

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. SCIENCE AND
LIST

1917

SECTION 1

The first section of the report deals with the general conditions of the industry during the year. It notes that the industry has shown a marked increase in activity, particularly in the latter part of the year. This increase is attributed to a number of factors, including the expansion of the market and the improvement in the quality of the raw materials. The report also discusses the various methods employed by the industry to increase its output, and the results of these efforts. It is noted that the industry has been able to meet the demand of the market, and that the quality of its products has improved. The report concludes that the industry is well positioned to continue its growth in the future.

JAMES SWIFT ROGERS, A.B.

By ALMON DANFORTH HODGES, JR., A.M.

It was a heroic deed, undertaken with no desire of reward or hope of glory, but simply for the purpose of saving the lives of two unknown black men. Planned on the spur of the moment, and executed at once in the face of what seemed to others certain death, it was successful through its brilliant audacity. So far as I can learn, it was never alluded to afterwards by the man who performed it, and only after his death were the details made public.

The First South Carolina Volunteers — the first slave regiment mustered into the service of the United States during the late civil war — was on duty at Port Royal Ferry in South Carolina. Port Royal Island was held by the United States troops with headquarters at Beaufort, while the main land was occupied by the Confederate forces. Before the war the main thoroughfare between Beaufort and Charleston had been the Shell Road, of which the ferry across the Coosaw River formed a part. At the ferry the road projected on each side as a causeway into the river, ending in a wharf or pier for the use of the ferry-boat. The ferry had been abolished by the war, the piers were in damaged condition, and the river-channel formed a barrier between the opposing picket lines. Occasionally at night scouting parties in boats ventured across the river, but these adventures were difficult and dangerous. To cross by day was simply to invite sure death or captivity.

Early one morning two dusky forms amid the piles at the end of the opposite causeway were descried by some of the Union pickets. Their frantic signals indicated that they were fugitive slaves, anxious to pass the barrier between slavery and freedom and unable to swim across the stream; but their case seemed hopeless, and while some watched for developments, the rest went about their allotted duties. Suddenly there appeared on the river a dug-out, propelled boldly towards the further side by a Federal officer, who calmly paddled up to the causeway, took the fugitives on board and began the return journey. When the canoe had reached mid-stream, it was discovered by the enemy and saluted with a storm of bullets. These, however, failed to reach their mark, and the boat, continuing steadily on its course, gained its haven in safety. Evidently a passage in broad daylight was considered such an impossibility by the Confederate pickets, that they had ceased their vigils for a moment, and this exact moment was seized by the daring officer for his chivalrous deed.

To do such an act for the benefit of another without reference to the possible cost to himself, and to do it in a simple, unostentatious manner, was characteristic of James Swift Rogers. He was then a captain, and in the abundant vigor of youthful manhood. He was full of life and full of the joy of living. There were loving parents and friends awaiting his return to his home and his college. Above all, there was one who had agreed to keep herself only unto him so long as both should live. The future held out the brightest allurements, and there was so much to live for. Yet when a call for help came, his helping hand was at once extended in complete forgetfulness of self. And as it was then, so it was throughout his life. Quiet, self-sacrificing friendship was inborn in him. Perhaps he inherited it from his Quaker ancestors.

John^s Rogers of Marshfield, whose father bore the same name, joined the Quakers about 1660 and suffered accordingly, as is set forth in the Scituate Friends' Records. He and his descendants for five generations persisted in the faith. His son Thomas^s and his grandson John^s were born, married and died in this same town of Marshfield. Stephen^s Rogers, of the next generation, moved to Danby, Vermont, and there his son Aaron^s Rogers was born, married Dinah Folger, and had by her twelve children. Aaron's eighth child, Elisha Folger^s Rogers, was born June 20, 1813, married December 12, 1835, Elizabeth Mitchell, and had, at Danby, two children: Jethro Folger^s Rogers, born in 1836, who died in infancy; and James Swift^s Rogers, born March 28, 1840, the subject of this sketch.*

While a young child, James Swift Rogers was taken by his parents to New York City; and thence, when he was about nine or ten years of age, to Worcester, Mass., where his uncle Dr. Seth Rogers had a successful sanatorium. Here, at his first coming, he met two persons whose idealizing influences began at once and lasted through life: — the girl who became his wife; and the clergyman who modified his theological creed, intensified his convictions regarding right and wrong, increased his hatred of slavery, became his captain and then his colonel during the civil war, and was his friend always.

Rogers entered Harvard College in 1861. The bugles of war were then calling men to arms. His parents were Quakers and strongly opposed to fighting, and he had been bred in this faith; but when the chance offered for striking a blow at slavery, he joined the army. He enlisted in Company C, 51st Massachusetts Volunteers, his friend and mentor Thomas Wentworth Higginson being captain, and became corporal and sergeant. When his captain was made colonel of the First South Carolina Volunteers, he took the commission of captain in this regiment.* To join this regiment of black soldiers required considerable moral courage. There was, among the officers and soldiers of the North, a strong prejudice against the experiment of enlisting the slaves. It was not believed, except by a few, that these blacks would have the courage to face their former masters; to arm them was considered unwise, and to associate with them as their officers was thought degrading. Moreover, the Confederate authorities had declared that these troops would be regarded as outside of the ordinary rules of warfare, would be shot or hung when captured. But all these considerations were to him only stronger demands for his help, and he acted promptly and cheerfully in response. How well he performed his duties, how readily he adapted himself to the requirements of a difficult position, how efficient he was in training and leading his men whom he inspired with respect and affection for himself — this his commanding officer told at his funeral.

Edward Earle was a prominent citizen of Worcester, of which city he became mayor. He and his wife, Ann Barker Buffum, were members of the Society of Friends. Both were strong characters and maintained stoutly their religious tenets, which included hatred of slavery, and also of war. Their only child was Anne Buffum Earle. That the man who was to marry their daughter should become a soldier was to them a sorrow, which became an unbearable pain when he transferred from a nine-months' regiment to one enlisted for three years. So they applied for his discharge to the commanding general at Port Royal, who promptly declined to release "the best captain" of the regiment, but offered instead to promote him to be major. Then they appealed to the Governor of Massachusetts, and to the authorities at Washington. So resolute and persistent were their efforts, backed by all the influence they could command, that they finally obtained positive orders from the War Department, in compliance with which Captain Rogers was obliged to resign; and late in the year 1863 he returned to his studies at Harvard, where he was graduated in 1865.

For the graduating class at Harvard the college course terminates practically with Class Day. As a loyal member of his class, Rogers could not leave Cambridge until after that day. But at the earliest possible moment—the 26th day of June—he married his long-chosen wife, and the bridal journey lasted until Commencement Day, when he returned to Harvard to receive his degree of A.B.

After graduation, Rogers resided in Worcester, where he engaged in business, and where his three children were born. These were:—Edward Earle Rogers, the "Class Baby," that is, the first-born child of any graduated member of a class at Harvard, who was born May 3, 1866, and died October 1, 1884; Eliot Folger Rogers, born July 28, 1868, a brilliant scholar, who was graduated at Harvard in 1890, receiving there the degrees of A.B., A.M., and Ph.D., and also a Fellowship, studied at Göttingen University in Germany, and died October 2, 1895, just after beginning his duties as Instructor in Chemistry at Harvard; and Annie Rogers, born March 3, 1872, who married on June 6, 1895, Charles Davison Knowlton, M.D., and is now living in Boston.

In 1878, Mr. Rogers moved to Red Rock, Pennsylvania, and for some years was engaged in oil-producing in Pennsylvania, New York and Kentucky. In 1882 he went to Rockport, Massachusetts, where he was in the employ of the Rockport Granite Company. In 1889 he went to Saratoga Springs, New York, and thence in 1893 to Chicago, in both places superintending the erection of gas-generating plants, having patented many devices relating to fuel gas. In 1899 he came to Boston, where he and his wife made their home with their married daughter. Here he became connected with the Boston Book Company, and was manager of The Green Bag, a periodical devoted to legal matters.

Being a man of superabundant vigor and endowed with sturdy health, having inherited from his ancestors of five generations those principles of love of righteousness, abhorrence of injustice, and duty towards one's neighbor which are typified by the name of Friend, which is the proper designation of the Quaker, he was always taking upon himself some work of kindness and usefulness in addition to his business duties. While living in Worcester he joined the Worcester Agricultural Society, the Worcester Horticultural Society, the Worcester County Mechanics Association (he was skilled in the use of tools), and the Grand Army of the Republic; was commissioned Justice of the Peace, and elected member of the Common Council; was made a trustee of the Worcester County Institution for Savings, and Treasurer of the Lyceum and Natural History Association. In Pennsylvania he joined the Masons and the A. O. U. W., and served on the School Board of Foster Township. While in Rockport he was member of the School Board and joined the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. In Chicago he was connected with the city Civil Service Commission. Notable for its judicious and generous helpfulness was his work for the Associated Charities, in aiding the needy, encouraging the weak and, if need be, reproving the wayward.

While in college he was awarded a prize for excellence in reading, and his ability in this direction was afterwards utilized by giving public readings in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York. He was an occasional contributor to periodical publications, and in 1884 wrote for the benefit of the Grand Army a military drama entitled "Our Regiment," which was acted by several posts. In 1903 he met Major Caleb Huse, formerly of the United States Army, who in 1861 cast his fortunes with the South, and had been sent to Europe as Purchasing Agent by the Confederate Government. Mr. Rogers persuaded the major to write out some of his interesting experiences, and published them in 1904, under the title of "The Supplies for the Confederate Army; how they were obtained in Europe and how paid for."

When living in Chicago, Mr. Rogers became interested in the study of genealogy, and with his usual energy undertook to compile the histories of all the Rogers families in the United States—a tremendous task, as he was well aware. He printed in the REGISTER of January, 1901, a brief account of Hope Rogers of Connecticut and his descendants. In 1902 he published James Rogers of New London, Conn., and his Descendants. Two years later he carried through the press The Rogerenes, some hitherto unpublished annals belonging to the Colonial History of Connecticut, a book whose publication must have been postponed indefinitely without his generous aid. Working diligently, he accumulated the most valuable collection of facts extant concerning many families of his name. His manuscripts, neatly arranged and excellently indexed, have been given by his widow, in accordance with his expressed desire, to this Society.

He joined the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1899, and at once became one of its most valued members, being a frequent donor to the library and serving most efficiently on many committees. In January, 1905, he was elected a member of the Council, and held this position at the time of his death.

His end came suddenly, as he had always hoped. On a Thursday afternoon, with but slight warning, and at the end of a busy day, he was unexpectedly stricken down. That evening the operation for appendicitis was performed, but too late. He evidently was aware that the summons had come, and at intervals jotted down generous and kindly directions for the disposal of material not fully covered by his will. Through his thoughtfulness at this time, our Society has received the valuable gift of his genealogical collections. On Sunday, April 9, 1905, his life of usefulness was quietly ended.

No account of this man's life could be complete without reference to her whose silent influence was so strong and so helpful during forty years of married happiness. Her unvarying steadiness of character, her unflinching cheerfulness and unailing love carried them both safely through the tragedies of life, mitigating the sorrows and enhancing the joys which come to mortals. Thrice death struck at those dearest to her—her children and her husband—while to the outside world she maintained her sweet serenity and her faith. If her heart was broken, she gave no sign and made no complaint. Yet three months after her husband's death, on July 1, 1905, she followed him across the silent river.

INSCRIPTIONS FROM GRAVESTONES IN CHRIST CHURCH, NORWICH, CONN.

Communicated by GEORGE S. PORTER, Esq., of Norwich.

CHRIST CHURCH (Episcopal) of Norwich, Conn., was organized in 1747, and its earliest house of worship was opened two years later. The present, and fourth, church building of the society occupies the site of the first, and stands on a lot on Washington street which was donated by Capt. Benajah Bushnell nearly one hundred and sixty years ago. The churchyard is preserved, but the head and foot stones which formerly indicated the graves of departed members were long since removed and placed in the cellar of the church, where they are cemented into the walls and flooring. This underground room is dark and gloomy, and searchers have difficulty in deciphering the inscriptions, all of which are here reproduced.

MR. PATRICK FALCONER OF NEWARK, N. J., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by HON. RALPH D. SMYTH and communicated by Dr. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. PATRICK¹ FALCONER came to America, probably from Scotland, about 1684. He is said, in his epitaph written by his friend the Rev. Abraham Pierson, Jr., to have "suffered much for Christ," but when and where does not appear. It has been conjectured, however, that it was in Scotland, during the religious difficulties of that period.

In "The Model of Government of the province of East New Jersey in America and encouragement of such as design to be concerned there," published in Edinburgh in 1685, reprinted in Whitehead's "East Jersey," is a letter from Patrick Faulkner to Maurice Trent, dated "Elizabeth Town, East Jersey, 28th October, 1684." This is among "letters to different individuals in Europe (Scotland) from sundry individuals in America." The letter was written shortly after his arrival, and praises the country highly. He also speaks of having travelled through Maryland and Pennsylvania. Where Mr. Falconer spent the three or four intermediate years after the date of this letter does not appear. In 1688, Patrick Falconer, then of Woodbridge, was administrator of Robert Adam. The next year, 1689, he was at New Haven, where he married Hannah, daughter of Governor William Jones and grand-daughter of Governor Eaton. They were both about 30 years of age at that time.

Patrick Falconer could not have remained long at New Haven, for June 20, 1690, he was at Newark, New Jersey, administrator on the estate of Samuel Kitchel, who left a will dated Feb. 11, 1683, but whose wife Grace, named as executrix, had died before him; and he appears as a witness to the will of David Ogden, Dec. 26, 1691, but when the will was proved, Feb. 27, 1691-2, "Patrick Falconer being deceased," the other witness testified alone. He was called "merchant." On his gravestone in the old burying-ground is this inscription: "Here lyeth the body of Patrick Falconer, who died January 27th, 1691/2, aged 33 years." In his will, recorded in Trenton, New Jersey, he provided that his daughter, Hannah, be maintained till she arrive at the age of eighteen, and then that she should have fifty pounds in money; his wife, Hannah, was to enjoy the whole estate in any part of Europe, New England, New Jersey, or elsewhere, and to be sole executrix with power to sell, etc.; his honored father Wm. Jones, and his loving brother John Jones to be overseers, and his "brother James Falconer to be the overseer to take care to preserve what I have in Europe for my wife and child," also James Emmett to be overseer to assist in settling accounts in New York, Long Island, New Jersey, or elsewhere west of the Hudson River.

Sometime subsequent to Patrick Falconer's death, a John Falconer of London gave a power of attorney to David Falconer to act and do for him in East Jersey as a proprietor, but there is no evidence that either of these were relatives of Patrick.

It appears that Mrs. Hannah Falconer sold her interest in her husband's property and returned to New Haven, where she was in 1695. Subsequently she married James Clark of Stratford, and removed to that place.

Children :

2. ii. PATRICK, b. Aug. 12, 1692, at New Haven (posthumous); d. July, 1735. He lived at Guilford, where he was listed for £21 and a horse, in 1716.
2. PATRICK² FALCONER, JR. (*Patrick*¹) married, in 1722, Deliverance, daughter of Thomas Cooke, Jr. Prior to July, 1737, she married second, — Hill, and died Feb. 12, 1781.

PASSENGER LISTS TO AMERICA.

Communicated by GERALD FOTHERGILL, Esq., of New Wandsworth, London, England.

It was formerly the duty of an official to keep a strict account of all persons leaving the shores of England or Ireland, and this was no doubt at all times carried out in a more or less perfect way.

As regards England, these were all burnt by a fire at the Custom House, London. In some few cases, however, duplicates had been made for various official reasons, and these were printed, so far as then discovered, by Hotten.*

In making researches among the British Archives, I have discovered others. One series of these has been printed and is called a "List of Emigrant Ministers to America." Others I hope to print from time to time in the pages of the REGISTER.

The following are lists of passengers who left Ireland between the years 1805-1806, and contained in a British Museum Manuscript numbered Add. 35932.

The following is an example of a list, affidavit and certificate, showing that some trouble was taken in making the records:

Thomas Ryan	Patrick Ryan
John Cronnan	Mich ^l Enright
John Daly	Pat Hennesy

Edward Kellerman maketh oath that the above is a true list and description of the passengers engaged to go in the Ship Numa to America, and that not any of them is or are artificers, artisans, manufacturers, seamen or seafaring men, and that he will not take any other passengers but those expressed in the above list, and that this list is a duplicate of the original one transmitted to the Lord Lieutenant and Council save and except six of the passengers mentioned therein who are not to proceed.

Sworn before the Custom House, } EDW^d KELLERAN.

I certify that I have personally examined the Men in the above List and that to the best of my knowledge I do believe they are of the occupation above discribed.

STEPHEN BURTON OF BRISTOL, R. I., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

By Miss SUSAN A. SMITH, of Dorchester, Mass.

1. STEPHEN¹ BURTON, although spoken of as a wealthy and highly educated man, always holding prominent office, and active in the public interest, has left very little of himself upon record. Savage says he was "probably son of Thomas." In Mr. Waters's "Gleanings," Vol. 1, page 319, is the will of Margaret Prescott of the Parish of St. Thomas the Apostle, London, widow, dated Nov. 1, 1639, proved Jan. 3, 1639-40, in which she mentions her "son-in-law Stephen Burton and my daughter Martha his wife," but no connection between this Stephen and the Thomas named by Savage, or the Stephen of this article, has been proved.

The first evidence found of the presence of Stephen¹ in Boston was in 1670, when he was witness to a deed. In 1673, John Cranston, of Newport, R. I., sold land in Boston, bequeathed to him by the will of William Brenton of Rhode Island, to "Stephen Burton of London Junior, merchant, now resident of New England," and from that time, for over ten years, he had interests in Boston.

In 1680, Stephen Burton joined with "John Walley, Nathaniel Byfield and Nathaniel Oliver, men of large estate," in the purchase, from Plymouth Colony, of Mount Hope, the seat of the Great Sachem, Phillip, which has been called the "reward" to the Colony for the memorable conquest, but evidently he did not immediately take up his residence at Mount Hope, for in 1681 he was constable at Boston.

Oct. 28, 1681, at the sitting of Plymouth Colony Court, at the request of the four purchasers of Mount Hope, it was granted that it should be a town, to be called "Bristol," and the first "Recorder" of the new township was Stephen Burton. Any one who examines the first book of Deeds at Taunton, kept by him as Recorder,* cannot fail to notice the beautiful handwriting and the scholarly elegance of its arrangement.

In 1689, "Lieut." Burton was one of the selectmen "to wait on court," and he was also one of the Town Council "to join with the Commission officers by way of ordering concerns in exigencies relating to militia affairs." He was one of the first Deputies from Bristol to the General Court, and served five times, 1685, '86, '89, '90, and '92.

In 1690 he was appointed by Plymouth Court to look after the "revenues and Customs" of Bristol County, and "to give despatches to vessels and see that Acts of Navigation be observed and render account," but in 1692 complaint was made that Stephen Burton neglected his duties, because of "head trouble," and his death is recorded July 22, 1693. It is said that he resided on Burton Street in Bristol, and that the house was destroyed by the British in 1777.

He married first, Abigail, daughter of Gov. William and Martha Brenton of Rhode Island, who died at Bristol in 1684; and married second, Sept. 4, 1684, Elizabeth, only daughter of Gov. Josiah and Penelope (Pelham) Winslow, who died at Pembroke, Mass., July 11, 1735, and whose grave-stone is in an excellent state of preservation.

ELIZABETH, who never married, and of whom marvellous stories are told of the elegance of her personal belongings, one tradition being that she had a "quart measure of jewels," and many magnificent dresses. An elegant dower-chest stood in the Burton house at Pembroke as late as 1810, when it was sold.
2. THOMAS² BURTON (*Stephen*¹) settled in Pembroke, Mass., where he was town clerk and schoolmaster many years.

In Middlesex Co. Deeds, Vol. 28, fol. 229, is a transfer dated Aug. 6, 1728, of "Thomas Burton and Elizabeth Junior of Plymouth County," to "Nathaniel Cotton of Bristol County Clerk" of a tract of land at "Natticut" on the Merrimac River, being "three fourths of one sixteenth of ten thousand acres, derived from our honored father Stephen Burton deceased," who purchased it from "Mr. John Cranston of Newport R. I., who had it from William Brenton Esq., as see his last will and testament." In this document both Elizabeth the widow of Stephen,¹ and Alice the wife of Thomas,² resign dower.

* The office of Recorder at that time included "Clerk of the Peace," "Clerk of Common Pleas," and the duties now performed by the Registers of Deeds and of Probate.

In 1730 it was voted in Duxbury that Thomas Burton should keep their school, provided "he shall tarry in said town and not remove out of it"; but about that time he purchased a large estate in Center Pembroke, where he ever after lived. His family Bible is now in possession of Mrs. Henry Bosworth of Pembroke, whose husband is a descendant.

Thomas² married, May 10, 1722, Alice, born Apr. 15, 1697, daughter of Elisha and Elizabeth (Wiswell) Wadsworth. He died Oct. 22, 1779, aged 87 years, and she died June 9, 1791, aged 95 years. (Gravestones at Pembroke.)

A DORCHESTER RELIGIOUS SOCIETY OF YOUNG MEN.

Communicated by ALBERT MATTHEWS, A.B., of Boston.

ON December 25, 1698, there was formed at Dorchester a "Society of Young Men mutually joining together in the Service of God." The Society apparently had no distinctive name, and, though it seems to have existed for a century and a half, there appear to be no allusions to it in the histories of Dorchester. There are, however, three sources of information in regard to the Society. In 1779 there was printed at Boston, "Early Piety recommended. A Sermon, Preached Lord's-day Evening, February 1st, 1778, to Two Religious Societies of Young Men in Dorchester. By Moses Everett, A.M., Pastor of the Church in that Place. Published at the Request of the Societies and others." In the course of this sermon Mr. Everett says :

It is a happy consideration, that amidst all the degeneracy of the times, the ancient religious Societies of young Men, are upheld among us. That there are still so many who are willing to own a regard for the interests of religion, while it is so generally disregarded and contemned by the youth. Such societies, are indeed worthy a particular share in the affection of all good men. . . . They are honorable. . . . They are greatly ornamental to religion . . . and tend much to the advancement of its dignity and interests (p. 24).

These words are of too general a nature to be of much value, and the fact, as stated on the title-page, that this sermon was preached to two societies, rather intensifies than clears up our ignorance! But in 1799 there was printed at Charlestown "A Discourse, Addressed to the Religious Society of Young Men in Dorchester, on the Termination of One Hundred Years from the Time of its Establishment. By the Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris." The Introduction to this discourse is as follows :

ON December 25, 1698, a number of young persons, actuated by a love for religion, and a desire to assist and promote each other's advancement in the offices of piety, agreed upon ' a private weekly meeting, for religious exercise, and the good improvement of the evening of the LORD's day.'

ABOUT eleven years after, as the members had become numerous, and it was inconvenient to assemble in one place, it was deemed advisable to divide; and one branch of the society continued to meet in the south part of the town, and the other in the north.

THE society is composed of serious and well disposed youths, who continue members till they form family connections, or leave the town. There is no recollection of a single instance of the expulsion of an individual for ill conduct, or of any one having desired to leave the society from dislike. The utmost harmony and fraternal affection have prevailed in their meetings: and the institution has been promotive of the happiest effects in encouraging and assisting youthful piety and practical godliness.

THAT a society constituted of persons whose dispositions and principles are apt to be mutable, and easily affected and estranged by the dissipations of early life, should have been zealously supported through a whole century, is a circumstance which must forcibly excite our admiration. On the termination of this period, the young men of the elder branch of the society requested that a discourse might be delivered to them in public, to commemorate the establishment of the Institution, and to further its views. In compliance with this request the following was written and delivered, and to gratify the society it is now published (pp. 3, 4).*

Our third source of information is a manuscript written on parchment now owned by Mr. Charles J. Means of Boston, a son of the late Rev. James H. Means of Dorchester — the successor of the Rev. John Codman. This parchment, which could not have been written earlier than 1707, contains the Articles agreed upon December 25, 1698, and the names of about three hundred and fifty members, many of them autograph signatures.† It is printed at the end of this paper.

But while our knowledge of this particular Society is meagre, it may not be without interest to give an outline of the causes which led to its inception, especially as this will show that other similar societies existed in this neighborhood early in the eighteenth century. The scandals, both public and private, which characterized the reigns of Charles II. and James II. were a cause of shame to many Englishmen, and became so notorious that a reaction set in after the Revolution. In 1895 Miss Mary Bateman wrote :

In the reign of William and Mary the rise of a number of voluntary associations, with moral, religious, or philanthropic aims, expressed the widespread desire for social reform. It is true that in 1689, as in 1642, social reform was not made a party cry; but the cordial reception given to the Prince of Orange, especially in the city of London, was partly due to the belief that the social disorders of the last two reigns would be suppressed. The city authorities

* In an Appendix (pp. 19-24), Mr. Harris says that "An account of the societies of young men in England, with rules and directions for their use, may be found in Baxter's Practical Works, Vol. iv.;" quotes some rules for such a society from A Help to National Reformation; and gives some extracts from "a little book, published about the beginning of the present century, entitled 'Private meetings animated and regulated,' . . . which may serve to shew the original plan and design of such institutions." The last I have not seen. My attention was called by Mr. William P. Greenlaw to the two sermons quoted in the text. Copies of both, owned by the Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society, are deposited in the library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and are bound in Volume viii of a series labelled "Historical Discourses, Dorchester."

† I am indebted to Mr. William B. Trask, to Mr. Henry E. Woods, and to Mr. Henry H. Edes, for aid in deciphering some of the names on the parchment.

combined with their Whiggism the Puritan horror of profanation of the Sabbath, cursing and drunkenness, and they knew that they had William's sympathy in these matters. The first sign of a change in the policy of the Government was given in a letter sent by William to the bishops, 1689, ordering them publicly to preach against the keeping of courtezans, swearing, etc., and to put the ecclesiastical laws in execution without any indulgence. The next was given in a letter of Mary, written in the absence of the king, to the Justices of the Peace in Middlesex, July 9th, 1691, which recommended the execution of the laws "against profaning the Lord's Day, drunkenness, profane swearing and cursing, and all other lewd, enormous, and disorderly practices" which had universally spread themselves by the neglect and connivance of the magistrates. Any officer of justice guilty of these offences or negligent in punishing them was to be punished himself as an example.

On the whole, however, it was not through Court influence that progress was made in the reform of manners. It was from the people, not from the Government, that the movement of social reform came. The work which Cromwell had given to his major-generals was now taken up by voluntary associations. The title "Society for the Reformation of Manners" was first used in 1692,* when five or six private gentlemen of the Church of England, with the help of the Queen, banded themselves together to inform against all persons who broke the penal laws. To prevent the charge of covetousness, the societies paid over the fines to charities, and took a subscription from their members to pay the expenses of prosecutions. In 1698 the societies received a stimulus from a proclamation against vice and impiety in all classes issued by William III. The spread of vice was ascribed to the magistrates' neglect to enforce the laws, and the judges of assize and justices of the peace were ordered to read the proclamation before giving the charge, and all ministers of religion were to read it four times a year after divine service.†

* For this statement, Miss Bateman refers to Coke's Detection (iii. 66) and Wilson's De Foe (i. 279). But neither Coke nor Wilson says that the title was used in 1692: merely that the Societies arose in or about that year. The earliest use of that exact title I have found is in a pamphlet called Proposals for a National Reformation of Manners, Humbly offered to the Consideration of our Magistrates & Clergy. To which is added, I. The Instrument for Reformation. II. An Account of several Murders, &c. and particularly A Bloody Slaughter-House discover'd in Rosemary-lane, by some of the Society for Reformation, As also The Black Roll, Containing the Names and Crimes of several hundred Persons, who have been prosecuted by the Society, London, 1694. This was licensed February 12, 1693-4, and was "Published by the Society for Reformation." To the sermons preached before the Societies, there was frequently added an "Account [for the preceding year] of the Progress made in the Cities of London and Westminster, and Places adjacent, by the Societies for Promoting Reformation of Manners." The first of these accounts was the "Black Roll" printed in the above pamphlet of 1692. Later they appeared as broadsides under the title of Black List, and in the British Museum are copies of the Sixth (1701), the Eighth (1703), the Tenth (1705), the Thirteenth (1708), the Fourteenth (1709), and the Fifteenth (1710). From them it seems probable that the Societies were officially organized in 1694, and presumably their title dates from that year.

The earliest allusion I have found to the originators of the Societies is in a pamphlet entitled A Vindication of an Undertaking of Certain Gentlemen, In Order to the Suppressing of Debauchery and Profaneness, printed in London in 1692, of which there is a copy in the Boston Athenæum. Though published anonymously, it was written by Edward Fowler, Bishop of Gloucester, who says:

"But to come to the Business of these Papers: Certain pious Gentlemen, all of the Church of England, laying greatly to heart these things, resolved to make Tryal, whether any thing could be done towards giving a Check to DEBAUCHERY and PROFANENESS; and joyntly agreed upon this following Method for the Reforming of Offenders in those Two most scandalous Instances, by due Course of Law" (p. 6).

The title later used is not found in this pamphlet, but in the Preface the author asks: "But how can Zeal for so good a thing as Reformation of our Manners, be ever Ill-timed?" (p. iv.) There are in the British Museum two copies of this pamphlet, one with the title as given above, the other entitled A Vindication Of a Late Undertaking of Certain Gentlemen, &c., London, 1692.

Most of the societies organized late in the seventeenth century had for their object the suppression of immoralities of various kinds and the prosecution of the offenders. After enumerating the duties of about a dozen of these, the writer of a pamphlet published in London in 1699 goes on to say :

Besides those above-mentioned, there are about Nine and Thirty Religious Societies of another kind, in and about London and Westminster, which are propagated into other Parts of the Nation; as Nottingham, Gloucester, &c., and even into Ireland, where they have been for some Months since spreading in divers Towns and Cities of that Kingdom; as Kilkenny, Drogheda, Monmouth, &c. especially in Dublin, where there are about Ten of these Societies, which are promoted by the Bishops, and inferior Clergy there. These Societies meet often to Pray, Sing Psalms, and Read the Holy Scriptures together, and to Reprove, Exhort, and Edify one another by their Religious Conferences. They moreover carry on at their Meetings, Designs of Charity, of different kinds; such as Relieving the Wants of Poor House-keepers, maintaining their Children at School, setting of Prisoners at Liberty, supporting of Lectures and daily Prayers in our Churches. These are the SOCIETIES which our late Gracious Queen, as the Learned Bishop that hath writ her LIFE tells us,* took so great Satisfaction in, that She inquired often and much about them, and was glad they went on and prevailed; which, thanks be to GOD, they continue to do; by the Reverend Mr. Woodward, who hath obliged the World with a very particular Account of the Rise and Progress of them, hath lately acquainted us.† And these likewise are SOCIETIES that have proved so exceedingly Serviceable in the Work of REFORMATION, that they may be reckoned a chief Support to it, as our late Great Primate Arch-Bishop Tillotson declar'd, upon several Occasions, after he had

† The Rev. Josiah Woodward preached a sermon before the Societies on December 28, 1696. There is a copy in the Harvard College Library. In the Epistle Prefatory we read:

"And therefore it cannot be matter of great Joy to all good People to hear of your successful Progress in this your pious Enterprize. What exalted Praises will they offer to God, when they hear of your Order, Courage, and Unanimity in a Work of such absolute Necessity; and when they understand that Thousands have been brought by your means to legal Punishment, for their abominable Enormities; and that Multitudes of scandalous Houses . . . have been suppress'd by you; and that public Vice and Profaneness is manifestly check'd, and in a way to be rooted out by your exemplary Diligence, Zeal, and Expence in this great Undertaking? As it is more particularly related in an Account of the Rise and Progress of the Religious Societies of Young Men, lately published" (pp. vii. viii).

The title of Woodward's pamphlet is, An Account of the Rise and Progress of the Religious Societies in the City of London, &c. And of the Endeavours for Reformation of Manners Which have been made therein. No copy of the first edition is known to me, but according to Arber's Term Catalogues (ii. 600) it was published in November, 1696, under the title of An Earnest Admonition to All; but especially to Young Persons, to turn to God by speedy repentance and reformation. Being the substance of six Sermons. . . . To which is added, An Account of the Rise and Progress of the Religious Societies of Young Men, and of the Societies for Reformation. In the British Museum are copies of the second (1698), the third (1701), and the fourth (1712) editions. The following extracts, pertinent to our subject, are taken from the second edition:

"IT is now about twenty years ago, that several young Men of the Church of England, in the Cities of London and Westminster, were about the same time touch'd with a very affecting sense of their Sins, and began to apply themselves, in a very serious manner, to Religious Thoughts and Purposes" (p. 31).

"INSOMUCH, that there are now near twenty Societies of various Qualities and Functions, formed in a Subordination and Correspondency one with another, and engaged in this Christian Design in and about this City and Suburbs: All which have their set Hours and Places of meeting, to direct, support, and execute this their undertaking.

"IN this Number of Societies for Reformation here given, I do not include any of the three two Religious Societies before mentioned. For tho they all agree in the love of Virtue, and dislike of Vice, yet their first and more direct Design of Association seems to be distinguish'd thus. In that the Societies for Reformation bent their utmost Endeavours from the first to suppress publick Vice; whilst the Religious Societies endeavour'd chiefly to promote Religion in their own Breasts, tho they have since been eminently instrumental in the Publick Reformation" (pp. 83, 84).

examined their Orders, and inquired into their Lives, That he thought they were to the Church of England.*

That a movement which met with such an impetus in England should have extended its influence to the American colonies, is what one would naturally expect. In a pamphlet published in London in 1705, we read :

A Reverend Divine, who hath been lately in our Northern Plantation in America, by the Encouragement of divers of our Bishops, for the Propagation of Christianity there, order'd a whole Impression of the Account of the Societies† to be Printed off, and sent thither, for the promoting a Reformation, by these Methods, in those Parts of the World. And this Reverend Person the last Month told me, that he thinks they have since made a more remarkable Reformation there, than in either of Her Majesty's Kingdoms.‡

Some contemporary letters written by an unknown New Englander are fortunately preserved. In the pamphlet which has just been cited will be found the following extracts :

From New England we are told, That great Care hath been there taken of late for the Punishment of Vice and Prophaneness by the Methods that are here us'd; and a Gentleman in that Country, in his Letter bearing date April 10. 1702. informs us, That several Societies are formed in Boston, and he thinks that in a little time he shall acquaint us of others set up in other Parts of that Country.§

A Gentleman in New-England, in a Letter dated October 8. 1704. writes to his Correspondent in London in the following Words: The Societies lately erected for the Service of Religion in London, and in some other Parts of Europe, have by their laudable Example had an Influence upon a Country as far distant from them as New-England in America. And we thought it might be some Satisfaction to you and other good Men with you, to have a summary Account of the Good which is daily doing among us, in Imitation of the Example that you have given us. We shall accordingly inform you, that a Number of Gentlemen who make the best Figure in this Place, did a few Months ago establish a voluntary Conversation once in a Fortnight. The Gentlemen of the Society for Propagation of Religion have already had a sensible Blessing of God upon their Consultations and Undertakings. They have sent into every Town of the Provinces Treatises to animate the Observation of the Lord's Day. They have conveyed unto such People among our selves as frequently and prophanely absent themselves from the Publick Worship of God, a Sheet of Considerations to reclaim them from that Prophanity. They compiled and emitted an Abstract of Laws against all punishable Wickedness, and armed the Officers in the several Parts of the Province therewithal. They are now endeavouring to introduce more Religion into our Sea-faring Tribe, and Season our Vessels with better Orders than have been generally practised. These are but some of the good Things which they have done in a very little while. We

* An Account of the Societies for Reformation of Manners, in London and Westminster, And other Parts of the Kingdom, London, 1699, pp. 15, 16. In the British Museum Catalogue and elsewhere this pamphlet, of which two editions appeared in 1699, is attributed to Woodward: but the allusion to Woodward quoted in the text shows that he could not have been its author. There is a copy of the pamphlet in the Boston Athenæum and in the Harvard College Library. In a sermon preached before the Society on June 27, 1698, the Rev. Thomas Jekill referred in the Epistle Dedicatory to "the several Accounts that have been given of your Affairs in Print; first by the Right Reverend Bishop of Gloucester, and since by the Reverend Mr. Woodward, and some others." The first allusion is of course to Edward Fowler's Vindication (1692), already quoted in a note on page 32, while the second allusion is to the pamphlet by Woodward mentioned in the last note.

† Presumably the Account published in 1699. There are in the British Museum a pamphlet published in London about 1700 called A Short Account of the Several Kinds of Societies, set up of late Years, for the promoting of God's Worship, for the Reformation of Manners, etc.; and a pamphlet published at Edinburgh in 1700 by Sir Francis Grant Lord Cullen, entitled A Brief Account, of the Nature, Rise, and Progress of the Societies, for Reformation of Manners, &c., in England and Ireland: with a Preface Exhorting to the Use of such Societies in Scotland.

shall supersede the mention of the rest, with one comprehensive Service they produced in Boston, our chief Town, a Society for the Suppression of Disorders; many good Offices have been done for the Town in a little while by that Society; they Printed a Sheet of Methods and Motives for such Societies; the Sheet they scattered throughout these Colonies. In many Towns they have erected such Societies, and conformed unto the Advice that have been set before them. In these Towns the Ministers and the Societies, with which they have accommodated themselves, to be admirable Engines for the maintaining and promoting all good Order among their People. We receive Letters from divers Quarters wherein they do even with some Rapture give Thanks to God for the Advantage they have already received by these Societies. They generally carry on their Design with Prudence and Silence, and great Modesty, but with wondrous Efficacy. We confess we owe unto you the Relation, because we are beholding to you for the Example that hath been followed in our feeble Essays to do what we can for the Advancement of the Greatest Interest. May the God of all Grace prosper all your and our Essays thus to do what Good we can.*

In another pamphlet, published in London in 1706, we get a few more letters written by the same person. Some extracts follow.

A Reverend Divine of New-England in his Letter dated from Boston the 23d of November 1705, says thus: Sir, It was but Yesterday that your letter to our worthy Friend Mr. ——— arrived; however, we were not willing to miss this Opportunity of returning you our hearty Thanks for your grateful Communications, and of letting you know, that we take every Opportunity of returning greatest Thanks to the God of Heaven, for disposing and assisting so many (as we perceive by your Letters) unto such noble Methods of being Serviceable.

And because you may expect something of that also, we will go on where we left off in the Account we formerly gave you of our Proceedings in those best Intentions, the Reformation of Manners, and the Propagating of Christian Knowledge and Goodness.

Our Societies for the suppression of Disorders, increase and prosper in this Town; there are two more such Societies added unto the former; There are also Religious Societies without Number in this Country that meet at proper Times, to pray together, and repeat Sermons, and forward one another in the Fear of God.

In some Towns of this Country, the Ministers who furnish themselves with a Society for the Suppression of Disorders, hardly find any notorious Disorders to be suppressed: but then their Societies are helpful unto them in doing abundance of Good for the Advancement of serious Religion in the Neighbourhood, and to make their Ministry much more Profitable in the Weekly Exercise of it.†

Lastly, a Gentleman writes from New-England, in his Letter of the 20th of November 1705. To gratify your Desires to know what Progress we make here in our Societies, I make bold to add a Line or two to certify, That in Boston the Societies for suppressing Disorders (of which mention was made in my former Letters) are upheld, and two other Societies of the same Nature erected. All which are spirited to be active, according to their Abilities and Influence, to promote Virtue, and discountenance and suppress Vice. And not only in Boston are such good Things done, and doing, but in many Places in the Province besides. Omitting many other things that might be enumerated as to other Places, I shall sum up in short, an Account of what hath been done in a Town called Taunton, through the rich Mercy of God: The Reverend Mr. ———; ‡ Minister there, having seen some Printed Accounts of the Methods for Reformation in Old England, in imitation thereof (after earnest Prayers to God for Success) obtained of several Inhabitants of the Place (that were noted for Sobriety and Zeal against Sin) to meet with him once in each Month, to consult what might be done to promote a Reformation of Disorders there. And after a Day improved in Fasting and Prayer together,

To which is added, An Account of the Progress of the Reformation of Manners in England and Ireland, and other parts of the World.* Fifth edition, London, 1706, pp. 13, 14. There is a copy in the Boston Public Library. There is in the British Museum a copy of the first edition, printed in 1700.

‡ The pamphlet from which this is taken formerly belonged to the New England Library collected by the Rev. Thomas Prince and now in the Boston Public Library. It contains notes in the handwriting of Prince himself, and at the bottom of p. 15 is written: "[* i e y^e Rev mr Samuel Danforth]."

they first attempted to reduce the Heads of Families to set up Family Worship; and God gave them great Success; So that most of the Families in the large Towns hearkened to their Exhortations and Reproofs; and set upon the Practice of Family Prayer Morning and Evening; every day having heard and read some Accounts of the Religious Societies of Young Men in London, they were encouraged to endeavour the like among them. And beyond their Expectation (God working with them) prevailed with the greatest part of the Youth to form themselves into Societies for Religious Exercises, signing some good Rules to be observed by them therein, much like the Orders of the Societies of the Young Men in London. The good Effect whereof was the putting an End to and utter Banishment of their former disorderly and profane Meetings to Drink, &c. and to the great Grief of Godly Minds.

There is also something done in the Town (and in some others) towards the founding of a School, by getting Lands granted and laid out by the Inhabitants for the particular Design of upholding a School. And whereas some Prints from Old-England certify us, That the Inferior Clergy are advised to meet together often, and consult how to promote Reformation.* In like manner some Essays are made, that Neighbouring Ministers in this Province might uphold some stated Meetings, to consider of what they may do for the same End.

