Stephens, Post Commander; V M C Silva, John E Hudson, H M Bond, Samuel Warden, J E Mitchell, W M Richards, C A Barrows, H J Powers, George Thompson, J A Roof, A S Condon. The present officers are: Jay R Crandall, Post Commander; L McCarty S. V. C.; A C Smith, J. V. C.; H C Wardleigh, Adjutant; H M Bond, Q. M.; G A Barrows, Officer of the Day; Ransford Smith, Chaplain. The Post, which numbers 55 members, meets the first and second Mondays of each month.

WASATCH LODGE I. O. G. T.

This active temperance organization was first instituted on May 15, 1881, under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Nevada, in the Methodist E. Church, with the following charter members: W W Pritchett, J W Ramey, A W Adkinson, Mrs K L Adkinson, Miss

M A Jennings, W J Pugh, Charles P Jennings, H W Eldridge, D Fisher, Miss May Goodwin, S L Goodwin, T W Lincoln. The first board of officers was constituted as follows: W. C. T., W W Pritchett; W. V. T., Miss M A Jennings; W. C., A W Adkinson; W. S., J W Ramey; W. T. S., C P Jennings; W. T., Miss K L Adkinson; W. M., D Fisher; W. I. G., Miss May Goodwin, W. O. G.; W J Pugh. The present officers, in the same rotation are: A W Adkinson, C P Jennings, Miss S A Thomas, Miss B Vest, Miss Adelia West, John L Dunn, Miss M A West, S J Griffin, Mrs A D Smith, Matt Borland, Miss Ida Girdlestone, Miss Vesta Bridges, A C Anderson, Theo A Smith. This Lodge has recently been transferred to and is now working under the jurisdiction of the R. W. G. L. of North America. The present membership is 40.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

This society devoted to friendship and charity was organized on May 23rd, 1881, under the title of Ogden Lodge No. 2, K. of P. The original charter members were: R W Cross, S M Preshaw, John Corkish, W S Beebee, A J Pattison, A B Richardson, W M Thompson, C A Mohrhardt, J H Shea, G M Merryfield, A G Kegler, J S Corlew, F C Grannis, P J Barratt, Ed Ulrich, O D Banks, C A Eklund, I E Brown, H R Thompson, E C Keeler, W M Chapman, A Schansenbach, E A Littlefield, H D Lewis, Julius Kiesel, C H Wright, W S Fowler, W W Preshaw, J T Cummings. The present membership is 44 and the present officers are as follows: J S Corlew, P. C.; A Schansenbach, C. C.; E A McDaniel, V. C.; J F Knowles, P.; R W Cross, K. of R. and S.; W H Turner, M. of E.; C J Bornstein, M of F.; W S

Beebee, M at A.; Henry Berl, I O.; Thomas Warwick, R W Cross, C A Eklund, J S Corlew, Trustees. The Lodge has the Endowment Rank whereby members can secure to their families $3,000 at death of member; at a cost of about $30 a year. The Supreme Lodge of this order has paid in the past five years about $2,000,000 to families of deceased members. It is the duty of the Lodge to visit sick brethren, provide nurses for them, help the widow, and educate the children of deceased members, if they require it.

The Uniform Rank is a semi-military degree of this order, and in this Lodge here is called Lincoln Division No. 2., R W Cross is Sir Knight Commander, and S M Preshaw is Sir Kt. Lt. Commander.

Ogden Lodge No. 2 meet every Monday night in their Castle Hall in Peery's block on Main Street, which they have fitted up at an expense of over $200, being one of the best lodge rooms in the Territory. The membership comprises some of our best citizens.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

THE OGDEN WATER COMPANY.