Now, Sir, our Imitation of the pious Zeal of godly Men in Old-England, is a sufficient Testimony of our Approbation of what is doing there. And blessed be God that there is a great Number in this Province, who daily pray to God for the Prosperity of Old-England: And especially that Religion in the Power and Life of it may Flourish there.†

These letters and extracts give us an interesting glimpse into the moral and social life of New England two centuries ago. For half a century or more the English Societies continued their activities.‡ How long the movement lasted in New England is not known to the present writer, and it is hoped that the facts now given will lead to further discoveries in the same direction. In 1895 the Rev. Francis E. Clark wrote:

But the most remarkable example of Endeavorers before the Endeavor Society is found in a short-lived movement which began nearly two centuries ago in the churches of Massachusetts.§

Mr. Clark then goes on to describe and to quote from a pamphlet printed by Cotton Mather at Boston in 1724 and entitled, "Religious Societies. Proposals For the Revival of Dying Religion, By Well-Ordered Societies For that Purpose. With a brief Discourse, Offered unto a Religious Society, on the First Day of their Meeting." Mather makes a passing allusion to the societies which have been considered in this paper, but does not add to our information. The societies to which attention has been called existed a quarter of a century or so before the appearance of Mather's pamphlet, and it is clear that the evolution of the Christian Endeavor Society is to be traced to them rather than to Mather's pamphlet.

‡ Some of those who preached to the Societies were Dissenters, but most of them were of the Church of England. The sermons were at first quarterly, but later became annual. The libraries of Boston and Cambridge contain the following sermons: Josiah Woodward (1696), Lilly Butler (1697), John Woodhouse (1697), John Russell (1697), Samuel Bradford (1697), Samuel Wesley (1698), William Hayley (1698), Edward Fowler (1699), Gilbert Burnet (1700), St. George Ashe (1717), Edward Gibson (1724), Edward Chandler (1725), Thomas Green (1727), Richard Smalbrooke (1728), Thomas Leavesley (1730), Francis Hare (1731), James Knight (1733), Arthur Bedford (1734), Edward Cobden (1736), Samuel Smith (1739). The British Museum contains some of the above sermons and also the following: William Bisset (1704), Samuel Wright (1715), John Leng (1718), Moses Lowman (1720), William Butler (1722), John Wynne (1726), Robert Drew (1735), Samuel Bay (1736), William Simpson (1738), Samuel Chandler (1738). There is also in the British Museum A Sermon Preached before the Former Societies for Reformation of Manners: To which is added, An Abridgment of the forty-second Account of their Progress made in the Cities of London and Westminster, and Places adjacent, for promoting a Reformation of Manners. Whereunto is subjoined, A Declaration from the present society, London, 1760. This pamphlet ends as follows: "Justice Hall in the Old Bailey April the 21st 1760. where the Society meet every Monday Evening at 6 o'Clock. FINIS" (p. 36). Finally, several other pamphlets relating to the Societies will be found in the British Museum.

§ World Wide Endeavor, p. 43. My attention was called to this passage and to Mather's tract by the Rev. William H. Cobb, librarian of the Congregational Library, which owns a copy of the tract.

The document mentioned at the beginning of this paper follows.

Articles covenanted and agreed upon this 25th day of December in the Year of our Lord God one Thousand six Hundred and ninety eight, between us who are hereunto subscribed, being a Society of Young Men mutually joining together in the Service of God, in the 11th Year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord William the third, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith &c.

Whereas the eternal Jehovah hath in his free Love made Man a reasonable and rational Creature, and hath given to us a Law to regulate and order our Lives by, It should be the great Care and Concernment of all Men in general, and of those that live under the Light, Power, Means and Gospel of an almighty and sufficient Saviour, in a very singular and particular Manner, for to walk and order their Lives and Conversations according to their Faith and Belief, as the holy Spirit of God in his holy Word shall guide and direct in such Ways, Means, Methods, and Institutions, as may increase their Love to, and Faith, and Hope, and Trust in God, and prove beneficial unto their own precious and immortal Souls, as well as Joy and Comfort unto all the Godly: and an example unto all ungodly Sinners. And since that the blessed and eternal God hath declared in his holy Word that he desires not the Death of Sinners; and that where but two or three are gathered together in His Name, that there he will be in the midst of them and bless them; and that he loves them that love him and they that seek him early shall find him: and since that God has appeared and made known his Spirit and Power wonderfully upon the enlivening, enlightening, comforting, converting and confirming fundry, in the former and present Generation, and make them great Blessings unto his Church and People, by and through the Means of godly and pious Societies and Conversations. We following their Example, and trusting alone for Help and Assistance from God; do jointly and severally consent and agree unto these Articles following, viz, I) First, That upon every Sabbath Day Evening, as many of us as are well, and in Health; except that some unavoidable Accident happen, will come at the Place and Time appointed for the carrying on of our Exercise; and continue two Hours, or thereabouts in our Service. II) Secondly, That when we are met together, our Service is to begin, first, with Prayer; Secondly, a Psalm to be sung at the Appointment of him that first began the Exercise. Thirdly, if the Time be not far spent a godly sermon is to be read. Lastly, We will conclude with Prayer.—In the Year of Our Lord and Saviour one Thousand seven Hundred and seven. January the 25th. It was agreed upon by the whole Society, that they would meet once in a Month a Thursday Night: and the Exercise to be carried on in Prayer; and a Psalm to be sung at last.—And also it was agreed upon, that if any Person belonging unto our Society doth not attend at the Place appointed for the carrying on of our Exercise, he is to declare his Reason for the same. III) Thirdly, All shall equally take their Turns in carrying on the Exercise as their Names are annexed; and that if any one desires to be excused, he shall get another of the Society to take his Turn in carrying on of the Exercise, and it shall be reputed and reckoned, that he who of right should have done it, hath taken his Turn. IV) Fourthly, That whatsoever Slips or Mistakes happen from any person, while in Prayer, or any other Exercise, there shall be nothing said, nor any Motions made, that may any ways impose upon, or make the Person an Object of Laughter; but all are in Love and Friendship to bear with the Mistakes one of another: for no man is able to stand upon his own Strength, and God may let the ablest fall into grosse Errors. V) Fifthly, No Person belonging unto our Society, shall at any Time, make known unto any others, any of the Slips or Mistakes of any of the Society, but all our Actions shall be kept secret unto ourselves, least through the Subtily of Satan much Mischief be incurred thereby. VI) Sixthly, No scandalous Person shall be admitted into our Society; nor any other Person if they will not consent unto these our Articles, after they have been with us one or two Nights for a Tryal. VII) Seventhly, No Person shall break off from us, and leave our Society, after their Names are annexed, except that first he declares his Reason for the same, unto our Satisfaction; provided he be not disabled by Distemperature of Body, or be by Providence removed away from us. VIII) Eighthly and Lastly. If it so happen, which God forbid, that any of our Society fall into gross and scandalous Sins, whereby the Ways of Religion and Godliness are scandalized and reproached; or if any, after their Hands are annexed, break and violate these our Articles, for the first Offence they shall be reprov'd, and if they still continue refractory, for the second Offence shall be under sharp Admonition, and for a third Offence shall be totally expelled our Society. Amen.

ANDREW N. ADAMS.

By ERASTUS HIBBARD PHELPS, Esq., of Fair Haven, Vt.

ANDREW N. ADAMS was born in Fair Haven, Vermont, January 6, 1830, and died in his native town, March 13, 1905. He was the son of Joseph and Stella (Miller) Adams. The ancestors of his father, who was born in Londonderry, New Hampshire, Feb. 14, 1802, were Scotch, and came to this country from the north of Ireland with the Scotch-Irish Colony that settled in Londonderry in 1721. Although called Scotch-Irish because they came from Ireland, these early settlers of Londonderry were of Scotch lineage pure and simple, and being rigid Protestants of the Presbyterian faith they tolerated no mixture with the Celts, and disliked being called Irish.

The parents of Joseph Adams immigrated to Whitehall, New York, in 1806, and in 1823 he married Stella, daughter of Capt. William and Paulina (Phelps) Miller. Capt. Miller was a native of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, and settled in Hampton in 1786, where he reared a large family of children, the eldest being the Rev. William Miller, widely known as a student of prophesy, and founder of the sect known as Second Adventists.

The subject of this sketch was the fourth child of Joseph Adams and Stella Miller. His preparatory school training was obtained in the common schools of Fair Haven, and at the Green Mountain Liberal Institute, South Woodstock, Vermont. Later, he was a student at the Theological Seminary at Meadville, Pennsylvania, graduating, however, at the Harvard Divinity School in 1855, in the same class with George Hughes Hepworth.

Immediately after his graduation, on August 1, 1855, he was married to Angie Margaret Phelps, of Orwell, Vermont, and at once entered upon his chosen profession, becoming pastor of the First Parish Church in Needham, Massachusetts, where he was ordained Nov. 21, 1855. In 1857 he removed to Franklin, Massachusetts, and became pastor of the First Universalist Church of that place, where he remained until the summer of 1860, when he resigned, and returned to Fair Haven, Vermont, to assist his father in a rapidly growing mercantile business. In 1869 he engaged, in company with his father and brother-in-law, David B. Colton, in sawing and manufacturing marble, and in this business he was interested at Fair Haven, and afterward at Belden's, Vermont, until a few years before his death.

He was always deeply interested in the welfare of his native town, and was at times justice of the peace and town treasurer, was an active member of the school board for many years, was principal director of the public library, was for twenty-five years trustee of the Rutland County Grammar School, at Castleton, Vermont, and at the time of his death was president of the board of trustees.

At the death of his father, he was made a director in the First National Bank of Fair Haven, which position he resigned a few years before his death.

In 1884-5 he represented his town in the State Legislature, and in 1888-9 he was a member of the State Senate, and occupied a very prominent position as a member of the joint committee on education. In 1870 he wrote and published a History of Fair Haven, a book of 516 pages, which is a most exhaustive history of the town from its settlement. He was for a number of years a contributing member of the Rutland County Historical Society — in fact it may be said that he was the leading spirit of that body.

Although for many years engaged in active business, Mr. Adams was by nature a student and a man of letters. In the latter part of his life he was deeply interested in genealogical subjects, and devoted years of study and labor to a history of the Adams family.

He first published, in 1894, a history of the descendants of James and William Adams of Londonderry (now Derry), New Hampshire. This included his own immediate branch of the Adams family. In 1898 he published a genealogical history of Henry Adams of Braintree, and John Adams of Cambridge, Massachusetts, a book of over 1200 pages with numerous illustrations. This book was the result of a great amount of patient, persistent, and painstaking work, and the author in his preface says it was "undertaken at first in intervals of leisure for the sake of the knowledge to be derived, and prosecuted later in order that others might have the benefit of the compilation, in a succinct and accessible form, of valuable records and material drawn from many and widely scattered sources."

This was followed, in 1900, with a history of Robert Adams of Newbury, Massachusetts, and his descendants, a book of 560 pages. At the beginning of this volume, in his address "To the Reader," the author speaks of other branches of the Adams family, notably "William of Ipswich," "John of Plymouth," "George of Watertown," as well as several other first-comers in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, and New Hampshire. The author announces that he has compiled extensive lists of all these families, which could be published for the benefit of others if there were sufficient interest among the living descendants to warrant the labor and expense.

Sufficient encouragement having been given, in November, 1904, Mr. Adams issued an announcement "To the Descendants of William Adams, a first settler in Ipswich, Mass.," that the collation of the genealogical records of this great branch of the Adams family in America was approaching completion, and would be published early in the ensuing spring or summer. It was estimated that the material in hand would make a book of 600 pages.

Mr. Adams did not live to see the book published, but he left a voluminous mass of material relating to the subject, which has been given to the New England Historic Genealogical Society, where it will be preserved and can be consulted. He was elected a member of the Society in 1895.

Besides his historical and genealogical works, Mr. Adams was the author of numerous essays and addresses on educational and kindred subjects. He was deeply interested in scientific subjects, especially in geology, and among his published papers was one of exceeding interest on "The Geology of Vermont as developed along the Western border in the oldest fossiliferous rocks of the Continent."

His death is a serious loss to his family and the town in which he had resided so many years, and in whose interests he was always so deeply concerned. His widow and three married daughters survive him. The daughters are: Alice A., wife of Horace B. Ellis of Castleton, Vermont; Annie E., wife of George B. Jermyn of Scranton, Pennsylvania; and Stella M., wife of John T. Powell of Fair Haven, Vermont.

His large and valuable library has been presented to the town of Fair Haven, and will occupy a separate department in the Carnegie library building which is about to be erected.

Mr. Adams was, withal, a man of rare qualities of mind and heart, a man of refined and cultivated tastes, of broad and liberal views, a thoroughly honest and progressive citizen, a true and loyal friend.

From the great number of letters of sympathy received by the family from friends and acquaintances scattered throughout the whole country, the following extracts furnish ample evidence of the high esteem in which he was held even by those who were not fully in accord with his peculiar views. A prominent Congregational clergyman writes: "I was always drawn to Mr. Adams, not on account of kindred beliefs, but our spirits seemed to be kindred. If we could not agree in our conclusions we could, and I think did, agree in our desire to know the truth and conform our lives to its behests. I suppose that when we stand within the glory of the heavenly light, we shall find that the earthly views of all of us were inadequate, and perhaps in large part mistaken; and that they served their ends only by furnishing us hints and clues to the reality which is greater and more glorious than we can now conceive." Another letter from a lawyer, many years younger than Mr. Adams, says: "I always had great admiration for his character and intelligence. I don't think any one man has exerted greater influence on myself than Andrew N. Adams. He said to me once, several years ago, that whether or not he should have a personal, individual existence after this life he had no satisfactory evidence; but that it did not trouble him, for he knew he should continue to live after death in the influence and example of his life, — that that was the best part of man, and that could not die. So that while he could not say that he believed in the life everlasting as expressed in the creed, using those words as commonly understood, he did believe that what we love most in the life of our friends is everlasting; and his hope was that his influence and example might be such that he could wish it to continue forever. It seems to me that these words were an expression of the character of the man." Another clergyman, whose religious belief was in sympathy with that of Mr. Adams, writes: "His was truly a long, honorable and useful career, — not alone to his family and friends, but to the world. The principles of independent religious thought that he so faithfully lived and taught have helped to leaven the liberal thought of the world. A man so intellectually aggressive is not circumscribed in his influence by the 'pent up Utica' of town or state. But, alas, the dearest of earthly ties must be broken! Nothing earthly is permanent. Spirit, — spirit divine, spirit only is substantial, immortal. This is our comfort, that the reality, the divine essence within us that constitutes selfhood, cannot, like the body, die."

THOMAS TREADWELL OF IPSWICH, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.*

By WILLIAM A. ROBBINS, LL.B., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

1. THOMAS¹ TREADWELL† appears to have settled first at Dorchester, Mass., where his proportion of land on the Neck (sometimes called Lud-

* The author is indebted to Prof. George A. Treadwell of New York City for liberal assistance, and to Mrs. George H. Treadwell (Connecticut branch) and Mr. Smith R. Treadwell of Baltimore, Md., for much valuable data.

† If sufficient encouragement be given, an extended genealogy will be published in book form, containing an account of all the descendants of Thomas and Edward Treadwell down to about 1900, the lines of daughters, where they have married, being carried one generation. In such a work it is proposed to present a great deal of collateral matter not here given, such as biography, copies of documents, including photographic copies of the original wills of Thomas Treadwell and his wife, fac-similes of early signatures, together with references and authorities, and exhaustive indices. The material for this is now well in hand.

† The earliest mention in this country of the name Tre(a)dwel found by the author is that of Thomas, in the records of Dorchester, Mass., under date of 18 Mar., 1637. Felt, however, in his History of Ipswich, Essex, and Hamilton, Mass., page 12, mentions a Mr. Treadwell as a settler in Ipswich, in 1635; but that Mr. Treadwell was probably no other than this Thomas. Neither Savage nor Pope refers to any other Treadwell for the year 1635.

Both Felt and Savage mention a John Treadwell in Ipswich in 1638; but Pope omits him, and the author has never been able to find the original record upon which to base such a claim. In 1637, an Edward Treadwell first appears in this country on the Ipswich records. Later, he settled on Long Island, New York, where he died, leaving two sons from whom have sprung the Connecticut and Long Island Tre(a)dwells, a very numerous and widely scattered family. The aforesaid Thomas and Edward were probably brothers; but no other evidence for this statement has been discovered than this contemporaneous residence in Ipswich.

In Hotten's "Original Lists" we find that on 28 July, 1635, Thomas Tredwell, a smith, Mary Tredwell, each aged 30 years, and Thomas Tredwell, aged one year, embarked from London in the Hopewell, with certificate from the minister of St. Giles Cripplegate, but an examination of the records at St. Giles Cripplegate, made in 1689 by Mr. Benjamin F. Treadwell, failed to disclose the Tre(a)dwel name.

low's Neck) was, 18 Mar., 1637, "3 acres, 3 goods, 20 rodes," and of other land, "3 acres, 3 goods, 26 rodes"; but prior to 23 Apr., 1638, he had moved to Ipswich, Mass., on which date he sold his Dorchester holdings (Boston Rec. Com. Report, No. 4, pp. 31, 34).

His wife was probably Mary Taylor, sister of Samuel Taylor who died in Ipswich, in June, 1695.

In his will, Thomas¹ Treadwell mentions "my sister Bachellor," and the inventory of his estate refers to "Bro. Bacheller." The names of Thomas¹ Treadwell and his wife appear several times in the inventory of the estate of Henry Bacheller who died in Ipswich, 3 Feb., 1678.

Theophilus Wilson in his will, 1690, mentions Nathaniel² Treadwell as his "cozzen;" and John Giddings, in a deposition made in 1664, recites a like relationship between Nathaniel² Treadwell and Thomas Wilson. Thomas¹ Treadwell was admitted freeman, 7 Sept., 1638. Subsequently, he served on several juries in Essex Co. He died in Ipswich, 8 June, 1671 (will dated 1 June, 1671, probated at Ipswich, 26 Sept., 1671, in Essex Co. Probate, 28115), and his wife died in Ipswich, 1 Dec., 1685 (will dated, 28 Oct., 1682, probated at Ipswich, 20 Apr., 1686, in Essex Co. Probate, 28102).

REMONSTRANCE AGAINST SETTLING A MINISTER AT SOUTH HAMPTON, NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Sept. 7. 1742,

To the Associated ministers of the neighboring Towns mett at the new township of South Hampton, the following considorations are offered as Reasons why a great number of Inhabitants now falling in ad' town can not joyn with othere in their designs, and also why we think the present affair of settling a Minister there should be deferred, viz :—

1st because the affair of the Line is yet under debate and we know not whether we shall belong to ad' place, and that if we should expend for this purpose, or bring ourselves under obligations it may be lost as to us or Inswearing to ourselves & descendent.

2nd, That if we were disposed yet the difficulty of attending here for us and especially for here three quarters of the year is such that we see no possibility of it.

3rd, That in case ever the line be established as now run we intend God willing to accomidate ourselves better in a Meeting house & shall endeavor all we can to be set oft for this end, and then as to the present design of this dayi ntended by some we desent. first because the first meeting that voted this obtained partly by chance & partly as we judge unfairly. second that this last meeting was not agreeable to a former vote in this place with respect to the notifying meetings & not all as we understand at all warned of this. third we have proposed some things which we think Reasonable at present which have not been Regarded by them and finally that if all within the bounds of ad' Town should appear at a legal meeting and matters fairly tryed we are fully perswaded there is a majority with us against them.

CHURCH OF ST. LAWRENCE, READING.

CAVERSHAM, FROM READING.

THE FORBURY PARK, READING.

OUR ENGLISH PARENT TOWNS. READING.*

By OSCAR FAY ADAMS, Esq., of Boston.

THE borough and market town of Reading cannot point with certainty to the period of its origin. It was in existence when the Danes came up the Kennet and made the spot their headquarters in 871, but history does not go further back. In Domesday Book it is mentioned as Radynges. From the thirteenth to the sixteenth centuries parliaments were occasionally held here, and in the Civil War it surrendered to the Parliament forces under Essex in 1643.

The Massachusetts town, incorporated May 29, 1644, named in honor of the Radynges of Domesday, remains a quiet rural community, and the Pennsylvania Reading, surrounded by its cordon of hills in the heart of Berks County, though founded a century after the New England town, bears in population and importance far greater resemblance to the mother town across the sea. In Vermont is found another Reading, chartered July 6, 1761, and there are Readings in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, and Ohio. The Massachusetts locality, originally styled Lynn Village, was named Reading in honor of the early home of some of its first settlers.

The English town is situated on the Kennet, near its junction with the Thames, the two branches of the former stream being here spanned by four bridges, while an iron suspension bridge crosses the Thames on the eastern side of the town. A water route to the Severn is afforded by the Kennet and Avon Canal. A business-like air is everywhere apparent, and a live business town one soon finds Reading to be. Biscuit making heads the list of its industries, the biscuit factory of Huntley and Palmer being the largest in the kingdom, for Reading biscuits are as widely famous as Pears Soap. In the suburbs are seed farms covering more than three thousand acres, and "Sutton's Seeds" have carried the name of Reading around the world.

In 1121, Henry I. founded here a Benedictine monastery which speedily became one of the most powerful in England. Its abbots were mitred and kept their seats in Parliament until, at the word of Henry VIII., abbots and abbeys ceased to be. Hugh Farrington, the last abbot, refusing either to yield up his convent or acknowledge the monarch's supremacy, was, with two of his monks, summarily hanged, drawn and quartered before the gate of his own abbey, thus furnishing to all concerned an object lesson of a kind that the king was not at all averse to giving. Somewhere within the abbey Henry I. was buried, and before its high altar, long years after, were wedded John of Gaunt and Blanche of Lancaster. After the suppression of the abbey, it was converted into a palace which was demolished in the Civil War. The great gateway, carefully restored in 1861, yet stands, forming a portion of the assize courts, a public thoroughfare passing beneath its high arch.

To the east of the gate is a long row of stone residences, and immediately beyond these is the greater part of the abbey ruins; lofty, shapeless masses of flint and rubble, covering several acres. Except in the case of the chapter house and the great hall where parliaments were held, the original purpose of the separate portions, muffled now in ivy, cannot be definitely settled. To the north of the gateway some lesser fragments of the abbey are to be seen in the small park known as The Forbury, once the outer court of the abbey. The park is a pleasant spot but far too small, an objection that can scarcely be urged against the memorial in the Forbury to the Berkshire soldiers killed in the Afghan wars—an immense cast-iron lion on a pedestal. The material does not commend itself strongly to lovers of art, but the lion is certainly ferocious of aspect. Overlooking the park is a Roman Catholic church designed by Welby Pugin, a rather lifeless copy of Norman models.

The four ancient churches of Reading are those of Saint Giles, in Southampton Street, consisting of nave, aisles, choir, porch and west tower, the latter sustaining a slender stone spire; Grey Friars, in part a restoration, in part a rebuilding of the church of the Grey Friars monastery; Saint Mary; and Saint Lawrence. The church of Saint Mary, erected in 1551 from the ruins of a nunnery founded by Elfrida in repentance for the murder of Edward the Martyr, has an open timbered roof, and in outline displays nave, choir, gabled south aisle, north transept, and western pinnacled tower. It has a large churchyard with modern churchyard cross, and faces an open area called The Butts, which is adorned by a huge fountain. The church of Saint Lawrence, in the market place, shows a mixture of the work of the First and Third Pointed periods, and contains several interesting monuments and brasses. It consists of nave, north gabled aisle, chantry chapel, choir, south porch, and west tower with tall pinnacles. Its west window is a memorial to Archbishop Laud, a native of Reading, and in the choir is a window to the memory of Charles Lamb.

In Friar Street, next north of Saint Lawrence, are the municipal buildings, of red and black brick, erected in 1875 and 1882, the earlier part designed by the architect Waterhouse. They include a Town Hall, council chamber, free library, museum, and government art schools. Other buildings of importance are the Royal Assembly Room in Friar Street, Royal County Theatre, Berkshire Hospital, and the immense and gloomy prison made famous by Oscar Wilde's powerful "Ballad of Reading Gaol." In Erleigh Street is the Free Grammar School, an ancient foundation occupying modern structures. Archbishop Laud was once a pupil here. In the shadow of the tall clock-tower of the Municipal Building is a marble statue of Queen Victoria, and in Broad Street may be seen a bronze statue of the late Mr. Palmer, exhibiting that eminent biscuit maker in a standing posture and of heroic size, holding in his right hand a silk hat and a partially opened umbrella. It was placed in position some years before the death of its subject, and probably afforded him keener satisfaction than it did his fellow citizens. So far as the writer is aware, it furnishes the only instance of the appearance of the umbrella as a monumental adjunct.

On the Oxfordshire side of the Thames is the village suburb of Caversham; not far to the southward is the village of Shiplake, in whose parish church the poet Tennyson was married, while at Bradfield, a few miles to the west of Reading, is the College of Saint Andrew, founded in 1850 and now accommodating over 300 pupils.

NOTES.

To evade the ship money tax, already referred to in notes by me upon other of the English Parent Towns, a large emigration had set into New England. In the spring of 1638 a band of emigrants was formed in the neighboring parts of the counties of Berks, Wilts, Hampshire, and Oxford. Reading is about fifty miles north from Southampton; and Gloucestershire and Dorset on the west, and Sussex and Surrey on the east, were the bounds of the country in which dwelt the little band who sailed from Southampton, 24 April, 1638.

"The List of the names of the passengers intended for New-England, in the good shipp, the Confidence of London, of 200 tonnes, John Jobson M^r and thus by virtue of Lord Treasurers warrant of the 11th of April, 1638." (REGISTER, li, 109.) At the head of the list was the family of Walter Haynes, linen draper, who settled in Sudbury, Mass., and who came from Sutton Mahdeville, Wilts, ten miles southwest of Salisbury. (REGISTER, xxxix, 268; xlvii, 72.)

John Blanford, John Riddet, and Richard Bidcombe, three servants, are supposed to have come from the same place. Unfortunately the parish register does not begin till 1654.

Peter Noyes, yeoman, was from Penton Mewsey, Hampshire, three miles north-west from Andover. John Bent, husbandman, was also from this parish, or rather the adjoining part called Penton Grafton. (REGISTER, xxxii, 407; xlviii, 288.) Nicholas Guy, of Watertown, Mass., carpenter, came from Upton Gray, Hampshire, three miles south-west from Odiham, and five south-east of Basingstoke, both places being identified with the Dummer family who had come a few years before. Roger Porter, husbandman, of Watertown, came from Long Sutton, Hampshire, two and a-half miles south of Odiham. John Sanders, husbandman, of Newbury, Mass., came from Landford, ten miles south-east from Salisbury, but he later returned to England, and was at Wick farm in Downton, Wilts. He married Hester, daughter of John Rolfe of Newbury, who was a fellow passenger, coming from Melchet Park, Whiteparish, Wilts, seven miles south-east from Salisbury.

Thomas Goodenow came from Shaftesbury, on the borders of Dorset, but a few miles south-west of Semley, Wilts, where his brother John came from, and near to Dunhead, Wilts, where Edmund Goodenow came from.

Edmund and William Kerley, of Sudbury, husbandmen, were from Ashmore, Dorset, five miles south-east of Shaftesbury and on the Wiltshire border.

John Stephens, of Newbury, husbandman, was from Caversham, Oxfordshire, just across the Thames from Reading. With him was his brother William. The family is an old one there, and attained some prominence in later days. In the 17th century they held the farm of "Aldwinn's Tenants," and in the last century Mr. John Stephens of Caversham Rise was a benefactor to the poor, by a bequest. In the parish church of St. Peter (originally Norman) the east window is a memorial to him.

Thomas Jones, tailor, of Caversham, Oxfordshire, aged 36 years, with his wife Ann and four children, came to New England in 1638. He was not the Thomas Jones of Dorchester, as the latter was here in 1635. He was the father of Abraham Jones of Hull, who in 1658 sold to Daniel Cushing land in the plain neck, Hingham, given to him by his father Thomas Jones. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, iv, 129.) Abraham Jones in 1657 had seven sons, Benjamin, Thomas, Abraham, Josiah, Joseph, John, and Ephraim. (History of Hingham, ii, 386.) The land was granted by the town to Samuel Ward in 1637, and by him transferred to Thomas Jones in 1638. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, iv, 279.)

Robert Jones appeared in Hingham in 1637. It is probable he was a relative of Thomas; if not, he came from the same vicinity in England. 4 Dec., 1646, "Elizabeth Curtes & Jane Curtes granted unto Robert Jones of Hingham their father in law a lre of Attur^r to aske &c: of the execut^o of the last will &c of Jane Alexand^r late of Reading in Oxfordshire deceased their severall & respective Legacies given them by the last will & testament of the said Jane Alexand^r their grandmother & of the Receipt &c: also to compound &c: & to appeare &c: thereto required &c: & generally to doe all thing^s. witness their hand & seales." (Aspinwall's Notarial Records, p. 41.)

Another settler was John Benson, who also came from Caversham. He was of an old Oxfordshire family and was married in Caversham church, where at least one of his children was baptized.

On the Thames, four and a half miles north-east of Reading, is Shiplake, whence came the widow Martha Wilder and her daughter Mary to join other children in New England. Joseph Parker, tanner, came from Newbury, England. At his death he had an estate in England, some of which was at Romsey, Hampshire, seven miles north-west from Southampton. From Romsey also came Richard Bidgood, of Boston.

Sarah Osgood and four children came from Wherwell, four miles south-east of Andover in Hampshire. (REGISTER, xx, 24.)

Samuel Sewall had relatives in the Dummer family living at Romsey, and he also owned land at Lee (Sewall's Diary, Vol. 1), which is in Romsey Extra, and (1880) includes the farms of Henry Swauton and Thomas Wiltshire.

The will of Joan Alexander, of Swallowfield, six miles south-east from Reading, was probated in 1629; Henry Alexander of Reading, in 1625; and Augustin Alexander of Reading, 1636. Richard Curtis of Reading, probated 1639.

Thomas Collier, born in England in 1622, married, 30 Dec., 1647, Jane Curtis. Robert Jones, in his will in 1688, mentions his daughter Jane Collier.

21 Dec., 1649, "Thomas Collier of Hull husband of Jane the daughter of Curtes late of Reading in Berkshire did constitute John Curtes his brother in lawe his true & lawful Attorney granting him power &c: to aske &c: of the Executo^o of Jane Alexander late of Reading aforesaid all such Legacie &c: as was bequeathed to the s^d Jane his wife by the last will of the s^d Jane her grandmother & of the receipt to give acquittance &c: also to compound &c: & to appeare in any court &c: there to doe say sue &c: wth power to substitute &c: ratifying &c." (Aspinwall's Notarial Records, p. 240-1.) Thomas Collier died in 1691, leaving wife Jane and five children.

John Cogswell, Jun., of Ipswich, Mass., in a letter from London, dated 30 Mch., 1653, speaks of his cousin Stevens. (REGISTER, xv, 177.) In Massachusetts Archives, xxxix, 506, the name is given as Roger Stevens of Redding, Co. Berks. Roger Stephens married, 29 July, 1640, Martha Blowers, at St. Mary's, Reading.

Waters's "Gleanings," i, 46, gives a reference to the will of Francis Phips, the elder, of Reading, Eng. The will, proved in 1668, mentions his son Constantine, who was baptized 9 Nov., 1656, at St. Mary's, Reading, died 9 Oct.,

1723, and was buried 15 Oct., 1723, at White Waltham, Berks, ten miles east of Reading. This Constantine was Lord Chancellor of Ireland, and father of William who married a daughter of the 3d Earl of Anglesey, and grandfather of Constantine, Baron Mulgrave.

The first Constantine has been frequently spoken of, erroneously, as a son of Sir William Phips, governor of Massachusetts. The latter was a son of James Phips, a gunsmith from Bristol, Eng., where there were others of the name. Francis Phips was not the only one of the name in Reading, Eng., as there were, contemporary with him, Thomas and John Phips, tallow chandlers.

Augustine Clement, painter, of Dorchester, came from Reading, Eng. He had property at Wokingham (not Wockington, as given by Pope), which is seven miles south-east from Reading. The property was then (1638) in the possession of his sister-in-law Margaret Mathew. Another sister, Anne Clement, was living at Shinfield, Berks, four miles south of Reading. The parish registers of Wokingham begin in 1674, and of Shinfield in 1649.

In 1635, on the same ship with Clement, came Sampson Salter, fisherman, who was from Caversham, and went to Newport, R. I.

Of the early settlers at Reading, Mass., the only one who seems to have been connected with Reading, Eng., is John Damon, who is said to have been baptized in the church of St. Lawrence, Reading, 25 June, 1620, and settled at Reading, Mass., in 1644, the date of its incorporation.

The records of Reading, Eng., are preserved in its town hall, and they are ancient and numerous. Besides ancient deeds, accounts of the Treasurers, etc., there are some twenty-three folio volumes, making up a "Corporation Diary" covering two centuries, the annals of the town from 1622-1822, an interesting period. Of this material, four volumes have been printed by the borough, to the year 1654.

The Church wardens' accounts of St. Mary, Reading, 1550-1662, and its Registers, 1538-1812, have been published. A History of St. Lawrence, Reading, has also been printed.

THE BRISTOL BRANCH OF THE FINNEY FAMILY.*

By FRANKLIN C. CLARK, M.D., of Providence, R. I.

THIS family appears to have come from England before 1639, and consisted of a mother, a daughter, Catherine, and two sons, Robert and John. "Mother Finney" died in Plymouth, Apr. 22, 1650, "aged upwards of 80" years.

Children :

Jan. 7, 1687-8; resided in Plymouth; was granted land in 1641; a freeman in 1648; an exciseman and juryman; deacon of the church from 1669 till his death; and deputy from Plymouth to the General Court, 1657-60, '62-4, '69, '71-2. Having no issue, he willed his property in Plymouth to his two nephews, Robert and Josiah, the sons of his brother John; and in 1689 they petitioned the Court for the lands left them by their uncle Robert.

He received a grant of land in Plymouth in 1639, and again in 1640 and 1641; was made freeman in 1644; was an exciseman from 1646 to 1648; and served on several juries. With his son John, Jr., he was admitted a freeman of Barnstable, May 29, 1670, where John, Jr., finally settled. He was at one time a resident of Scituate, Mass.; and later joined the company which settled Bristol, in 1680; but in 1682 he sold his interest in the Mount Hope lands, at Bristol, to his son Jonathan. From 1682 no record of him appears till 1702, when he seems to have removed to Swansea, Mass. PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 4 October, 1905. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting this afternoon at half-past two o'clock, in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street, the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, in the chair.

Charles Cowley, LL.D., of Lowell, being introduced, read a paper on Boston in the Civil War, 1860-65, from a Naval View-Point, which exhibited extensive research and the presentation of historical events not hitherto subjects of remark. It was a careful narration of deep interest to the audience, and was received with applause. After the reading, it was voted that Mr. Cowley be thanked for his effort, and a copy be requested for the archives of the Society.

The executive officers, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Five new resident members and one corresponding member were elected.

The deaths of the late Treasurer, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, and Hon. James Madison Barker, LL.D., were announced, and committees appointed to prepare minutes expressive of the respect of the Society for their memory.

The Treasurer was empowered to release a mortgage on certain Kansas property, and to receive the legacy left to the Society by the late Robert Charles Winthrop, Jr., A.M., of Boston.

The meeting then dissolved.

1 November. A stated meeting was held to-day at the usual time and place, with the President in the chair. Under suspension of the rules, it was voted to proceed immediately to the election of a Nominating Committee, and tellers were appointed and the polls opened.

The operation of the rules being resumed, the chair introduced William Carver Bates, of Newton, who delivered, ex tempore, an address upon Personal Experiences in Confederate Prisons, 1861-2, to the acceptance of an interested audience. A vote of thanks was tendered the speaker.

On motion, it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society desires to express its approval of the work heretofore accomplished by the Boston Cemetery Department in publishing illustrated histories of certain of the more ancient burying-grounds of Boston; and, also, desires to express the hope that the Department will continue its work, until the histories of all such burying-places shall have been published.

The polls were closed, the vote canvassed and report made, which was read, accepted, and ordered on file. The chair then proclaimed the election of William Sumner Appleton of Boston, William Carver Bates of Newton, George Madison Bodge of West Roxbury, David Henry Brown of Medford, and Albert Alonzo Folsom of Brookline, as the Nominating Committee for 1905.

The executive reports were then made, and ordered on file.

William Carver Bates, of the committee to submit a minute in memoriam Benjamin Barstow Torrey, of Hanover, deceased, presented the following tribute, which was received, read, accepted, and ordered on file and to be spread upon the record of this meeting, viz:

Whereas, Death has removed from us one who was for many years a firm friend, an active member, and a trusted officer of this Society,

Therefore, We, the members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, do hereby place upon record our deep sense of loss by the death of our associate, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, and our thankful remembrance and sincere appreciation of his work while with us.

Born of sturdy New England stock, he inherited those qualities of mind and heart which such an ancestry often transmits to its descendants. Beginning an active life at an early age, he remained a lifetime in the service of a great corporation and for nearly forty years was its trusted and faithful treasurer, serving it with ability and discretion, adding during ten years of that service the duties of the treasurership of a kindred corporation. Elected treasurer of this Society in 1871, succeeding the late William Blanchard Towne, he brought to its lesser duties those traits of integrity and honesty of purpose which characterized his life in broader fields; and for thirty-three years, a longer service than has been borne by any other treasurer of the Society, he was an efficient adviser and conservator in financial matters. As a member of the Council, his genial temper, good-fellowship, and sound judgment gave him the respect and friendship of his associates.

John Noble, LL.D., of Boston, of the committee to submit a minute in memoriam James Madison Barker, of Pittsfield, deceased, presented the following tribute, which was received, read, accepted, and ordered on file and to be spread upon the record of this meeting, viz:

James Madison Barker died in Boston the third day of October, 1905.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society places on record its sense of the great loss it has sustained in the death of a most honored and valued member. It records its recognition of a public career distinguished and remarkable in many fields of service and action.

He has been a legislator of broad and liberal views, of absolute independence, and of wisdom and foresight. He was a man of affairs, of sound judgment, sagacity and business capacity, proved in the many offices of trust and honor held by him through his life. A loyal son of Williams College, he was for many years a member of its Board of Trustees.

He was most widely known, perhaps, through his judicial service,—for nine years on the Bench of the Superior Court, under the appointment of Governor Long, in 1882, and on the Bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, under the appointment of Governor Russell, from June 18th, 1891, till the time of his death. He had, in a high degree, the essential qualities of a judge,—wide and accurate knowledge of existing law, legal learning and a grip of legal principles,—the legal instinct, acute perception, unusual power of analysis, the faculty of sifting and weighing evidence, the sure grasp of the controlling elements of a case, painstaking industry, scrupulous conscientiousness, patience, dignified courtesy, and the aim to do exact justice always and everywhere.

As a citizen he was public spirited, alive to the highest duties of citizenship, and ready to do his full share therein. He was a man of fine culture and intellectual endowment, of great charm of manner and bearing, a lover of outdoor life with a keen enjoyment of all its manly sports, genial and cordial, a most attractive and welcome companion. He was a loyal friend, full of broad and tender sympathies, of generous kindness, hearty feeling, always faithful and true. He was a man in all the relations of life, of absolute integrity, of the highest sense of honor, and of stainless character.

Twenty new members were elected.

The proposed amendments to the By-laws, as reported by a committee at the special meeting in May, were given consideration and passage, viz:

That article 1, chapter II, of the By-Laws, be amended so that line numbered seven in the present edition shall read:—A majority of votes shall elect, but ten affirmative votes shall be required.

That article 1, chapter III, of the By-Laws, be amended so that the fourteenth line of the present edition shall read:—Ten members shall constitute a quorum for the election of members, and twenty members for all other purposes.

No further business being presented, the meeting dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

ODELL.—William Odell, the founder of an American family of that name, is traced as early as 1639 at Concord, Mass., where his children James (died 1641) and Rebecca were born. He may have been the brother of Ursula Wodell (also written Odle), who married Christopher Woolly (Wollie) at Concord in 1646.

William Odell died at Fairfield, Conn., in 1676; his will proved there June 6th of that year mentions, among others, his sons William and John Odell and daughter Rebecca Moorehouse, and disposes of lands in Concord and Fairfield.

William Odell's English ancestry seems likely to be ascertained from the following interesting clue:

Cranfield, Bedfordshire, England, is a small parish about eight miles from the village of Odell in the same county. The Cranfield Church Register records nearly seventy entries of Odell baptisms, marriages and burials, between the years 1602 and 1625, the name being variously written Wodell, Odell, Odle, Woddell, Woddle, etc. (See REGISTER, vol. 45, pages 7-8.) Among these entries are the following:—

1615, July 22, William Odle of Worley, buried.

Perhaps this is the record of the baptism of William Odell who came to New England, and of the burial of his father.

The name "Warleyend" is doubtless that of a hamlet about one mile from Cranfield, which appears on an old map of Bedfordshire as "Wallerd or Wall End."

In Cranfield Parish there was, in 1632, a district, or possibly an estate, known as "Virginia." Now it is a very significant and suggestive fact, as disclosed by the local New England records, that at Concord, Mass., the original road, cut through the woods by the first settlers, has been called since 1650 "the Virgilia Road," and the district through which it runs, "Virginy." It is also a fact that, at Concord, the plain just at the end of Virginia was described as "Cranefield" in the Town Records as early as 1648, and has so continued to be described almost to the present day. It would certainly seem that these names, "Virginia" and "Cranefield," were given by the early settlers of Concord in memory of their English home.

It should also be borne in mind that the first minister of Concord, the Rev. Peter Bulkeley, who came to New England in 1635, was from Odell Parish, Bedfordshire, where he had been rector for many years.

What has been related herein seems to furnish a good foundation for further research.

WASHINGTON.—The following extract from a letter of the Rev. R. T. Love, M.A., Rector of Purlleigh, Maldon, co. Essex, England, to the Editor, will be of interest in connection with Mr. Waters's gleanings concerning the Washington family. The "printed circulars" refer to a plan for restoring the tower of Purleigh Church, an appeal in behalf of which will be found elsewhere in this issue.

"I enclose some printed circulars showing the object which I have in view—viz., a memorial to the connection between George Washington and Purleigh, as the last link with the old country. The American flag will be hung out every year on his birthday when the tower is repaired.

We have found the entry of Lawrence Washington's burial at Maldon. In the Dr. Plume's Library at that place, which is situated on the site of the old church of St. Peter's, may be seen a certified copy of the Parish Registers. The entry is as follows—amongst the burials:

'Mr Lawrence Washington 21 January 1653.'

Now this date fits in with Mr. Waters's theory, which necessitates the death of the father before 1655, when John Washington was of age and proved a will.

In a letter to 'The Times,' immediately before our Mansion House meeting, it was said that there was no proof of the marriage of the rector of Purleigh. But as I find that he resigned his fellowship at Brasenose 1632-3, about the same time as that in which he became rector of Purleigh, there appears a very strong prima facie evidence of his marriage. A man does not resign £2-300 a year, the value of a fellowship, when he has no private means, except on compulsion. Mr. Lawrence Washington had little or no private means (his debt at Oxford is in evidence), and the only compulsion which could be applied to him to compel his resignation would be a marriage. Fellows did not (until the late new regulation) resign their fellowships on becoming beneficed clergymen, unless the benefice was a college living. Fellowships were held on life tenure, whether the fellows did work for it or not. But when they married, they lost their fellowships. It is stated that Lawrence Washington lost his fellowship 1632-3, therefore he married. He then received at about the same time the living of Purleigh on presentation of Mrs. Jane Horsmanden, widow; not a college living.

These two items—his burial at Maldon, and the fact that his marriage only would necessitate his resignation of his fellowship—I have not seen noted."

ROBY.—In the Public Library at Wayland, Mass., in a Journal of Dr. Ebenezer Roby during a visit to England and Holland in 1726, is the following genealogical record from a Roby family Bible which is briefly mentioned by Savage (vol. 3, page 548).

Dr. Roby was born in Boston, Mass., 20 Sept., 1701, graduated at Harvard College in 1719, settled in Sudbury, Mass., in 1725, and died in Sudbury, 4 Sept., 1772.

THAYER.—The following inscription from a gravestone in the Hancock Cemetery at Quincy, Mass., seems to have been omitted by Mr. William S.
Pattee in his "History of Old Braintree and Quincy," 1878:

YEARS | DEC^d AUGUST Y^e | 27 1695.

EDW. H. WHORF.

Boston, Mass.

[This is the Richard,² mentioned in my communication to the REGISTER (ante, vol. 37, page 84) in 1883, after visiting Thornbury, Gloucestershire, England, who appears in the registers of St. Mary's Church in that town as "Richard Tayer, baptized 10 February 1624[5]."

His father, Richard¹ Tayer (Thayer), who came to New England in 1641 with eight children—Richard, Sarah, Jael, Deborah, Zachariah, Hester, Nathaniel, and Cornelius—and settled at Braintree, Mass., was baptized at Thornbury, 5 April, 1601, and married there, 5 April, 1624, Dorothy Mortimore, who was buried at Thornbury, 17 January, 1640[1], and was the mother of his children above named.

There has been much confusion as to the dates of death of the various Richard Tayers. Richard¹ the emigrant was dead before 20th 2d mo. 1668, as shown in a deed (Suffolk Co. Deeds, V, 446) of his son Richard,² who died 27 August, 1695, and whose gravestone record Mr. Whorf has copied.

Richard² (Richard,² Richard¹) died 4 December, 1705 (Braintree records); and his wife Rebecca (Micall) died 28 January, 1732, aged 73 years 8 days (gravestone).

Richard³ Thayer (Richard,² Richard,² Richard¹) died in 1774 (will probated 27 May, 1774, Suffolk Co.).

Richard,⁴ son of Cornelius² and Abigail (Hayden), died 11 September, 1729, in his 38d year (gravestone).

Abstracts from the church registers of Thornbury, Gloucestershire, relating to the Tayer (Thayer) family, to be communicated by Mr. Faxon and Mr. Whorf, will appear soon in the REGISTER. EDITOR.]

BLACHLEY (ante, vol. 58, page 357).—The date of the deed of Thomas Blachley to William Maltby was 16 April, 1673, not 1653. William Maltby was born about 1645. (See "Maltby-Morehouse Family," page 7.) D. L. M.

A CORRECTION.—In the REGISTER, vol. 28, page 282, in tracing John Chamberlain the Roxbury church sexton of 1659, there mentioned, I find that line fifteen, commencing with: "It had a bell in 1658," etc., refers to the Rev. John Ellot's church in Roxbury. The First Church at Newton was not organized until 1664. The quotations in this paragraph are published in Ellis's History of Roxbury (1848), pages 23-24, and were taken originally from the town records of Roxbury, and without doubt refer to the First Church of Roxbury.

THE DEANE FAMILY (ante, vol. 3, page 386).—The will of Isaac² Dean (John¹), of Taunton, names sons Nathaniel and Jonathan, and daughters Alice King, Abigail Terrey, Hannah Hodges, Mehetabel Dean, Abiah Dean, and Deborah Dean (Bristol Co. Probate, vol. 2, p. 281); and in a deed, dated 1726, of "Hannah Dean Widow Relict of Isaac Dean late of Taunton" and the "heirs," the heirs were John King and Alice King his wife of Taunton, Thomas Terrey and Abigail Terrey his wife of Freetown, Nathaniel Hodges and Hannah

Hodges his wife, William Stone and Mehitable Stone his wife of Norton, Benjamin Hodges and Abiah Hodges his wife, and Deborah Dean of Taunton (Bristol Co. Deeds, vol. 21, p. 175). * * *

SANFORD.—The following data is copied from the family Bible of Mr. Ellwood T. Sanford and the Dartmouth Records:

STIMPSON-FROTHINGHAM.—The article on the Stimpson family, ante, vol. 59, p. 248, errs in giving the date Dec. 25, 1776, as the date on the gravestone at Woburn of the death of Thomas Frothingham of Charlestown. The inscription reads: Jan. 1, 1776. (Woburn Epitaphs, p. 48.) Wyman's Charlestown, p. 392, says of Thomas Frothingham: "d. Dec. 25, 1775 (g. s. at Woburn has 1776)"; but the lack of sufficient words to complete the sense is a common fault of the style of literary composition adopted by Wyman in his monumental work. The latter part of the sentence would have been correct had it read: "(g. s. at Woburn has Jan. 1, 1776)."

On the other hand, the extract from Wyman's letter of Oct. 18, 1873, printed as a note to the epitaph of Thomas Frothingham, Woburn Epitaphs, p. 48, is full of errors when compared with Wyman's Charlestown, pp. 391, 392.

HERALDRY IN NEW ENGLAND.—The following extracts from a letter of Joseph L. Chester to William H. Whitmore, dated London, Mch. 19, 1864, seem worth preserving:

"Of course I do not mean to say that no early New England families were entitled to bear arms, for we all know better, but I do mean to assert that the proportion was very small. I rather take pride in my position that the greatest majority of the early settlers were of the hardy yeomanry of England, rather than from a socially higher class." * * * * "The use of arms is the very weakest of all evidence. I find them now on the old tombstones where it is certain that the individual buried had not the slightest claim to them. The very tombstones themselves are questionable evidence." EDITOR.

MUSSEY.—In my investigations of this family—also spelled Mussall, Mussell, Mudgett, Mussy, Muzzey, Muzzye—I have failed to discover any records earlier than those of the brothers Abraham and John who took the oath of allegiance, 26 March 1634, to pass to New England in the John and Mary. Of Abraham nothing further is known. John settled at Ipswich, Mass., in 1634, as did a Robert, who perhaps was a brother, and both had grants of land that year. Robert was made freeman in 1654. There was a Thomas at Cape Porpoise, Me., in 1663.

John, who was born about 1610, moved to Salisbury, Mass., in 1640, married Lydia ——— of Cape Porpoise, who was living in 1690, and was the progenitor of the Portland, Me., branch of the family.

Robert, who married Bridget Bradstreet, also went to Salisbury, thence to Pulling Point and Malden, Mass. He bought land in Cambridge, that part adjoining Lexington, Mass., and was the progenitor of the Lexington branch of the family. A type-written list of his descendants, collated by me, is deposited with the Lexington Historical Society.

On the Town Records of Southampton, L. I., are entered the births, from February, 1722-3, to January, 1738-4, of five children of Samuel Bigelow: Abigail, Timothy, Mary, Isaac, and Samuel.

In April, 1723, Samuel Bigelow, ship carpenter of Southampton; L. I., bought land in that part of Middletown, Conn., now the town of Chatham.

In July, 1735, he made further purchases, and in September, 1736, had become a resident of Middletown. He made his will Oct. 14, 1748, which was probated eleven months later. In it he mentions his wife Mehetable, his five children, and “Elizabeth Spencer my Wifes Daughter.”

The Middletown records show the marriage of John Spencer and Elizabeth Taylor, November 4, 1741. She died January, 1807, aged 90.

When and where was she born, and is there anything further known regarding her father, Joseph Taylor alias William Sanders?

NELSON (ante, vol. 59, page 829).—Oyster River, a parish of Dover [N. H.], was incorporated as Durlam in 1732. It had been made a parish in 1651: separated in 1675; incorporated in 1716. It had suffered severely during the Indian wars, the enemy frequently committing depredations within its limits." (McClintock's "History of New Hampshire," Boston, 1888, page 176.)

Full notices of "Oyster River" and "Oyster River Garrisons" will be found in Thompson's "Landmarks in Ancient Dover, N. H.," Durham, N. H., 1892, pages 168-189, including mention of Capt. John Woodman and his garrison, pages 179-180.

In "William Furber's Account, Ferriage," in "New Hampshire State Papers," Manchester, 1889, Vol. XVII., page 668, an entry has been found of ferriage "in June: 95: by the governor orders Mr. Nathenell ares and mathew Nellsonn with too men more and horses passing over." This ferriage in June, 1695—from another entry in the Account, "for passing of foot soldiers to oyster Rever to keep garisson at Sundrey times, Eighty three"—was doubtless at Oyster River.

"Math Nelson" in June, 1678, was a resident of Portsmouth, N. H., and in 1693 seats were assigned to "Mathew Nelson" and to "Mathew Nelson's wife" in the Meeting House, Portsmouth. (Brewster's "Rambles about Portsmouth," First Series, Portsmouth, N. H., 1859, pages 60 and 64-65.)

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

PURLEIGH CHURCH.—An appeal is made to Americans for the restoration of the fine tower and the hanging of the peal of bells of this Church, at an estimated cost of £600 ($3000), to commemorate the connection with George Washington, President of the United States, whose ancestor Rev. Lawrence Washington was Rector of Purleigh, 1632-1643. Donations of any amount will be thankfully received, and may be sent to the Rector, Rev. R. T. Love, Purleigh Rectory, Maldon, co. Essex, England, or to Gen. James Grant Wilson, Buckingham Hotel, New York City.

SHERBURNE GENEALOGY.—The genealogy of the Sherburne family, prepared by the late William Sherburne and Edward Raymond Sherburne, the early generations of which, in condensed form, were contributed to the REGISTER (vols. 58 and 59), will be published during the next year. For information concerning it, address Frank S. Sherburne, 363 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

THE following copy of a circular issued by the State of New Hampshire will be of interest:

THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, DEPARTMENT OF VITAL STATISTICS.

INSTRUCTIONS:—

Purpose of the Law.—The action of the last legislature emphasizes the fact that it is the policy of the state to secure, for the purpose of safety, record and ready reference, every record, or part of record, or scrap of personal history, connected with the births, marriages and deaths that have taken place in this state. Nearly one million such records are now on file in the Department of Vital Statistics, alphabetically arranged and grouped by family names, so that an individual record may be found in a moment.

It is intended to add to this group all the records in the possession of the towns and cities of the state not hitherto reported, as provided for in chapter 21, Laws of 1905.

Occasional losses of town records by fire and other causes, and the greater convenience of having a central office for all such records, always available to any individual in the state, upon application, without expense, and the fact that such records are becoming more valuable each year, and are sought for legal, personal, genealogical, historical and other purposes, makes it a matter of great importance that the provisions of this law be most carefully and conscientiously carried out.

Returns Made.—In 1849 the legislature enacted a law requiring births, marriages and deaths, to be returned annually by town clerks to the secretary of state. The first returns under this law were made in March, 1851. Some towns complied with the provisions of the law, others did not, and it is apparent that no attempt was made to enforce it by state authorities. It therefore follows that for a period of years, or for certain individual years, many towns made no report. All such will be required to complete the records under the law of last session.

Old Town Records.—We have examined some of the old town records, and have also received reports concerning them from several town clerks, all of which shows that in order to ascertain all the records of births, marriages and deaths in the possession of the towns, it will be necessary for the clerks to examine, page by page, these earlier books, as frequently the record of a family, or of a marriage or a birth, was inserted in the town records wherever convenient, not infrequently interspersed with other town matters, sometimes entered on the margin of a leaf, or on the fly-leaf, etc., so that a most careful search will be necessary to find all these entries. Many of them are very incomplete, marriages giving only the name of the bride and the groom, and the date of marriage, and a birth record, not infrequently giving only the name of the father; but no matter how meagre and fragmentary the records may be, each should be copied, and will constitute an individual record under the law.

How the Work will be Done.—In order to assist in the work of collecting these records, the registrar of vital statistics will request the returns to be made for stated periods, the first dating from the proprietor's records or the incorporation of the town down to a certain date, which will be stated. The second call for records will be from the latter date to a subsequent one, and so on until the work is completed. Town clerks will, therefore, be requested to take up the work in chronological order, as stated.

Each individual record must be made on a separate card (yellow); must give whatever data are found in their proper places; each must be signed by the town clerk, and be dated. The records may be transmitted to the Department of Vital Statistics at any time, preferable as often as once a month. A blank card (a few of which will be furnished with the record cards) must be filled, giving the number, each, of births, marriages, and deaths so returned, and the years covered in the search. When received at the Department of Vital Statistics, a receipt, which will be the town clerk's voucher for his fees, will be forwarded by mail. It is necessary that the transmittal blank be properly filled, in order that a statement of the work may be incorporated in the receipt.

Compensation.—The law provides that the town clerk shall receive five cents for each record returned in accordance with the law. This fee is not to be regarded as a part of his annual salary, nor to be accounted for in any way to the town other than by the presentation of the receipt from the Department of Vital Statistics, showing that the work has been done in accordance with the provisions of the Public Statutes.

No act of the town requiring the clerk to turn all fees into its treasury can apply in this case. The compensation is for a specific work required by the state, and no act can deprive the town clerk of that fee.

It is possible that the sum allowed will scarcely pay for the time required to make a careful search of the earlier town records, but later in this work the records of certain years will be called for which most towns now have entered upon special books, so that they can be readily copied, without research, and will prove remunerative, so that, taken as a whole, the town clerks will be reasonably well paid for their services.

Special Notice.—Black ink must be used in all cases. No hand stamps will be allowed. Each name must be written so plainly that every letter can be made out. The cards must be kept neat and clean. Any question on the card that cannot be answered should be left blank. The cards must not be folded. The cards should not be numbered. Transmit the records to the Department of Vital Statistics in long envelopes, by mail or express, prepaid. Additional blanks will be furnished upon application.

If there is anything not perfectly clear, or is not fully understood, the registrar of vital statistics will be glad to explain or to give further information at any time. We trust that everyone who has to do with this work will have a conscientious regard for exactness and accuracy, and may realize fully its importance to the state.

Concord, N. H., July, 1905. (Signed) IRVING A. WATSON, Registrar.

Note.—We have found that in some instances the certificates of births, marriages and deaths returned to the town clerk by the officiating clergymen and physicians were not recorded on the books, but put away in packages or into pigeon holes. All of these must be copied and returned. A return must be made of every record, no matter how it may have been kept, for the years called for by the registrar of vital statistics.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. When there are more than one Christian name, they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Bishop.—W. W. Cone, Brandsville, Mo., and George A. Root, Topeka, Kas., would be glad to receive information relating to the Bishop families in America.

Cass.—Alfred Cass, 271 West Rittenhouse Street, Germantown, Phila., Penn., is compiling a general history of the Cass family, and would be glad to correspond with members of that family or any persons who have knowledge of the ancestors of John Cass of Hampton, N. H., who died in 1675.

Smith.—Carroll F. Smith, 192 Lancaster St., Albany, N. Y., has in course of preparation a historical sketch and genealogical record of the descendants of Henry Smith and his children, John, Henry, Daniel, Judith, and Elizabeth, who came in the "Diligent" from co. Norfolk, England, to Hingham, Mass., in 1638, whence Henry Smith and his sons Henry and Daniel and daughter Elizabeth removed to Rehoboth about 1643. He desires to enter into correspondence with representatives of this family.

The branches of the Corbin family included in this genealogy, besides the posterity of Clement Corbin, are those in western Connecticut, Dutchess Co., N. Y., and Vermont. Military services, from King Philip's War to the War of the Rebellion, are carefully recorded. Both as a genealogy and as a collection of biographies the work gives evidence of the pains bestowed upon it. The book is well printed, and is bound in cloth and Russia. There are sixty-five full-page portraits, besides other pictures. Following an excellent index are blank leaves for insertion of records.

History of the Fanning Family. A Genealogical Record to 1900 of the Descendants of Edmund Fanning the Emigrant Ancestor in America, who settled in Connecticut in 1653. To which is prefixed a General Account of the Fanning Family in Europe from Norman times, 1197, to the Cromwellian Confiscations, 1652-3. By WALTER FREDERIC BROOKS. Illustrated with Plates and Maps. In Two Volumes. Worcester, Massachusetts. Privately printed for the Compiler. 1905. Royal 8vo. pp. xvi+872. Price $20.00. Subscriptions to be sent to the Author, 54 Queen St., Worcester, Mass.

These very beautiful volumes are the product of fifteen years of labor both in this country and abroad. An account of the family in Ireland from the twelfth to the middle of the seventeenth century is given, as well as a record of ten generations of the descendants of Edmund Fanning in this country, which includes the descendants of Capt. James Fanning who settled in Long Island about 1715. Lists of those who performed military service from the Colonial to the Civil War will be found especially helpful. Mr. Franklin P. Rice, so well known for his historical work in Worcester County, has supervised the books typographically, and in addition to the pleasure thus afforded there are more than fifty illustrations in steel plate, photogravure, engravings in color, with maps and plans. The volumes are bound in half morocco with uncut edges and gilt top and printed on paper made for this work. Three full indexes are given.

Memorials of the Family of Forbes of Forbesfield. With Notes on Connected Morgans, Duncans and Fergusons. By ALEXANDER FORBES. Aberdeen: The King's Printers. 1905. 4to. pp. 134. Ill.

The body of this work consists of records of the Forbes of Forbes, Pitsligo, Newe, New Balgonen, and Forbesfield, with nearly fifty pages of "Forbes Appendices." The extensive index is general. The appearance of the book, which is in pamphlet form, is fine.

The "Major Alpin" of this sketch was Alpin Grant, whose ancestry is traced to the Grants of Glenmoriston, Scotland. Among his descendants the names of Mackay, Fraser, and Cameron are prominent. The pamphlet is beautifully printed and illustrated. No index.

Genealogy of the Greeley-Greeley Family. By GEORGE HIRAM GREELEY. Boston, Mass. 1905. 8vo. pp. 911. Ill.

This genealogy comprises solely the descendants of Andrew Greeley of Salisbury, Mass. It is not to be regarded as a history of the family, as biographical notices are too infrequent among the fourteen thousand descendants here recorded. As a genealogy it is apparently as exhaustive as works of this nature can be made. There are sixteen illustrations, nearly all portraits. It is well indexed.

Samuel Griffin of New Castle County on Delaware, Planter; and His Descendants to the Seventh Generation. Compiled and published by THOMAS HALE STREETS, M.D., U. S. N. Philadelphia, Pa. 1905. 8vo. pp. 235.

This well-printed book may be called a family history, so abundant are the biographical sketches. No attempt, however, is made to trace the history in Welsh records. The volume is carefully indexed. On the cover is the title, "Some Allied Families of Kent County, Delaware. Number Two."

The Pedigree of William Griffith, John Griffith and Griffith Griffiths (sons of Griffith John, of the Parish of Llanddewi Brefi, in the County of Cardigan, South Wales, Great Britain), who removed to the County of Chester, Pennsylvania, in the early part of the xviiiith Century. Compiled in South Wales, Great Britain, by THOMAS ALLEN GLENN. One Hundred Copies privately printed. Phila. 1905. 4to. pp. ix+85.

The concluding paragraph of the preface of this genealogy is so remarkable that we copy it, as best showing the character of the work: "The compiler, having been practically unlimited by his principal in the matter of expenditure, can conscientiously state that no record likely to cast even a side light upon the subject has rested unexamined, and, finally, the following pedigree has been compiled from Family Archives, existing Official Records as cited or set forth at large, and from the ancient Welsh Authorities, some in one time, some in another, so that no man hereafter may either augment it or lessen it, or form a new pedigree or lose the old." It is only to the Welsh portion of the pedigree that this applies; the author does not consider himself responsible for the Pennsylvania section, as that has been supplied by members of the family. There are several facsimiles, and paper and type are excellent. There is no index.

A Record of the Descendants of Simon Henry (1766-1854), and Rhoda Parsons (1774-1847), His Wife. With Appendices containing some Account of their Ancestry and of Collateral Lines. Being a Contribution towards a Comprehensive Genealogy of the Descendants of Sergt. John Henry, Freeman of Topsfield, Mass., 1690. By FREDERICK AUGUSTUS HENRY, A.M., LL.B. Cleveland: Press of J. B. Savage. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 65. Ill. Price $3.00 net, postage and packing 15 cts. extra. Apply to Printer or Author, Cleveland, O.

Of this excellently printed and finely illustrated volume it is only necessary to say that it amply fulfils the statement of the title-page, and has a thorough index of persons.

This little book relates to Richard Hildreth and his children. He was the ancestor of the New England Hildreths, and a character worthy of this animated sketch. There is no index.

This interleaved volume contains genealogical records only, extended biographical sketches having been excluded as not comporting with the design of the publication. The compiler vouches that all the statements he has admitted are accurate. There is a fine index. It should be mentioned that the greater part of the first twenty-nine pages has appeared in the REGISTER, Jan., April, and July, 1905.

The Lines Family. By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, of New Haven, Conn. [Reprinted from The Connecticut Magazine, April, 1905. New Haven. 1905.] Large 8vo. pp. 15.

In 1901 there appeared a volume by Miss Leavitt entitled "Groups of Palmer Families from Walter Palmer of Charlestown and Rehoboth, Mass., Stonington, Conn." This is reprinted here, and occupies two hundred and eighteen pages. Then follows "The Melvin Line," traced through five generations, succeeded by the "Spencer Line," "Rhode Island Ancestry," "Colonial Proposital," "Colonial Records," and forty-two pages of index. Two charts are inserted, viz., "Melville of Melville," and "Melville of Rath." Very noticeable is the abundance of biography, scarcely a page of mere genealogy occurring throughout the volume, while the "Rhode Island Ancestry" is wholly a series of biographical sketches. Nothing better could be desired than the style of print and paper, and the binding is attractive.

Dedication of Bowlders and Tablets to John Roundy and James Candage, a Founder, and an Early Settler of Bluehill, Maine, with Memorial Addresses by R. G. F. CANDAGE, Esq., of Brookline, Mass., at Blue Hill Neck, Aug. 22, 1905. Ellsworth, Me.: Hancock Co. Publishing Company, Printers. 1905. 8vo. pp. 21. Ill.

Not a little genealogical information is contained in these addresses, the second of which, it is expressly stated, is based "on the town records, tradition and personal recollection."

Savory and Severy Genealogy (Savory and Savary). A Supplement to the Genealogical and Biographical Record, published in 1893, comprising Families omitted in that Work, and other Notes, Additions and Corrections; being a Continuation of the Notes, Additions, and Corrections in the Original Work from page xx. Original Work with Supplement bound up with it, 324+xx pp. and 25 illustrations, $5.00, with 25 cts. for postage, etc.

Twelve years of research were required to produce the results embodied in this volume, which are, briefly stated, additional particulars respecting the name in Wiltshire, England, corrections of all ascertained mistakes in the original work, the connection with their proper lines of heretofore unattached families, newly found "Mayflower" pedigrees, and facts concerning Quakers of the name. The four illustrations are portraits. The book has two indexes.

Shannon Genealogy. Genealogical Record and Memorials of One Branch of the Shannon Family in America. Compiled by GEORGE E. HODGDON. Rochester, N. Y. 1905. Square 4to. pp. xxxi+578. Ill.

The Shannons whose records are comprised in this volume are descendants of Nathaniel Shannon who came from the North of Ireland to Boston in 1687. In the Introduction is to be found the lineage, for sixteen generations, of the founder of the family, while in the "Genealogy" there are eight generations from the "Emigrant Ancestor." There are thirteen appendices consisting of correspondence, wills, petitions, affidavits, genealogies, and other valuable material. The illustrations are numerous and fine, besides which there are many facsimiles of autographs, private papers and public documents, together with a dozen tabular charts. The biographies are frequent, and many of them of extraordinary length. The print is excellent, the margins wide, and the binding substantial. There are two tables of index.

Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, Los Angeles, Cal. 1905. 12mo. pp. xx+54. Ill.

This genealogy is confined mainly to the ancestry of the author, collateral lines being disregarded. Though covering so few pages, the fine print gives a great deal of matter in little space. The book is well made and indexed.

The editor of Mr. Westervelt's work says it is done "in such a thorough and careful manner that the Editor has not deemed it necessary to alter the same in any material way or manner." Captain Myles Standish. By TUDOR JENKS. New York: The Century Co. 1905. 12mo. pp. viii+250. Ill.

A life of Captain Standish is necessarily little else than the history of the Pilgrims from the time of their landing at Plymouth to the date of his death, in 1636. Of the career of the Captain previous to his association with the Pilgrims we have the scantiest information. This book furnishes quite a history of the Pilgrim colony, preceded by exceedingly fine chapters on the "England of the Pilgrims," "The Separatists," and "The Standish Family." The characterization of Standish seems a correct one, and it is written in a very clear style.

In Memoriam. Lawrence Weldon. [Washington. 1905.] 4to. pp. 48.

The contents of this memorial consist of the "Proceedings of a Meeting of the Members of the Bar of the Court of Claims, to take action upon the death of Judge Lawrence Weldon." Records of the Sheriff Court of Aberdeenshire. Edited by DAVID LITTLEJOHN, LL.D., Advocate in Aberdeen, Sheriff Clerk of Aberdeenshire. Volume 1. Records prior to 1600. Aberdeen: Printed for the University. 1904. 4to. pp. xlv+476.

This work consists of two parts, the first being "Records prior to 1600," the second, "Officials prior to 1600." The first part contains five volumes of "Diet Books" and one of "The Decree Books." The editorial treatment, with respect to each book, provides an introduction, a table of contents, and illustrative examples. In the "Table of Contents" of the entire work the "Illustrative Examples" are indexed. The "Officials" section is not a mere list of names, but a series of biographical sketches, though in mere outline. The verdict expressed in the "General Introduction" on the six books of part first is that the items of value to the legal antiquarian and genealogist will be found infrequent.

JACKSON, M.A., before the Old Bridgewater Historical Society, June 25, 1904. Published by Edward Alden. Arthur H. Willis, Printer. 1905. 8vo. pp. 8. Price 10 cts.

Though chiefly commemorative of religious activities, this address has not neglected other interests.

The History of Concord, Massachusetts. Volume I. Colonial Concord. By ALFRED SERENO HUDSON. The Erudite Press. Concord, Massachusetts. 1904. 8vo. pp. 496+xiii. Ill. Portraits. Map.

The unique feature of this history is an entertaining narrative which comprises Part I., and portrays minutely the every-day life of the early settler of Concord,—his natural surroundings and the obstacles he had to overcome in order to make his home, his relations with the Indians, religious, civil, and social life, superstitions, manners and dress. The author has employed both fiction and fact in order to produce this detailed pen-picture of colonial days.

Part II. gives chronologically the annals of the town from 1635 to 1692, and furnishes brief biographical sketches of the original grantees. Many old or famous houses now standing are described and located, and photographs of most of them, with portraits of noted Concord people, are among the fine illustrations which add to the pleasure derived from this well-printed, handsome volume. A good index is supplied.

Old Dartmouth Historical Sketches. No. 10. Historical Associations in North Dartmouth. Historical Glimpses of Dartmouth Schools. Pilgrimage of the Old South Historical Society to Old Dartmouth. [New Bedford. 1905.] 4to. pp. 20.

The Schools and Teachers of Dedham, Massachusetts, 1644-1904. By CARLOS SLAFTER. Privately printed. Dedham Transcript Press. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 330.

The educational history of the town "which was the first to establish and support a public free school by direct taxation" is here abundantly and accurately detailed, the index of teachers who are noticed comprising a dozen pages. These notices are, in almost every case, biographical sketches which, in some instances, cover an entire page,—very thorough treatment, considering that the volume records the services of teachers who labored during a period of two hundred and sixty years. The various subjects connected with the main theme of the book are carefully indexed, and well show the interesting nature of the work. The volume is printed on heavy paper, and substantially bound in cloth.

An Historical Address delivered at Groton, Massachusetts, July 12, 1905, by request of the Citizens, on the Celebration of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Settlement of the Town. By SAMUEL ABBOTT GREEN. GROTON: 1905. 8vo. pp. 52.

The influence of charters, governors, and changing policies, through two and a half centuries, upon the origins and bounds of a frontier town are here traced with remarkable clearness. Dr. Green shows his abiding affection for Groton, his deep insight into New England character, his knowledge along many lines, and his intercourse with men. He describes a visit to the English Groton, and adds notes on other towns of the name, on Indian words, and on subjects of local interest. The address will be read with pleasure for its accuracy of historical detail, its breadth of view, and its touches of happy philosophy.

Year Book. Parish of St. Paul's, Halifax, Nova Scotia. Easter, 1905. Hol-loway Bros., Printers. 12mo. pp. 116. Ill.

Ipswich in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Part I. Historical. A history of the town from 1633 to 1700, containing the letters of Major Samuel Appleton, lists of soldiers in the Indian Wars, records and depositions of the Usurpation Period, and facsimiles of ancient documents, bearing many autographs of the early settlers. Part II. Houses and Lands. An account of the original grants of house lots and the successive owners of lands and houses, to the present time, illustrated with diagrams, ancient maps, and photographs of many ancient houses. With Seven Appendices. By THOMAS FRANKLIN WATERS, President of the Ipswich Historical Society. The Ipswich Historical Society, Ipswich, Mass. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 586. Ill. Portraits. Maps. Facsimiles. Apply to the Ipswich Historical Society, Ipswich, Mass. Price $5.00. Postage 35 cents.

More than one kind of specialist, as well as the general student of history, will find here material of unusual interest and utility. Every aspect of the colonial development of the town has been carefully and scientifically investigated, and the results are presented in a well-made and well-printed book, with exceptionally beautiful illustrations. Specifications for building some of the old houses here photographed give us an insight into colonial architecture seldom obtained, and the witchcraft papers, early court records, military rolls and private letters are all valuable, but even more noticeable than these are the abstracts of land titles, extending from the original grantee to the present time. The appendices furnish a list of the first settlers, early inventories, letters of Rev. Nathaniel Ward, Giles Firmin, Samuel Symonds, Sarah Goodhue, and the narrative of Rev. John Wise. The analytical index is excellent.

Vital Statistics of the Town of Keene, New Hampshire, compiled from the Town Records, First Church and Family Records, the Original Fisher Record and the Newspapers. By FRANK H. WHITCOMB, City Clerk. Authorized by vote of the City Councils, June 1, 1905. Keene, N. H. Sentinel Printing Co. 1905. 8vo. pp. 268.

The marriage records in this volume extend from 1753 to 1854. The birth records are those contained in the first two record books of the town, together with about a thousand which have been copied from family records. The death records are brought down to April, 1881. The announcement says that "this publication is the first of a series of printed records of vital statistics of the town of Keene. It is expected that others will be issued in order to make all the records of a similar character available for public use to the year 1888, when the city began to print them in the annual reports."

Lexington Epitaphs. A Copy of Epitaphs in the Old Burying-Grounds of Lexington, Massachusetts. By FRANCIS H. BROWN, M.D. The Lexington Historical Society. 1905. Square 8vo. pp. 169. Plans.

The seven hundred and sixteen epitaphs here printed are from the Old Burying-ground, in the rear of the Unitarian Church, and from the Robbins Cemetery, in the East Village, and are exact transcripts. The addition of notes both of a genealogical and biographical character greatly increase the value of the work. Unstinted praise is due the compiler for thus preserving such interesting and valuable records.

Report of the Celebration of the Centennial of the Incorporation of the Town of Marlborough [Conn.], Aug. 23d and 25th, 1903. Compiled and published by MARY HALL. Hartford Press: The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Co. 1904. 8vo. pp. 96. Ill. Maps.

This centennial was marked by the delivery of the usual historical sermon and addresses, containing important portions of the annals of Marlborough, rendered serviceable by an index of the report.

History of the Maumee River Basin, from the Earliest Account to Its Organization into Counties. By CHARLES ELIHU SLOCUM, M.D., Ph.D., LL.D. Illustrated. Published by the Author, Defiance, Ohio. [1905.] 4to. pp. viii+688+xx. Map.

This is a work of the most thorough character, beginning with the geology of the region of which it treats, and its prehistoric inhabitants, and then proceeding to narrate the first explorations, the various wars of which the Basin has been the theatre, including that of 1812, the subjects of the concluding chapters being treaties with the Indians and missionary activities among them, the present drainage system, the first American settlers, the organization of counties, the development of communication, public lands, schools and libraries. While agreeing with the author that the actions of the aborigines should be related in the spirit of the historian and not of the sentimentalist, we doubt if everyone would describe their treatment by the government as "the ever magnanimous dealings with them of the United States."

Ancient Middlesex. With brief Biographical Sketches of the Men who have served the County officially since its Settlement. By LEVI S. GOULD. Somerville Journal Print. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 336. Ill.

The contents of this finely printed and illustrated volume are described by the editor as a "collection of portraits and biographical sketches of faithful officials, considered worthy of preservation among the public archives and municipal libraries of the County." As to the number of portraits and facsimiles of signatures, the index of them covers nearly six pages. There are, in addition, copies of the seals of more than fifty towns. The portraits, with the exception of those in the supplement, are full-page illustrations.

After this method, six crosses are herein treated of.

[No. 3.] Weymouth Historical Society. Wessagusset and Weymouth, an Historical Address by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, JR., Delivered at Weymouth, July 4, 1874, on the Occasion of the Celebration of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the permanent Settlement of the Town. Weymouth in its First Twenty Years, a Paper read before the Society by GILBERT NASH, November 1, 1882. Weymouth Thirty Years Later, a Paper read by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, before the Weymouth Historical Society, September 23, 1904. Published by the Weymouth Historical Society. 8vo. pp. 164.

This interesting and suggestive volume contains much to arrest attention. In his first address, Mr. Adams gave the history of Weymouth, but with no attempt to connect local events with other events elsewhere. Mr. Adams now recognizes that this was an error, and in his second address, prompted partly thereto by Mr. Nash, he shows that the real significance of the early years of Weymouth was the contest between Episcopacy and Puritanism, with the ultimate triumph of the latter. His thrust at Longfellow, and his vigorous protest against closing our eyes to the evils of the olden days and against the undue prominence given to wars, will meet with a sympathizing response from those whose aim in studying history is to attain the truth. State of Connecticut. Public Document No. 41. Report of the Temporary Examiner of Public Records. 1904. Printed by order of the Legislature. Hartford Press: The Case, Lockwood & Brainard Co. 1904. Large 8vo. pp. 131. Ill.

This report shows that particular efforts have been made in forming a careful list of the Town and Probate records throughout the State, and is accompanied by recommendations regarding their preservation. A list of the ancient Court records, compiled under the supervision of the State Librarian and the Secretary of State, is also included in the report. Besides these, the report contains a list of Probate Districts, by the Librarian of the Conn. Hist. Society. The entire document is a labor of great importance, whose results will be inestimable.

Early Legislative Turmoils in New Jersey. By WILLIAM NELSON. April, 1905. The American Magazine of History. With Notes and Queries. New York. Large 8vo. pp. 221-231.

This paper was suggested by a schedule of prices in Hingham in 1779, and the period to which Mr. Davis's article relates was one of great disturbance caused by the inflation of the currency.

DEATHS.

GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS HINCKLEY, a benefactor of this Society, was born in Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 15, 1822, and died at his home in that village, a few rods from his birthplace, on the 7th of August, 1905, in his eighty-third year. While Barnstable was always his home, his early manhood was spent elsewhere. Leaving his father's house at the age of eighteen, for Boston, he was in a store on Long Wharf for a few years, and then thoroughly learned the trade of a machinist, becoming well skilled in the various branches of that business, and was sent to different parts of this country and to Cuba, putting up engines and giving instruction in mechanics. He later went to Lake Superior, and was employed as Superintendent of the Pewabic Copper Mines, and after the discovery of oil in Pennsylvania, he became the manager of an oil-farm there for several years.

Returning to Barnstable in 1872, he was in 1874 urged to become the Treasurer of the Barnstable Savings Bank, then one of the largest banks in southeastern Massachusetts. In 1883 he retired from public service, but remained a tireless worker up to the year of his death.

Mr. Hinckley's tastes were scholarly and literary, and the "midnight oil" was freely burned. He was always greatly interested in historical and genealogical matters pertaining to the Old Colony. He was a lineal descendant of Gov. Thomas Hinckley, Rev. John Lothrop the first settled minister of Barnstable, Rev. John Robinson of Leyden, John Howland and others of the Mayflower, the old families of Gorham, Easterbrook, Davis, and others.

He took a great interest in his native town, and it is said that his "Rebellion Record," prepared at the expense of much time and labor and presented to the town of Barnstable, is one of the most complete in the Commonwealth.

Mr. Hinckley was very painstaking and accurate. He had copies made for himself of all the early records of the town of Barnstable, the early volumes of the County Probate Records, and the early Church records, and had the same carefully compared and fully indexed. He also personally visited all the burying grounds and cemeteries in all the different villages of the town, and had a complete record of the names and dates on all the tombstones and monuments, as well as pictorial representations of many of the headstones, engraved by himself. He was well known and appreciated by people dwelling in nearly every State in the Union, to whom he gladly and freely gave of his information concerning their ancestry, and was always ready to be interviewed by any one interested in the Old Colony and its early settlers. A well known genealogist writes of him: "Since the days of Amos Otis no man has done so much to preserve the records, monuments and history of his native town as he has done. But little of his work has been published, but it has all been preserved, and will be of great value to those interested in the early history of the town. He wrote the history of each man who represented Barnstable in the Civil War; he was an authority upon the history of the early settlers, and gave freely to all inquirers copies of his notes. Mr. Hinckley was a true country gentleman. He loved the history of Barnstable. He once said, 'In passing the old milestones I feel like taking off my hat in honor of the first settlers who placed them there.'"

Mr. Hinckley was never married. He lived a plain unostentatious life, and by reason of his modest living and quiet, economical habits he was enabled from his moderate earnings and careful savings to provide perpetually for the children of others. His gifts or bequests of $15,000 to the Boston University to assist deserving students not wholly able to get such education as they desired; $6000 to the St. Luke's Hospital at New Bedford to provide a free bed for those of his native town, or county, who should be unable to provide for themselves such needed medical treatment; and a bequest of $5000 to the State Board of Education for the benefit of those partially unable to bear the expense of a Normal School training, evince his interest in social and educational matters, and in the welfare of those yet to come to inhabit that portion of our Commonwealth so loved by Mr. Hinckley; while his bequest to this Society of all his "records relating to public or genealogical matters, whether bound or unbound, including several volumes of memorial inscriptions in the cemeteries and burying grounds in the town of Barnstable," not only shows his interest in its welfare, but a desire to furnish, after his death, to those interested, the help and information he so willingly and generously bestowed during his life.

Mr. Hinckley was in religious belief and training a Unitarian, and his bequests to the Orthodox, Baptist, and Episcopal Societies in Barnstable, as well as to the Unitarian Society, serve sufficiently to show that he was broad-minded, earnest and sincere, and desirous of assisting, as his means would allow, those who were trying to better themselves and to make others better and happier.

CHARLES WILLIAM MANWARING, genealogist and member of the Connecticut Historical Society, passed away on Saturday, Aug. 19, 1905, in Hartford, Conn., where he had resided many years.

He was born in Waterford, New London County, Conn., May 9, 1829, and was a descendant of one of the oldest families in Connecticut, the Manwarings being among the earliest settlers of that State, and their genealogy being easily traceable for many generations before the settlement of the New World. In his young manhood he became a builder and contractor, but his love for books and research led him to take up a line of work which has resulted in his leaving behind him a monument more enduring than stone, and a work which will be more and more appreciated as future generations come and go.

Mr. Manwaring was about seventy years old when he conceived the idea of putting into a concise and durable form the contents of the original books of probate records of Connecticut, part of which were in the State Capitol and part in the Halls of Record at Hartford, and all of which, from excessive use and the lapse of time, are rapidly approaching a condition when access to them will be obtained with difficulty. Having conceived the idea, he immediately began the work of putting it into a practical form, and for the remaining years of his life labored incessantly and under great physical disability, and succeeded in bringing his compilation down to 1750, comprising the first fifteen of the original books, and which is now being issued in three octavo volumes, two of them having already been published, and the third about to be issued. To this work he has given the title, "A Digest of Early Probate Records of Connecticut," and while it is a work of great value to reference libraries, genealogists, and all who are interested in tracing their ancestry, it is also a pioneer work in its line, pointing the way to what may be done in other parts of the State and in sister States in the way of putting their ancient and valuable records into a form that will forever insure against their loss or destruction. Only great patience, determination, courage, and an abiding faith in the merits of the work could have brought about its production, especially at such an advanced age, and Connecticut was fortunate in possessing among her citizens one who was equipped with such necessary qualifications, and the State has recognized his labors by purchasing copies of the work for official use.