This enterprise was inaugurated by the incorporation of a company with $150,000 capital in October, 1880. On Nov. 5, '80 an agreement was entered into with Ogden City by which a franchise for twenty-five years was granted and a fire hydrant contract for the same period consummated. Preparations for active work were made and early in the spring of 1881, operations were begun. Meanwhile the city had purchased a little over one-half of the stock, which placed the company on a firm basis financially, and no delays or embarrassments ever impeded the progress of the work. During 1881 and 1882 nearly eleven miles of mains were laid—making two sources of supply available, first—the Ogden River which is conveyed about three miles in pipes into a reservoir on the bench and furnishes an abundant supply for about ten months of the year; second—Strong's and Waterfall Canyons are united, and conveyed for two miles into the same reservoir. This supply is available for six months, each year, and is intended as a protection against any interruptions by frost that may occur on the River line. The company is supplying about 250 consumers with water, including three railroad companies, viz: C. P. R. R., U. C. R. R., and D. & R. G. Ry.

The uses to which the water is applied are too numerous to mention, but as the quality is very pure, free from lime or alumina, it is invaluable for manufacturing purposes, for steam engines &c. &c., and is undoubtedly more healthy for culinary and other household purposes than what is ordinarily produced from wells—and as the city becomes more densely built up, its use will become general for such purposes. While the company does not desire to furnish water for irrigation, still by its sprinkling permits many residences are surrounded by beautiful lawns heretofore an impossibility. Last, but not least, by a judicious distribution of fire hydrants, supplemented by hose carts and hooks and ladders, a protection from great fires is afforded, which experience teaches is the surest and most efficient yet devised. No costly steamers to get out of repair, no large monthly bills for men and horses to make a steamer available, but instead a hand hose cart, gravity pressure, and plenty of water.

The daily consumption is about half a million gallons, but that includes sprinkling of all kinds, leaving the regular consumption about 300,000 gals. The work during the course of construction was under the personal direction of the officers of the company. E. H. Orth, President; W. N. Horton, Vice-president; Jos. Stanford, Secretary, and Treasurer; and James Taylor, T. D. Dee, and W. G. Child Directors in behalf of Ogden City.

TELEPHONE.

In September, 1880, Messrs. Kiesel, Goldberg, and others of this city obtained a license and formed a company for the purpose of connecting different houses in the city by means of the Telephone. They, however, not having attained their object at the expiration of a few months, sold all their rights and privileges to Messrs. A. J. Pattison and J. N. Keller, who at once placed 40 sets of instruments in different stores and residences; and the service being considered satisfactory the real organization of the telephonic system commenced, it being due to the unremitting energy and perseverance of those gentlemen, the former of whom is the manager of the Western Union Telegraph Co. In 1881 the Ogden Telephone Exchange Company was incorporated and was worked under the general management of A. J. Pattison, with J. J. Dickey and L. H. Korty of Omaha, as President and Secretary respectively. This company remained in existence until March, 1883, when it was dissolved and a new company organized under the title of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Company, with a capital of $600,000, which has recently been increased to $800,000; the officers being J. J. Dickey, President; A. J. Pattison, Vice-President and Treasurer; and C. W. Cook, Secretary; the general management remaining still under the able control of A. J. Pattison.

There are now about 120 sets of instruments in use in this city and surrounding places, connections being with North Ogden, Plain City, Hot Springs, Uintah, Riverdale, Kaysville, and Salt Lake City, the latter a distance of about 40 miles. Some 60 miles of wire are necessary for the working of the system, which has been very satisfactory, as in most cases each subscriber has a wire for his separate use, and two switch boards are used in the central office, where operators are in attendance day and night.

Ogden has the honor to claim the first inauguration of the telephone system in the western countries of America, and from the small beginning of the 40 instruments introduced by Messrs. Pattison and Keller, the number has increased to some 25,000.

THE HOT SPRINGS.