It is a sad fact that on the day following the completion of his great compilation he succumbed to the fatal disease which at last took him away—a cancerous affection of the throat—thus showing with what great courage and suffering he must have pursued his labors on the latter part of his work. For nine months he patiently bore his affliction, until death released him, leaving a work that will preserve his name forever. GEO. E. WRIGHT.

PHILIP ADSIT FISHER, minister and genealogist, compiler of the Fisher Genealogy, died of tuberculosis, Feb. 26, 1905, at Highland, Cal., aged 35 years.

He was born at San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 11, 1869, the younger of the two sons of Sidney Augustus and Julia (Brigham) Fisher, was educated in the San Francisco Boys' High School and University of California, and graduated from the San Francisco Theological Seminary in 1898, taking charge of the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, Contra Costa County, immediately after graduation.

On June 6, 1890, he married Emma Florence Donner, and a daughter, Angie Florence Fisher, was born to them, June 8, 1891. In Sept., 1902, Mr. Fisher became pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Mill City, Oregon, where he remained until his health failed, two years later. Thinking that a change of climate might benefit him he journeyed to Southern California, where he lived but a brief month. Mr. Fisher was a man of studious habits. He loved nature and had traveled extensively. He was very ambitious in his work, in spite of the fact that he was laboring under great physical infirmities which would have discouraged a less arduous man.

JAMES R. B. HATHAWAY, for many years an antiquarian of repute in the history and genealogy of North Carolina, died at Merry Hill, N. C., Sept. 22, 1904. He was the editor and publisher of the "North Carolina Historical and Genealogical Register," a magazine full of historical material. The number of the magazine upon which he was at work was completed by his pen, and this will close the issuance of a most valuable publication. This "Register" is a witness of the wealth of material yet to be studied by the students of North Carolina history and family life. Mr. Hathaway was known as the "Old Mortality of the Albemarle." His home was at Edington, of which place he was mayor for a long series of years.

HENRY LEBBEUS OAK, an eminent author and scholar, died at his home at Seigler Springs, California, May 20, 1905. He was born in Garland, Maine, May 13, 1845. He attended Bowdoin College, thence to Dartmouth College, where he graduated in 1865. In 1865 he became librarian and chief assistant of Hubart H. Bancroft, who published a series of volumes upon the Pacific Coast. In this capacity Mr. Oak served eighteen years, when ill health forced him to retire. It is conceded that Mr. Oak wrote the five volumes concerning "The Native Races of the Pacific Coast." In semi-retirement he became interested in the genealogy of the Oak, Oaks, and Oakes families, and left a manuscript history of the same, which, if not published, will be deposited in the Library of this Society. His father was the Hon. Lebbeus Oak, historian of Garland, Maine. The following is his paternal line of ancestors: Lebbeus,¹ Benjamin,² Nathaniel,³ John,² Nathaniel¹ of Marlborough.

JAMIN BARSTOW TORREY.

By WILLIAM CARROLL PATRICK.

Of this sketch is the treasurer of the New England Historical Society from 1871 to 1894, who, like his predecessor, was long the Society's most surprising success. When he became treasurer, the assets were about $10,000, and the yearly income no more. In the termination of his services, the assets had risen to $100,000, the value of the invalided liabilities, and the surplus was about $40,000. It is possible that to the members for a long period without criticism of Torrey's success in this field of activity, might be his desire to serve our country with fidelity, but in this long period the treasurer of the Boston and Old South Church, and, in the latter years, also, of the Old Colony, mounted the crest of one generation to two in a single year, for most of the time. Mr. Torrey's long service of the Society, and a long member of the Society, to many a day worked in the office, who met the various duties of a busy and long period of activity was given to some of these records to express the admiration of Mr. Torrey's character, and to give, somewhat condensed to meet the exigency of space, and will proceed a more detailed mention of the various events in his life.

It is a pleasure that I recall my meetings with the late Mr. Torrey. My acquaintance with him dates from a quarter of a century, and I regret that my busy time of one time almost daily, with a few exceptions, would not permit me to do so.

It was always apparent, something to be noted in his life, that he was depressed by insects in his nose, and that his nature was with him to be more active in his social meetings of the Society, during the past few years.

BENJAMIN BARSTOW TORREY.

By WILLIAM CARVER BATES, Esq.

THE subject of this sketch was treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1871 to 1904, when he resigned on account of failing health, serving the Society with surpassing faithfulness and accuracy. When he became treasurer, the assets of the Society were about $10,000, and the yearly income no more than $1,500; at the termination of his service, the assets had increased to above $200,000, outside of the invaluable library, and the annual income was about $10,000. It is no small matter to have accounted for the finances for such a period without criticism or error, and Mr. Torrey's success in this field of activity might well have satisfied his desire to serve others with faithfulness, but he was for most of this long period the treasurer of the Boston and Providence Railroad, and, in the later years, also of the Old Colony Railroad, which meant the charge of one million to two million dollars annual income, for much of the time. Mr. Torrey's long service as treasurer of the Society, and as ex officio member of the Council, endeared him to many fellow workers and others who met him often in the various activities of a busy and long extended period. An opportunity was given to some of these friends to express briefly their appreciation of Mr. Torrey's character, and these tributes follow, somewhat condensed to meet the exigency of a limited space, and will precede a more detailed mention of the genealogy and outward events in his life.

It is with a mournful pleasure that I recall my memories of the late treasurer of the Society, Mr. Torrey. My acquaintance with him dates back through the past quarter of a century, and I met him frequently during that period, and at one time almost daily, either in the business world or at 18 Somerset Street.

His genial disposition was always apparent, something unusual in this world where one is apt to be depressed by upsets in business or by ill health. This genial nature was with him to the last, and at more social functions than the meetings of the Society, during the past two years, though he enjoyed the occasions, I marked with pain his increasing infirmities.

His appreciation of the eccentricities of his fellow-men was keen, and there is no class in which these weaknesses appear more frequently than in genealogists and students of history. His remarks, however, were never inspired by malice.

His labors were always highly valued by his fellow members, and when dissension entered the ranks he continued his labors, looking only to the welfare of the Society, and his position was appreciated by all.

To the late faithful librarian, John Ward Dean, this country and even England is indebted for advancing the study of New England genealogy and history. The people of the States owe him still more in the advantages derived from a free access to the store house mainly gathered through his labor. In this life work, he was wisely and conscientiously assisted, in its financial affairs, by Mr. Torrey, a busy man, but one who gave his time, quietly and gratuitously, without any desire for fame.

I can also testify to his devotion to family ties, in the care of his invalid wife.

His lack of a large estate at his death was a surprise to many, but it was only another proof of his devotion to his kindred and his disinterested services to the Society.

WALTER KENDALL WATKINS.

Mr. Torrey was a good friend of mine for many years. The acquaintance began when he with Mrs. Torrey passed a winter in Milton in order to be near Mrs. Samuel Adams—a sister of Mrs. Torrey's—a neighbor and friend of ours. He always impressed me as eminently faithful and loyal in every relation of life. His devotion to his invalid wife was very beautiful—he seemed to be a token of strength to all of his family and friends—giving most liberally of his means to those less fortunate than himself. He was sent for several years as a delegate to the Diocesan Convention from his parish Church of St. Andrew at Hanover. It is needless to say he was faithful to his duties and responsibilities—as in every other position of trust where he was placed. We all knew of his long and honorable connection with the Providence Railroad as treasurer—and of the esteem and regard of his fellow officers for him. His devotion and interest in the Society and lasting effort in its behalf extending over a period of forty years—we all remember with gratitude. His genial and pleasant greeting will be long missed by his many friends so long identified with him in the New England Historic Genealogical Society. His love for the old Torrey homestead, so long in the Torrey family, was very noticeable, and I shall never forget a most charming visit enjoyed there during Mrs. Torrey's lifetime. It affords me much pleasure to add my simple tribute to that of others who hold a more clever pen.

CORNELIA TOWNSEND.

My acquaintance with the late Mr. Benjamin Barstow Torrey, long time Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, was very slight. The impression left on my mind is that of a courteous official with whom it was a pleasure to have dealings, a genial, kindly gentleman, whose abiding cheerfulness, closely akin to "Jest and youthful Jollity," often finding expression in jocose remarks, made him ever a welcome presence in the Society's rooms.

MARY H. GRAVES.

My relations with Mr. Torrey were more as a personal friend than as an officer of the Society, as he was a relative of mine and we had many interests in common. As an officer he was kindness and indulgence itself, as a man he was genial and sweet natured, with many acquaintances but few intimate friends—I think he cared for very few in that way. He was a good raconteur, and enjoyed himself greatly when in contact with bright minds and exchanging good stories, and he was a devoted husband and brother.

SUSAN C. KENNEDY.

My acquaintance with Mr. Torrey began before I knew him in official relations, in the New England Historic Genealogical Society. That he was a gentleman in the true sense of the word cannot be doubted, and I found him to be so in my early intercourse with him. Honest, we know he was. Kind hearted, no one will dispute. Although I was not so intimate with him as were some others in our Society, I knew him well enough to know that all good qualities were his, and the reverse, never.

The Society does well to honor his memory with more than a passing notice.

AARON SARGENT.

Our associate, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, was a business man of ability, occupying a position where he had ample opportunity to exercise his characteristic courtesy and patience. As treasurer of the Boston and Providence Railroad Company for many years, and later also of the Old Colony Railroad Company, thousands of people knew him as an agreeable gentleman who performed his duties, especially those connected with the transfer of shares of the capital stock, in an exceptionally considerate and obliging manner. Thoroughly understanding his business, he never departed from fundamental principles, but would waive petty technicalities and did all in his power to unravel the legal tangles that peculiar conditions had created. Apart from the really difficult problems that came to him for solution, there were a multitude of instances where helpless people, some of them ignorant, were greatly puzzled as to what to do, and all such found in Mr. Torrey a kind friend, who cordially gave much time to assisting them. In many such cases, presumably, there was but slight recognition of his kindness, but a great number did appreciate it, and he was one of the most popular corporation treasurers in Boston. It does not appear that any court ever questioned an act of his or the correctness of his conclusions, or that the railroads or any individual ever lost a cent in consequence of his disposition to facilitate the transfer of stock. By his business associates Mr. Torrey was highly esteemed, and there was never a higher official that the humbler employees liked better than they did Treasurer Torrey. Absolutely honest, he possessed abilities that his quiet unassuming ways could not conceal, and the record of his life is that of a competent official and a kind and good man. To me it is a pleasure to pay even this inadequate tribute to his memory.

GEO. KUHN CLARKE.

I am glad to have an opportunity of expressing my admiration of the character of our late Treasurer, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, who in his quiet and unobtrusive life had endeared himself to a large number of friends and associates.

My intimate acquaintance with him was formed in the latter part of his life, beginning when I was elected one of the Auditing Committee of the Society, and in that capacity I had an opportunity of learning how devoted he was to the Society: how carefully he guarded its interests, and how painstaking he was in carrying out his work as its treasurer. When the time came for him to relinquish his duties, owing to steadily increasing physical infirmities, it was almost like the parting from a beloved friend to give up his books and accounts, which he had so long and patiently cared for: like a mother separating herself from a child for whom to sacrifice herself had become a part of her life.

Without disparaging by contrast the work of his predecessors, or of his successors, it can be truly said that he was a model officer, whose duties never have been nor ever will be more creditably carried out than during his administration.

When such a friend is taken from us, it creates a void which cannot easily be filled.

CHARLES S. PENHALLOW.

I beg to say that, strong as were the words of commendation uttered and the resolutions adopted at the close of Mr. Benjamin Barstow Torrey's long services as Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, it still seems to me that we nevertheless scarcely appreciate the immense value of his quiet, constant service. He always had the welfare of the Society at heart, and no one took more pride than he in the growth of our funds from well nigh nothing at the beginning, to approximately three hundred thousand dollars at the close of his term of office as treasurer.

He did not, and indeed could not, personally contribute largely to the funds of the Society, but as auditor of the treasurer's accounts I have observed that he always favored strictly safe investments, and that he gave freely a vast amount of valuable time in order that the Society's books might be properly kept.

The Society is certainly to be congratulated that, while still in the full vigor of manhood, he consented to sit for the excellent portrait which Capt. A. A. Folsom and others of his friends secured for the office of the Society,—a fitting recognition of his long and valuable service.

HOSEA STARR BALLOU.

I saw in the Herald the other day a notice of the death of Mr. B. B. Torrey, and as he had led a good life, reached an advanced age, sustained a good name, and gained the love of all his friends and the respect of all who knew him, why should we mourn his decease when his powers had failed?

FRANCIS H. FULLER.

On receipt of the tribute of recognition of Mr. Torrey as treasurer, the Society adopted this at the meeting, May 4, 1904, in recognition of his services:

The members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society unanimously place upon its records their testimonial of regret that its late treasurer, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, has felt compelled to relinquish the duties of that responsible office.

Elected a member of this Society, May 4th, 1864, its assistant treasurer on January 5th, 1870, and its Treasurer on January 4th, 1871; Mr. Torrey has for forty years been an highly esteemed Counsellor and, as the custodian of the Society's moneys and securities for thirty three years, a trusted and valued official.

The Society's fund, increasing from $9,713.81, in 1870, to the sum of $313,671.37, at the termination of his trust, shows the painstaking care and labor he has performed ; a laborious service, that he has cheerfully and freely rendered and made us his debtor.

For his steadfast and unswerving fidelity to our society's best interests, for his splendid financial record and for his uniform courtesy and good fellowship, we heartily thank him, and cordially wish him that tranquil rest and freedom from care that a faithful service of so many years merits.

The following Minutes and Resolutions were adopted at the stated meeting of the Society, November 1, 1905 :

The Society should place upon its records an acknowledgment of its deep indebtedness and gratitude to the late Benjamin Barstow Torrey, a life member since 1864, and for his long continued and pecuniarily unrequited service to the Society as Treasurer from 1871 to 1904, a period of thirty-three years' continuous service. When he came to the treasurership the assets of the Society were about $10,000 ; when he resigned on account of failing health in 1904, the property of the Society had increased outside of the invaluable library, to over $200,000. To conduct these large accounts with faithful and accurate fidelity for more than thirty years would seem to be an accomplishment to gratify the ambition of an ambitious man, but Treasurer Torrey modestly pursued his way apparently unaware of doing anything out of the usual, and all this time he was Treasurer of the Boston and Providence Railroad, whose earnings increased from $1,066,000 annually to $1,905,000 annually, and during the last ten years he was also Treasurer of the Old Colony Railroad. In each of these positions Mr. Torrey betrayed not only an expected fidelity, but his intercourse with associates and with the public was always urbane and courteous, often under the irritating pressure of ill health, and his friends testify to the constant cheer of his presence.

A number of friends associated for many years in various relations of life with Mr. Torrey, have sent to the Society tributes of respect and affection ; these will be preserved in the archives as a memorial volume constituting, we believe, a memorial tender and true, endearing and dignified as well befits the character of a man so faithful and pure.

Whereas, Death has removed from us one who was for many years a firm friend, an active member, and a trusted officer of the Society,

Therefore, We, the members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, do hereby place upon record our deep sense of loss by the death of our associate, Benjamin Barstow Torrey, and our thankful remembrance and sincere appreciation of his work while with us.

Born of sturdy New England stock, he inherited those qualities of mind and heart which such an ancestry often transmits to its descendants. Beginning an active life at an early age, he remained a lifetime in the service of a great corporation and for nearly forty years was its trusted and faithful treasurer, serving it with ability and discretion, adding during ten years of that service the duties of the treasurership of a kindred corporation. Elected treasurer of this Society in 1871, succeeding the late William Blanchard Towne, he brought to its lesser duties those traits of integrity and honesty of purpose which characterized his life in broader fields ; and for thirty-three years, a longer service than has been borne by any other treasurer of the Society, he was an efficient adviser and conservator in financial matters. As a member of the Council, his genial temper, good-fellowship, and sound judgment gave him the respect and friendship of his associates.

Benjamin Barstow Torrey of Boston was a native of Pembroke, Plymouth County, Mass., born November 22, 1837, son of Capt. Haviland and Salome (Barstow) Torrey, a lineal descendant of Captain William Torrey of Weymouth (1640), and numbered among his emigrant ancestors several other early settlers of the Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth Colonies. The Torrey line is William,¹ William,² Haviland,³ William,⁴ William,⁵ Haviland,⁶ Benjamin Barstow⁷. Capt. Haviland⁶ Torrey was born at Pembroke, October 29, 1791, and died August 26, 1865. His wife Salome, born at Hanover, July 24, 1801, died May 3, 1878, was a daughter of John Burden and Betsey (Eells) Barstow, of Hanover. Her father, John Burden⁸ Barstow, was born in 1764, and was a descendant, in the fifth generation, of William¹ Barstow who came to New England in 1635, was at Dedham in 1636, a freeman at Scituate in 1649, and the first recorded settler in the locality now called Hanover, Mass. The line of descent was through his son William,² Jr., born at Scituate in 1652; Benjamin,³ born in 1690, whose second wife was Sarah Burden; Thomas,⁴ who married Sarah, daughter of John Studley; to John Burden⁵ Barstow, above named, who was a ship builder, and who held the rank of Colonel in the State Militia. His homestead at Hanover was known as "Broad Oak Farm." Col. John B. Barstow died in Hanover at the advanced age of ninety years, having survived his wife Betsey (Eells) Barstow, who died in 1852, in her ninety-first year.

Capt. Haviland Torrey and his wife Salome had five children, two of whom, Benjamin Barstow and Herbert, reached maturity. Herbert died suddenly, at the South Terminal Station, Boston, on July 24, 1901.

Benjamin Barstow Torrey was educated at the Hanover Academy, 1851-1855, and at the University Grammar School at Providence, R. I., which he attended about one year. He taught in one of the district schools of Milton, a few terms, making his home with the Misses Bent, of one of the old families there. In 1875 he married Miss Abbie Bent, who died Sept. 9, 1897. He died Sept. 11, 1905.

Mr. Torrey entered the service of the Boston and Providence Railroad in 1858, in the freight department as receiving clerk; in 1860 he was transferred to the General Passenger Office; was made Treasurer's Clerk in 1861; and became Treasurer in 1867. He retired from this latter position in 1904, receiving a moderate pension. In 1893 he became Treasurer of the Old Colony Railroad, and resigned his three treasurerships in 1904, on account of failing health. Mr. Torrey had been Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society since 1871, and a life member since 1864. He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, since 1900.

Inheriting his grandfather's estate, "Broad Oak," he occupied it a number of years as a summer residence, and was a communicant of St. Andrew's (Episcopal) Church and a frequent delegate from Hanover Parish to Diocesan Conventions.

It is not usual for the biographer to enter the cloister walls of home to scan the family influences which sweeten and sanctify the family life, and in the case of Mr. Torrey these were so uniform and pure it is a pleasure to recall the romance of the beginning, when the young school teacher turned to the mature matron as his ideal of a life long companion, she with maturer judgment gently chiding his enthusiasm, and only acceding after many months' observation assured her his was no fleeting whim. The many succeeding years of happy married life were to all observers an example that happiness is an inward state of peace, independent of all arbitrary conditions. Age and failing powers caused no subsidence from the high tide of reverent affection upon which the youthful suitor embarked.

Mr. Torrey would not have taken a degree in the modern school of High Finance; it was enough for him to administer faithfully the trusts committed to his care. The modern trust, frequently very temporary so far as the public is concerned, did not accord with his instincts. He did not, perhaps, originate schemes of investment for the funds in his charge, but at each scrutiny of the auditors the interest was all there, and the trustees or directors passed no sleepless nights on his account, the widow or orphan awoke to no hopeless days from his lapses from honor. We cannot doubt he will elsewhere receive the highest award — "Thou hast been faithful, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

INSCRIPTIONS FROM THE LONG SOCIETY BURYING GROUND, PRESTON, CONN.

Communicated by GEORGE S. PORTER, Esq., of Norwich, Conn.

LONG Society (Congregational) derived its name from its location on the long, narrow strip of land east of the Thames and Shetucket rivers which formed the eastern boundary of the original town of Norwich (then nine miles square), and extended from the present village of Poquetanuck to that of Plainfield. The church was organized in 1726, under the pastoral care of the Rev. Jabez Wight. The first meeting-house of the society stood where to-day stands its successor, about three miles from the centre of the city of Norwich. The church yard, from which many of the older gravestones have disappeared, lies immediately in the rear and on both sides of the meeting-house. When Norwich was divided, in 1786, Long society become a part of Preston.

THE BELCHER FAMILIES IN NEW ENGLAND.

By JOSEPH GARDNER BARTLETT, Esq.

THE name Belcher is of great antiquity in England, being found as early as 1176, when Ralph Belcher was witness to a deed. (Historical Collections of Staffordshire, Vol. 1, page 291.) The name is uncommon, however, and is found mostly in the county of Warwick and the surrounding counties of Stafford, Worcester, Oxford, Wilts, and Northampton. One line of the family was seated at Guilsborough in Northamptonshire for several generations, and was lineally descended from Hugh Belcher of Needwood, co. Stafford, who was living in the reign of Edward IV., about 1470. This branch of the family held landed estates, and bore for arms "Paly of six or and gules, a chief vair"; and their pedigree was entered in the Visitation of Northamptonshire in 1619, and also in the Visitation of Warwickshire of the same year. The will of Gregory Belcher, yeoman, of Berkeswell, co. Warwick, dated Mar. 20, 1620, mentions wife Joane; son Thomas Belcher; sons-in-law John Bonney and William Cook; daughters Elizabeth Cook, Isabel Bonney, and Alice Pemberton. (Putnam's Historical Magazine, vol. 4, page 183.) It seems likely that Thomas Belcher, son of Gregory of this will, was the Thomas Belcher who lived in the hamlet of Wardend, parish of Aston, co. Warwick, where he had three children recorded: John, bapt. Aug. 24, 1604; Gregory, bapt. Mar. 30, 1606; and Margery, bapt. July 9, 1615. Aston is about nine miles north-west of Berkeswell. As Gregory¹ Belcher, one of the emigrants to New England, in a deposition made in June, 1665, stated he was then about sixty years of age, it seems probable that he was identical with the Gregory Belcher, son of Thomas, who was born in Aston in 1606, who would be in his sixtieth year at the time of the deposition, and of whom no further mention appears in the Aston registers, although his brother and sister were married there. How these Belchers of Berkeswell and Aston were related to the armorial Belchers of Guilsborough has not been ascertained; but doubtless they were of the same original stock.

There were five persons named Belcher who settled in New England before 1650, and from two of them are descended practically all of the name in the United States. These five emigrants, in the order of their arrival in New England, were:

I. MR. EDWARD¹ BELCHER, born about 1595, came to New England in 1630 with Governor Winthrop, and was one of the founders of Boston. He was the fourth son of William Belcher of Guilsborough, Northamptonshire, England, and of positive armorial descent, but his male descendants became extinct with his grandson.

II. JEREMY,¹ or JEREMIAH, BELCHER, born about 1613, came to New England in the spring of 1635 and settled in Ipswich, where he died in March, 1692-3. He had eleven children, and his descendants are very numerous. Nothing is known of his ancestry, but he was probably in some degree related to the other emigrants of the name.

III. GREGORY¹ BELCHER, born about 1606, came to New England about 1637 and settled in Braintree, where he died Nov. 25, 1674. He had seven children, and many descendants live in the United States. He was perhaps the Gregory Belcher, son of Thomas, who was baptized in Aston, co. Warwick, England, Mar. 30, 1606, as suggested above.

IV. ANDREW¹ BELCHER, born about 1615, son of Thomas Belcher of London, and grandson of Robert Belcher, weaver, of Kingswood, Wiltshire, England. He first appears in New England in 1639, and settled in Cambridge. Although there was but one male who married in each generation of his descendants, this family attained great distinction. His son Andrew² Belcher was a Royal Councillor, and the greatest merchant of his day in New England; his grandson Jonathan³ Belcher was Royal Governor of Massachusetts and also of New Jersey; his great-grandson Jonathan⁴ Belcher was Chief Justice and Lieut. Governor of Nova Scotia; and his great-great-grandson Andrew⁵ Belcher was a Royal Councillor of Nova Scotia, whose children settled in England, of whom a son, Sir Edward⁶ Belcher, K.C.B., was a distinguished naval officer, attaining the rank of Rear Admiral in the British navy. A few descendants remain in England, but the name is extinct in the United States.

The descendants of Andrew¹ Belcher have always used the arms of the Belchers of Guilsborough, although their descent from that branch has not to the writer's knowledge been proven. For a full account of the descendants of Andrew¹ Belcher, see REGISTER, ante, vol. 27, pages 239-245.

V. THOMAS¹ BELCHER, stated to have been in the family of Nicholas¹ Frost of Kittery, as early as 1640, and to have died in 1652. ("Old Eliot, Me," vol. 1, pages 87 and 176.) The writer has no further knowledge of this individual, who probably died unmarried. It is a curious coincidence that, about 1698, John² Belcher* of Boston (Josiah², Gregory¹) deserted his family there and went to Kittery, where he entered the service of Charles² Frost, son of Nicholas,¹ and remained in his employ and in that of his son and grandson for nearly forty years, until his death in 1730, leaving his property to his last employer, Charles⁴ Frost.

EDWARD BELCHER OF BOSTON.

1. MR. EDWARD BELCHER, gent., fourth son of William and Christian (Dabridgecourt) Belcher of Guilsborough, Northamptonshire, England, was born about 1595, and came to New England in the fleet with Gov. Winthrop in 1630, and became one of the founders of Boston. His pedigree is recorded in the Visitations of Warwickshire and Northamptonshire in 1619. Although a member of an armorial family of the landed gentry of England, Edward¹ Belcher took a very inconspicuous part in the settlement of Boston, his descendants soon were reduced to very humble circumstances, and the family became extinct in the male line with the death of his grandsons. He was an original member of the First Church in Boston, and carried on the business of a pipestave culler. His house lot was located on the north side of the present Boylston street, between Washington and Tremont streets, and he also had a garden on the opposite side of Boylston street. In his will he calls himself "Edward Belcher, gent., of Boston, late of Guilsborough, Northamptonshire, England." As the witnesses to the will were doubtful whether or not he was of sound mind, the will was not allowed, and his son was appointed administrator of his estate, on Mar. 17, 1672-3. (Suffolk Co. Probate.) The name of his first wife, whom he married in England, has not been discovered. He married second, in Boston, about 1650, Christian, sister of William Talmage and widow of William Wornan, Wormwood, or Wornal. She was admitted to the First Church on Apr. 4, 1646, being then wife of Wormwood, by whom she had two daughters: Mary, born about 1635, who married her step-brother Edward² Belcher, Jr.; and Anne, born about 1638, who married, in 1658, Samuel Flack of Boston. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 21, page 647.)

Child of Edward¹ Belcher, by first wife:

2. 1. EDWARD,² b. about 1627.
2. EDWARD² BELCHER (Edward¹), born in England, about 1627, came in childhood to Boston, where he became a shipwright. On Apr. 30, 1670, he and his wife were deeded, by his father, Edward¹ Belcher, one-half of the latter's real estate. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 7, page 199.) In 1693, Edward² Belcher conveyed this estate to his sons-in-law Mark Pilkington and Edward Kettow, although these deeds were not recorded until Mar. 12, 1713, about which time it is presumed Edward² Belcher died. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 16, page 176, and vol. 28, page 24.)

He married first, Jan. 8, 1655-6, his step-sister Mary,² born about 1635, daughter of William and Christian (Talmage) Wormwood of Boston, who died Mar. 21, 1693; and married second, June 24, 1708, when about eighty years of age, Abigail, daughter of Roger and Ruth (Stackhouse) Haskins of Beverly, and widow of John Swarton. She married third, Nathaniel Clark of Beverly, and died about 1730, having had no children by any of her husbands.

Children by first wife:

- i. SATISFACTION³ (son), b. Feb. 23, 1656-7, bapt. in First Church, July 31, 1670; took the oath of allegiance, Apr. 21, 1679; no further record, and probably d. unmarried.
- ii. MARY, b. Apr. 4, 1659; d. young.
- iii. FAITH, b. May 15, 1663; m. (1) ——— Cross; m. (2) Nov. 18, 1691, Mark Pilkington, cordwainer, of Boston, by whom she had four daughters: Mary, b. July 27, 1692, m. Nov. 23, 1709, Richard Jenkins; Sarah, b. Jan. 3, 1694-5, m. Jan. 20, 1712-13, James Woller; Mercy, b. Oct. 4, 1697, after being published to Richard Ould and also to William Wells, m. Jan. 4, 1716-7, John Hall; and Abigail, b. Feb. 12, 1700-1, d. young. The only descendants that now exist of Edward¹ Belcher of Boston derive their descent through the daughters of Mark and Faith (Belcher) Pilkington.
- iv. MERCY, b. Feb. 7, 1665-6; m. Dec. 4, 1691, Edward Kettow, seaman, of Boston, who d. about 1701; probably no issue.
- v. MARTHA, b. Sept. 15, 1671; d. young.

GREGORY BELCHER OF BRAINTREE.

1. GREGORY¹ BELCHER, born about 1606, was in New England as early as 1637, and on Dec. 30, 1639, was granted a lot of 52 acres at Mount Wollaston (Braintree), for thirteen heads, paying three shillings per acre for the same. (Boston Town Records.) Here he settled, was admitted freeman on May 13, 1640, and was made selectman in 1646. He deposed in June, 1665, aged about 60 years. (Essex Co. Court Files.) By occupation he was a farmer. On July 14, 1664, he purchased of John Smith 9 acres of land in Milton, which he gave to his son Joseph Belcher for a marriage portion. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 4, page 204a.) On Jan. 6, 1657-8, he obtained a lease of the Salter farm in Braintree, from the estate of William Tyng of Boston; and on Jan. 15, 1666-7, Gregory Belcher and others bought the Salter farm for £1900, Belcher's interest being one-eighth. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 5, page 229.) On Mar. 26, 1670, Gregory Belcher and his son-in-law Alexander Marsh purchased the iron works, with 200 acres of land, in Braintree; and on May 18, 1671, the same parties bought 40 acres in Braintree plain of Henry Crane. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 7, page 172.)

He died Nov. 25, 1674. The inventory of his estate, showing a total of £629-5-0, was presented by his widow, Jan. 29, 1674-5. (Suffolk Co. Probate.) His wife Catherine survived him, and died in the spring of 1680. Her will, dated Sept. 3, 1679, proved July 20, 1680, gives to son Josiah a cow "if he molest not my son Moses in his present dwelling and possessions"; to son John a cow and a horse; to daughters Elizabeth Gilbert and Mary Marsh, and granddaughter Mary Marsh, some household effects; "to son Moses (who hath all his life carried himself so dutifully to myself and his father) the great bible and the whole house and land he now possesses which I declare his father gave him." Sons Moses Belcher and Alexander Marsh executors.

On July 9, 1680, Josiah Belcher of Boston entered a caveat against the probate of any will said to be made by his late mother, Catherine Belcher of Braintree, widow, deceased, until he be present. (Suffolk Co. Probate.) It does not appear, however, that any contest was made over the estate.

Children :

1. ELIZABETH,² m. Thomas Gilbert, who was in Braintree in 1646. (Mass. Colonial Records, vol. iii, page 67.) Evidently he was the "goodman Gilbert" mentioned in Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 5, page 527, who owned land in Braintree in 1668, adjoining land of Thomas Gatlive, whose widow, Prudence, was a witness to the will of widow Catherine¹ Belcher.
 2. ii. JOSIAH, b. about 1631.
 3. iii. JOHN, b. about 1633.
 4. iv. MOSES, b. about 1635.
 5. v. SAMUEL, b. Aug. 24, 1637.

 6. vii. JOSEPH, b. Dec. 25, 1641.
2. JOSIAH² BELCHER (*Gregory*¹), born in 1631, was a wheelwright, and settled in Boston, where he acquired an estate on the south-easterly corner of what is now Essex street and Harrison avenue, measuring 126 feet on Essex street, and running back 285 feet to the water. After the death of his widow, a partition was made of this estate among his surviving children, on Sept. 20, 1693, which is described and recorded in Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 19, page 158. Further deeds in relation to this property show that all his sons, except John and Benjamin, died without issue, and apparently unmarried, and that the daughter Dorothy died without issue soon after her marriage. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 225; vol. 41, page 210; vol. 46, page 90; and vol. 41, page 212.)

He was one of the founders of the third, or Old South, Church, and died Apr. 3, 1683, aged 52, being buried in the Granary burying ground, where his gravestone still remains. His will, made the day of his decease, names wife Ranis, sons John, Jonathan, Joseph, Edward, Nathan and Benjamin, and daughters Elizabeth, Rebecca, Anna, Dorothy, Abigail, and Ruth. (Suffolk Co. Probate.) He married, Mar. 3, 1654-5, Ranis,² born June 4, 1638, daughter of Elder Edward¹ and Elizabeth Rainsford of Boston. She died Oct. 2, 1691.

8. xiv. BENJAMIN, b. Mar. 20, 1680-1.
3. JOHN² BELCHER (*Gregory*¹), born about 1638, was a husbandman, and resided in Braintree. During King Philip's War he performed several months' service in the spring and summer of 1676 in the garrisons at Northampton, Milton and Medfield. He died intestate in 1693, leaving a very small estate, his son Josiah² Belcher being appointed administrator, Nov. 16, 1693. The inventory of the estate, valued at only £27-7-0, mentions "a poore house and ten acres of land, a piece of salt marsh, a little poore household goods, and an old spitt." (Suffolk Co. Probate.) He married, about 1655, Sarah ———, who survived him.

4. MOSES² BELCHER (*Gregory*¹), born about 1635, was a husbandman, and resided in Braintree, inheriting his father's homestead. He is called "Corporal" Belcher on the records. He died July 5, 1691, and in his will, dated three days before, he mentions his wife; daughter Mary Bass; other daughters to have portions equal to that given to Mary; son Moses (then under age) to have the whole homestead; brother Alexander Marsh and cousin Joseph Belcher overseers; wife sole executor. (Suffolk Co. Probate.)
- He married, May 23, 1666, Mary Nash, probably a daughter of James and Alice Nash of Weymouth, Mass., as Moses Belcher was a witness on a deed made by them, May 22, 1666, the day before his marriage. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 5, page 82.)
- On Dec. 30, 1707, Mary Belcher, widow, and Anna Belcher, spinster, Moses Belcher, Joseph Bass, Ichabod Allen and Elizabeth his wife, Jabez Athern and Katherine his wife, and Joseph Brackett and Mehitable his wife, being all the children of Moses and Mary Belcher, conveyed land of said Moses deceased. 5. SAMUEL² BELCHER (*Gregory*¹), born Aug. 24, 1637, resided in Braintree, where he died June 17, 1679. On May 6, 1680, administration on his estate was granted "to Roger Billing, Alexander March, and Moses Belcher—his father-in-law and two of his brothers." (Suffolk Co. Probate.) The inventory was £576-17-6. On Mar. 4, 1696, Thomas French and Elizabeth his wife conveyed to their brother Gregory Belcher their interest in the estate of their father Samuel Belcher. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 41, page 249.) On the same day, John Sanders of Westerly and Silence his wife conveyed their interest in the estate of their father Samuel Belcher. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 41, page 250.) On Sept. 21, 1698, Moses Belcher of Dorchester conveyed his interest in the estate of his father, Samuel Belcher, to his brother Gregory (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 41, page 252). On Aug. 8, 1727, William Wattle and Abigail his wife, of Lebanon, Conn., conveyed to their brother Samuel Belcher their interest in the estate of their late mother Niles, deceased, in the estate of her former husband Samuel Belcher. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 41, page 253.) Samuel² Belcher married, Dec. 15, 1663, Mary, daughter of Roger Billings of Dorchester, Mass. She married second, Apr. 20, 1680, Samuel Niles of Braintree.

Children :

12. i. GREGORY,³ b. Feb. 28, 1664-5.

 - viii. SILENCE, b. June 24, 1679; m. John Sanders of Westerly, R. I.
6. JOSEPH² BELCHER (*Gregory*¹), born Dec. 25, 1641, on his marriage was given by his father 9 acres of land in Milton, where he settled (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. iv., page 204). His wife Rebecca was sole heiress to large tracts of land in Dorchester and Milton, from the estate of her father; but evidently incompatibility made their domestic life unhappy, causing a temporary separation and a summons before the General Court. By the efforts of friends, however, a reconciliation was effected. (Dedham Historical Register, vol. 12, page 41.) On the breaking out of King Philip's War, Joseph Belcher served as quartermaster in the cavalry troop of Capt. Thomas Prentice in the first expedition against King Philip at Mt. Hope, and in a skirmish with the Indians at Swansey, on June 28, 1675, he distinguished himself by great bravery, being badly wounded in the knee, and having his horse shot under him. He died about 1678, the inventory of his estate, amounting to £472-4-9, being presented on Feb. 7, 1678-9. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. 12, page 318.) He married, in 1664, Rebecca,² baptized July 7, 1650, daughter of John¹ and Ann Gill of Dorchester.

Children:

- i. ANNE,² b. in 1665; m. in 1682, Rowland Storey of Boston.
 - ii. JOHN, b. Apr. 2, 1667; d. Feb. 2, 1681-2.
 15. iii. JOSEPH, b. May 14, 1669.
 - iv. REBECCA, b. Nov. 12, 1671; m. June 25, 1690, Samuel Miller of Rehoboth, later of Milton.
 - v. PATIENCE, b. Dec. 5, 1674.
 - vi. MARY, bapt. Nov. 12, 1676; m. Sept. 23, 1696, Benjamin Fenno of Milton.
 - vii. GILL, b. Sept. 22, 1678; was a sea captain in Boston, where he married, Sept. 21, 1702, Mary Howard. On Oct. 26, 1702, he gave power of attorney to his wife to dispose of his property, and on Sept. 3, 1703, she mortgaged his property in Boston. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 21, page 376.) On Feb. 6, 1705-6, Samuel Sewall sent a letter to Rev. Joseph Lord in Dorchester, South Carolina, by Capt. Gill Belcher. (6 Mass. Hist. Society Coll., vol. I, page 324.) No further trace of Gill Belcher has been found in New England; and he may have settled in South Carolina or been lost at sea. One Mary Belcher, possibly his widow, m. in Boston, June 7, 1716, John Flagg. In 1765, a Gill Belcher of Hebron, Conn., perhaps a grandson of Capt. Gill,³ bought land in Great Barrington, Mass.
7. JOHN⁵ BELCHER (Josiah,² *Gregory*¹), born in Boston, Dec. 23, 1659, was baptized in the First Church, April 3, 1664, and admitted to the Old South Church, Apr. 30, 1680. By occupation he was a ship carpenter. In 1690 he was in the military service and stationed at Kittery, Me., and was dismissed and sent home on Nov. 9 of that year. (Me. Hist. Coll. Series 2, vol. 5, page 160.) He resided in Boston until about 1693, when he went to Kittery, Me., and entered the employ of the Frost family, who were extensive shipbuilders, where he continued until his death in 1730. His will, dated Feb. 17, 1729-30, calls himself "John Belcher, joiner, of Kittery, eldest son of Josiah Belcher of Boston," and states he has lived with the Frosts for near about forty years and none of his relatives have assisted him, and therefore he leaves all his property to Charles Frost. (York Wills, vol. 4, page 130; also Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 46, page 90.) Presumably it was this John⁵ Belcher who married Theodora ———, in 1688, and had two children baptized in the Old South Church in Boston. He evidently deserted his family when he went to Maine in 1693, as his wife Theodora remained in Boston and married second, Dec. 9, 1698, Simon Lee, married third, Nov. 20, 1700, William Darnton, and married fourth, Sept. 13, 1709, Francis Pomeroy.

Children of John^s and Theodora :

16. i. JOHN,^s b. Dec. 11, 1689; bapt. in Old South Church, May 31, 1691.
- ii. MARY, bapt. in Old South Church, Dec. 11, 1693; m. Oct. 7, 1712, John Milton of Boston, and had a son John,^s b. in 1718, and a dau. Theodora, b. in 1715.

8. BENJAMIN^s BELCHER (Josiah,² *Gregory*¹), born in Boston, Mar. 20, 1680-1, was a shipwright, and about 1703 settled in Newport, R. I. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 41, page 210.) He was admitted freeman of R. I., May 6, 1707, and died about 1719. The information herein given of his descendants needs further verification. He married first, Phebe —, who died after 1711; and married second, about 1715, Sarah, born Aug. 13, 1690, daughter of Arnold and Sarah Collins of Newport. She married second, about 1720, Josiah Bliss of Middletown, R. I.

Children by first wife :

17. i. BENJAMIN,^s b. Nov. 7, 1704.
- ii. PHEBE, b. June 11, 1708.
18. iii. EDWARD, b. Aug. 24, 1711.

Children by second wife :

19. iv. ARNOLD, b. about 1715.
- v. SARAH (perhaps), bapt. May 17, 1717.

9. JOSEPH^s BELCHER (John,² *Gregory*¹) was born Feb. 23, 1660-1, and after his birth record, appears no further in any town, church, deed, or probate record that has been found by the writer. Nevertheless, it appears he had a family, as in the diary of John Marshall of Braintree is the following entry: "Joseph Belcher's child died Mar. 8, 1700-1." On Mar. 20, 1726, Joseph Belcher and his son, from Braintree, were warned from Boston. (Boston Record Com. Report, No. 13, page 154.)