This health resort is located eight miles north of Ogden, Utah, on the Utah & Northern Division of the Union Pacific Railway. These springs rise and flow from the base of the Wasatch Range, at a temperature of 131 degrees Fahr., and a close analysis of these waters show it to contain (in strong solution) salt iron, nitre magnesia, and soda, with over 300 grains of solid matter to the gallon and flowing about 156,000 gallons every 24 hours. Besides supplying the baths inside the house, this wonderful medicated fluid is run into an outside summer bath 166 by 204 feet, three feet deep at the upper side and about seven at the lower, with runs and spring boards which afford amusement for from 300 to 400 people at one time, and as trains from Ogden to the Springs run daily, thousands of people are enabled to visit them yearly at the low fare for the round trip (from Ogden) of 50 cents.

THE BROOM HOTEL.

For many years Ogden, the railroad center of the Rocky Mountain region, suffered from the lack of appropriate hotel facilities, and thousands of travelers—both pleasure-seeking tourists and business men—passed by the city after a few moments' stop at the depot, who otherwise would have remained a day or two in the town. This deficiency was finally supplied by Mr. John Broom, an old-time citizen and a man of enterprise, who, in April, 1882, commenced the excavation for the foundation for the Broom Hotel, on the corner of Main and Fifth Streets, where formerly a row of low wooden structures had served as permanently dangerous firetraps.

The Broom Hotel covers an area of 66 feet on Main Street, by 160 feet on Fifth Street. The part of the building on Main Street fronts to the east, and that on Fifth Street faces to the south. It is built of the best fire-proof brick and is three stories high. On the first floor on Main Street there are three elegant stores. The first room on the floor on Fifth Street is 30 x 60 and is designed for the office, baggage room, etc. The billiard hall is 30 x 52 feet, and its appointments are equal to any other on the Pacific Slope. At the west end of the building and facing the south is the apartment 15 x 60 feet, fitted in neat, tasteful style and occupied by Mr. John G. Chambers, the pioneer bookseller, newsdealer, etc. On this floor in the west end of the building are the culinary departments, the kitchens, larder, laundry, etc., with ranges and all other appliances of the latest improved styles. Water is abundant for all necessary purposes.

On the second story there are 34 elegant hotel parlors, with bay windows fronting the south and east. In addition to these is the magnificent dining hall, 52 x 28 feet, splendidly arranged, lighted, and painted. The third story also contains 35 rooms similar in size and construction to those on the middle story, with bath rooms and all other conveniences. This handsome structure has nine double-bay windows, artistically ornamented, and supported with Corinthian columns. The architecture is, in some respects, similar to that of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. From the roof it is lighted by seven large crystal skylights.

The Broom Hotel was designed and constructed by Mr. J. C. Matthews, architect, Oakland, California. The rock work in the foundation, etc., was done by Mr. D. J. Doyle, the brick work by Mr. Joseph T. Johnson, the carpenter work was superintended by Mr. J. E. Blethen.

The plastering was done by Messrs. Taylor & Shupe, the painting by Mr. Robert Wilson. The erection of this splendid structure cost between $60,000 and $70,000, exclusive of the furniture, which has been imported from the East, and cost $25,000. It is the finest edifice and best hotel between San Francisco, Cal., and Denver, Col.

The Broom Hotel was opened on January 15th, 1883, by Mr. A. D. Shakespeare, under whose management the patronage of this hostelry has so rapidly increased that an addition of 33 feet front is being built to it, on the north side, of the same height and style as the main building.

THE NEW CO-OP.

On Friday, February 4th, 1882, the finest and largest structure devoted to commercial transactions in this Territory and for a wide region of country was dedicated. It was the new building of the Ogden branch of Z. C. M. L., on the corner of Main and Fourth Streets. This edifice is an honor to its builders, a credit to the institution, and an ornament to the city.

The whole building is 100 x 115 feet, and three stories. The east front, on Main Street, is 115 feet; the south, on Fourth Street, 100 feet. The construction of the building was commenced in May, 1880. There are 800,000 brick in it, and 250,000 feet of lumber, the approximate cost being $70,000. The first floor is used as the retail department. Whether you enter the east or south door, the whole floor is at once to be seen; it is so constructed that it can be divided in a clear manner, so that each place will have its department, without interfering with the other departments.

Leading from the south side of this floor, just on the west side of the bank wall, are the stairs which lead to the second floor. This, like the first floor, is so arranged that the whole place, while it can be distinctly divided into departments, can also be seen from any part at a glance. It is used as a wholesale department for general goods. The private office is at the north end of the general office, while at the south end is another vault to be used for the store. This is of the same shape, and as substantial as that in the bank. The ceiling on the second floor is fifteen feet high. The third floor is like the second in shape, and is used as a store room, while there is also a loft. The ceiling of this room is twelve feet high.

Beneath the whole building is a fine substantial, airy cellar. It connects with Fourth Street by means of a solid iron slide, down which goods are sent. The floor is without equal in the Territory; it is hard and dry, being made of Portland cement.

Everything that could add to the convenience or beauty of the building has been done. Water and gas pipes are all through it, as well as speaking tubes, which connect all the floors and departments. The entire outside presents a magnificent and imposing appearance, and as before stated, no place in the Territory is more beautiful as a place of business.

It is a fine specimen of architecture, the designer being the late Mr. Obed Taylor. Mr. N. C. Flygare had the supervision of construction and the contract for the carpenter work. The building reflects great credit on both Architect Taylor and Master Mechanic Flygare, the former for the design, the latter for the execution.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

is in the southeast corner of this building. The entrance to it is from the southeast corner, leading from fine circular granite steps. The door is fine and massive, and on either side are large Corinthian iron columns, fluted, and cast at Davis & Howe's foundry, Salt Lake City. In this bank, which could not have a finer situation, is a vault, as firm and solid as they are ever made.

[ERRATUM.—The Co-op. building was dedicated in 1881, not 1882, as stated above.]

THE CITY DRAIN.

In 1880, the City Council resolved to have a drain dug through the most important business part of town, for the purpose of draining off the surface water and thus protecting the cellars and basements of mercantile establishments. The work was commenced in the spring and vigorously prosecuted until a portion was completed in the fall, extending from the corner of Main and Fifth, running north, on the west side, to Fourth, thence down on the south side of Fourth, to a point below Wall Street, where the water is discharged in some sloughs and finally conveyed on farms in the bend of the river for irrigation purposes.

In addition to this useful work of subterraneous drainage, the same drain was extended from Fifth Street south along Main, to the center of Sixth and Seventh, when it is hoped it will ultimately be continued further on, vastly improving the property along its course and contributing towards the better sanitary condition of the people.

The work was supervised by the Committee on Streets, Joseph Stanford chairman. The surveying was done by Joseph A. West and David Jenkins, and the work of construction was under the immediate direction of Street Supervisor Chas. Welch.

The drain reaches to a depth of eight feet below the surface of the soil. Rock walls four feet high are laid, with a space between the opposite sides of $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet, covered with slabs of rock, and then filled in with gravel and dirt, manholes being inserted at proper distances. The work, during the process of which no accident occurred, cost the sum of about \$10,000, nearly all defrayed out of the City Treasury, private parties contributing a small fraction.

This public improvement has resulted in great benefits, both in a sanitary point of view and in making it possible to build and maintain, in the very heart of the business center, large and dry cellars for the accommodation of wholesale dealers in groceries, liquors, etc., thus adding to the value of the real estate contiguous to it.

THE BRIDGES.

Weber County, with its numerous, large, and partly very impetuous water courses, was at an early date put under the necessity of erecting bridges to facilitate the crossing of the streams and increase travel and traffic.

At present the County has three bridges which compare very favorably with the best anywhere in the Western country. The oldest in time of erection is the bridge across Ogden River, in the north part of the city. This substantial work was erected in 1876, at a cost of about $14,000, David Moore being the builder. This bridge was built by the City of Ogden, while the one mentioned next was the joint work of both City and County.