It seems likely that he was father of the following Belchers who cannot otherwise be placed :

- i. MERCY, m. in Boston, Nov. 11, 1709, Benjamin Johns.
 - ii. HANNAH, m. in Boston, May 23, 1713, Anthony Ennis.
 - ii. ELIZABETH, m. in Boston, Jan. 4, 1715-16, Alexander Fullerton. Possibly, however, she was dau. of Josiah³ Belcher.
 - iv. MARY Belcher, m. in Boston, June 7, 1716, John Flagg (then in middle life), as his second wife. But possibly she was the widow of Gill³ Belcher as previously suggested.
 - v. A SON, perhaps the Joseph Belcher, seaman, on ship "King George" in 1758, referred to under Josiah³ Belcher.
10. JOSIAH^s BELCHER (John,² *Gregory*¹), born in Braintree, June 26, 1669, was a cordwainer, and lived in Braintree until Jan., 1713-14, when he went to Watertown, from whence he was warned two months afterwards. Later we find him in Boston, being warned from there before July 29, 1723. He then lived at Marblehead for a short time, but returned soon to Boston, he and his wife and two sons being warned in Boston on May 22, 1725. He remained, nevertheless, and on Feb. 25, 1726, bought of Thomas Bill (presumably his son-in-law) a portion of the dwelling house of the latter in Blackhorse lane, which he and his wife Margaret sold back to Thomas Bill, on Jan. 5, 1729-30. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 266, and vol. 44, page 47.) This deal was probably for the purpose of securing a residence for Josiah and Margaret Belcher with their daughter Ruth Bill in Boston, free from the molestations of the authorities. In 1734, Josiah Belcher was refused a liquor license. No further record appears of him. He married Margaret, born May 11, 1670, daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Ladd) Hayden of Braintree.

Children :

20. i. JOHN,⁴ b. Aug. 28, 1694.
 - ii. ELIZABETH, b. May 25, 1697; perhaps m. Jan. 4, 1715-16, Alexander Fullerton of Boston.
 - iii. MARGARET, b. Apr. 8, 1699.
 - iv. RUTH (probably), b. about 1702; m. June 6, 1723, Thomas Bill, shipwright, of Boston.
 - v. A SON, name undiscovered.
 - vi. JOSEPH, b. Nov. 1, 1709. Perhaps the Joseph Belcher of Braintree who served as seaman on the ship "King George," from Mar. 15 to Oct. 21, 1758; no further record.
11. MOSES⁶ BELCHER (Moses,² Gregory¹), born in Braintree in 1674, inherited the farm occupied by his father and grandfather, and resided in Braintree until his death, about 1745. He was called "Sr." on the records, to distinguish him from his cousin Moses⁴ Belcher (born in 1692, son of Samuel⁶). Moses Belcher, Sr., held numerous minor town offices, such as fence viewer, constable, hogreive, and surveyor of highways, between the years 1712 and 1733. His name occurs in several land transactions, but no probate records of his estate appear. He married first, May 20, 1715, Anne, born about 1696, daughter of Samuel and Anne (Clay) Sarson of Martha's Vineyard, who died Jan. 28, 1721-2, having had three children; and married second, Jan. 3, 1726-7, Alice, born June 9, 1698, daughter of Dr. John and Sarah (Newton) Wilson of Braintree, and great-granddaughter of Rev. John Wilson, first pastor of the First Church in Boston. She died without issue, in 1754.

Children by first wife :

21. i. MOSES,⁴ b. Mar. 8, 1715-16.

 - iii. MARY, b. Dec. 11, 1720; d. Aug. 18, 1725.
12. DEA. GREGORY³ BELCHER (Samuel,² Gregory¹), born in Braintree, Feb. 28, 1664-5, always resided there, where he held many minor town offices, and was deacon in the church for many years. Besides carrying on farming, he also followed the occupation of shipwright and carpenter. He was killed in an accident, by a plough, July 4, 1727. He married, Mar. 25, 1689-90, Elizabeth, born in 1669, daughter of John and Rebecca (Farnsworth) Ruggles of Braintree, who died Nov. 22, 1748.

13. SAMUEL⁸ BELCHER (Samuel⁸ Gregory¹), born Sept. 21, 1666, was a farmer and resided in Braintree, where he held various minor town offices, and died Dec. 19, 1714. He married, in 1688, Comfort, born in 1666, daughter of John and Jael (Thayer) Harbour of Braintree and Mendon. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 17, page 216.) She married second, Jan. 10, 1722-3 (or Aug. 13, 1723), Stephen Crane of Braintree, and died in Milton, Dec. 21, 1745. Her will, dated 1744, mentions sons Moses and Nathaniel Belcher; daughter Mary Wales deceased; daughter Deborah Holten; and daughter Zipporah Curtis.

He and his wife were admitted to the Milton Church, Jan. 19, 1695-6, and dismissed to the second Preston church, Nov. 13, 1720, where he was elected one of the first deacons. In 1721, he represented Preston in the Connecticut General Assembly. On Sept. 12, 1729, Hannah Belcher, widow, William Belcher, Elijah Belcher, Stephen Tucker and Hannah his wife, all of Preston, Conn., and Ebenezer Clapp and Abigail his wife, of Stoughton, conveyed their interest in the land grant of George Lyon. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 49, page 171.)

15. REV. JOSEPH^s BELCHER (Joseph^s Gregory¹), born May 14, 1669, in youth inherited a considerable estate for those times, which enabled him to obtain a liberal education at Harvard College, where he was graduated in 1690. He then studied for the ministry, and began to preach in Dedham, in the spring of 1692, which resulted in a permanent call, and he was ordained and settled there on Nov. 29, 1693. He remained pastor there for nearly 30 years, until the autumn of 1721, when he was incapacitated by a paralytic shock, and was removed to the house of his son-in-law Rev. Thomas Walter, in Roxbury, to be under the care of his brother-in-law Dr. Philip Tompson, where he died Apr. 27, 1723. His portrait in oil hangs in the First Church in Dedham.

He married, Mar. 8, 1693-4, Abigail, born Nov. 25, 1670, daughter of Benjamin and Susanna (Kirkland) Tompson, whose father was a graduate of Harvard College, and for many years taught school and practiced medicine in Roxbury and Braintree, and also was noted as a poet and philosopher. She survived her husband.

Thomas and Abigail (Edwards) Stoughton of Windsor, Conn. He had no children, according to Hinman's "Early Puritans of Conn.," page 177, which states that the will of Samuel left his estate to his wife Mabel and nephew Belcher Richards; but perhaps he was father of the Gill Belcher of Hebron, Conn., who bought land in Great Barrington, Mass., in 1765 (see 6, vii.).

ESDRAS READE.

By CHARLES FRENCH READ, Esq., of Boston.

AMONG the great company of English people who joined in the Puritan movement which settled at the Massachusetts Bay early in the seventeenth century, the name of Esdras Reade finds a place, and it seems proper to publish this brief biography of him, that coming generations of his descendants may study the life of their first American ancestor of the name.

The earliest mention of Esdras Reade, which I have as yet found, is in the Records of the Town of Boston, under date of December 24, 1638. The entry reads that "Esdras Reade, a Taylor, is this day allowed to bee an Inhabitant and to have a great lot at Muddy River for 4 heads." Muddy River was then a part of Boston, and in 1705 became the present town of Brookline. But evidently conditions in Muddy River were not satisfactory to Esdras Reade, owing possibly to the fact that the hamlet was four miles from Boston, for we find that after a stay of a few weeks he removed to Salem, Mass., the records of that town telling us, under date of February 25, 1639, that "Esdras Reade is received to be an inhabitant at the towne of Salem."

He received grants of land from the town, joined, with his wife Alice, the First Church of Salem, and was made a freeman of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, June 2, 1641. While a resident of Salem, his two children, Obadiah and Bethiah, the only ones he had, were baptized in the First Church, the record being "1640 31 3 Two children of Esdras Reade."

It is evident that the migratory habits of our ancestors of the seventeenth century fastened themselves upon the subject of this sketch, for in 1644, Esdras Reade with other members of the Salem church, including the pastor, Rev. John Fiske, founded the town of Wenham, Mass., which was called, before its incorporation, Enon, meaning much water.

While a resident of Wenham, he was a leading citizen of the town. Having, with his wife, become a member of the First Church of Wenham, when it was organized October 8, 1644, he was elected the first deacon, and he also represented the town in the General Court in the years 1648 and 1651.

A few years later brought another change of residence, for in 1655 he was one of the founders of the town of Chelmsford, Mass. A recital of the proceedings which led to the settlement of the new town may be interesting.

To quote from a history of Middlesex County :

In September, 1654, propositions were made to Rev. John Fiske and his church in Wenham to remove to Chelmsford, Mass., and the account of the proceedings which resulted in their removal there is preserved in the handwriting of Mr. Fiske. It is written in the quaint diction of the time, and reads as follows: "A day was set of meeting at Chelmsford. Upon the said day set divers of ye brethren accompanied ye pastor over unto Chelmsford where ye committee and divers others were present. A view was taken of ye place. The brethren present satisfied themselves about their accommodations, and proposals were then made to ye pastor for his accommodation and yearly maintenance, as to be tendered unto him by consent of ye whole of inhabitants and in the name of ye committee."

Soon after their return to Wenham, the larger part of the church, with their pastor, decided to accept Chelmsford's proposals. But at this time the proceedings were discontinued. We now return to Mr. Fiske's account. "Thus the matter lay dormant as 'twere all winter, until ye first month '55 at which time Brother Reade coming over, enformed us in such wise here at Wenham, as thereupon ye paster and ye said engaged brethren demurred upon ye proceedings, and some that had sold here at Wenham redeemed their accommodations again into their possession and a letter was suitably sent by Brother Reade to acquaint ye Chelmsford committee how things stood, and advised to stead themselves elsewhere."

The matter was not abandoned. Several letters passed between the parties. In June, 1655, a committee went with letters for Chelmsford, "with full power to then and there to treat and finally to determine the business between both parties. The matter way referred to counsel. This case thus determined on either side, preparations were made for ye removal of ye church. Accordingly about ye 13th of ye 9th month '55 there were met at Chelmsford, ye pastor with ye engaged brethren of Wenham, seven in all, to whom such of the brethren of Woburne and Concord churches late at Wenham presented themselves and testimony given, were by a unanimous vote received in fellowship."

At the first town meeting in Chelmsford, held November 22, 1655, Esdras Reade was elected one of a "committee to officiate in ordering the publick affaires."

Three years later found him again on the move, for in 1658 he came to live in Boston a second time; and two years later, in 1660, the records of Chelmsford tell us that "John Webb is admitted to purchase all the rights and privileges granted by the town of Chelmsford to Esdras Reade." He joined with his wife, possibly a second one, the Second Church of Boston, August 4, 1661.

Nine years later he was living in Woburn, Mass., for in the deed of a sale of land which he made in 1670, he calls himself "Esdras Reade, Taylor of Woburn." But by the following year he had become a resident of Boston for the third time, as is shown in another deed, and he apparently lived there continuously until his death in 1680.

It is probable that his home was situated at the intersection of the thoroughfares which we call to-day Salem and Prince Streets. He sold this estate, January 12, 1674, to Samuel Brackenbury, physician, for the sum of £132, and the deed of sale gives the location as "at the intersection of a street that leads from the Second Meeting House in Boston towards Century Haven and a lane that leads from the said street towards Winnissimmet Ferry Place."

Esdras Reade, and here I quote the inscription on the gravestone of another ancestor, "after he had served his generation, by the will of God, fell on sleep" in Boston, July 27, 1680, at the advanced age of eighty-five years. He lies buried in Copp's Hill Burying Ground, Boston, and over his grave is to be seen to-day the double gravestone of himself and his second wife Sarah. It is inscribed in part: "Here lyeth buried | ye boddy of | Esdras Reade aged | 85 Years Died | July ye 27 | 1680."

He died intestate, and his small estate was administered by his son, Obadiah Read. The inventory of his property shows that he was, until his death, engaged in making a living by his trade, and he was possessed of a complement of tailor's tools.

And so we take leave of Esdras Read, taylor. When he came to the now great city of Boston, in 1638, it was a hamlet of about thirty families.

During his life, the Colonies of Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth were united in one, and seventy towns were incorporated by the General Court. He saw the persecution of the Quakers, and the havoc caused by King Philip's War. The closing years of his life were passed amid the political disturbances which resulted, four years after his death, in the annulment of the Charter of Massachusetts Bay by King Charles the Second.

FRANCIS WEST OF DUXBURY, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

By EDWARD E. CORNWALL, M.D., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

1. "FRANCIS WEST, a house carpenter by trade, being a single man, invited by a Mr. Thomas of Marshfield, Massachusetts, left the town of Salisbury in England and came to N. England, and settled in Duxbury, Mass., and married Margrey Reeves, by whom he had five children, viz., Samuel, Thomas, Peter, Mary and Ruth." So wrote Judge Zebulon West (1707-1770), a great-grandson of the emigrant, who probably learned these facts from his father, also named Francis (1669-1731), who lived with the emigrant in Duxbury until he grew up.

Francis West married Margaret Reeves, in Duxbury, Feb. 27, 1639, and died in that town, Jan. 2, 1692, aged 86. He is spoken of as a carpenter in the Duxbury records, and the Plymouth Colony records show that he made a pair of stocks for the town of Duxbury in 1640. In 1640 and 1642 he was a member of the Grand Jury; in 1642 he bought a house and land in Duxbury (Millbrook); and in 1643 he was on the list of those able to bear arms. He was admitted freeman in Plymouth Colony in 1656. In 1658 he was surveyor of highways in Duxbury; constable in 1661; and in 1662, '69, '74, '78, '80 and '81 was a member of the "Grand Enquest." During the last years of his life his son Peter took care of him, and his estate, which amounted to only £16: 15: 00, was given to Peter by the Probate Court.

Children,* probably born in Duxbury :

2. i. SAMUEL,² b. 1643.
3. ii. DR. THOMAS, b. 1646.

* Besides the five children mentioned in the Zebulon West Manuscript, two others, Pelatiah and Richard, have been ascribed to Francis West, though it would seem without good reason.

He joined the Sabbatarian Baptist Church in Newport in 1692, from which he was dismissed in 1702. His will, dated Jan. 15, 1697/8, mentions his six sons, but not his daughters, who, however, are mentioned in a division of his real estate in 1722. FAIRBANKS MARRIAGES IN THE PARISH OF HALIFAX, WEST RIDING OF YORKSHIRE, ENGLAND.

From 1538 to 1624.

Communicated by Rev. HIRAM FRANCIS FAIRBANKS, of Milwaukee, Wis.

INASMUCH as several early American emigrants came from the above named parish, this list may prove interesting.

The Fairbank, or Fairbanks, family was probably in this parish as early as 450 years ago. The earliest will, that of Richard of Heptonstall, in 1517, says his father lived, and he was born, in Kendall of Westmoreland. John Fairbank of Sowerby in 1517 was probably a brother of Richard, and Edmund Fairbank of Heptonstall was very likely his uncle. Edmund, who made his will in 1533, was probably born about 1460 or earlier. He seems to have been a man of considerable local importance. Two of his sons, Sir William and Sir George, were priests, and he had helped found a chapel. He seems to have had a chaplain, Sir John Grenwood; and to have possessed considerable land and money. He willed two "Macers," doubtless the symbol of some authority.

(This is the marriage of Jonathan Fayrbanke who came to New England in 1633, and settled at Dedham in 1636. All his children were baptized in the great parish church of Halifax, most of them having been born in Warley, which adjoins Sowerby, although Mary and George were born in Shelf, which is to the northeast of Halifax. All these townships are in the parish of Halifax. George Fayrbanke of Sowerby, who was churchwarden in 1612, and who died in 1620, was evidently a near relative of this Jonathan, for all his children had the same names as those of the emigrant. His son Jonathan graduated from Brazenose College, Oxford, and became Protestant Vicar of Bingley, Yorkshire, where he remained until more than eighty years of age.)

EDGARTOWN, MASS., CHURCH RECORD.

Communicated by Miss MITTIE BELOHER FAIRBANKS, of Boston.

THE following entry in the records of the old Congregational Church at Edgartown, Mass., seems worthy of preservation in print.

"Records of the Church of Christ in Edgartown Mass. (M. V.) (Organized 1641) From 1717 to the Reorganization in 1827. [With some additional Records.]

[Previous History]

Finding no Record of the Church previous to the year 1717 I thought expedient here to infer the Account the Revrd Experience Mayhew gives vs of the first Settlement of the Church He tells us that the same Year that is the first year the first Inhabitants came to this Island a Church was gathered (which was in 1641) & that the Revrd Mr. Thomas Mayhew was ordained Pastor of it. he was lost in a Voiage to England in the year 1657 He speaks of the Lofs of M^r Mayhew so great to the whole Island both Natives & Englifh. It was many years before there was another Minister settled in the Place. The Rev^d M^r Jonathan Dunham being the next. I find no account in what year that took Place the Rev^d Samuel Wiswall was ordained as a Colleague with Mr Dunham in 1713, he died in 1746. The Rev^d John Newman was ordained in 1747 he was dismissed in 1758. The Rev^d Samuel Kingsbury was ordained 1761, he died in 1778. The Rev^d Joseph Thaxter was ordained 1780 Nov 8th. I find on the old Records of the town that in Feb 1664 the Town invited Mr. John Colton to preach with them & to give him Forty Pounds a year I find that the 24 of May 1665 He accepted the Invitation there is no Record of his ordination or of the Time he continued among them. I believe it is a Fact that Governor Mayhew labored among the Indians & white people after the Death of his Son till a short Time before his Death Governor Mayhew died 1681 In the

[I find by the Chh Records of Plimouth that M^r Dunham came from Plimouth in 1694 & was ordained Pastor of the Chh here]

94 Year of his age a short Biography of his Life informs us that after the Death of his son He preached to the white People & to the Indians & that at 70 years of age he travelled 20 miles thro' the Woods which might be from Edgartown to Gay Head to preach to the Indians & as there was no English House to lodge in He lodged in their Wigwams as mate. He continued his Labours till a short Time before his Death & retained his Reason & memory to the last what missionaries with all their pecuniary Rewards ever performed so much for the Glory of God & the Good of the natives as Governor Mayhew & his son did without Fee or Reward Great is their Reward in Heaven

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR WILLIAM JONES, OF NEW HAVEN JURISDICTION, AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by Hon. RALPH D. SMYTH, and communicated by Dr. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. LIEUT. GOV. WILLIAM¹ JONES, emigrant to New Haven, styles himself, in a deed dated March 3, 1689/90, "sometime of Martins in the fields, Westminster, Esquire, now of New Haven in the County of New Haven in New England, Planter." He may have been a son of Col. John Jones the Regicide, executed Oct. 16, 1660, who married, as a second or third wife, Jane, the widow of Roger Whetstone and sister of Oliver Cromwell the Protector.

William¹ Jones is said to have been born in 1624, at London, where he was an attorney. He arrived at Boston, July 27, 1660, in the same ship with Whaley and Goffe, and brought his sons William and Nathaniel with him, born by a first wife. He married second, at London, Hannah, born in London in 1633, daughter of Gov. Theophilus Eaton of New Haven, July 7, 1659. By a deed of indenture, dated Mar. 20, 1658/9, Theophilus

Eaton of Dublin in Ireland, Esquire, son and heir to Theophilus Eaton, Governor, late of New Haven in New England, of one part, and Hannah Eaton of London, spinster, daughter of Theophilus Eaton, and Thomas Yale of New Haven in New England, Gentleman, of the other part, conveyed the estate of Gov. Eaton.

An agreement made by some of his heirs is on the New Haven County records. Among them are Andrew Morrison, in right of his wife Sarah, and John Morgan, in right of his wife Elizabeth. These women are spoken of as children of the whole blood of William Jones, Esq. "Jones's Bridge" in Guilford took its name from him. Lieut. Gov. Jones died Oct. 17, 1706, and Mrs. Hannah (Eaton) Jones died May 4, 1707.

RICHARD SCOTT AND HIS WIFE CATHARINE MARBURY, AND SOME OF THEIR DESCENDANTS.

By STEPHEN F. PROKHAM, Esq., of New York City.

RICHARD² SCOTT was the son of Edward¹ and Sarah (Carter) Scott, and was born at Glemsford, Suffolk, England, in 1607. Edward Scott was of the Scotts of Scott's Hall in Kent,* who traced their lineage through John Baliol to the early Kings of Scotland. Richard Scott's wife was Catharine,† daughter of Rev. Francis Marbury and his wife Bridget Dryden, daughter of John Dryden, Esq., and his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Sir John Cope. Col. Joseph L. Chester says (ante, vol. xx., p. 367) "It will be seen therefore that Ann Marbury Hutchinson, by both parents, descended from gentle and heraldic families of England." Of course the same could be said of her sister Catharine, and of her husband.

Richard Scott and his wife probably came to New England with the Hutchinson party on the Griffin in 1634. Winthrop writes, "Nov. 24, 1634, one Scott and Eliot of Ipswich, was lost in their way homewards and wandered up and down six days and eat nothing. At length they were found by an Indian, being almost senseless for want of rest." But if this refers to Richard Scott, he might have come in Winthrop's party.

Richard Scott was admitted a member of the Boston Church, Aug. 28, 1634. He next appears of record at the trial of his sister-in-law Ann Hutchinson, March 22, 1638, when he said, "I desire to propound this one scruple, wch keepes me that I cannot so freely in my spirit give way to excommunication whither it was not better to give her a little time to consider of the things that is . . . vised against her, because she is not yet convinced of her Lye and so things is with her in Distracttion, and she cannot recollect her thoughts."

He next appears in Providence. What was then included in the "Providence Plantations" is now embraced in the towns of Woonsocket west of the river, North Smithfield, Smithfield, Lincoln, North Providence, Johnston, Providence and Cranston. Before 1700, the settlements centered in what is now the city of Providence, with farms extending north up the valley of the Blackstone river, west of Pawtucket and Lonsdale. Cumberland was then a part of the Massachusetts town of Rehoboth.

† In the REGISTER, vol. xx., page 355, in an article on the Hutchinson Family, there is much relating to Ann Marbury Hutchinson, and incidentally to her sister Catharine Marbury Scott. In vol. xxi., p. 283, is an account of the Marbury Family with the will of the Rev. Francis Marbury. In vol. xxii., p. 13, is the pedigree of Richard Scott, the article containing much that later researches have proved to be erroneous and reaching conclusions wholly erroneous. In vol. xxiii., p. 121, is an article on the antiquity of the name of Scott. In vol. li., p. 254, will be found the will of George Scott of London, England, a brother of Richard Scott, which furnishes absolute proof of the ancestry of Richard Scott.

There is no record evidence of the time when Richard Scott first appeared at Providence. Familiar as I have been from childhood with the Blackstone valley, and after a careful study of the subject for many years, I have reached the conclusion that a mistake has been made in identifying Providence with Moshasuck. I believe that the latter settlement, while within the original limits of Providence, as first laid out, was about a mile west of Lonsdale, and a short distance west of Scott's Pond, where Richard Scott, Thomas Arnold, Thomas Harris, Christopher Smith, and others who became Quakers, made a settlement, which was begun before Roger Williams planted at the spring, the water of which still flows into a trough on Canal Street in the city of Providence. At Moshasuck, Richard Scott owned a very large tract of land, some of which remained in his descendants for 200 years, which included what is now Saylesville and Lonsdale and the land between them and around Scott's Pond. It became the Quaker settlement, as distinguished from the Baptist settlement at the head of Narragansett Bay.

The first document to which Richard Scott affixed his signature was the so-called Providence Compact,* which is pasted on to the first page of the earliest book of Records of the city of Providence. It is stated that when these records were copied in 1800, there was opposite the page on which the famous compact is inscribed an entry bearing date August 20, 1637. This date has been assumed to be the date on which the compact was signed. Until I obtained a photograph of this instrument, I supposed it was drawn up by Roger Williams and signed by the then citizens of Providence, but it is in the handwriting of Richard Scott, who was the first to sign it. He also signed for William Reynolds and John Field, who made their marks. Then, using the same ink, Chad Browne, John Warner and George Riccard signed. Then, using another ink that has faded, Edward Cope, Thomas Angell, Thomas Harris, Francis Weekes, Benedict Arnold, Joshua Winsor, and William Wickenden signed. Here are thirteen names, but not the names of the thirteen proprietors of the town of Providence, nor one of them.

It appears to me as almost certain that William Arnold and others had located at Pautuxet, and Richard Scott and others had located at Moshasuck, before Roger Williams and others crossed over from Seckonk, in June, 1636, began building near where St. John's church now stands in Providence, and named the settlement Providence. It is equally certain that Roger Williams secured from the Indians a deed that covered, or was afterwards made to cover, the land on which William Arnold and Richard Scott had located, thus sowing the seed for the perpetual feuds that existed between Roger Williams and his "loving friends and Neighbors." In 1637, Richard Scott went to Boston and married Catharine Marbury. Returning to his home in Providence in March, 1638, he drew up and signed the celebrated compact, expecting that Roger Williams and his fellow sufferers, fleeing from the persecution of the triumphant Boston party, would all sign it, and thus found a commonwealth absolutely divested of the theocratic principle. In this he was mistaken. William Arnold, and his party, were joined by Stukeley Westcott, Thomas Olney, Francis Weston, and Richard Waterman, who had been banished from Salem, and they forced or persuaded Roger Williams, October 6, 1638, to deed to them an undivided interest in the town of Providence. In this, Richard Scott and his friends who signed the compact had no share. Finally, those who signed the compact and those who were grantees under the deed from Roger Williams, with others who had arrived meantime, joined in an arrangement by which they became "Purchasers of Providence." Under this agreement, the neck between Providence harbor and the Blackstone river was divided into town lots and distributed to 54 purchasers, of which Richard Scott was one. His lot was next north of Roger Williams, and extended up over the hill north of Bowen Street.

The conclusion therefore is inevitable, that whatever credit belongs to the author of this celebrated instrument belongs to Richard Scott alone, and that Roger Williams not only had nothing to do with it, but refused to sign it. It reads as follows:

"We whose names are hereunder desirous to inhabit in ye towne of prouidence do promise to subiect ourselves in actiue or passiue obedience to all such orders or agreements as shall be made for publick good of o^r body in an orderly way by the maior consent of the present Inhabitants maisters of families Incorporated together into a towne fellowshp and others whom they shall admitt into them only in ciuill things."

January 16, 1638, Winthrop notes, "At Providence things grow still worse; for a sister of Mrs. Hutchinson, the wife of one Scott, being infected with Anabaptistry, and going last year to live in Providence, Mr. Williams was taken (or rather emboldened) by her to make open professson thereof, and accordingly was rebaptized by one Holyman, a poor man late of Salem." There is no other evidence that Catharine Scott had, or wished to have, any influence upon Roger Williams. They never agreed, and upon two occasions Roger Williams had her, with other wives of his neighbors, arrested, but he did not carry his suits to a conclusion before the Court.

On the 27th of 5th month 1640, Robert Coles, Chad Browne, William Harris, and John Warner, were chosen Arbitrators to draw up what is known as the "Combination," which is a sort of agreement for arbitration for the adjustment of differences between "louing ffrriends and Neighbours." Two of these arbitrators signed the compact, and two were grantees under the deed from Roger Williams, and the agreement adjusted differences between the Pawtuxet men, the Providence men, and the Moshasuck men. The Combination was signed by 12 who signed the compact, by Roger Williams and 8 grantees under the deed, and 18 others. Richard Scott was one of the signers of the Combination, which contains the following clause, "we agree As formerly hath ben the liberties of the Town: so still to hold forth Libertye of Conscience."

From 1640 to 1650, the Scotts appear to have been quiet and prosperous citizens. They sold their town lot and moved out into the country, upon their lands at Moshasuck. Richard² Scott shared in all the allotments of land, and acquired a large estate. Patience Island, in the Bay, was deeded to him "aboute ye year 1651," by Roger Williams.

The children of Richard² and Catharine were:

Some time in 1656, Christopher Holder, a Quaker, came over from England and visited Providence. It is a tradition that Richard² Scott, his wife and daughters, soon became converts to the new faith. There is nothing to indicate that John³ Scott was ever of that faith. Although the evidence concerning the identity of John Scott's wife is by no means certain, I think there is very good reason for believing her to have been the daughter of John and Sarah Browne of Old Swansea, who were baptists, members of John Myles's church. It is known that there was a second son, and there is reason for believing his name was Richard.

The daughter Mary³ and Christopher Holder formed an attachment, and when two years later he was arrested in Boston on the charge of being a Quaker, and sentenced to lose his ears, Catharine Scott and her daughter Patience, then 11 years old, went to Boston to comfort the young man in his trial. The story is thus told by George Bishop in his "New-England Judged, by the Spirit of the Lord": "And Katharine Scot, of the Town of Providence, in the Jurisdiction of Rhode-Island (a Mother of many Children, one that had lived with her Husband, of Unblameable Conversation, and a Grave, Sober, Ancient Woman, and of good Breeding, as to the Outward, as Men account) coming to see the Execution of the said Three, as aforefaid [Christopher Holder, John Copeland and John Rouse, all single young men, their ears cut off the 7th of 7th month 1658, by order of John Endicott, Gov.] whose Ears you cut off, and laying upon their doing it privately,—That it was evident they were going to act the Works of Darknefs, or else they would have brought them forth Publickly, and have declared their Offence, that others may hear and fear.—Ye committed her to Prifon, and gave her Ten Cruel Stripes with a three-fold-corded-knotted-Whip, with that Cruelty in the Execution, as to others, on the second Day of the eighth Month, 1658. Tho' ye confessed, when ye had her before you, that for ought ye knew, she had been of an Unblameable Conversation; and tho' some of you knew her Father, and called him Mr. Marbery, and that she had been well-bred (as among Men) and had fo lived, and that she was the Mother of many Children; yet ye whipp'd her for all that, and moreover told her—That ye were likely to have a Law to Hang her, if She came thither again—To which she answered,—If God call us, Wo be to us, if we come not; and I question not, but he whom we love, will make us not to count our Lives dear unto our selves for the sake of his Name—To which your Governour, John Endicot, replied,—And we shall be as ready to take away your Lives, as ye shall be to lay them down—How wicked the Expression let the Reader judge."

The whip used is thus described by Bishop. "The whip used for these cruel Executions is not of whip cord, as in England, but of dried Guts, such as the Base of Viols, and with three knots at the end, which many times the Hangman lays on with both his hands, and must needs be of most violent Torture and exercise of the Body."

Afterwards the daughter Mary³ visited her lover in prison, but the Boston people sent her back to Providence without a whipping, a remarkable exercise of mercy for them, although they kept her in prison a month. In the spring of 1660, Mary³ Scott and her mother went back to England, and on Aug. 12 she was married there to Christopher Holder. In a letter dated Sept. 8 of that year, Roger Williams wrote to Governor John Winthrop of Conn., "Sir, my neighbor, Mrs. Scott, is come from England, and what the whip at Boston could not do, converse with friends in England, and their arguments have in a great measure drawn her from the Quakers and wholly from their meetings." Catharine Scott's death is recorded in the Records of Friends at Newport, which is absolute proof that she died in full standing among them.

Feb. 26, 1676, Richard² Scott confirmed a deed, made many years before, of Patience Island to Christopher Holder and his wife Mary. A copy of this deed will be found in the REGISTER, vol. xxii, page 13.

Richard² Scott's daughter Patience³ married Henry Beere, who was master of a sloop running between Providence and Newport. His daughter Hannah⁴ married Walter Clarke, son of Jeremiah and Frances (Latham) Clarke, who was one of the Quaker Governors of the Colony.

In 1666, Richard Scott was chosen from Providence a deputy to the Legislature.

In 1672, George Fox visited New England and preached in Newport, R. I., with great acceptance, which greatly disturbed Roger Williams. In 1676, Roger Williams published in Boston, a book entitled "George Fox digg'd out of his Burrowes," which for scurrilous abuse has few equals, and which, when considered as the production of an apostle of Liberty of Conscience, is one of the most extraordinary books ever printed. In 1678, George Fox published in London, "A New-England Fire-Brand Quenched, Being Something in Answer unto a Lying, Slanderous Book, Entitled George Fox Digg'd out of his Burrows, &c. Printed at Boston, in the Year 1676, of one Roger Williams of Providence in New-England." It seems that George Fox addressed letters to William Coddington and Richard Scott, two of the most eminent Quakers in Rhode Island, and whom he had probably met at Newport, and asked them what manner of man Roger Williams was. They both replied at length, George Fox inserting the replies in his book as an appendix, from which I copy as follows:

"Friends,

Concerning the Conversation and Carriage of this Man Roger Williams, I have been his Neighbour these 38. years: I have only been Absent in the time of the Wars with the Indians, till this present—I walked with him in the Baptists Way about 3 or 4 Months, but in that short time of his Standing I discerned, that he must have the Ordering of all their Affairs, or else there would be no Quiet Agreement amongst them. In which time he brake off from his Society, and declared at large the Ground and Reasons of it: That their Baptism could not be right, because It was not Administred by an Apofle. After that he fet up a Way of Seeking (with two or three of them, that had deffented with him) by way of Preaching and Praying; and there he continued a Year or two, till Two of the Three left him.

That which took most with him, and was his Life, was, To get Honor amongst Men, especially amongst the Great Ones. For after his Society and he in a Church-Way were parted, he then went to New-England,* and there he got a Charter: and coming from Boston to Providence, at Seaconk the Neighbours of Providence met him with fourteen Canoes, and carried him to Providence. And the Man being hemmed in in the middle of the Canoes, was so Elevated and Tranported out of himself, that I was condemned in my self, that amongst the Rest I had been an Instrument to fet him up in his Pride and Folly. And he that before could reprove my Wife, for asking her Two Sons, Why they did not pull off their Hats to him? And told her, She might as well bid them pull off their Shoos, as their Hats (Though afterward he took him in the same Act, and turned his Reproof upon his own Head) And he, that could not put off his Cap at Prayer in his Worship, Can now put it off to every Man or Boy, that puls of his Hat to him. Though he professed Liberty of Conscience, and was so zealous for it at the first Coming home of the Charter, that nothing in Government must be Acted, till that was granted; yet he could be Forwardest in their Government to prosecute against those, that could not Join with him in it. as witness his Presenting of it to the Court at Newport.

And when this would not take Effect, afterwards when the Commissioners were Two of them at Providence, being in the House of Thomas Olney, Senior of the same Town, Roger Williams propounded this Question to them:

We have a People here amongst us, which will not Act in our Government with us; what Course shall we take with them?

Then George Cartwright, one of the Commissioners asked him, What manner of Persons they were? Do they Live quietly and peaceably amongst you? This they could not deny; Then he made them this Answer:

If they can Govern themselves, they have no need of your Government. —At which they were silent.

This was told by a Woman of the same House (where the Speech was spoken) to another Woman, whom the Complaint with the rest was made against, who related it to me; but they are both Dead, and cannot bear Witness with me, to what was spoken there. * * * * *

One particular more I shall mention, which I find written in his Book (pag. 7.) concerning an Answer to John Throckmorton in this manner: To which (saith he) I will not Answer, as George Fox Answered Henry Wright's Paper with a scornful and shameful Silence,—I am a Witness for George Fox, that I Received his Answer to it, and delivered it into Henry Wright's own hands; [Yet R. W. has published this Lie So that to his former Lie] he hath added another scornful and shameful Lie; And then concludes, That they were his Witnesses, that he had long said with David (and he humbly hoped) he should make it good that he hates and abhors Lying.

RICHARD SCOT."

Richard Scott seems, from the meagre records that have come down to us, to have been a quiet man, attending to his own affairs, and having little part in the squabbles that disturbed the "louing friends and neighbours," which so often claimed the attention of Roger Williams.

There is no record known of Richard Scott's death, but from collateral evidence he is supposed to have died quite suddenly in the latter part of 1680 or early in 1681, leaving his affairs in considerable confusion. Catharine Scott died at Newport, R. I., May 2, 1687.

In Bodge's "Soldiers in King Philip's War," the name of Richard Scott appears in such manner as to make quite certain the presence of two persons bearing that name. In those accounts, Richard Scott, cornet, and Richard Scott, private, were both paid for services, Aug. 24, 1676. The services extended from December, 1675, to Aug., 1676. From these accounts it also appears that John^s Scott served from June, 1675, to Aug., 1676. Richard^s Scott, the younger, who is mentioned, but not named, in his father's letter to George Fox, no doubt perished, unmarried, in that terrible struggle.

John^s Scott, who survived King Philip's War, had married, about 1661, Rebecca Browne. He took the oath of allegiance May 30, 1667, and was a juryman April 27, 1668. He paid taxes of £1-0-0 in 1671. He was acquiring property and rapidly becoming a prosperous citizen when he was shot by an Indian, on his own doorstep, and mortally wounded, dying in a few days, about June 1, 1677. As both Richard and John Scott's names are not in "A List of the inhabitants who Tarried in Providence during Philip's War—1675," it appears probable that the entire Moshasuck quaker settlement went to Newport during that struggle, and that John Scott and his family returned too soon for safety.

The children of John^s and Rebecca, all born in Providence, probably at Moshasuck, were:

| 2. JOHN, | b. March 14, 1664; d. 1725; m. Elizabeth Wanton. |

| 6. SILVANUS, | b. Nov. 20, 1772; d. Jan. 13, 1712; m. Joanna Jenckes. |

The son John⁴ lived in Newport, with his grandmother and aunts, became a merchant and carpenter, and married Elizabeth, daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Wanton. This Wanton family furnished five colonial governors, and are known as the "Fighting Quakers."

The widow Rebecca remained in Providence, and took up the task of straightening out her late husband's affairs, a task to which was soon added the tangled affairs of her father-in-law, Richard Scott; and there she married, April 15, 1678, John Whipple, Jr., who was one of the prominent men in the Providence colony, and had held nearly every office in the gift of the town, from constable to town clerk and moderator of the Town Meeting. He became blind, and several years thereafter, Dec. 15, 1700, he died.

Jan. 7, 1701, the widow Rebecca Whipple presented a will to the Town Council for probate, and was appointed administrator of her husband's estate, but delayed the settlement for nearly a year, until she and John Whipple's daughters and their husbands, on the one part, forced a deed of partition with young John Whipple, on the other part.

The youngest child of John^s and Rebecca Scott, who was about six years old when his father died, lived with his mother in John Whipple's house. He became Major Silvanus⁴ Scott, and early in life entered into the politics of the town, becoming nearly as prominent in his generation as his step-father had been before him. He married, about 1692, Joanna, daughter of Joseph and Esther (Ballard) Jenckes. His wife was a sister of the Governor Jenckes so noted in R. I. annals in the first half of the 18th century. I have not learned that either Silvanus⁴ or Joanna⁴ Scott were Quakers; but many of their descendants were, and still are, of that faith. Their great-grandson Job Scott was, in the latter half of the 18th century, one of the most noted Friends' ministers then living.

The children of Sylvanus⁴ and Joanna were:

| 11. NATHANIEL, b. April 19, 1711; | m. Mercy, daughter of Edward, ³ (Edward, ² Christopher ¹) and Mary Mowry Smith. |

The only records of the Scott family that appear on the Providence Records are the birth dates of the children of John³ and Rebecca. It is probable that all of the homes and the records at Moshasuck were burned during King Philip's War. The records at Providence barely escaped. The Friends' records at Newport and East Greenwich begin in 1676; those at Union Village, Woonsocket, in 1719.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 6 December, 1905. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Litt.D., in the chair.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the November stated meeting, Hon. George Sheldon, of Deerfield, was introduced as the essayist for this day. He presented to the meeting his son, who read the paper entitled The Conference at Deerfield, August 27-31, 1735. between Gov. Belcher and several tribes of Indians, to relieve the author, his father, on account of the infirmities of advanced age. It was greatly enjoyed and, on motion, it was voted that thanks be tendered Mr. Sheldon for his paper, of large historical importance, with the hope that a copy will be prepared for the Society's archives.

The ordinary routine business followed, at which six new members were elected, and Messrs. Edmund Dana Barbour and George Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., appointed the auditing committee for 1905.

The meeting then dissolved.

3 January, 1906. In the absence of the President, a stated meeting was called to order by the Secretary, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, at the usual place.

Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., was called to the chair.

Mr. Sidney Perley, of Salem, delivered an address on the Study of Local History, at which he enjoys the reputation of an expert. The thanks of the meeting were voted therefor.

The reports of the executive officers were duly made, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Seventeen new resident members and one corresponding member were elected. On motion, it was Voted, That the principal of the Bond fund be fixed at twenty-five hundred (2500) dollars, and that all sums hereinafter received, from sales or otherwise, be credited to General Income.

The chair then declared the meeting dissolved.

10 January. The annual meeting of the Society was held, to-day, agreeable to article 1, Chapter III, of the By-laws. A full report of the proceedings may be found in the supplement to the present number of the REGISTER.

7 February. The President being absent, in Europe, a stated meeting was called to order by the Secretary, this afternoon, at the usual place and time, at which Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.D., of Newton, was invited to serve as Chairman pro tempore. He accepted, and performed the duty.

Charles G. Chick, Esq., of Hyde Park, read a paper on The Boston Port Bill (1774), to which the audience gave good attention and hearty applause. Mr. Chick was thanked, and invited to deposit a copy of his important paper in the archives of the Society.

Confirmation of the minutes of the January meetings, and the reports of the executive officers, were heard, as usual, and filed.

Eleven new members were elected.

A Committee was appointed to submit, at some future meeting, resolutions in memoriam perpetuam of Rev. George Moulton Adams, D.D., Historian of the Society.

P. Hildreth Parker, Esq., of Dracut, presented a copy of graveyard inscriptions in Pelham, N. H., for which thanks were returned.

Amendment to Article 1, Chapter III, of the By-laws was submitted, agreeable to article 1, Chapter XIII, of the By-laws, and a committee appointed to consider and report on the same.