Another excellent structure, equaled by none in the valleys, is the bridge across Weber River, in the western portion of the township, a little beyond the depots. It was built in 1880. Hammond & Doyle were the contractors for the piling and abutments, the cost for which was about $7,500. D. Moore was the architect and builder, also, of this bridge proper. His contract amounted to nearly $6,000. This bridge has a double-wagon track, and with the approaches cost $15,500 altogether. Its erection opened up all the rich and populous western portion of the County to Ogden's commerce, and has also resulted in the saving of many lives, as herebefore several people had found their death in the surging waters of the Weber while fording it.

The people of South Weber and Riverdale especially, and the public generally had for a long time been put to much inconvenience, trouble, and expense by the destruction of the late bridge which spanned the Weber River south of Taylor's mills. A new bridge became a necessity, and that necessity is now supplied. Colonel Moore was the contractor and builder, but his son, Mr. David M. Moore, superintended the construction. The span is 125 feet; the full length of floor is 138 feet; width of floor 14 feet, height of structure 15 feet in the clear. There are 14 panels of braces to each truss. The bridge is supported by 68 main, and four counter brace rods, ranging in length from 10 to 26 feet, and $1\frac{1}{4}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick. There are also between 700 and 800 bolts, ranging from nine inches to three feet in length, and from five-eighths to one and one-fourth inches in thickness. There is nearly 40,000 feet of lumber in the bridge. This fine structure rests on two right substantial abutments built of sand stone and granite rocks, laid in cement mortar throughout. These abutments rest on fifty-six iron pointed spiles, which are driven twenty-feet below the surface, and are cut off twenty-six inches below water mark. They are capped with heavy timbers, on which the rock-work is built. The contract price of building the bridge was \$7,300; part of this amount was appropriated by the Territorial Legislature, and part by the County Court of Weber County. The work was commenced in the latter part of the summer of 1881.

THE NEW CITY BUILDING.

The New City Building is a credit to the City authorities. It is centrally located on the east side of Union Square, between Fifth and Sixth Streets, and faces the East mountains. It is a brick structure, two stories, and 61x31 feet, and is 24 feet to the square. On the first floor of the building there are eight iron cells, each 4 feet 6 inches by 8 feet 7 inches in size. They are made of boiler iron with heavy bar iron doors. On the same floor there are four other rooms, two of them (one 13x15 feet, the other 11x15) are fitted up as offices for the City Recorder. The other two, one of which is 13x24 feet, and the other 10x10 feet, are Council Chambers, where the City Council hold sessions until the New City Hall is erected. On the second floor are four well-built cells, which, in size, will average 7x8 feet. These are of wood, 2x6 in. scantlings spiked together, and lined on the outside with lumber. There are on the same floor two other rooms 13x11 feet, designed for sleeping rooms for paupers and transients. Also two rooms, one 13x18 feet for the use of the Justice's Court, and the other, 13x15 feet, fitted up for police headquarters. The rooms and cells will accommodate between 30 and 40 prisoners, exclusive of the rooms occupied by the Court, Council, and police. The building is erected on a rock foundation which is raised two feet above the street grade. The walls are 17 inches thick, the material is extra burnt bricks. The house is covered with Porter-roofing iron. The windows are well barred to prevent escape by any of the prisoners, and the whole structure is thoroughly ventilated from the foundation to the top. It cost, altogether, a little over $10,000. The building was designed and constructed by Mr. N. C. Flygare, architect, of this city.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