7 March. The President being still absent, a stated meeting, at the usual time and place, was called to order by the Secretary, and Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., was called to the chair.

George Sumner Mann, Esq., of Brookline, read a paper of remarkable interest on The Shays Rebellion, 1786-7, which was very entertaining. The historical character of these events was interspersed with personal details and incidents, gathered in Petersham, Pelham, Athol, Worcester, and Springfield, the theatre of the demonstration. Much personal history of Shays and his principal supporters was given. The thanks of the Society were ardently voted, and request made for a copy of the paper for the Society's archives.

Twelve new members were elected.

The executive reports were presented, read, and filed.

The committee on the proposed amendment to the By-laws submitted a report, which was received, read, and filed. The proposed amendment was made the order of business at the stated meeting in April.

No further business being presented, the meeting dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

WASHINGTON.—The following is a further communication from Rev. R. T. Love, M.A., Rector of Purleigh, Maldon, co. Essex, England, whose interesting letter and an appeal for repairs upon whose church appeared ante, pages 91 and 97.

"The marriage of Lawrence Washington, Rector of Purleigh 1642-43, rests on much more substantial grounds than primâ facie evidence drawn from the resignation of his Fellowship, as mentioned in your issue of January—which Fellowship, I am informed by the Master of Brasenose College, was resigned 30 Nov. 1633. Not only are we now in a position to prove his marriage, which I am inclined to suggest took place the day of the resignation, but also the name of his wife, and his relationship as father of the first Washingtons who settled in Virginia.

First, his marriage is placed beyond doubt by the appearance of Mrs. Washington before Commissioners on Plundered Ministers at Chelmsford, in 1649, when a "fifth part of Purleigh" was "ordered to the plundered Rector's wife." (The word "plundered" (deprived) was first used in England 1642. Skeat's Etymological Dictionary, The Clarendon Press, Oxford.)

Secondly, the Rector of Purleigh's wife is proved to be Mrs. Amphillis Washington, whose children benefited under the will of Mr. Andrew Knowling of Tring, 1649-50. In addition to the circumstantial evidence collected by Mr. Waters, in his "Ancestry of Washington," reprinted from the REGISTER, proof positive may be found in The Nation, Dec. 22, 1892, and Sept. 21, 1899, based on the axiom that 'when one's brother has the same name as one's niece's father, these must be one and the same person.' Mrs. Mewce's brother was Lawrence Washington, Rector of Purleigh; and her niece's father was Lawrence Washington, husband of Amphillis Washington. Therefore, the Rector of Purleigh was the husband of Mrs. Amphillis Washington.

Thirdly, having identified the Rector of Purleigh as the husband of Mrs. Amphillis Washington, the next step is to prove that her children were the Virginian settlers. This proof is obtained by comparison between the wills of these emigrants on the one hand, and the names, on the other hand, of the children of Mrs. Amphillis Washington, as contained in the very important will of Mr. Andrew Knowling. By this comparison it is shown that the three settlers, John, Lawrence, and Martha, had two sisters, Elizabeth and Margaret; and these five names correspond with the names of Mrs. Amphillis Washington's children in the above mentioned will. Moreover, the use of the words 'eldest' and 'other,' in the American wills, when compared with the baptismal entries in England, establishes the order of birth to be the same in both cases. It is therefore absolutely certain that John, the eldest of these settlers, found in Virginia 1659, and whose will is authenticated by endorsement in the handwriting of Gen. George Washington, was the eldest son of Mrs. Amphillis Washington and of her husband, the Rector of Purleigh.

The details of this evidence have been put at length in a 'Summary of Evidence,' which the present Rector has drawn up from the writings on this subject; and which he proposes to put into print, should he find any encouragement on the part of Americans."

Few persons of the present day are aware how general was piracy two centuries ago. The following extract from "The Boston News-Letter," August 21, 1721, shows that in early times pirate ships, carrying many guns and heavily manned, sailed the high seas and pursued their unlawful calling. The "Mary" was taken somewhere in the Sargasso Sea, off the coast of Africa.

SAMUEL A. GREEN.

"These are to Certifie all Persons concerned that on the 7th Day of May last, William Russel Master of the Ship Mary of Charlestown, in his Voyage from Madera to Surranam in the Lat. 22 Deg. and 27 N. and Long. 25 and 27 W. from London was taken by a Pirate Ship upwards of 50 Guns, Commanded by Capt. Roberts, about 300 Men, who robb'd him of part of his Cargo, and Forced away from him two of his Men, against his and their own consent, viz. Thomas Russel born in Lexintown near Charlestown and the other Thomas Winchol born in Portsmouth, New-Hampshire in New England."

BRAINTREE MARRIAGES.—In the article on page 43 of the last issue of the REGISTER, in the marriage under the date of "1760, Apr. 24," the name of the man was Caleb Bailey, not Bagley. (See Deane's Scituate, page 214.)

ELLA T. BATES.

EDGARTOWN DEATHS.—In the REGISTER, vol. 59, page 303, in the article entitled "Deaths at Edgartown," it is stated (page 307) that the Beulah Coffin who died Jan. 19, 1812, age 86, was the daughter of Enoch and Jane (Claghorn) (Whellen) Coffin. The contributor has made a mistake, as the Beulah, daughter of above, was born Oct. 10, 1748, married, Jan. 5, 1769, Jonathan Pease, and died Jan. 29, 1773. The Beulah who died Jan. 19, 1812, was the daughter of Enoch and Beulah (Eddy) Coffin.

Philadelphia, Penn.

COTTON.—The daughters Joanna (born Mar. 5, 1690), Mary (born Apr. 10, 1692), and Elizabeth (born Sept. 2, 1694), given in the REGISTER, vol. 8, page 43, as the children of Rev. Caleb Cushing, were the children of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth (Cotton) Alling, by her first husband, Rev. James Alling of Salisbury, Mass.

LAWRENCE B. CUSHING.

Newburyport, Mass.

PROCTOR.—Benjamin³ Proctor (John², John¹), born June 10, 1659, at Ipswich (see ante, vol. II., page 410), married Mary, daughter of William and Sarah (Smith) Buckley of Ipswich and Salem Village, widow of Sylvester Witheridge, and granddaughter of Thomas Smith of Ipswich, as shown by the following records:

Lynn.—Benjamin Proctor to Mary Buckley married Dec. 18, 1694. (Essex County Records.)

Benjamin Proctor and Mary Witheridge married Dec. 18, 1694. Children: Mary, born Oct. 12, 1695: Priscilla, born Dec. 11, 1699: Sarah, born Jan. 2, 1701-2. (Salem Town Records.)

Admitted to the First Church of Salem, June 5, 1709, Prudence Witheridge, dau' of Mary, w' of Benj' Proctor. (Records of First Church, Salem.)

Silvester Whitterage and Mary Buckley married Nov. 17, 1684. (Essex Co. Records.)

Children of Silvester Witheridge and Mary his wife: Prudence, born Oct. 8, 1686; Silvester, born March 17, 1688. (Salem Town Records.)

Administration on the estate of Benjamin Proctor of Salem granted to his widow Mary, June 27, 1717. (Essex Co. Probate, vol. 812, page 70.)

Mary Proctor of Salem, widow, formerly Mary Buckley, daughter of William Buckley formerly of Ipswich, but more lately of Salem, deceased, and Sarah his wife, who was one of the daughters of Mr. Thomas Smith of Ipswich, deceased, conveyed to John Higginson of Salem all interest in the estate of her grandfather Thomas Smith and of her father William Buckley, May 27, 1727. (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 57, page 51.)

"Jan. 2, 1702. Old William Buckley dyed this evening. He was about 80 years old." (Diary of Rev. Joseph Green of Salem Village.)

Petition of William Buckley to the General Court, Sept. 13, 1710, "in y^e name of our family." "My Honoured Mother Sarah Buckley and my sister Mary Witherige were both in prison from May until January following" [1692-1693].

Thorndike Proctor of Salem formerly purchased a certain farm in Salem known as the Downing Farm, and afterwards sold a part to his brother Benjamin Proctor, since deceased, and John Proctor, only son and heir of said Benjamin, May 14, 1726. (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 53, page 40.)

Cambridge, Mass.

VIRGINIA HALL.

BURRELL.—In the REGISTER, vol. 59, page 352, there is a mistake in the line of descent of Sergt. John Burrell, who was a great-grandson, not grandson, of John Burrell the emigrant. The line is as follows:

John¹ Burrell arrived in Weymouth, Mass., in 1639; married Rebekah ———, and had these three (if not more) children: John,¹ b. 1658, d. 1731; Thomas, b. 1659; Ephraim, b. 1664.

John² Burrell (John¹) married, June 26, 1688, Mercy³ Alden (Joseph,³ John¹ of the "Mayflower"), and had: Elizabeth,³ b. 1689; Thomas, b. 1692; Capt. John, b. 1694.

Capt. John³ Burrell (John,² John¹), who moved to Abington in 1741, married, Jan. 8, 1717, Mary⁴ Humphrey (Joseph,³ Thomas,³ John¹) of Hingham, and had: Sergt. John⁴ b. Sept. 24, 1719; Joseph; Abraham, b. 1721; Humphrie, b. 1723, d. at Lake George, 1756; Thomas; Mary.

Sergt. John⁴ Burrell (John,³ John,² John¹) married Ann⁴ Vinton (Thomas,³ John,³ John¹), and had: Mary, b. Feb. 22, 1741; Ann, b. Mar. 17, 1743; Elizabeth, b. Aug. 7, 1745; Miriam, b. Mar. 17, 1749; John, b. Oct. 5, 1752; Bela, b. May 20, 1756; Nathaniel, b. May 17, 1761; Ziba, b. Mar. 12, 1765.

Cambridge, Mass.

WM. LINCOLN PALMER.

STIMPSON.—In the REGISTER, vol. 59, page 368, it is stated that [19] John⁵ Stimpson (John,⁴ John,³ Andrew,² Andrew¹) married Mary, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Kemball) Harrington, but this is an error, for in 1784 she was the wife of David Whitney, as shown in the will of Nathaniel Harrington, in Middlesex Co. Probate, file 7316. The oldest child of Daniel Whitney was named Mary Kimball.

John⁵ Stimpson probably married Mary, daughter of Edward and Anna (Bullard) Harrington of Watertown, who, according to Bond, was born Aug. 23, 1752, for in the division of Edward Harrington's estate, in 1794, Middlesex Co. Probate, file 7280, one share was allotted to "the heirs of Mary Stimpson, deceased."

ARTHUR M. JONES.

QUERIES.

A GENEALOGICAL PUZZLE.—Judge Sewall, in his Diary, vol. 1, p. 215, under date, May 30, 1688, says: "Mr. Joseph Eliot here, says the two days where-in he buried his Wife and Son, were the best that ever he had in the world." The editors, in a foot-note, facetiously add, "The kindest construction should be put upon this remark of the bereaved husband and father."

The context shows that Mr. Joseph Eliot was the Rev. Joseph Eliot, son of the "Apostle," who was the minister at Guilford, Conn. But there are confusing facts. He had two wives. The first, Sarah Brenton, died prior to 1685, leaving four daughters. The second wife, Mary Wyllys, died in 1729, thirty-five years after the death of her husband. There were two sons, born to this second marriage, who lived many years after the death of their father.

Could the wellnigh infallible Judge have made a mistake in attributing this remark to the son Joseph, instead of his father, the "Apostle," whose wife,

"Hanna Mumford," died March 22, 1687, and whose son Benjamin died Oct. 15, 1687? The words, "the two days wherein," stand in the way of this explanation, but words spoken, and written subsequently, may not be correctly reported. It would be interesting to have some expert straighten this matter.
48 W. 36th St., New York, N. Y. ELLSWORTH ELIOT.

ADDIS, BEEBE, HAWKE.—I should like the dates of birth, marriages, and death of Millicent, daughter of William Addis, or Addes, of Gloucester, Mass., 1642. She married first, William Southmald, second, William Ash, and third, Thomas Beebe, by which last husband she had a daughter Hannah, who married, in New London, Conn., 16 Jan., 1688-9, John Hawke. Has anybody discovered the maiden name of Millicent's mother? And was John Hawke of Mayflower descent?
550 Park Ave., New York City. (Miss) LUCY D. AKERLY.

University of Chicago Library, Chicago, Ill. C. A. TORREY.

DAVIS.—Where can I find references to Peter Davis and his family, Quakers, who went from Boston to Rhode Island? Some of them were preachers of that faith.

STONE.—Aaron Strong, Jr., born Nov., 1768, married, 25 Jan., 1813, as his second wife, Polly, of Gullford, Conn., born 23 Dec., 1771, died May, 1830, without issue, daughter of Daniel and Sarah (King) Stone of South Hampton. Information is wanted as to the ancestry and rest of the family of Daniel Stone.

FOSTER.—I am trying to indentify Abigail ———, who married, about 1692, Jonathan³ Foster (Thomas,² Thomas¹). Jonathan was born probably in Dunstable, Sept. 21, 1671, and died Jan. 5, 1755. He first appears in Billerica, and later was a resident of Stow and Chelmsford. Abigail is said to have died in Chelmsford, July 9, 1761. Some think she was a child of Arthur² Warren (Arthur¹), who was born in 1639, married Abigail Rogers of Billerica, date unknown, and died Apr. 5, 1671. His widow died June 15, 1671.

MALTBY.—In the REGISTER, vol. 59, page 255, it is stated that John³ Kirkham (Samuel,² Thomas¹) married Esther, daughter of David Maltby of Northford. This I believe to be an error, and that she was the daughter of Daniel Maltby, Jr., who married, in 1736, Mary Harrison. Daniel and Mary had a daughter Esther, born Aug. 30, 1739. Can anybody give me definite information on this point?

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

ENGLISH RESEARCH.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1833 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the REGISTER, giving clues which lead to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the REGISTER, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

WOOD GENEALOGY.—Clay W. Holmes, Elmira, N. Y., compiler of the genealogy of the Descendants of William Wood of Concord, Mass., 1638, published in 1900, 8vo, pp. 365, will be glad to present to any public library or historical society making a specialty of genealogical publications, which is not already supplied with the book, a complimentary copy if the transportation charges will be paid.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. When there are more than one Christian name, they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Lee.—Joseph L. Edmiston, 1129 W. 17th St., Los Angeles, Cal., is collecting material for a genealogical record of the descendants of Dea. Benjamin Lee of Manchester, Mass., who died in 1757, and desires correspondence with representatives of the various branches.

Pike.—A collection of notes from English archives, relating to the Pike family, is now being formed, with the assistance of an experienced and reliable record-searcher in London, England. The latter has already supplied several interesting notes on this subject. The material consists of unpublished data obtained from the Public Record Office, British Museum, etc. These original gleanings will be of considerable interest to many other families, and will probably be published. For particulars, address Eugene F. McPike, 1 Park Row, Chicago, Ill.

Talmage, or Talmadge.—Chas. M. Talmadge, Newport, Wash., would like to hear from anyone interested in the history or genealogy of this family, especially that branch in Connecticut.

Woodcock.—Jno. L. Woodcock, 1218 Washington Boulevard, Chicago, Ill., has in preparation a genealogy of the Woodcock family in America, and would be pleased to correspond with any persons interested.

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail.]

Data concerning the Families of Bancroft, Bradstreet, Browne, Dudley, Emerson, Gamble, Goodridge, Gould, Hartshorne, Hobson, Kemp, Kendall, Metcalf, Nichols, Parker, Poole, Sawtell, Wainwright, Woodman, etc., etc., in England and America, 1277 to 1906, A. D. Compiled from Official Sources by THOMAS GAMBLE, Jr., Savannah, Ga. Printed for the Subscribers. [Savannah.] 1906. Square 4to. pp. viii+248. Ill. Price $5.00.

The compiler in his introduction says that "it has not been the endeavor to embrace a wide scope, but rather to prepare concise biographical and genealogical data, that, while it might be of some broader interest, would be more particularly valuable to a few who trace their ancestry to the fountain sources of American life mentioned herein." There are two genealogical charts, and at the end of the volume are blank leaves for additional records. The book is indexed, is bound in flexible covers, and has many illustrations.

Caleb Benton and Sarah Bishop. Their Ancestors and Their Descendants. By CHARLES E. BENTON. Press of The A. V. Haight Co., Poughkeepsie, New York. 1906. 4to. pp. 92. Ill. Price $2.00 net. Apply to Publishers.

Caleb Benton was a descendant from Edward Benton who died at Guilford, Conn., in 1680, and Sarah Bishop is traced to John Bishop who died in the same place, in 1660. A division is made between the historical and genealogical materials of this work, which will be found of great convenience to those particularly interested in the latter, and there is a tabular pedigree at the end of the book. The book is printed on heavy paper, substantially bound, and provided with three indexes.

The Genealogy of the Cushing Family, an Account of the Ancestors and Descendants of Matthew Cushing, who came to America in 1638. By JAMES S. CUSHING. Montreal: The Perrault Printing Co. 1905. 12mo. pp. 598+lxix. Ill.

The first edition of this work was published in 1877 by Lemuel Cushing. The Matthew Cushing of the title-page came to Hingham, Mass., in 1688, and it is said that all the Cushings in the United States and Canada are his descendants, with the exception of a few who came to America in the nineteenth century. Although much that is new respecting these descendants has been collected in this edition, it is not pretended that this is a complete genealogy. Nevertheless, a vast amount of information respecting the family is here presented, the arrangements of the records being on the REGISTER plan. Biographical notices are numerous, and to be expected in the history of a family which has "probably furnished more judges for our Probate, Municipal, and Supreme Courts than any other." The volume is fully indexed, its print is clear, and the binding cloth.

Derby Genealogy. Being a Record of the Descendants of Thomas Derby of Stow, Massachusetts. By VIOLA A. DERBY BROMLEY. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. New York. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 141. Ill.

The system of page reference employed in this genealogy greatly facilitates the tracing of pedigrees. The "Owner's Lineage" at the end of the volume, comprising a couple of pages of genealogical blanks, is also a useful feature. The genealogy is brought down to the eighth generation, and is well indexed. The book is printed on heavy paper with wide margins, and the binding is substantial.

Besides the immigrants mentioned on the title-page, this work contains a notice of Matthew Lyon who settled in Vermont, and who has been called "the American Pym." The investigations in England have not only confirmed what had already been asserted but have supplied new information respecting the Lyon origins. The American portion of the genealogy has for its principal object the sifting of the materials regarding the first generations, the definite separation of the historic from the traditional. The history of this family necessarily contains biographies of importance, as so many of the name have acquired distinction. The book is well indexed, is printed on unbleached paper, and bound in cloth. The illustrations are chiefly portraits.

Annals of the Sinnott, Rogers, Coffin, Corlies, Reeves, Bodine and Allied Families. By MARY ELIZABETH SINNOTT. Edited by JOSIAH GRANVILLE LEACH, LL.B. Printed for private circulation by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia. MDCCCCV. 4to. pp. 254. Ill. Charts. Facsimiles.

For centuries the Sinnotts have held a prominent position in County Wexford, Ireland, and various branches of the family are shown on charts, in addition to the immediate line which came to America in 1854.

The Annals of the Allied Families are a scholarly compilation of reliable data on the early lines of the Rogers, Coffin, Hammond, Winslow, Reeves, Jess, Lippincott, Bodine, Corlies, Wing, West and Mayhew families. Preceding each of these accounts is a chart showing the connection with the Sinnott family. We notice the usual careful attention to detail which is characteristic of Mr. Leach's editorial work. The illustrations are of unusual beauty, and facsimiles of documents and signatures, with many portraits and coats-of arms, are scattered through the book, which is a fine specimen of the printer's art. There is an excellent index.

A Genealogy of the Southworths (Southards), Descendants of Constant Southworth. With a Sketch of the Family in England. By SAMUEL G. WEBBER, A.B., M.D. (Harvard). The Fort Hill Press, Samuel Usher, 175 to 184 High St., Boston, Mass. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 487. Ill.

The record of the descendants of the sons of Constant Southworth—Edward, Nathaniel and William—occupies the body of this work; in the two appendices are found descendants of John Southard of Boothbay, Me., and of Isaac Southworth, of Sharon, Ct. The chapter on the Southworths in England, which is of considerable length, ascribes the origin of the family to Gilbert de Croft who, in consequence of a grant of land in Southworth, assumed that name. There are two extensive indexes. Paper, print and illustrations are excellent. An error occurs in the list of contents, the first chapter having a wrong title assigned to it.

The Diary of William Bentley, D.D., Pastor of the East Church, Salem, Massachusetts. Volume I. April, 1784—December, 1792. Salem, Mass.: The Essex Institute. 1905. 8vo. pp. xlii+456. Ill. Price $3.50 postpaid. Address: The Essex Institute, Salem, Mass.

Dr. Bentley was born in Boston in 1759, and was pastor of the East Church in Salem from 1783 to 1819, the year of his death. He was remarkable as a student and linguist, and displayed an original and independent mind. The diary of such a person must necessarily be of exceeding interest as a portrayal of the social, political, and religious aspects of the community in which he lived, and time which it represents, from the close of the Revolution to 1819. An introduction to the diary consists of a "Biographical Sketch," an "Address on Dr. Bentley," "Bibliography," and an "Account of the East Meeting-House." The footnotes are principally those of Mr. Edward Stanley Waters, a former resident of the East Parish.

Memoir of Col. Henry Lee. With Selections from His Writings and Speeches. Prepared by JOHN T. MORSE, JR. Boston: Little, Brown & Company. 1905. 8vo. pp. viii+441. Ill.

The index of this fine volume is sufficient to show that it is a work of great interest, not only as to what relates to Mr. Lee, but also as to the many whose obituaries by him are included in the "Selections from his Writings." His own life is amply treated under the heads of "Youth," "Matters Theatrical" (referring to his passion for the amateur drama), "Civil War," "Public Affairs," "Harvard University," "Traits," "Library Labors," "Religion." Besides twenty-five obituaries of persons of eminence, the "Selections" contain "Personal Reminiscences of Gov. Andrew," "Broad Street Riot," "The Shaw Memorial," and other articles. The book is fascinating reading, and is a splendid tribute to the man. Paper, type, illustrations, and binding are of the best.

Tryphena Ely White's Journal. Being a Record, written one hundred years ago, of the Daily Life of a Young Lady of Puritan Heritage. 1805-1905. Published by her only remaining granddaughter, FANNY KELLOGG. [1904. Grafton Press. New York City.] 12mo. pp. 46. Ill.

In the introduction it is stated that Tryphena Ely White "received her birth" in West Springfield, Mass., March 25, 1784. It was in the town of Camillus, N. Y., however, that the journal was written, Miss White's father having settled there late in life. In 1813 she married Frederick Kellogg, and died in 1816. The journal, which is of exceeding simplicity, relates to the most commonplace incidents of everyday life. A few other brief documents are included in the volume.

Half Century at the Bay. 1636-1686; Heredity and Early Environment of John Williams, "The Redeemed Captive." By GEORGE SHELDON. W. B. Clarke Co., 26 and 28 Tremont St., Boston. 1905. 12mo. pp. 149+10.

This deeply interesting volume portrays life in Roxbury, Mass., and its neighborhood under Puritan domination with truth and vividness. The biography of Williams up to the time he settled in Deerfield is the slender thread which winds in and out among baptisms, funerals, executions, fasts, wars, lectures, sports, collegiate activities, and a multitude of other things. The style of the book is unpretentious and clear, and the opinions expressed seem to be void of prejudice.

Mental and Moral Heredity in Royalty. A Statistical Study in History and Psychology. By FREDERICK ADAMS WOODS, M.D. With one hundred and four portraits. New York: Henry Holt & Co. 1906. 8vo. viii.+312. Price $3.00 net, postage extra.

This book is designed primarily to prove the predominating influence of heredity in the formation of traits of character. Records relating to royal families, as contained in dictionaries, histories, and court memoirs, are here brought together, averaged, and arranged according to scientific formulæ. Tables and charts show the proportionate influence which each ancestor exerts on descendants, according to his remoteness. The origin and descent of exceptional ability, insanity, extraordinary perversities, degenerations, or even altruistic traits, are shown on various charts and discussed at length. Genealogists interested in royal families will find many pedigrees, compiled completely (including all maternal branches), not to be found in any other book. ***

A History of the United States and Its People. From their earliest records to the present time. By ELROY MCKENDREE AVERY. In Fifteen Volumes. Volume II. Cleveland. The Burrows Brothers Company. MCMV. 4to. pp. xxxvi. +458. Ill. Maps. Facsimiles.

An unusual opportunity is here afforded to study the unity of our colonial history, and contrast its diversified development from Massachusetts to Virginia, during the formative period from 1600 to 1660. New Netherlands and New France are also included, and maps, contemporaneous and otherwise, are lavishly used, as well as innumerable illustrations, to give a clear-cut, accurate and readable account of the United States during those years. The manner of placing dates and leading topics in the broad margins is admirable, and the biographical appendix will be found useful in making further investigations. The frontispiece of this volume is a portrait of John Winthrop, in color, and the other numerous portraits and illustrations are made from copper etchings. Owing to the increase of material, the work is extended to fifteen volumes, instead of twelve, without additional cost to the original subscribers. A. L. W.

This is followed by W. K. Watkins's "Naming of Brookline," and other papers, the book concluding with an account of the Bicentennial. The illustrations are numerous and very fine, including sixty portraits, accompanied by biographical notes.

Mr. Hosmer in his Introduction says that the sources of his compilation are oral. While the work as a whole is excellent, the third chapter, which occupies the greater part of the book, is of the most general interest on account of the genealogical information it contains. The volume is indexed, and is well printed and bound. The map shows the location of the first settlers.

History of Newburyport, Mass. 1764-1905. By JOHN J. CURRIER. With Maps and Illustrations. Newburyport, Mass. Published by the Author. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 766.

In the first five chapters the events constituting the history of the town are related in order. Then follows an account of the various activities of the community—ecclesiastical, educational, literary and military—together with notices of enterprises not comprised under these heads. In the historical narrations, particular attention has been paid to the part played by the merchants of Newburyport in supplying clothing and military stores to the patriot army in the Revolution, and in fitting out privateers. As to the later history of the town, space did not permit an adequate treatment, on which account biographical sketches have been omitted. The appendix contains lists of collectors of the port, representatives, town and city clerks, and treasurers. The index occupies more than seventy pages. The quality of the paper used does not comport with the general excellence of the work.

The first part of this series was noticed in the REGISTER for April, 1902. In the introduction to that publication, the compiler says that her object is “to repeople, with Wykes and their successors, some of the old houses . . . that awakened in her especial interest,” adding that she “had not the heart to throw overboard such bits of information concerning other inhabitants as happened to be caught in its meshes.” It is evident that the same aim has been followed in the parts of the work which have since appeared, the Wykes by no means receiving exclusive attention.

Quakerism and Politics. Essays. By ISAAC SHARPLESS, LL.D. President of Haverford College. Phila.: Ferris & Leach, 29 South Seventh St. 1905. 12mo. pp. 220.

The purpose for which this book was written has been admirably accomplished. Its design is to show that the beneficent results of Quaker policy were the inevitable consequences of the application of uncompromising moral principle in the transactions of government. From the first chapter, "A government of Idealists," to the last, "The Basis of Quaker Morality," this truth is vividly illustrated. In the two concluding chapters, the distinctly Quaker sentiments of the author are most plainly, and by no means offensively, obvious. The whole work, which chiefly relates to the early history of Pennsylvania, shows unmistakably that it is the production of a Friend.

In a "Note," he says: "It has been thought expedient in this third edition to deal fully with the subject of Prescription, of late so persistently put forward as a justification for the use of bogus Coats-of-Arms, and to add an Appendix of statutes and modern cases."

DEATHS.

WILLIAM PRINEAS UPHAM, who died in Newtonville, Nov. 23, 1905, was one of the best-known antiquarians in New England. He was the son of Rev. Charles W. Upham of Salem, author of the "History of the Salem Witchcraft," and his mother was a sister of Oliver Wendell Holmes. Mr. Upham was a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1856, and was a life member of the American Historical Association, and of the Massachusetts Historical Society. For many years he was engaged in restoring, classifying and indexing the manuscript records of Essex County and of Suffolk County, through which work, together with his own independent researches, he became an authority on the early history of these counties. He was the author of numerous pamphlets on antiquarian subjects, and at the time of his death had nearly completed, in collaboration with Mr. John Noble, clerk of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, an edition of "Records of the Court of Assistants of Massachusetts Bay," never before published. His exhaustive knowledge of the systems of shorthand in use during the Colonial period enabled him to decipher manuscripts that must otherwise remained unintelligible, a notable achievement being his recent recovery of the phonetic alphabet employed by Jonathan Edwards. He invented a "rational" system of shorthand, which is extensively used in England. He was recently elected to membership in the Harvard Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society, in recognition of his antiquarian scholarship. Mr. Upham was a member of the Essex bar. He leaves a widow and two daughters.—Boston Transcript.

ROBERT CHARLES WINTHROP, JR., A.M.

By HENRY HERBERT EDSS, Esq.

ROBERT CHARLES WINTHROP, the younger of that name, was born in his father's house, No. 7 Tremont Place, Boston, on the 7th of December, 1834, the elder son of Robert Charles and Eliza Cabot (Blanchard) Winthrop. Descended from forebears who for many generations had occupied a distinguished place in society and in all branches of the public service, he never forgot the admonition of Young that—

“They that on glorious ancestors enlarge
Produce their debt, instead of their discharge.”

Neither should his biographer fail to remember that “no man is wholly accounted for, or known as well as he can be, who is studied apart from the genealogical tree on which he grew.”

The line of Mr. Winthrop's descent from ADAM¹ WINTHROP, of Lavenham, in the county of Suffolk, England, who was living in 1498, was through ADAM² (1498-1562), of Groton Manor, Suffolk, Master of the Clothworkers Company of London; ADAM³ (1548-1623), of Groton Manor, a lawyer and county magistrate; JOHN⁴ (1587-1649), of Groton Manor, afterward Governor of the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, and the founder of Boston in New England; JOHN, Jr.⁵ (1605-1676), of Groton Manor, afterward of Ipswich, Massachusetts, and New London, Connecticut, Fellow of the Royal Society of London, and Governor of the Colony of Connecticut; WAIT STILL⁶ (1642-1717), of Boston, Commissioner of the United Colonies of New England, Major-General of the Colony, and Executive Councillor and Chief-Justice of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay; JOHN⁷ (1681-1747), of Boston, afterward of New London, Connecticut, a graduate of Harvard College in the Class of 1700, Fellow of the Royal Society, and the plaintiff in the cause célèbre of Winthrop v. Lechmere, which was an appeal to the Privy Council from the decision of the Connecticut Courts involving the English law of primogeniture; JOHN STILL⁸ (1720-1776), of Boston, afterward of New London, Connecticut, a graduate of Yale College in the Class of 1737; THOMAS LINDALL,⁹ LL.D. (1760–1841), of New London and later of Boston, a graduate of Harvard in the Class of 1780, and an Overseer of the College (1828–1841), member of the American Philosophical Society, Treasurer of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, President of the Massachusetts Historical Society and of the American Antiquarian Society, Fellow of the Royal Society of Northern Antiquaries and of other learned bodies in Europe, and from 1826 till 1833 Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts; and ROBERT CHARLES,¹⁰ LL.D. (1809–1894), of Boston, a graduate of Harvard in the Class of 1828, President of the Alumni Association, and an Overseer of the College (1852–1856), in the Corporation of which he had twice refused a seat, member of the American Philosophical Society, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Society of Antiquaries of London, and other learned societies abroad, President of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives and of the Thirtieth Congress, and a Senator of the United States from Massachusetts, succeeding Daniel Webster.

Mr. Winthrop's mother was born in Boston on the 27th of May, 1809. She was the daughter of Francis Blanchard, Esq., of Wenham, Massachusetts, and later of Boston, a graduate of Harvard in the remarkable Class of 1802, who studied law with Judge Charles Jackson and became his law partner before his appointment to the Bench of the Supreme Judicial Court in 1813, the year in which Mr. Blanchard died on the 26th of June. On the 29th of August, 1808, he had married his second cousin, Mary Ann Cabot, daughter of Francis and Ann (Clarke) Cabot and widow of Nathaniel Cabot Lee of Salem, who died on the 25th of July, 1809, soon after the birth of her daughter, who, in November, 1814, was taken into the family of her father's uncle, Samuel Pickering Gardner, where she remained until her marriage to Robert Charles Winthrop on the 12th of March, 1832. She died on the 14th of June, 1842, leaving three children, of whom the eldest is the subject of this notice.

More might be said of those distinguished ancestors of Mr. Winthrop who bore the names of Dudley, Bowdoin, and Temple, to name no others, but enough has already been told to show the environment in which he was born and bred and to account for his inheritance of abilities of a high order.

Owing to the early death of his mother and the absence of his father in Washington in the public service, much of Mr. Winthrop's boyhood was spent with his kinsfolk in Salem and elsewhere. One of his cousins recently recalled the picture of young Winthrop lying upon the floor of his uncle's library devouring Scott's novels and other of the best English literature of that day, utterly oblivious of all that was passing around him.

Mr. Winthrop received his early education in the private school of Mr. John Adam Weisse,* in Roxbury, in whose establishment he was a boarding pupil from 1840 to 1847, when he went abroad with his father. Of this, their first, visit to Europe, the son thus speaks in his Memoir of his father :

“ He had friends and relatives both in England and France, and he took with him flattering letters of introduction from Mr. Webster and Mr. Everett, which made his first experience of London society an exceptionally agreeable one. In a fragment of autobiography privately printed by him not long before his death and now to be found in many public libraries, he gave some account of his intercourse with European celebrities at different periods, and it need only be mentioned here that among the persons of distinction of whom he was privileged to see a good deal in 1847 were the Duke of Wellington, Sir Robert Peel, the poet Rogers, the historians Thiers, Mignet, Milman, Thirlwall and Hallam, Archbishop Whately, Bishops Wilberforce and Blomfield, Lord Lansdowne (then President of the Council), Lords Aberdeen and Stanley (both afterward prime ministers), Prince Louis Napoleon (then in exile in London), and King Louis Philippe, who twice received Mr. Winthrop informally at Neuilly” (page 64).

Returning home in the autumn of 1847 from an experience which cannot have failed to make a lasting impression upon his youthful mind, young Winthrop, then well advanced in his studies, entered the Boston Public Latin School, where his father and grandfather had been prepared for college, as well as seven other members of his family, Professor John Winthrop, of the Class of 1721, who graduated at Harvard College in 1732, having been the first. In 1848 he left the School, where the course was then five years, and entered Phillips Academy, Andover, where he remained till 1850, when he entered Harvard, from which he graduated in 1854.

Of Mr. Winthrop's college life, the following extracts from letters of a few of his classmates and contemporaries not classmates will furnish an interesting glimpse :

I.

For more than two years we were at the same club table at Mrs. Guthrie's in Church Street, and we were in the Hasty Pudding and Porcellian Clubs together. . . . Winthrop's rooms were at Mrs. Guthrie's, and Payson Perrin Ellis, who had rooms in the same house, Charles Thorndike, Theodore Lyman and I were quite intimate with him. His other friends at that time, who continued to appreciate him while they lived, were John Quincy Adams, Theodore Chase, George B. Chase, Langdon Erving, William Frick, Jr., John C. Bancroft, William S. Haseltine, James Savage, Charles Russell Lowell, William Thorndike, and S. Parkman Blake; and Charles Francis Adams, Dr. Hall Curtis, George Putnam, Robert H. Renshaw, Dr. B. Joy Jeffries, and Horace H. Furness are among the living who cared for him.

* A sketch of Mr. Weisse is in Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography (1889), vi., 423. His school in Roxbury was on the northwesterly side of Hawthorne Street, on an estate subsequently owned by Roland Worthington. John Chandler Bancroft (H. C. 1854) and the Rev. Dr. Alfred Porter Putnam (B. U. 1848) were also pupils of Mr. Weisse between 1840 and 1847. Nicholas Weisse, Sr., of Roxbury was his brother. Mr. Weisse married, 27 June, 1841, Jane Lee, daughter of William Hunt, of Watertown, Mass., and his wife Jane, daughter of George and Mary (Faneuil) Bethune, of Boston. Mrs. Weisse compiled: Records, Genealogical Charts, and Traditions of the Families of Bethune and Faneuil, New York, 1866; Records and Traditions of the Families of Hunt and Weisse, New York, 1866; and A History of the Bethune Family, Together with a Sketch of the Faneuil Family, New York, 1884.

Winthrop was popular with his class; his abilities were recognized and he was made Class Orator. He had plenty of brains, but was more disposed to use them in reading than in studying what did not interest him. . . . With more work [he] could have been celebrated as a lawyer or politician in the best sense, but he preferred to read, work in his library or travel and lead the life of a cultivated gentleman. He was fond of detail, accurate and methodical, and would have made a good business man had he been obliged to turn his attention in that direction. He was indolent about exercise. With a large frame he might, as his classmate Dr. Windship, the well known strong man, told him, have become an athlete, though the fashion did not then point in that direction for fame. . . . He was most loyal to his old friends and took a good deal of pains to see them.

II.

In college he made no mark as a student, although always a reader, and endowed with an extraordinary memory for what he read. Here, as in after life, his bookish interests were mainly in history, especially American history. He was, however, indifferent to the way in which history, and indeed most other things, were then taught at Harvard; and when called up at recitation he was apt to say nothing or to say "not prepared." Once, however, the story goes, after a long series of these "not prepareds" he was called up for examination in the presence of the Visiting Committee, and at once gave a fluent talk upon the point in question for almost five minutes, and until told he need go no further.

His main distinction in the Class lay in his inherited faculty as a presiding officer. He was at the head of the two great clubs, the Porcellian and the Hasty Pudding,* and was usually selected to preside at any Class election or meeting. He belonged to neither of the Greek letter societies, and in their contests in the Hasty Pudding Club he, as President, sometimes maintained the balance of power in a salutary, if, perhaps, somewhat despotic, way.

III.

In college Winthrop lived rather apart. He appeared to wholly neglect his studies, and except by a small circle of intimates he was very little known. In the last two years of his college course, however, he acquired a reputation as an admirable presiding officer and amateur actor in the Hasty Pudding Club, and he was always selected, as a matter of course, to preside at all festivities of the Class, both before and after graduation. He was outside of the bitter hostilities of the Class factions and was chosen Class Orator by a compromise as one whom neither faction objected to. . . . On our twenty-fifth anniversary [24 June, 1879] he gave [at Young's] a dinner to the Class at which he presided with the same felicity and charm which had characterized him in college days.

* Mr. Winthrop was also a member of the Institute of 1770.

IV.

He was certainly a man of cultivation and literary distinction. . . . I remember thinking his oration witty, able, and worthy of his reputation.

V.

He was popular with his Class but not with the Faculty. . . . Katharine Winthrop whom he defended was my ancestor, and he sent me his "Defence" of her. The spirit is the same he had in college days versus the Faculty.

VI.

His Oration was rather more jocular and sarcastic, but at the same time more interesting, than such performances are generally apt to be. On the evening, I think it must have been, of Class Day, there was a supper in Mr. Winthrop's room, the memory of which long lasted in college; it has perhaps not yet entirely faded away.

VII.

It was his utter lack of ambition which caused his failure to take any rank, but all his classmates knew the power and force that was in him, if he could but be induced to put them forth. . . . Although he had no college rank, which is never an ultimate criterion, so deeply had his talents and ability impressed themselves upon his classmates that he was elected, almost without opposition, their Class Orator.

It was through no direct fault of his own that his degree was taken away from him. His offense in the eyes of the Faculty was that he had provided means for an entertainment on the evening of Class Day a little too lavish for the occasion. . . . The supper was given in one of the rooms of Holworthy, on the ground floor, and its distinguishing feature was that it was open to all the world and not restricted to any Class. The Faculty, I believe, looked upon it as an act of bravado on Winthrop's part. No thought of this, I am sure, entered Winthrop's mind. It was merely done in the exuberance of his gratitude to his classmates for having elected him their Orator,—an election which, it was said, keenly gratified his father.

The withholding of Mr. Winthrop's first degree was only temporary, and it was conferred at the next Commencement, in 1855. He received his Master's degree in 1858.

After Mr. Winthrop's death, one of his classmates prepared for the College Class Book a brief sketch from which the following extracts are taken :

Robert C. Winthrop, Jr., would have been more at place in Cambridge after the College became a liberal University.

Placed so that he was free to follow the bent of his mind and the interests surrounding his position, he developed his critical acumen and became a very interested and interesting member of the genealogical and historical societies of his State and City.

Those of his Class who knew him well and saw him often, could not but have been surprised in later years, at the recital of his pleasant Cambridge reminiscences, called up by talk of the past.

If he and the Faculty never exactly agreed, he and his classmates always did, as shown by the prominence they accorded him so readily. The former seemed never quite to understand him, the latter did more loyally.

After graduation, Mr. Winthrop spent a year in the Harvard Law School under Professors Joel Parker and Theophilus Parsons, and then entered the law office of Mr. Leverett Saltonstall. He was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1857, but never practised.

On the 15th of October, 1857, Mr. Winthrop was married, in Boston, to Frances Pickering Adams, youngest daughter of Mr. Benjamin Adams, and immediately sailed for Europe. Till Mrs. Winthrop's death, their time was passed in travelling, the winters being divided between the south of France, Malta, and Italy, while the summers were devoted to Paris, England, and Germany. Mrs. Winthrop died, childless, in Rome on the 23d of April, 1860, at the age of twenty-four. Early in the following summer Mr. Winthrop returned to America, and from that time till 1866 he made frequent short trips to Europe, generally confining his travels to France and England. In the autumn of 1866 he again went abroad, remaining two years, during which time, in addition to long stays in Paris, he visited Spain, Portugal, Russia, and Italy. Besides travel and sightseeing, Mr. Winthrop found time while in Europe for the study of languages and to familiarize himself with European politics of which his knowledge was thorough.

One of his contemporaries writes that—

With the history of modern Europe, especially on its family and genealogical side, he was as familiar as with that of America. The Almanach de Gotha he had at his fingers' end, almost at his tongue's end, and he was apt to reply to any question, "You will find that in the Almanach."

Mr. Winthrop was a good French scholar, and his command of Spanish and Italian was sufficient for all purposes of travel and sightseeing. A connoisseur in art, he knew little of music although he enjoyed the Opera. As a young man and in early middle life he was an inveterate theatre-goer; later, however, he cared only for really fine acting; but whenever there was a good French company in Boston he rarely missed a single performance.

On the 1st of June, 1869, Mr. Winthrop was married, in Boston, to Elizabeth Mason, eldest daughter of Robert Means Mason and granddaughter of the Hon. Jeremiah Mason, the greatest lawyer of New England in his day, who was also a Senator of the United States from New Hampshire. In the following July, Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop went to Europe, where they remained till September, 1871, travelling in Great Britain, France, Italy, and Germany. In the autumn of 1872 they established themselves at No. 37½ Beacon Street, Boston, where they passed their winters till 1884, when they removed to No. 10 Walnut Street. Their summers were passed in various places till 1896, when they occupied the house at Manchester-by-the-Sea which they began to build in 1894.

On returning to Boston, Mr. Winthrop found abundant leisure to pursue his literary and historical studies, and during the next few years he was welcomed to fellowship in some of the leading Clubs and Societies. He had been a member of the Somerset Club since his graduation from Harvard, and now he also found enjoyment in the meetings of the Wednesday Evening Club, organized in Boston as early as 1777, and of the Essex County Club, to which he belonged from its formation. He was also a member of the Bostonian Society.

Mr. Winthrop's connection with this Society dates from the 7th of April, 1886. On its reorganization, in 1889, he was elected a member of the Council for three years, and rendered efficient service. From 1891 till 1902 he served on the Committee on English Research, and he was also a working member of other important committees. When the Consolidated Index of the first fifty volumes of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register was undertaken, he made a generous contribution toward its cost.

It was to the work of the Massachusetts Historical Society, however, that for nearly a quarter of a century Mr. Winthrop devoted his best energies. His connection with that venerable organization is best described in the following words of its President, Mr. Charles Francis Adams :

Mr. Winthrop was chosen a Resident Member May 8, 1879, and during the presidency of his father. . . . For over twenty of the twenty-six years of his connection with the Society, Mr. Winthrop was one of the most active, interested, and influential of its members. More recently, owing to a marked tendency to seclusion,—due, as he claimed, to bodily infirmities and especially to a growing imperfection of hearing,—he had ceased to attend our meetings, the last at which he was present, and in which he took characteristic part, having been that of February, 1901.

His first committee service was in 1880, in connection with the Winthrop Papers, in the preparation and publication of which he took a natural and hereditary pride. The finances of the Society were at that time in a far from flourishing state, and it was Mr. Winthrop who quietly came forward and met the cost, some $1200, of printing the volume (Part IV.) published after he had been made a member of the committee. Subsequently, in 1889, 1892, and 1897, he served on the similar committees for the publication of Parts V. and VI. of the Winthrop Papers and of the volume of Bowdoin and Temple Papers. Between 1886 and 1898 his service on other committees was almost continuous and never merely nominal. He was essentially a working member. . . .

Passing to his communications and share in our proceedings, besides two lesser memoirs, that on R. M. Mason and that on David Sears, he prepared the more elaborate biography of the elder Robert C. Winthrop. This last, let me say in passing, was not only a most creditable piece of literary work, done with much judgment and good taste, but it stands in lasting evidence of that abiding and admiring respect for his father which was in him so marked a characteristic. Besides the above, the list of Mr. Winthrop's miscellaneous formal contributions . . . is too long for detailed enumeration; suffice it to say, it includes many of the most valuable as well as entertaining papers read at our meetings between 1880 and 1900. During those years no one was listened to with more instruction, certainly no one at times did so much to enliven a series of meetings not characterized, as a rule, by sallies of humor or aggressiveness of speech. Nor was his participation confined to formal papers; and the older members of the Society will bear me out in the statement that, when Mr. Winthrop took the floor, whatever degree of listlessness might before have been apparent at once disappeared from our gatherings. All was alertness and attention.

An accomplished host as well as a generous giver, to him we owe that most valuable double autograph of Governors Bradford and Winthrop which ornaments our entrance chamber, one of the most precious of the Society's possessions; and on two occasions at least, the special meeting after the death of Charles Deane and the Annual Meeting of April, 1898, he entertained the Society at his home.

Altogether, I may confidently assert that through a score of years no member of our organization was more constant in attendance, more fruitful in matter, more entertaining as well as instructive in his contributions, more generous in gift and more lavish in hospitality than was that friend and associate of fifty years whose death I to-day announce.*

While Mr. Winthrop's services to the Massachusetts Historical Society, as author and editor, were various and valuable, his great work was his Memoir of his father. This substantial volume of more than three hundred and fifty pages is remarkable for many things besides those mentioned by Mr. Adams: it is just and discriminating; notable for what it omits, both of persons and events; frank to a degree unusual in family biographies; and, when we remember Mr. Winthrop's filial attitude, and that certain political events ended the elder Winthrop's public career, for which he had most unusual qualifications, the reader marvels at the calm self-restraint, the perfect candor and the absence of passion and resentment which characterizes the portrayal of this period of his father's public life. Reverence and affection, the truest sympathy in his father's domestic joys and sorrows, and determination to vindicate his character from the unjust aspersions and misjudgments of political enemies and thoughtless contemporaries are everywhere apparent. One of Mr. Winthrop's early friends writes:

His after life was quiet and domestic. He kept up his historical studies, but wrote much less than his friends had hoped for. His Life of Robert C. Winthrop is, however, everywhere recognized as a model of biographical writing, perfectly impartial, never allowing his filial relation to interfere with a clear statement of all phases of his father's character and career.

A Classmate adds this estimate of the volume:

I think Robert Winthrop's Memoir of his father gives an impression of his own character and abilities. . . . I have long considered it equal to the very best biographies extant,—indeed, I cannot name another that I consider as good,—and it is quite as much a monument to the writer as to the subject. The Defence of Katharine Winthrop I have not seen. . . . Except the exquisite biography of which I have already spoken, he did nothing to my knowledge which disclosed his remarkable gifts.

* 2 Proceedings of the Massachusetts Historical Society, xix. 301, 302.

There was, however, another literary production of Mr. Winthrop, already mentioned, which, although in an entirely different vein from the Memoir of his father, is nevertheless entitled to prominent mention in any biographical notice of its author. One of our younger scholars has pronounced it "the brightest historical gem we have produced." On the cover of this pamphlet is printed—"A Few Words in Defence of an Elderly Lady," while the more formal title-page runs, "A Difference of Opinion concerning the reasons why Katharine Winthrop* refused to marry Chief Justice Sewall." In an Address on the Life and Character of Chief Justice Sewall, delivered in the Old South Meeting House, in October, 1884, Dr. George E. Ellis had styled Madam Winthrop a "worldly minded woman" and had intimated "that she first encouraged an old man to make her an offer of marriage and then refused him from mercenary motives." A few months later, when the Address had been printed and distributed, these passages fell under Mr. Winthrop's notice, aroused his indignation, and called forth his "Defence" of the lady. This paper was read at a meeting of one of the Societies with which he was in fellowship, in February, 1885. Declaring that "sufferance is not the badge of all my tribe," and that "the angelic attribute of Patience has ever been imperfectly developed in my composition," Mr. Winthrop proceeded to deal with his subject in a manner peculiarly his own. As a piece of literature it is brilliant, discovering a sagacious insight into character, a masterly power of statement and of analysis, dry humor, keen wit, an equally keen sense of the ludicrous, generous appreciation of the worth and rights of others, pungent phrases expressive of his indignation at the injustice done to Madam Winthrop, and therewithal a rollicking good-humor which disarms at once the criticism of unprejudiced and disinterested readers. The Publishing Committee of the Society, however, in the exercise of the discretion conferred upon it by the By-Laws, did "not think fit" to include it in the printed Proceedings of the Society. As might have been foreseen, Mr. Winthrop promptly had his "Defence" printed and distributed to his friends and public institutions. The pamphlet is divided into two Chapters. Chapter I., "Wherein the Champion of an Elderly Lady recites her Wrongs," is introduced by the exclamation of Angus—

*"And darest thou then
To beard the lion in his den,
The Douglas in his hall?"*

Chapter II., "Wherein an Elderly Lady's Champion unfolds a

* Katharine Winthrop, born 26 September, 1664, was a daughter of Thomas Brattle, the richest merchant of his day in New England, and widow of John Eyre of Boston at the time of her marriage to Chief-Justice Wait Still Winthrop, 13 November, 1707. She died 2 August, 1725 (Boston Record Commissioners' Reports, ix. 91, xxviii. 17; Sewall's Diary, iii. 363; Paige, History of Cambridge, p. 499).

Penitential Tale," begins with a passage from the lamentations of King David—

"All they that see me . . . they shoot out the lip, they shake the head."

The second chapter is, in a way, autobiographical and sheds light upon Mr. Winthrop's college career and his relations to the Faculty, of which mention has been already made. It also reveals his unwillingness to conceal any shortcomings of his own, knowledge of which may be necessary to a proper understanding of his personal relation to events he is describing,—a delicious frankness, indeed, which it behooves his biographer not to forget. A portion of this chapter, which comprises Mr. Winthrop's Remarks at the April meeting of the same Society, follows :

The explanation I am about to make is, as I said before, a short one ; but in order to make it, I am obliged to go back to a period when some of the younger members of this Society were in their cradles, to a time—two and thirty years ago—when, as a member of the Junior Class of Harvard College, and in compliance with an official summons, I waited upon the President of the University, the lamented Dr. James Walker, to hear from his venerable lips the announcement that the College Faculty, by a unanimous vote, had awarded to me what was then known as a "Public Admonition" for an offence which, after this lapse of time, I blush to describe, and which consisted in the consumption and distribution of peanuts in the College Chapel during a Dudleian Lecture. I could not in conscience deny the charge ; and I was aware that any attempt to do so would be futile, as I had not long before been credibly assured that no less competent an authority than a well-known Professor of Political Economy had personally identified a heap of shells under my seat. I ventured, however, to insinuate some slight palliation of the enormity of which I had been guilty, by pointing out that no inconsiderable portion of that Dudleian Lecture had been devoted to undermining certain religious tenets which I had from childhood been taught to reverence. Dr. Walker rejoined, in accents of unmistakable severity, although, as it seemed to me, there played across his expressive features the shadow—the momentary shadow—of a smile : "Mr. Winthrop, your conduct in this, as in some other matters, has been marked by an incorrigible want of decorum."

Well-nigh a third of a century has passed away since I was privileged to enjoy, on that and at least one other somewhat similar occasion, a few minutes of close personal intercourse with so remarkable a man ; and, viewed in the light of subsequent experiences, those memorable words of his which I have just quoted seem now to me to have been instinct with a sort of prophetic pathos. Again and again have I been made the subject of such misconceptions. Endowed by nature with the keenest appreciation of whatever is grave and solemn and respectable in this world ; animated as I have long been, by an eager desire to concentrate these qualities in an eminent degree in my own person,—I yet seem, somehow or other, only to have succeeded in encountering, from time to time, a perverse disposition to attribute to me an ill-judged levity wholly foreign to my temperament. It has even been broadly hinted to me that in a communication which I felt it my duty to make to this Society at its February meeting, I was considered in some influential quarters to have transcended the very climax of previous indiscretion. And so I stand up here this afternoon, figuratively attired in sackcloth, bowing a gray head in what is intended to be a penitential attitude, indicative of contrition; and as I look around me, while I seem to discern here and there on some expressive features the shadow—the momentary shadow—of a smile, yet in my heart of hearts I realize that if some venerable lips saw fit to speak, they would only, I fear, re-echo the language of James Walker two and thirty years ago, and impute to me “an incorrigible absence of decorum.”

To those gentlemen who may not have been present at the February meeting, I will briefly explain, that I hurried here that afternoon, bursting, I may say, with what I thought a righteous indignation,—fired, as it were, by a pious zeal to vindicate the memory of an aged lady, who would, had she been able, have risen here herself before us, from her grave just below that window, the great-great-grandmother of the retiring President of this Society, whose character had been, as I conceived, somewhat cruelly bespattered in a recent pamphlet from the authoritative pen of our revered Senior Vice-President, soon, as I magnanimously hope, to be hailed by us by an even more august title.

After the meeting was over, it occurred to me to put to one of our leading members, with whom I was in casual conversation, this crucial question: “How much,” I inquired, “of what I said this afternoon would you advise me to send in for publication?” His countenance fell,—he looked at me somewhat askance,—and, taking refuge in periphrastic ambiguity, he replied: “They are likely to be very short of space in the forthcoming volume. Several memoirs have unexpectedly come in, and the Doctor is said to have prepared one more than forty pages long.” Well, I confess, such is the egregious vanity often resulting from literary composition, that for an instant I felt like exclaiming, “How hard—how hard—that this little ewe lamb of mine—this widow’s mite of a communication, so to speak—must be sacrificed because some one has unexpectedly prepared a memoir more than forty pages long!” But in a twinkling my better nature asserted its supremacy, and I said to myself, “Age before merit,—I will go home and shear that little ewe lamb!” And I went home, and I clipped away a little here and I expurgated a little there, making a not inconsiderable reduction; and the next day, with a light heart and an easy conscience, I dispatched what was left to our admirable Recording Secretary, Professor Young. Bitter, bitter deception! About a week after, I got a letter from him, couched in most courteous language,—he could pen no other,—delicately but frankly intimating to me that my little ewe lamb was a source of no small embarrassment to the Publishing Committee. One eminent member of the Society (whom he did not name) was substantially of the opinion that so misbegotten a beast had no proper place in our sheepfold. Another eminent member (whom he equally did not name) considered that, if admitted at all, the process of shearing should be continued even to the bone. A third contented himself with the general suggestion that my method of treating such subjects was hardly in accordance with the dignified traditions of this body. I took all these criticisms in good part. I realized that the gentlemen who made them could have no possible bias, that they were actuated only by a sense of duty or by a desire to promote what they believed to be the best interests of this Society. I deferred to their better judgment. I drew the sacrificial knife. I said, “I have been willing in moderation to shear, but I cannot vivisect this animal; I prefer to cut its throat.” In other words, I withdrew the communication; substituting for it that half-page of innocuous manuscript which you will find printed in the volume of Proceedings this day laid upon the table.*

And here, so far as this Society is concerned, I drop the subject; merely adding that, while I freely consented to make this little sacrifice, while I was even ready to humble myself as I have done here to-day, yet I could not find it in my heart to abandon one who, as I firmly believe, has rested her defence upon my shoulders. I reflected that the pamphlet, the accuracy of passages in which I called in question, has not merely been distributed among the personal friends of its distinguished author, but that it has unquestionably found a place—a place of permanent record—on the shelves of numerous public libraries in New England and elsewhere; and I thought it only fair, only right, that the future student of provincial domestic history should be enabled to discover in some obscure and dusty corner of the same shelves another little pamphlet, issued solely upon my own responsibility, disengaging wholly the dignity of this Society, and which will embody the substance of my remarks upon this subject, accompanied, not impossibly, by some slight annotation. I shall be happy to send a copy of this little pamphlet to any member of the Society who may feel the smallest interest in the matter, and in the mean time I should be really grateful if any one of them—Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Jr.,† of course, necessarily excepted—would supply me with an appropriate classical quotation for my titlepage. Those I have hitherto thought of do not quite satisfy me, and I have been obliged thus far to content myself with the following sentence, or rather half-sentence, which I take from an inspired source: “And David put his hand in his bag, and drew thence a stone, and slang it!”

NOTE.—An obliging person has pointed out to me, what I supposed I had made sufficiently evident, that I have not the blood of the lady of whom I have constituted myself the champion. He seems to think that because I am descended from her step-son, I must necessarily be indifferent to her good name. I can only reply that such has not been my own experience of the state of mind resulting from such family connections.

I regret to add (and I only mention it because I am afraid Dr. E. may, if I do not) that this step-son, after his father's death, became an imprudent person in money matters. Katharine Winthrop was put to great annoyance by his delay in refunding a considerable sum she had allowed him the use of; and though she eventually got back her principal, I doubt if she ever saw a penny of her interest. I venture to hope that she may regard my activity in her behalf in the light of a tardy reimbursement; and if I am fortunate enough to obtain from her any distinct manifestation on this subject, I shall communicate it to the Society for Psychical Research.

R. C. W., Jr.

Mr. Winthrop led, from preference, a retired life, and although a loyal American he took no active part in politics and held no public office. He was, however, constantly employed in important historical and biographical work, of which his Memoir of his father and his Defence of Katharine Winthrop are the best fruit. He especially liked biography, and was an incessant reader. While he shunned publicity and ostentation, he was most kind and obliging, especially to strangers and historical students and scholars who wrote or called upon him for information concerning persons or events that possibly are mentioned in his unrivalled collection of family papers. He was also thoughtfully kind-hearted, as is seen in the gift, after his father's death, of all his father's spectacles to one of the leading oculists of Boston, to be given to his poor patients. Like his father, Mr. Winthrop was himself very near-sighted, and in consequence often passed his most intimate friends on the street without bow or recognition of any kind,—a fact that caused him to be regarded as snobbish by persons who knew him but slightly,—an amusing misapprehension, since he was one of the most democratic of men, appreciating individuality of character in whatever walk of life he found it. One of Mr. Winthrop's friends writes :

He always had a very strong family feeling, and every Sunday night during my mother's life nothing would prevent his paying her a regular Sunday evening visit.

He certainly had remarkable talents. . . . He was a man who loved accuracy and hated nebulosity. What some people, I think, regarded as hardness on his part was a desire to prevent the possibility of future mistakes.

He also hated injustice and loved fair play.

In his beautiful home in Walnut Street, adorned by a great and matchless collection of portraits of his ancestors and kinsfolk of many generations, and of his own and his father's friends among famous men, Mr. Winthrop died, in consequence of a surgical operation, in the evening of Monday, the 5th of June, 1905, in his seventy-first year. The funeral was held on the following Friday, in St. John's Memorial Chapel in Cambridge, built nearly thirty years before by Mrs. Winthrop's father. During the service on that beautiful summer afternoon, as the setting sun streamed through the painted windows as if in benediction upon the scene, the opening lines of one of Longfellow's sonnets involuntarily came to mind :

“ I stand beneath the tree whose branches shade
Thy western window, Chapel of St. John !
And hear its leaves repeat their benison
On him whose hands thy stones memorial laid.”

Mr. Winthrop was survived by his widow, a son, Robert Mason Winthrop, a graduate of Harvard in the Class of 1895 and now Secretary of Legation at Madrid, and two daughters, Clara Bowdoin Winthrop and Margaret Tyndal Winthrop, the name of the younger being a pleasant reminder, after the lapse of nearly three centuries, of the saintly woman who for nearly thirty years shared the joys and sorrows of Governor John Winthrop the elder. In his will he describes himself as “ Robert Charles Winthrop, the younger of that name,” having always retained the “ Junior ” after the death of his father. His public bequests of more than thirty thousand dollars were to the Massachusetts Historical Society, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Bostonian Society, the Boston Episcopal Charitable Society, Bowdoin College, and Phillips Academy, Andover, the income of the last two bequests "to be used for the encouragement of the study of Greek and Latin authors." Mr. Winthrop's modesty is recognized in his two bequests to the Historical Society, both of which are to be added to existing Funds already named for those who gave them.

THE writer of this diary was born in Westborough, Mass., 6 Mar., 1736-7. Enlisting in Apr., 1759, his company evidently formed a part of the 2d battalion of Col. Ruggles's Worcester County regiment.

Hardy passed the remainder of his days in Westborough, and died there 16 Mar., 1777. By his marriage with Jemima Brigham of Shrewsbury (intention recorded 15 Jan., 1763), he had two sons and five daughters. The elder son, Constantine, removed to Upton, and later to Shelburne, Mass. The latter's great-granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth Hardy, of Shelburne, is the present owner of the diary. This consisted originally of a book of twenty-two leaves, but only twelve and part of another of the leaves are now remaining.

GEORGE BETHUNE OF CRAIGFURDIE, SCOTLAND, AND BOSTON, MASS.

By CHARLES P. NOYES, Esq., of St. Paul, Minn.

GEORGE BETHUNE, son of William and grandson of Robert and Marion (Inglis) Bethune of Craigfurdie, Scotland, arrived in Boston about 1710. The approximate year of his arrival is obtained from Sewall's Diary, where, under date of Mar. 11, 1710-1, we find this note: "Thomas Lee, and George Bethune fin'd for Constables."

It has been stated that George Bethune came to Boston about 1724, established himself as a banker there, and married a Miss Carey; but after a most thorough search in Boston for the ancestry of Miss Carey, I became satisfied that this was an error, and my later discovery of the following records proves it to be so.

In the Boston Book of Marriage Intentions we find George Bethune was published June 10, 1713, to Mary Waters of Marblehead, while in the Marblehead town record of Marriages appears this record: "George Bethune of Boston and Mrs. Mary Waters Je 3 1713." Another record gives the date as June 30. Mary Waters, born Feb. 25, 1691-2, baptized at Marblehead Apr. 24, 1692, was the eldest daughter of William and Elizabeth (Latimer) Waters of Marblehead, Mass.

Further confirmation of the marriage was found in the following: George Bethune of Boston deeded property, Sept. 10, 1722, to Nathaniel Norden, Mary Waters's uncle, to settle the estate which Nathaniel Norden held in his own right, and which, on his decease, was to go to Latimer Waters (Mary's brother) and his heirs; and in default of such heirs it was to go to the next of kin of Latimer's deceased mother, Elizabeth (Latimer) Waters. (Essex Co. Deeds, Vol. 41, p. 209.) Sept. 14, 1722, Nathaniel Norden of Marblehead, "for love of his kinswoman Mary wife of George Bethune," deeded to her a certain house "now in possession of Benjamin Stacy called The Three Codds Tavern." (Essex Co. Deeds, Vol. 41, p. 210.) In a deed of settlement in 1722, Nathaniel Norden gave to Latimer Waters, Mary Petherick, spinster, of Marblehead, George Bethune of Boston and Mary his wife, two dwellings which were part of the estate of Christopher Latimer, set off to Nathaniel Norden in lieu of debt. (Essex Co. Deeds, Vol. 44, p. 88.) In the final distribution of Christopher Latimer's estate, Jan. 6, 1726, the division was between Latimer Waters of Marblehead and George and Mary Bethune of Boston—"One half to Latimer Waters and the other half to Mary Bethune, children of William and Elizabeth Waters, said Elizabeth being a daughter of Christopher Latimer." (Essex Deeds, Vol. 53, p. 180.) There appears to have been no other George Bethune of Boston at that time, so the above seems to establish beyond question the fact that his wife was Mary Waters.

George Bethune was undoubtedly engaged to some extent in shipping trade, as, Dec. 18, 1727, he bought of Daniel Law "the sloop Mayflower all ready for a voyage to Honduras." He was one of the members of the Scots Charitable Society of Boston, and in 1732 was Justice of the Peace. The date of his death is not known, but it was probably in 1735, as an inventory of his estate was taken Feb. 20, 1735-6, in Boston.

The children of George and Mary (Waters) Bethune were:

- i. JANE, b. June 15, 1714; m. (1) Feb. 1, 1737-8, Dr. (or Capt.) Moses, son of Samuel and Mercy (Hinckley) Prince, who d. July 6, 1745, at Antigua, W. I.; and m. (2) Sept., 1761, as his third wife, Hon. Peter, son of Col. John and Elizabeth (Coffin) Gilman. She died at Newburyport, Mass., Mar. 9, 1795.
- ii. NATHANIEL, b. July 25, 1715; m. probably Hannah (or Abigail), daughter of Job and Sarah (Palmer) Lewis. He was Justice of the Peace in 1760; and d. in Boston. His will was dated Feb. 1, and probated Mar. 15, 1771.
- iii. MARY, b. Apr. 27, 1717; d. young.
- iv. ELIZA (or ELIZABETH), b. June 1, 1718; m. in 1758 (intention published Oct. 26), Ezekiel Lewis. She probably d. before 1771, as her brother Nathaniel in his will mentions only her husband, "Brother Ezekiel Lewis."
- v. GEORGE, b. in 1719; d. the same year.
- vi. GEORGE, b. Dec. 7, 1720; m. in 1754 (intention published July 15, 1751), Mary, daughter of Benjamin Faneuil, and niece of Peter Faneuil, of Boston. He was Justice of the Peace in 1774; and d. in Cambridge, in 1785.
- vii. SUSANNA, b. Dec. 11, 1722; m. Benjamin Pemberton.
- viii. HENRY, b. Aug. 18, 1724.
- ix. SARAH, b. June 27, 1728; m. in 1760 (intention published June 30); Rev. Sylvanus Conant of Middleborough, Mass.
- x. MARY, b. Oct. 7, 1730.

Mary Waters, wife of George Bethune, was daughter of William Waters (d. 1704); and granddaughter of William Waters (d. 1684), of Marblehead, and his wife Hannah (Peach) Bradstreet, the daughter of John Peach (d. 1694) of Marblehead.

Her mother, Elizabeth Latimer (d. 1699), was daughter of Christopher Latimer (d. 1690), of Marblehead, and his wife Mary (d. 1681), daughter of William Pitts (d. after 1679), of Marblehead and Boston, Mass.

Samuel² and Ruth (Rawlins) Marshall of Boston, who married second, Nov. 17, 1715, Capt. John Bonner, Jr., mariner, of Boston, and died about 1761. (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. 60, page 80.)

I.; and married second, June 22, 1747, Lydia Howland.

After preaching at Walpole, Mass., and other places, he received a call to Easton, Mass., where he was settled and ordained, Oct. 6, 1731. He was a man of peculiar temperament, and was subject to periodical attacks of partial insanity, which resulted in serious difficulties in his church, and in his dismissal on Apr. 16, 1744. Financial embarrassments finally induced him, shortly after the death of his wife, to desert his children and flee from his creditors. He was for a while at Wiscasset, Me., but on Dec. 3, 1757, acknowledged a deed at Taunton, Mass. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 94, page 67.) His further history is unknown to the writer, but the catalogue of Harvard College states that he died in 1773.

chers descended from Gregory. Up to 1735 he is called "Jr." on the records, to distinguish him from his elder cousin Moses⁸ (born in 1674, son of Moses²), and after that year (when Moses,⁴ son of Moses,⁵ became of age and a town voter) he is designated either as "Mr." or "Deacon," or by his military title. On May 29, 1747, he was elected deacon of the first church, holding the office for thirty years, until his death. The exact time of his decease is not recorded, but he was living as late as 1775. JEREMIAH BELCHER OF IPSWICH.

1. JEREMY, or JEREMIAH,¹ BELCHER came to New England in the ship "Susan and Ellen," in the spring of 1635. On the ship's list his age is stated to be 22 years, so he was born about 1613. (Hotten's "Original Lists," page 59.) He is said to have been born in Wiltshire, England, but the writer has found no evidence of this. He settled at Ipswich, Mass., where he became a proprietor, was admitted freeman Mar. 13, 1638-9, and acquired extensive lands by grant and by purchase. In the records he is usually styled "merchant," but sometimes he appears as "sergeant." On May 28, 1659, he was granted 300 acres, by the General Court, to be located outside the settled plantations, but he did not take up this grant, which was revived in favor of his son Jeremiah² over sixty years later, Nov. 17, 1722. (Province Laws, vol. x, page 220.) On May 15, 1661, he deeded lands in Haverhill to his sons Jeremiah² and John.² (Pope's "Pioneers of Massachusetts.") He deposed on Mar. 21, 1671-2, then aged 59 years. (Essex Co. Court Files.) On July 1, 1721, John Gould of Charlestown, Walter Russell of Cambridge, Daniel Gould of Charlestown, and Moses Burnham and Thomas Andrews of Ipswich, heirs to Jeremiah Belcher of Ipswich, deceased, released to Samuel Adams all claims to a farm in Ipswich formerly owned by said Jeremiah Belcher, and they also defended the grantee from the heirs of Richard Belcher and from the heirs of David Belcher, sons of said Jeremiah, and from the heirs of John Andrews who married one of the daughters of said Jeremiah Belcher. (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 9.)

Jeremiah¹ Belcher died in Mar., 1692-3, aged about 80 years, the eldest son, Rev. Samuel,² being appointed administrator of the estate, Mar. 31 of that year.

The name of his first wife, whom he married about 1637, does not appear, but it should be noted, however, that a Mary Clifford, aged 25 years, emigrated to New England in the same ship with him in 1635, her name standing next to his on the passenger list, and that Edward² Belcher, grandson of Jeremiah,¹ had a son Clifford.⁴

Jeremiah¹ married second, in 1652, Mary Lockwood, with whom he made a marriage contract Sept. 30, 1652, conveying lands to trustees for her benefit for life. She survived him, and died in Oct., 1700.

2. REV. SAMUEL² BELCHER (*Jeremiah*¹), born in 1639, graduated from Harvard College in 1659, and studied for the ministry, and was preaching at Kittery, Me., as early as 1663. (Sibley's "Harvard Graduates," vol. II, page 42.) About 1665 he went to the Isles of Shoals, where he was preaching as late as 1686 (York Deeds, vol. IV, page 64), but finally ill health obliged him to leave that place about 1692. Before 1695 he was preaching in the West church at Newbury, where he was ordained and settled Nov. 10, 1698. About 1711, the infirmities of age compelled him to retire from the ministry, and he removed to his native town, Ipswich, where he died Mar. 10, 1714-15. A contemporary minister, Rev. John Barnard, refers to him as "a good scholar, a judicious divine, a holy and humble man."

He married first, about 1668, Mary,² daughter of Rev. Thomas¹ Cobbett of Lynn and Ipswich, who died about 1679; and married second, Mercy,² born Feb., 1655-6, daughter of Rev. Michael² and Mary (Reyner) Wigglesworth of Malden, and widow of Rev. Samuel Brackenbury of Rowley. She survived her second husband, and died Nov. 14, 1728.

Children by first wife :

 - ii. SAMUEL, b. about 1674; mentioned in the will of his grandfather Cobbett; d. young.
3. JEREMIAH² BELCHER (*Jeremiah*¹), born in June, 1641, located about 1665 at Rumney Marsh (which embraced what is now Revere, Chelsea, and East Boston, and was a part of Boston until 1739, when the town of Chelsea was incorporated). He first leased a farm of Gov. Bellingham (the original indenture, in the beautiful handwriting of the governor, being now in the possession of Warren⁷ Belcher, Esq., of Winthrop, Mass.), and later purchased lands in what is now Lynn, Revere, and on Breed's Island (then called Hog Island). He appears to have been a prosperous farmer, as in 1702 he paid the highest tax in Rumney Marsh, on a farm worth £25 rent per year, two oxen, eight cows, two horses, one hog, and one hundred sheep. (Boston Record Commissioners' Report, vol. 10, page 143.) Late in life, he deeded lands to his sons Edward, Joseph, and Ebenezer, which they divided among themselves. (Suffolk Co. Deeds, vol. 28, page 136.)

He made a will, the original of which is in the possession of his descendant Warren⁷ Belcher, Esq., of Winthrop, Mass., but the instrument was not offered for probate, and therefore never recorded in any registry, so it is herewith given in full, for preservation :

“The last Will and Testament of Jeremiah Belcher, Living in Boston, being at this present time through God's goodness in health, Revoking all other Wills.

1. I do commit my Soul into the hands of God who gave it, who I trust hath redeemed it, and purchased it with his precious Blood. And my body to decent Christian burial in hope of a blessed resurrection.

4. I do give to my son Edward my silver Tankard and two silver spoons. My will is that my Grandson Jeremiah the son of Edward Belcher, may have the silver Tankard, after his father's deseece.

5. I do give to my two sons Joseph and Ebenezer each of them a silver cup and two silver spoons. I also give to my daughter Dole two silver spoons.

6. What remains of my estate after my desease to be equetly divided amongst my children. Lastly, I do appoint my three sons already named, Executors of this my last Will and Testament.

JEREMIAH BELCHER.”

Jeremiah² Belcher died Feb. 6, 1722-3, aged 81 years, 6 months, according to his gravestone, which is still standing in the old Revere cemetery.

He married, about 1667, Sarah,² daughter of Edward¹ and Elizabeth Weeden of Boston, who died Jan. 20, 1715-16. On Mar. 20, 1716-17, he entered his intention of marriage with Rebecca Nash of Boston, but it is doubtful if the marriage was consummated. She was the widow of John Nash, cooper, of Boston, who had died in 1712.

In the deed of July 1, 1721, previously mentioned (Essex Co. Deeds, vol. 40, page 9), the grantors, who were some of the grandchildren of Jeremiah¹ Belcher, defended the grantee from the heirs of David² Belcher; so it may be inferred that the latter had descendants, although no further record or mention of him of any kind can be found. Possibly he perished in the Canadian expedition of 1690. He was probably father of the following.

He married, about 1700, Mary ———, born about 1675, said by tradition to have been Mary Clifford, who died in Stoughton, Mar. 5, 1752, in her 78th year. The births of his children are recorded in Lynn.

Thomas Cheever's church, in 1716. He was prominent in the affairs of the precinct, holding the offices of constable and of ensign in the military company for many years. He died Nov. 15, 1739. His will, made the day before his decease, names wife Hannah, sons Joseph, Nathaniel, and Jonathan, and daughters Sarah and Hannah.

He married, Jan. 7, 1697-8, Hannah,⁴ born about 1676, daughter of Lieut. Jonathan and Frances Bill of Boston and Pulling Point (Winthrop), who married second, July 29, 1742, Richard Hunnewell of Boston.

[To be concluded.]

THE CONFERENCE AT DEERFIELD, MASS., AUGUST 27-31, 1735, BETWEEN GOV. BELCHER AND SEVERAL TRIBES OF WESTERN INDIANS.

By Hon. GEORGE SHELDON, of Deerfield.

WHILE engaged in gathering material for the history of Deerfield, some thirty-five years ago, I heard from Miss Harriet Hitchcock a tradition, told her by Charles Hitchcock, her father, that a treaty had been made with the Indians at Deerfield a long time ago, and that the meeting was held on the home-lot then owned by Jonathan Hoyt,* who was our common ancestor. This tradition was unsupported by any record which had come to my knowledge, and observation had taught me that local traditions with no records to back them were, as a rule, to be taken with a great many grains of salt. However, with this tradition had come down a single Indian word. This word had apparently been so often repeated, I reasoned, that it stuck, and may have become a by-word in the town. Therefore, there must be some foundation for the story of the Meeting. This word was "squawottock," meaning "more rum."

With this fantastic foundation for my faith, I set about an exhaustive search for traces of this convocation in the formidable mass of manuscript at the State House, and was at length rewarded by finding some bills of expenses attending a Conference with the Housatonics and other tribes at Deerfield, in August, 1735. But at this point I was confronted with a statement by our eminent historian, Gen. Epaphras Hoyt,† in his "Antiquarian Researches," that the Conference of 1735 was held at Fort Dummer. Further search revealed the record of a similar Conference at Fort Dummer two years later, October, 1737. In the very first speech at this Conference, made by Ontosogo, the Indian orator of the Cagnawagas said to Gov. Belcher, "Brother of the Broadway, Two Years Past I was at Deerfield, the matter then delivered to us by you was, that the old Covenant of Peace and Unity between our brother of the Broadway and us might be continued." In replying to Ontosogo, the Commissioners allude to "the Covenant of friendship renewed two years ago at Deerfield between this Government and the Cagnawaga Tribe." This settled the question that the meeting in 1735 was at Deerfield. Gen. Hoyt had evidently seen the report of this meeting at Fort Dummer, and in quoting from it had substituted "Fort Dummer" for "Deerfield." Having no clue to a conference in his native town, and according to Miss Hitchcock held on his grandfather's own home-lot, Hoyt interpreted "Deerfield" as covering the whole frontier, as "Boston" often stood in Canada for the whole colony. This slip of Gen. Hoyt should not discredit his general accuracy.

The question of location being settled, I renewed my search with ardor, but unfortunately I confined my efforts to the records of Indian Conferences and the manuscript Archives, and brought but little more to light. From these slight traces, and knowledge of the procedure in like Conferences, was made up the account of the Treaty printed in the History of Deerfield. It is primarily to give a fuller and more correct account of the Conference at Deerfield, August, 1735, that this paper is prepared. At this point I quote from the History of Deerfield.

"As I have said, no record of this conference at Deerfield has been found, but we are indebted to Miss C. Alice Baker for two important papers relating to it, which she has lately discovered in the manuscript Archives at Quebec. One is a 'Letter from M. de Beauharnois to the Minister [in France], 1735 12th October.'" In this letter, written six weeks after the Conference, is enclosed the full text of a speech which Beauharnois says he had prepared and sent to Deerfield to be delivered by Ontosogo, the Cagnawaga Chief, as his own. Beauharnois writes, "My Lord, You will see by the words subjoined that I have had a journey to Deerfield made by trustworthy people, and the speech I have had made to them . . . which astonished them not a little."

This speech is skilfully drawn to hide all trace of French origin, and made to appear as if it were a spontaneous outbreak of the Cagnawaga chieftain, enraged by the reports of an English settlement on lands which he claimed as his own. These two papers were printed in full in the History of Deerfield as authentic addition to my sketch of the Conference. The reason for calling attention to this incident will appear in the next stage of this narration.

Years later, Judge Francis M. Thompson, while hunting material for his History of Greenfield, in the Public Library at Boston, happened upon an official printed pamphlet containing the entire record of the Conference at Deerfield, August, 1735.* Here was a "find" indeed, and Judge Thompson was desirous of making a perfect copy for his history, but proper facilities were denied, and he was hampered in his efforts. Later, however, I was conceded the privilege needed for making a verbatim copy of this document.† Now, the record thus brought to light reveals a queer sequel. The proceedings of each day of the Conference, and the speeches of each day, are given minutely, and from first to last there is not a word, or a hint, of the speech or subject matter of the speech, which M. de Beauharnois says he prepared for Ontosogo, and which, when delivered by Ontosogo at Deerfield, "astonished them not a little." It may be here added that at the Conference at Fort Dummer, two years later, there was neither word nor hint of this incendiary speech by Ontosogo. Instead of waving the bloody axe and breathing threatenings and slaughter at Deerfield, as represented by Beauharnois, the Caghnawaga chief appears to be the most serene and happy man alive. In his farewell speech, August 29, he says, "I salute the Governor and all the Gentlemen here. I have been so handsomely treated since I have been with you that I have almost fancied myself in Heaven." Could Gov. Belcher and Ontosogo read the Canada version of this Conference, they would no doubt be "astonished not a little." How are these contradictions to be explained? How is the official Report of Gov. Belcher and the official letter of Gov. M. de Beauharnois to the Court of France to be reconciled?

One is reminded of a conundrum founded upon what a boy declared to be an impossible relationship to certain people. The solution of the puzzle given was, "The little brat lied." Does not the solution in this case, at least, squint in the same direction? But who was the author of this old conundrum? Each must be his own judge. Could Gov. Belcher have suppressed such a speech after he had promised to send each tribe a printed copy of the proceedings? Indians never forget. Did Ontosogo keep the speech in his breast and report its delivery to Beauharnois with its astonishing effect on the English? Hardly, when 142 Indians present could bear testimony against him. Were the grievance, and the threatening speech, made up and sent to France, to show the King what a faithful and watchful governor he had as his representative in Canada? Did Beauharnois assume that his report would be forever buried in the Archives of France? He could not then have reckoned with Miss Baker a century and a half later.

* See Thompson's History of Greenfield, vol. 1, pages 141-162.

† It is the writer's intention to reprint this article, adding to it his copy of the document.

One more document should be preserved, and explained in this connection. Oct. 28, 1903, Rev. Anson Titus published in the Boston Transcript a manuscript found in the Archives of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which he called "A Diary of Surpassing Interest, for the first time published." This Diary was written by a gentleman who attended the Deerfield Conference in the train of Gov. Belcher; but it was devoted mainly to the incidents of travel by the way. So far as it goes, in reciting the action of the Conference, it bears out the text of Gov. Belcher's report with a single exception. The diarist says that one of the tribes present was "the tribe of Mohegans." Knowing the history of the Mohegans, it was a justifiable presumption which led me to question the statement of one of the actors in the Conference, as to the presence of this tribe. Thinking there might have been an error in the copyist or typesetter, I examined the original, and ascertained there was no error in the printed copy; "Mohegan" it was. But the doubt still remained, and a comparison of the diary with the Official Report revealed the fact that the diarist unwittingly or ignorantly used the name "Mohegan" to designate the Mohawks, who were actually present, associated with the Scattakooks and not otherwise named by him as a distinctive body. Where he writes "Mohawks" it applies to the French Mohawks, or Caghnawaga tribe.

It was the discovery of this error, and the untoward incident of the Beauharnois letter, which moved me to publish this paper, that the close student of Indian affairs of the period might not be misled by the writer of the diary, or by the historian of Deerfield, in their reports of the Conference in 1735.

There is another word that might be said touching this representative gathering, but by no means confined to it. It shows in general the parliamentary method of procedure in the public business meetings of the savage and the intruding white man. We see here the native savage imposing upon the representative of the highest civilization his own modes and forms of conducting public affairs. This emphasizes the fact that the impact of civilization upon savagery in this direction had been successfully resisted. These forms and ceremonies of the Indians handed down from a far-off age, from generation to generation, were so deeply rooted as to defy all inducements for conformity to the English methods. I have said elsewhere, from information obtained chiefly in conversation with Miss Alice Fletcher, an eminent authority on Indian affairs:—

"The red man is generally spoken of as the child of freedom; but no galley slave was more firmly bound to his oar, than was the North American Indian to the customs and traditions of his tribe. He had no will of his own. His costume, his habits, his conduct in war or peace, were all marked out for him by inexorable law.