There was, at one time and another, a great deal said in relation to building a Street Railway in Ogden City. Several parties applied for charters to the City Council, but it would appear that they could not accede to the terms offered by the City Fathers, or they lacked the necessary capital or real disposition to build the road, and therefore, like the establishment of the Ogden Iron Works, the matter ended in talk and nothing more. However, at the time of this writing, there is a fair prospect of such a road being erected in Ogden City, and that it will be commenced at an early day. On the 20th day of May, 1883, a company was organized for the purpose of building such an institution, provided they could obtain a charter for that purpose. A petition was presented to the Council, asking for such an instrument. Resolutions were drafted, embodying the terms on which the company would be granted permission to construct and operate a Street Railroad in Ogden City. The Company, as now organized, consists of L. W. Shurtliff, President; W. G. Child, Vice President; H. S. Young, Secretary and Treasurer; C. F. Middleton, N. C. Flygare, William Driver, Lorin Farr, L. J. Herrick, of Ogden City; and Jas. Sharp and O. P. Arnold, of Salt Lake City. Several meetings were held by the Company and by the City Council to arrange the preliminaries. A special session of the City Council was held, on Tuesday evening, Aug. 7, 1883, Hon. D. H. Peery, Mayor, presiding. The object of the meeting was to further consider and take final action on the resolution granting to the Ogden City Railway Company permission to construct and operate a street railway in Ogden City. The resolution was read by sections, several sections were amended, and adopted by the Council.

THE CITY HOSPITAL.

Ogden City, as the center of many railroads and other travel from all directions, had long felt the necessity of an institution in which to take proper care of sick transients or paupers afflicted with bodily injury or illness while in her limits. To meet these demands, becoming more and more urgent, in the year 1882 the City Council built a hospital. Although it is built on an elevation much above the level of the City, still it is situated in a beautiful romantic little basin on Bureh Creek. It nestles in this little vale, surrounded by gently rising hills. It is concealed from view until the traveler reaches to within proximity to it. A more suitable location for such a building, we believe, cannot be found between the banks of Weber and Ogden Rivers. On the hills on either side of this home for the afflicted are nice little groves of oak, etc., in the shades of which the convalescents can, in summer time, repose and enjoy the refreshing mountain and canyon breezes. Within easy distances are several springs of the purest water which flow from the veins of the Rocky Mountains, in this neighborhood. There is also a wide, open space in which the invalids can parade a few hours, in the day time, in the spring or early fall months of the year. The building contains six rooms, most of which are 12x12 feet, and ten feet high. They are comfortably fitted up and well appointed for the purposes for which they are designed. The Hospital was built by Mr. Joseph T. Johnson.

HOT ❖ SPRINGS

—AND—

BATHING HOUSE!

AS a Summer Resort these Springs are fast becoming the most popular of any in the West, and their Curative Properties are second to none in the World, as hundreds who have been afflicted can testify. The simple bathing and drinking of these waters has proven to be a CERTAIN SPECIFIC for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Asthma, Erysipelas, Syphilis, Salt Rhenm, Paralysis, all affections of the Kidneys, Nervous Diseases, General Debility, and all the peculiar complaints and disabilities to which females are subject. Good beds and an excellent table are provided for such guests as wish to remain any length of time, at $12 per week for Board, Bathing, and Lodging. Single meals 50 cents. Baths 25 cents. Hot Springs is a regular station on the Utah & Northern, with telegraph and post-office located in the Hotel, and is by no means an unpleasant spot in which to spend a week or a month.

A Book of References is kept, and any person desiring (upon application) will be given references so as to satisfy themselves. No persons of disreputable character are allowed to visit or remain at the Springs, and the best of order is preserved throughout. Direct all correspondence to TYNER P. O., UTAH.

ALFRED H. NELSON,

Attorney-at-Law.

Special attention given to cases involving the TITLE TO REAL ESTATE, and to settling Estates of Deceased Persons.

LOOK TO YOUR TITLES.

I Have made from the RECORDS OF WEBER COUNTY, a Set of

ABSTRACT BOOKS,

Containing EVERY CONVEYANCE recorded in the County since the lands were patented, and enabling me to tell, almost at a glance, the condition of the title of any piece of land required.

I DEVOTE MYSELF EXCLUSIVELY TO LAND MATTERS,

Draft Deeds, Mortgages,

—AND—

ALL PAPERS RELATING to LAND.

THERE ARE HUNDREDS OF BAD TITLES,

And the only way to be certain of avoiding them is to call on me for an ABSTRACT, which will point out to you all defects.

Respectfully,

ALFRED H. NELSON.