. . . Contact with civilization made not a whit of change in his mode of conducting public business, whether in the State House at Boston, or by the Council fire in the wilderness. At the Court of the 'Grande Monarche' Louis XIV., etiquette was not more strictly enforced than with the tribes, in their conferences and treaties with the whites. The latter were obliged to conform as best they could to the ceremonial forms of the savage. Governors and Ambassadors gravely smoked the Pipe of Peace . . . ; lifted or buried the hatchet, brightened the Covenant chain, sent or received the wampum belts, and gave the inevitable present; for no promise was sacred and no treaty binding which was not ratified by an exchange of gifts.* With this strong attachment to their international civil forms, it would seem an utterly hopeless task to attempt a change in their religious rites relating to the unseen and controlling powers all about them. But the fact remains, account for it as you may, that the devoted English missionaries were partially successful in their attempts to "convert" the natives to Christianity; albeit it generally proved in the end a ruinous operation to the natives, as they took more readily to the vices than the virtues of their Christian neighbors. At this same Conference of which we write, a minister was ordained to go among the people of one of the tribes, to labor for their conversion. The history of the Housatonic Indians shows that this effort met with a considerable measure of success. They as a tribe accepted the new Deity, the new forms of worship, and many of the ways of civilization; thus they were held constant friends of the English in subsequent French and English wars.

The Diary quoted below had never before, so far as known, been published. In his introduction Mr. Titus said:—

"The following diary was kept by a member of the council of Governor Jonathan Belcher, on the tour to consult with the Indians in the western part of the Bay Province. It is not known by whom it was written."

This itinerary is condensed, but the entries bearing on the Conference are given in full.

DIARY.

"On Wednesday morning August 20th. 1735. about six o'clock His Excellency, attended by a number of Gentlemen, set out from Boston on a Journey to Deerfield, about 120 miles."

That day they reached Col. Chandler's at Worcester; August 21st, reached Col. Dwight's at Brookfield; the 22^d, Col. Stoddard's at Northampton; the 25th, they went up to Deerfield.

"26th. Tuesday tarry'd at Deerfield.

27th. Wednesday at Deerfield. There was a Tent erected of about 100 Foot long, where the Gov^r. din'd with the rest of the

*July 10, 1735, John Wheelwright was allowed by the Council six hundred pounds, for the purchase of "a present to the Western Indians to be given them at the intended Interview at Deerfield."

Gentlemen, & where in the afternoon the Tribe of the Cagnarogags (or French Mohawks)* was sent for, & after the usual Salutations & Conference they were dismiss'd.

28th. Thursday at Deerfield. The same was done to the Housatonocks, & to the Scattacooks & Mohegans [Mohawks] together, in the forenoon. In the afternoon the Mohawks [French Mohawks] were sent for again, & had a conference. It lasted about an hour & an half.

29th. Friday at Deerfield. The Housatonocks were sent for, & had a conference: it lasted about an hour & an half (in the forenoon) Then the Mohawks [French Mohawks] were sent for, reciev'd their Presents after a short Conference, & din'd with the Governour & Gentlemen in the Tent, & after Dinner the Gov^r. took his Leave of them.

30th. Saturday at Deerfield. The Housatonocks were sent for, & after some Conference reciev'd their Presents, & were dismiss'd. Then the Scattacooks were sent for & in like manner reciev'd their Presents, the Mohegans [Mohawks] reciev'd theirs after Dinner without any further Conference. These three Tribes [Housatonicks, Scattacooks, Cagnawagas] din'd with the Governour.

31st. Sabbath Day at Deerfield. In the forenoon, the Rev^d. M^r. [John] Sergeant was ordain'd to preach the Gospel to the Tribe of the Housatonock Indians. The Rev^d. M^r. [Jonathan] Ashley of Deerfield began with Prayer, the Rev^d. M^r. [Nathaniel] Appleton of Cambridge preach'd from 2 Tim : 2 : 21. 'If a man therefore purge himself from these he shall be a Vessell unto Honour, sanctified & meet for the Master's use, & prepared unto every good work.' The Rev^d. M^r. [William] Williams of Hatfield gave the charge, & the Rev^d. M^r. [Stephen] Williams of Springfield the right hand of Fellowship. In the afternoon the Rev^d. M^r. Williams of Springfield preach'd from 2 : Is : 4 : 'And he shall judge among the nations, & shall rebuke many peoples : and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, & their Spears into Pruning Hooks.'"

Sept. 1, Monday, they rode up to Fort Dummer; Sept. 2, they rode through Northfield, Montague, Sunderland, and Hadley, to Kelloggs ferry, where the Governor and party crossed over to Northampton; Sept. 3, they went to Westfield, and thence to Springfield; Sept. 4, homeward bound, they reached Brookfield; Sept. 5, at Marlborough; and Sept. 6, arrived at Boston.

In the official report of the Conference by Gov. Belcher, there is a notable lack of the picturesque and embellished oratory which writers generally put into the mouths of Indian speakers. In fact, the language of Gov. Belcher is more figurative than that of the Indians.

*The Cagnawagas were an offshoot of the Mohawks, one of the Five Nations. They had been converted by Catholic missionaries and induced to remove and settle on the Sorel River in Canada. There they were a bulwark against invasion from the South. They were known as "French Mohawks"

TAYER (THAYER) FAMILY ENTRIES IN THE PARISH REGISTER OF THORNBURY, GLOUCESTERSHIRE, ENGLAND.

Communicated by WALTER FAXON, Esq., and EDWARD HENRY WHORP, Esq.
With Introduction and Notes by HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M.

THE parish of Thornbury is in the western part of Gloucestershire, the town being a short distance from the river Severn. It is eleven miles north from Bristol, from which port it is probable that Thomas and Richard Tayers sailed for New England.* The Thornbury parish register is from 1538, with breaks from 1645 to 1650 and from 1679 to 1684.

Thomas Tayer was in Boston, Mass., before 24 Feb. 1639–40, when land was granted to him at Mount Wollaston (Braintree, Mass.) for "9 heads" in his family,† these consisting of himself and wife Margery, his sons Thomas, Ferdinando and Shadrach, perhaps two daughters, Sarah‡ and Hannah,§ born soon after his arrival in New England, and possibly two servants.

Richard Tayer, a widower, presumably a younger brother of Thomas, came to New England in 1641 with eight children,|| and settled at Braintree, Mass., afterwards removing to Boston. His children are identified as Richard, Sarah, Jael, Deborah, Zachariah, Hester, Nathaniel and Cornelius.¶

It is likely that the Nathaniel Thayer who was in Taunton before 1668, and the Benjamin Tayer who died in Newport, R. I., in 1716,†† were related to Thomas and Richard.

The root of the family name, from "taw": to dress skins,‡‡ is made clear in the earlier spelling of the name at Thornbury. The letter "h" was added soon after the emigrants came to New England; but in the line of the family descended from Ferdinando* (Thomas') of Mendon, Mass., that letter was silent—as in Thomas and Thompson—until early in the last century. No coat-of-arms appears on any tablet or monument of the family at the parish church (St. Mary) at Thornbury, and the fact that Edward Tayer of Oldbury-on-Severn, in the parish of Thornbury, was disclaimed by the heralds at their Visitation of Gloucestershire in 1623, for using arms without proof of authority, would show that the family was not armorial. The name is now extinct in Thornbury.

A family spelling the name Theyer and Thayer, and having the same root from "taw,"* has long been at Brockworth in Gloucestershire,† a parish 25 miles north-east of Thornbury; and there was an armorial family of Tawyer at Raunds in Northamptonshire,‡ about 80 miles north-east of Brockworth and 105 miles from Thornbury; and also an armorial family of Thayer at Great Baddow and later at Thaydon Garnon in county Essex,§ afterwards of London||; but no connection between these families has been established, so far as known.

In an account¶ of "Able and Sufficient Men in Body fit for His Majesty's Service in the Wars, within the County of Gloucester, . . . in the Month of August, 1608," which is given in three classes, (1) those about 20 years of age, (2) those about 40 years of age, and (3) those between 50 and 60 years of age, there appear in Thornbury: Edward, John, Nicholas, and Richard Tayer, all of the second class, and William Martimer, of the first class; in Stinchcomb, 8 miles north-east from Thornbury: John Thayer (gent.), of the second class; and in Brockworth and its vicinity: John Theyer, of the first class, Richard, Roger, Thomas, Walter, and William Theyer, of the second class, Gabriel, Giles, John, and Thomas Thayer, of the first class, and William Thayer of the second class.

In Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" there is a stage direction in the First Folio: "[Enter] Tawyer with a trumpet." This refers to a William Tawier, or Tawyer, a subordinate in the employ of John Hemminge who was one of the members of the Globe Theatre Company and one of the editors of the First Folio. William Tawier was buried in St. Saviour's Church, Southwark, in June, 1625.

John, bapt. Mar. 10, 1639.

The register shows the burial of a John Benton, Feb. 12, 1662, and of "the widow Benton," June 5, 1665, but there is uncertainty as to their identity.

That the above record of Andrew, baptized Oct. 15, 1620, relates to Andrew Benton the emigrant is deduced from the facts that his tombstone in Hartford (whither he removed from Milford) shows he was "aged 63 yrs." at his death, July 31, 1683, thus agreeing with the probable time of birth, and that the name of John (his father) was given to three of his children, two of whom died in infancy, and the name of Mary (his mother) was given his second daughter.

That he was nearly related to Edward Benton the emigrant may be inferred from their coming together to America; and a coincidence of Christian names and other data suggests that John the father of Andrew the emigrant was probably a son of Andrew and Maria Benton, parents of Edward the emigrant; and if so, he was an older son whose birth failed of registration in the Epping parish records, or, possibly he was a son of the John Benton, baptized Apr. 14, 1588, whose father, Andrew Benton, born in 1548, inherited by will, in 1569, the manor of Shingle Hall, at Epping, of which his father, John Benton, became the owner in 1552.

In view, therefore, of the uncertainty as to an earlier ancestry, I choose to begin the ancestral line with John and Mary (Southernwood.)

2. ANDREW² BENTON (*John*¹) was allotted parcel No. 64 at the apportionment in Nov., 1639, of the land at Milford, Conn., bought from the Indians in Feb. of that year. It contained three acres, and was situated on the west side of Half Mile Brook, near the crossing of what is now Spring and Hill streets, and to this were added several other parcels of ground. He married first, probably in 1649, Hannah, daughter of George Stocking of Hartford, a first settler there in 1636. They united with the church at Milford, he on Mar. 5, 1648, and she on Oct. 13, 1650, and were dismissed to Hartford, Mar., 1666, whither they had removed as early as 1662. Here he was a fenceviewer in 1663 and '64, a juror in 1664 and '67, was a freeman in May, 1665, and a suppressor of "disorders during public worship" (during the Hartford Controversy) and collector of minister's rates in 1667. He separated to the Second Church in Feb., 1670, with his wife, daughter Hannah, and his fathers-in-law, Stocking and Cole. He married second, probably in 1678, Anne, daughter of John Cole, "a godly man of some public trust." She was the "bewitched maid" on whose account, mainly, Nathaniel Greensmith and his wife were hanged for witchcraft, Jan. 25, 1663. Goffe, the regicide, then in hiding at Milford, writes in his diary, Feb. 24, that after the hanging "the maid was well"; and Cotton Mather's Magnalia, in 1684, says of her that "she is restored to health, united with the church, and living in good repute." She died testate, Apr. 19, 1685, leaving an estate of £60.12.6, to be divided among her three surviving children, of whom Ebenezer was given a double portion because of "impotency." Hannah, his first wife, died probably in 1672. He was buried in Center Church Cemetery, and his gravestone, near the rear wall of the church, reads: "ANDREW BENTON AGED 63 YEARS HE DIED IVLY 31 ANO 1683." His estate, appraised at £345.17.19, was administered by his son Joseph, and distributed, Dec. 18, 1683, to his widow, and children, Andrew Samuel, Joseph, Mary, and Dorothy, by his first wife, and Ebenezer, Lydia, and Hannah, by his second wife.

The homestead, formerly owned by Nathaniel Greensmith, was at the junction of the roads leading to Wethersfield and Farmington, and on the west side of the present Wethersfield Avenue. At the death of the widow, it became the property of his son Joseph Benton, who sold it in June, 1693. He owned several other parcels of land, one of which in the "Five Mile Lay Out," in East Hartford, was distributed to his eight surviving children, Mar. 24, 1689.

4. SAMUEL³ BENTON (Andrew,² *John*¹) lived in Milford and Hartford, and for awhile in the town of Tolland, Conn., where he and his son Samuel were first proprietors, in 1716. He married, probably in 1679, Sarah, daughter of William and Sarah Chatterton of New Haven, Conn., who was born there, July 19, 1661. He died testate in Hartford, Apr. 10, 1746, making ample provision for his "beloved wife Sarah," and appointing Moses and Lydia, his two youngest children, to be executors.

Paul Peck of Hartford, who left him a legacy of £5 in his will, dated June 25, 1695; and married second, Feb. 10, 1698, Sarah, daughter of Bevil Waters of Hartford, "a man of good estate," who died Mar., 1729, leaving his "eldest daughter, Sarah Benton wife of Joseph Benton, £500."

He united with the church, Mar. 8, 1696, and she, Mar. 15, 1713. In 1714, probably, he removed from Hartford to the town of Tolland, Conn., where he and his son Joseph, and his brother Samuel and his son Samuel, appear as "inhabitants" and first proprietors, May 14, 1716. He was its first town clerk, from Dec., 1717, to Dec., 1720, a selectman in 1721 and '22, a first deacon of the church, and largely, "intrusted with public affairs." At a survey of the line between the towns of Tolland and Coventry, in 1722, his house and three acres of land fell within the latter, but by agreement he was "still accounted an inhabitant" of Tolland. He was at Newington, Conn., Nov. 23, 1739, and in 1742 he removed, probably with his son Jehiel, to the town of Kent, in Litchfield Co., Conn. ENGLISH ORIGIN OF THE AMERICAN DEARBORNS.

Communicated by VICTOR CHANNING SANBORN, Esq., of Chicago, Ill.

PERHAPS misled by "Tradition," the investigators of families originating with Wheelwright and his Exeter Combination have turned from the blazed trail which leads into Lincolnshire, as indicated by the late Col. Chester and by "Long John" Wentworth. Thus the Towles are said to be Irish, and the Dearborns to have come from Devonshire.

The volumes of Lincoln Wills, in course of publication by the British Record Society, give ample clues to local families, as do always the documents of diocesan registries of probate, whose records mainly deal with families of small possessions, distinguished from those whose wealth or ambition inclined them to register their wills in the Prerogative Courts of Canterbury or York. In these Lincoln volumes appear many Towle wills, showing a family of that name residing in North Lincolnshire, and there are also a few Dearborn wills which I think show conclusively the origin of our American Dearborns to have been next door to the English home of their religious leader, John Wheelwright.

The following abstracts of Dearborn wills show a family of that name originating in Hogsthorpe, Lincolnshire (a parish next to Mumby where the Wheelwrights came from, and the very place where Wheelwright bought land from one Francis Levet), and branching into Binbrooke, Sibsey, Spilsby, and Hannay, thus leading the genealogist into five Lincoln parishes whose registers, extending as they do to the early 16th century, will undoubtedly furnish forth the Dearborn ancestry.

The Dearborns were of yeoman stock, and the name does not appear in any ancient records or pedigrees which I have found. It will be seen that these wills mention Christian names identical with our early Dearborns, except for the emigrant Godfrey, whom I surmise to have been a son of Thomas, the cousin of Henry of Han-nay in 1635. The earliest name, Michael (uncommon in New Eng-land families), appears in the third American generation as the son of Ebenezer, who was the grandson of Godfrey.

My interest in the Dearborns being purely collateral, and I have not traced the family farther than the clues here printed. I found these in searching for the English origin of my ancestor Thomas Levet, who, like Godfrey Dearborn, followed Wheelwright to Exeter and moved to Hampton, where he established a home and left many descendants. I hope to print in the REGISTER, ere long, what I have discovered as to Levet's Lincoln and Yorkshire origin.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 4 April, 1906. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting at half past two o'clock this afternoon in Marshall P. Wilder hall, Society's building, 18 Somerset street, which was called to order by the Recording Secretary, the President being absent in Europe. Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., of Newton, was invited to preside. He accepted and served as chairman, pro tempore.

After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the March stated meeting, Henry Leland Chapman, D.D., Professor of English in Bowdoin college, Brunswick, Me., was introduced as the essayist of the meeting. Mr. Chapman read a deeply interesting and discriminating paper on Old Flud Ireson, unfolding the history of the event on which the tradition is founded, and citing contemporary statements and documents. The thanks of the meeting were cordially voted, and a copy requested for deposit in the archives of the Society and, also, for a contribution to the REGISTER.

The executive officers, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted and ordered on file.

Twenty-two new members were elected.

On motion, it was Voted, That the By-laws be amended by substituting the word "last" for the word "second" in the second line of article 1, chapter III., so that the first paragraph of that article shall read:

Art. 1. The Annual Meeting of the Corporation shall be held on the last Wednesday in January of each year in Boston, notice of which shall be sent to Resident and Life Members by the Recording Secretary, one week in advance.

The Treasurer was authorized to sell and make title to house No. 4 Westmoreland street, Dorchester.

The meeting then dissolved.

2 May. The President being still absent, a stated meeting was held to-day at the usual time and place, Mr. Ensign acting as chairman.

The ordinary routine exercises were observed, and seven new members elected.

Walter Kendall Watkins, esq., of Malden, read a valuable paper on Lemuel Cox, Boston's Bridge Builder and Inventor, evidencing wide research and competent acquaintance with public events A.D. 1770-1800. A vote of thanks was passed, and a copy of the paper solicited for deposit in the archives of the Society.

No further business being presented, the meeting was dissolved.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

GENERAL ENOCH POOR was born in Andover, Mass., 21 June, 1736, but early became a citizen of Exeter, N. H. He was colonel in the 2d Regiment of New Hampshire troops in the Revolutionary army, and died near Hackensack, N. J., 9 Sept., 1780. The Report of the Adjutant General of New Hampshire for 1866, vol. II, p. 339 note, says: "He was killed in a duel with a French Officer." This story passed until the Hon. Ellis Ames of Canton, Mass., communicated a paper to the Massachusetts Historical Society, stating that Gen. Poor was killed in a duel with Maj. John Porter, a Massachusetts officer. (1 Proceedings xix. 256-261.)

Both of these statements, however, are incorrect, according to the following deposition which was made shortly after Gen. Poor's death.

"THE NEW-HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE; or,
STATE JOURNAL, and GENERAL ADVERTISER.

[Vol. XXIV.] MONDAY, January 15, 1781. [No. 1264.]

Messrs PRINTERS,

AS a Report has been spread thro' this State that the late Brigadier-General POOR died of a Wound received in a DUEL, the following Deposition may serve to prove the Falseness of said Report, and undeceive those whose Credulity has thereby been imposed upon and misled; and by inserting it you will oblige many of his Friends.

I JEREMIAH FOGG, late Aid-du-Camp to Brigadier-Gen. POOR, deceased, testify that for some Months before his Death I lived with him, attended him constantly during his last Sickness, until his Death, which I think was solely occasioned by a Billous Fever, after thirteen Days Illness; that I assiduously lay out his Corps, and did not perceive that he had ever been wounded, and never knew or suspected he had ever been engaged in any Duel; nor heard any such Report till some Weeks after his Death, it was mentioned to me in a Letter from New-Hampshire.

JEREMIAH FOGG*

Rockingham ss. January 13th, 1781.

Capt. JEREMIAH FOGG made solemn Oath to the Truth of the above Deposition by him subscribed, before

WM. PARKER, † Justice Peace."

EARLY AMERICAN EMIGRANTS.—The late Mr. Hotten in his introduction to the "Original List of Emigrants to America" tells us that the early settlers left the old country because of persecution—political and religious. The proceedings against the remonstrants were taken in the Courts of Star Chamber and High Commission. All the decree books of the first named jurisdiction are lost, and many of those of the latter, and so all interested in American ancestry have been prevented from using the records of the fines and punishments as a means of genealogical information. This hindrance has now been removed by the important discovery that two sets of fines imposed by the Star Chamber and High Commission exist in the Public Record Office, one series for both Courts appears to be perfect, but some of the other set have been lost. As they, in each case, give residence of the delinquent, and in some instances name the wife and children, the importance of this find to the descendants of

* Major Jeremiah Fogg, the son of Rev. Jeremiah and Elizabeth (Parsons) Fogg, was born in Kensington, N. H., in 1749. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1768, and was an Adjutant in Col. Poor's regiment in May, 1775, and a Brigade Major in 1782. He died 26 May, 1808.

† William Parker, the son of Hon. William and Elizabeth (Grafton) Parker, was born in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1731. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1761, and began the practice of law in Exeter in 1765. He was Register of Probate for many years, and 1 Jan., 1790, he received the appointment of Judge of Common Pleas for Rockingham Co., which office he held until his resignation in 1807. He married Elizabeth Fogg, a sister of Maj. Jeremiah Fogg, and had six children. He died 5 June, 1813.

early New England settlers cannot be over rated. I intend to at once copy and index those files, as they will form a very useful addition to my other lists of emigrants.

ANDREWS.—The following note shows the participation of minors in the land purchases in the Old Colony:

Under the heading "Henry Andrews of Taunton," Hon. Josiah H. Drummond published an account of the earliest generations of the Andrews family of Taunton, Mass., in the REGISTER, vol. 51, page 453, and I published a supplementary article in the REGISTER, vol. 52, page 16. Concerning the data in these two articles, Mr. Drummond and I were in substantial accord except as to the dates of birth and death of Henry³ Andrews (Henry,³ Henry¹). We had a long discussion on these points, but were unable to come to an agreement. The matter is now definitely settled by statements found in an old Bible, the property of the Old Colony Historical Society, formerly belonging to Josiah³ Andrews (son¹ of Henry³) who recorded therein the deaths of his parents. This Bible was printed in Edinburgh in 1726. On the inside of the front cover is written: "Josiah Andrews his Book god give him grace their Into Look that when the Bel Begin to toal the Lord have Marcy on this Sovl." On the inside of the back cover is written: "this book bot in y^e year 1729 price—0-11-0." And on a blank page is inscribed the following:

"January y^e 25: 1734-5 henry andrews senyer desest being in y^e seuenty
"forth year of his eage

"March y^e 20 1736 Mary andrews died being in y^e seventyth year of her eage"

Hence, Henry³ Andrews was born in 1661; or, more exactly, between Jan. 25, 1660-1, and Jan. 25, 1661-2.

The importance of definitely settling this birth-date—the reason for the long discussion and extended search among the records by Mr. Drummond and others—lies in the light it sheds on the rules and customs of the early settlers in the admission of associates in the land purchases.

In the list of Taunton South Purchase Proprietors, Nov. 26, 1672, occur the names of Henry Andrews and Henry Andrews Junior. The unanimous agreement of all the genealogists who have searched over and over again all the known records, is that these were Henry³ Andrews and his son Henry³ Andrews. Not the slightest trace of any other possible Henry Andrews has been found. Hence in the beginning it was assumed that Henry³ Andrews, his father being alive, was an adult on this last-named date; but this assumption was soon found to be erroneous. Then Mr. Drummond studied the records for the laws on the subject, and, as a result, informed me that he could find nothing forbidding the admission of a minor, whose father was living, to purchase rights. If Henry the father had more than one purchase right, he wrote, there was no reason why he should not turn over one of these rights to his minor son.

In this same list there is one other parallel case. Peter¹ Pitts and his minor son Samuel² Pitts were both recorded as purchasers. I have been unable to find any record of the birth of Samuel² Pitts and therefore am unable to state beyond peradventure that he was a minor on this date. Yet I am quite sure that he was born in the year 1655.

REV. THOMAS CLAP'S MARRIAGES IN TAUNTON, MASS.—Among these is the following:

"April 24 1787 Then Married William Cobb & Anne Will[worn] together both of Taunton."

In the copy made years ago by Rev. Charles H. Brigham, the woman's name is given as Anne Willis, but it should be Anne Williams, as shown by Bristol Co., Mass., Deeds, xli:17, which has: April 13, 1756.—William Cobb of Norton and Ann his wife, for £19:19:0, to Richard Williams of Raynham, all our interest in the real estate which Mr. Ebenezer Williams of Taunton dec'd gave by his will to one Eb. Williams, a minor, who is also since dec'd, and in the homestead where grantee now dwells, and in all other real estate formerly belonging to the said Ebenezer Williams, the testator, that now or hereafter may come to said Ann, as she is one of the sisters of the said Eb. Williams, minor, deceased.

TRESCOTT-ROGERS.—Samuel Trescott, of Milton, Mass., and Margaret his wife, one of the daughters of Jeremiah Rogers, late of Lancaster, deceased, convey to Edward Phelps of Andover, Mass., interest in the estate of said Jeremiah Rogers, in Lancaster, as well by right of said Mary as by purchase made by said Trescott of Abiah Warren of Boston, widow, one other daughter of said Jeremiah Rogers, May 31, 1710. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xv, p. 261.)

Ichabod Rogers of Lancaster, cordwainer, Jeremiah Rogers of Salem, wheelwright, and Jehosaphat Rogers of Topsfield, tailor, sons of Jeremiah Rogers of Lancaster, also convey their interest in their father's estate to Edward Phelps of Andover, May 12, 1710. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xv, pp. 261, 262.)

PARRISH—WATTELL.—John Parrish, of Preston, Conn., and William Wattell alias Wadell of Lebanon, Conn., appoint our brother John Bruce, of Woburn, our attorney to take care of the timber growing upon the land formerly belonging to our father John Wattell in Chelmsford, Mass., Nov. 24, 1709. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. xv, p. 262.)

ALLYN—GILBERT.—Capt. Thomas Allyn, the second son of Matthew and Margaret (Wyatt), was with his father an early settler in Windsor, Conn. He married, Oct. 21, 1658, Abigail, the eldest child of the Rev. John Warham of Dorchester, Mass., and Windsor, Conn. Their youngest child, Hester or Esther, born Oct., 1679, married Ebenezer Gilbert of Hartford, Conn., son of Jonathan (the Colony Marshal and Indian Commissioner) and his second wife Mary Welles the niece of Gov. Thomas Welles. Ebenezer was own cousin to Jonathan Belcher the Colonial governor of Massachusetts and, later, of New Jersey. His father by his will, dated Sept. 10, 1774, among other provisions gave him 300 acres and upwards of land situated in what is now Berlin, New Britain, and possibly Meriden, and gave Hester £100. His estate, inventoried Feb. 12, 1682, was, £2484 17s 09d. After his mother's death on July 3, 1700, they removed to Great Swamp Parish (Kensington—Worthington—Berlin), where he built, before 1717, a brick house on Christian Lane, made from clay taken from his own land, not far from old Wethersfield bounds. The house is standing and has always been in the ownership of a Gilbert by direct descent from Ebenezer. He died in 1736, leaving an estate inventoried at £3824 12s 8d. His wife died Oct. 4, 1750, leaving an estate inventoried at £326 5s 11d. The writer is a descendant in the fifth generation.

CHARLES S. ENSIGN.

MUNCY.—In a communication to the REGISTER, vol. 50, page 488, it is stated that Hannah², daughter of William¹ Adams of Ipswich, Mass., married Francis Muncy, in 1659, and second, John Kimball; and the same statement appears in the Maine Historical Register, vol. 9, page 360, and in the Essex Antiquarian, vol. 2, page 87.

The facts are that Francis Muncy moved to Brookhaven, Long Island, where he had Lot 22 in 1664, and where he died in 1675, administration of his estate being granted his widow on 10 Sept. 1675. She married, that same year, John Ramsden (see New York Marriages; and Town Records of Brookhaven, L. I., page 80), which is also proved by a record in which the two sons [John and Samuel] of Francis and Hannah (Adams) Muncy are called "sons in law" [step sons] of John Ramsden of Newtown, and agree to live with him and help him.

John Muncy, son of Francis and Hannah, married Hannah², daughter of Rev. Nathaniel¹ Brewster, and died 19 Feb. 1690-1. It was probably his widow, Hannah, who married John Kimball.

WILLIAM LINCOLN PALMER.

A SYMBOL OF TERMINAL CONTRACTION.—There has often been observed by expert copyists of old manuscripts a flourish or quirk at the end of certain words, which has not been reproduced or adequately indicated in transcription. It is frequently found; and as common instances may be given the words "Secr³," "Resp³," "Dra³" for Draper, etc. We have in general use today the abbreviations "oz." and "viz.;" and the character "3" was, according to the lexicographers, "anciently used as a sign of terminal contraction." Now that attention is called to this identity of the flourish at the end and the symbol "3," it is hoped that its use in that way may be adopted by copyists and editors of early manuscripts.

ALFRED B. PAGE.

CARY PEDIGREE.—(See Waters's Gleanings, vol. 2, page 1058.) One of the daughters of Richard Cary (the elder) of Bristol, by his second wife Johan, was Anne who married Nicholas Balle of Totnes in Devonshire, merchant, and by him had several children. The sons all died unmarried, the daughters married and had children. Mr. G. E. Cokayne* of the Heralds College is descended from one of the daughters. Another of the daughters married Sir Ralph Winwood, Secretary of State. Their mother, Anne Balle, widow, married Sir Thomas Bodley, founder of the Bodleian Library.

TALCOTT PEDIGREE.—(See Waters's Gleanings, vol. 2, page 1126.) The wife of Thomas Talcott of Horkesley, 1634, was Thomas Ball, not Bull. The Balls were located in that neighborhood at the end of the 15th century, and continued there, though in humble circumstances, till the beginning of the 19th century.

I. to western New York—Geneva, Batavia, or Genesee; said to have had a brother John, and a sister Sophronia who married a Stephen Andrews.

DYER.—Rhoda Dyer, born in R. I., whose father's name was perhaps John; tradition says her father "was an Indian fighter, was not killed in the massacre but singly afterwards."

GREENE.—Rebecca Greene, who married an Olds, and had two children, Horace and Arvilla, probably in western New York.

OLDS.—The Olds who married Rebecca Greene.

TITUS.—James Titus, said to have been a Vermonter, who married Phlura, daughter of John White of Black Rock, N. Y., soldier in the war of 1812, whose wife was Mary Risley or Wrisley. The ancestry of this John White and Mary Risley is also wanted.

BAILEY-EMERY.—What was the ancestry of Andrew Bailey and Ruth Emery who were married, presumably in Boston or Cambridge, Mass., about 1775-6? Andrew Bailey (or Bayley) was a corporal in Capt. Scott's Co. of Col. Sargent's Regt. in the Revolution, said to have been of Peterborough, N. H. (See Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution.)

COOK.—In the Middletown, Conn., Town Vital Records, vol. 2, page 244, are the following entries:

Elizabeth, daughter to Jacob Cook & Marcy his wife, born Nov. 11, 1743.

Mary, daughter to same two, born Nov. 15, 1745.

Josiah, son to same two, born Nov. 15, 1747.

Rebeckah, daughter to same two, born Sept. 26, 1749.

Elisha, son to same two, born Aug. 1, 1751.

The third child mentioned above, Josiah, born Nov. 15, 1747, was my great-grandfather, a record of whose family appears in the Strong Genealogy, vol. 2, page 1378, where the date of his birth is given as Nov. 26, 1746. I am unable to trace Jacob Cook or his wife Marcy, above named, and any assistance in this direction will be greatly appreciated.
FRANK GAYLORD COOK.

TAYLOR.—Parentage and ancestry wanted of Rowland Taylor who was born in Yarmouth, Mass., about 1720 or '21, went to Providence, R. I., where he married, Mar. 14, 1744-5, Sarah, daughter of Benjamin and Bethiah (Carey) Gorham, and removed to Barnstable, Mass., where all his children were born. In the fall of 1755, his widow, with five children, settled in Providence, where she married William Whipple in 1758, dying in 1810. F. C. CLARK, M.D.

* Mr. Cokayne is a Corresponding Member of this Society.

MUNSEY.—The parentage and English ancestry is wanted of William Munsey, who first appears in Kittery, Me., in 1686, and then in Dover, N. H., from 1695 until his death in 1698, when his body was found, June 10th, in the Piscataqua river on the Maine side, the records saying that he was "By mischance or accidentally drowned"; also, of Francis Munsey, who was at Ipswich, Mass., as early as 1657, and then at Long Island, N. Y., from 1665 until his death in 1675, his widow, Hannah, daughter of William Adams of Ipswich, marrying John Ramsden of Newtown, Long Island, the year her husband died.

WILLIAM LINCOLN PALMER.

WATSON.—Joel Watson, of Nantucket, Mass., married there, in 1794, Elizabeth Skinner. He is said to have been born in Rhode Island. Can anybody give his parentage and ancestry?

Boston, Mass.

NEWTON.—John³ Newton (John,² Rev. Roger¹), born 1697, of Milford, Conn., married Martha, daughter of Samuel and Rachel (Lambert) Smith. She is said to have been his only wife, but there is evidence to the contrary. Of his six children, Elizabeth, Sibyl, and John, all baptized June 4, 1738, are presumed to have been by a first wife Elizabeth ———; the other three, Rachel, Susanna, and Martha, are known to have been by his wife Martha (Smith).

A gravestone in the Milford cemetery bears the inscription: "Mrs. Elizabeth Newton, wife to Mr. John Newton, Died July the 5 1734, In the 31st Year of Her Age"; and another is: "M^{rs} Marth^a Newton, wife to M^r John Newton, who died July y^e 10th AD 1750 in y^e 37th year of her age."

Can anybody give any information concerning Elizabeth, wife of John Newton?

Tidioute, Penn.

Mrs. H. H. CUMINGS.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

ENGLISH RESEARCH.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the REGISTER, giving clues which lead to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the REGISTER, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

KALENDER OF WILLS AT CAMBRIDGE.—The Cambridge Antiquarian Society, of Cambridge, England, will shortly publish a "Kalendar of Wills Proved in the Vice Chancellor's Court at Cambridge, from 1501-1757." These wills were until 1858 preserved at Cambridge, and in that year were removed to Peterboro' on the formation of the district probate offices. Here they remain. The object of the Society in undertaking this work is to render accessible the names of the testators of such wills. Orders for this valuable book should be addressed to the Society, 10 Trinity Street, Cambridge.

HOPKINS GENEALOGY.—It will be deeply regretted that the material of the Hopkins Genealogy was destroyed by fire in the late calamity at San Francisco. The following letter has been received from the compiler:—

“A large part of the Hopkins Genealogy which I was preparing was in press and would soon have been published. Our fire has totally destroyed the labor of years, and it is with regret that I announce that I shall not again attempt to take up its compilation.

I trust, however, that some one else may undertake the work, and such assistance as I may be able to furnish from memory is always at command. In order that such compilers may not be deterred from taking up the work, by the belief that I still have it in hand, I should appreciate the favor of a notice in the REGISTER to the effect that I have discontinued its compilation.

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail.]

A Branch of the Caldwell Family Tree. Being a record of Thompson Baxter Caldwell and his wife, Mary Ann (Ames) Caldwell, of West Bridgewater, Massachusetts, their ancestors and descendants. By CHARLES T. CALDWELL, M.D. The Olympia, Washington, D. C. 1906. 4to. pp. 18.

The line of Caldwells here given is traced to Robert Caldwell, of Warwickshire, Eng., who in 1658 is found on records at Providence, R. I. A “Numerical Chart—Complete Back to 1700” occupies six pages, and is followed, as a kind of appendix, by notes on the Leonard and Harvey families, Robert Cushman, John Alden, and others.

The Cary Family in England. By HENRY GROSVENOR CARY, Boston. Published by Rev. Seth Cooley Cary, Dorchester Centre, Boston. 1906. 4to. pp. 105. Ill.

The English family of Cary is in this volume traced to Adam de Kari, lord of Castle Kari in 1198. Besides the main line, itself displaying chiefly the names of knights, three branches of Cary nobles are included in the genealogy, those of Baron Hunsdon, the Earl of Monmouth, and Viscount Falkland, and in addition to these, the Clovelly, Cockington and Torre Abbe, and Somersetshire lines of Carys. The history of these families is presented in an interesting manner, and the author says that it is “an absolute certainty that they were our ancestors.” The volume is a fine one in appearance, with clear print, wide margins, attractive illustrations, and good binding. There is no index.

The Chamberlain Association of America. Report of Annual Meetings, held in Boston, Mass., Aug. 19, 1904, and Sept. 13, 1905. Portland: Smith & Sale, Printers. 1905. 8vo. pp. 96. Price 50 cts. Address Sophia A. Caswell, 27 River St., Cambridge, Mass.

Rather more than half of this publication is occupied by “Personal Records,” and the criticism which Gen. Chamberlain offered on the sketch of himself as originally prepared, as to its regrettable “breadth of statement and its length,” is not inapplicable to some of the other sketches in the collection.

The Bristol Branch of the Finney Family. By FRANKLIN C. CLARK, M.D. Boston: New-Eng. Hist. Gen. Soc. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 13.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER for January and April, 1906.

The Descendants of Adam Mott of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y. A Genealogical Study. Revised edition. By EDW. DOUBLEDAY HARRIS. The New Era Printing Co., Lancaster, Pa. 1906. 8vo. pp. 8.

In this new edition certain errors in the first edition have been corrected, and since the issue of the first, other lines of descent have been discovered, and questions then unresolved have been answered.

Ancestry and Descendants of Lieutenant Jonathan and Tamesin (Barker) Norris, of Maine. By their Great-grandson, HENRY MCCOY NORRIS, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. New York. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 60. Portrait.

Besides the above description, the title-page says: "In which are given the names, and more or less complete records, from 1550 to 1905, of about twelve hundred persons, among whom are sixty-nine of their ancestors, nine of their children, forty-eight of their grandchildren, one hundred and nine of their great-grandchildren, and one hundred and fifteen of their great-great-grandchildren." An unusual use of numbers is made in this work, to which allusion is thus made in the publishers' note: "The numbers in the index of this genealogy refer to sections in which the names indexed are treated . . . The pages of the book are not numbered, the numerals at the top of each page simply indicating the sections found on that page." This system was devised by the author. The volume is a fine example of the work of the Grafton Press.

The John Prescott to whom these pages refer is the "founder of Lancaster, Mass."

The Swift Family in Philadelphia. By THOMAS WILLING BALCH, Member of the Council of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. From the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography, April, 1906. Phila., 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 32. Portrait.

A large portion of this pamphlet consists of letters of John Swift who in 1762 was appointed by the Crown Collector of the Port of Philadelphia; they relate to his efforts to foil the illegal attempts of smugglers. It was this John Swift who originated the dancing parties which have been continued to the present day and are known as "The Philadelphia Assemblies." An interesting account of these "Assemblies" is included in this sketch of family history.

Wardwell. A brief Sketch of the Antecedents of Solomon Wardwell, with the Descendants of his two Sons, Ezra and Amos, who died in Sullivan, N. H. By ELIZABETH WARDWELL STAY. Greenfield, Mass.: Press of E. A. Hall & Co. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 22. Price $1.00.

The first section of this genealogy consists of records of the Revolutionary services of the four sons of Thomas Wardwell, who was of the fourth generation from the Thomas Wardwell to whom, as the first of the name in America, the family is traced, and a portion of whose descendants is recorded in the second section.

Welch Genealogy. n. p.; n. d. 12mo. pp. 69+4.

The Welch line here given is traced to John Welch, of Boston. The last twenty-eight pages of the genealogy contain the records of the Stackpole family which is descended from James Stackpole, of Dover, N. H. Following the genealogy are two articles by way of appendix, "Kirk Boott and his Experience in the British Army," and "Recollections of the old 'Stackpole House.'"

The branch of the Williamsons here recorded consists of the ancestors and descendants of David Williamson, born in 1786 and reared in York County, Pa. The contents of this sketch are largely biographical and of a specially personal nature. The book is excellently printed, but there is no index.

Ancestry of Bridget Yonge, Daughter of William Yonge of Caynton, Co. Salop, Esq., and Wife of George Willys of Fenny Compton, Co. Warwick, Esq., Governor of the Colony of Connecticut in 1642. n. d.; n. p. 8vo. pp. 25.

The first eight pages of this pamphlet are reprinted from the REGISTER for April, 1899. Salop."

Genealogy in the Library. By OTIS G. HAMMOND, of the New Hampshire State Library. Manchester, N. H.: John B. Clark Co. 1906. 12mo. pp. 18.

These lively and humorous pages abound in sensible remarks on the manner in which the librarian should deal with the genealogist, as also on the characteristics of patriotic societies, and will be appreciated by those who are brought into contact with such as the woman he mentions who remarked that "she should not feel a bit proud even if she found out that she was descended from Queen Elizabeth."

Rev. Asa McFarland, D.D., Third Pastor of the First Congregational Church, Concord, New-Hampshire. 1798-1824. A Sketch by Henry McFarland, (his Grandson,) read by Annie A. McFarland, (his Granddaughter,) at the 175th Anniversary of that Church, Nov. 19, 1905. [Concord.] n. d. Large 8vo. pp. 18. Ill.

The story of Dr. McFarland's pastorate of twenty-seven years is here pleasantly told, and leaves the impression of a life marked by goodness, tolerance, and diligence.

American Antiquarian Society. Salisbury Memorial. A Tribute from Yucatan. Worcester, Mass.: The Davis Press, Printers. 1906. 8vo. pp. 22. Portrait.

Mr. Stephen Salisbury was for eighteen years President of the American Antiquarian Society. His interest in Central America, made prominent by his visits to Yucatan, is recalled in the "Tribute" by Senor Olegario Molina and others.

Life of Rev. Jeremiah Shepard, Third Minister of Lynn, 1680-1720. By JOHN J. MANGAN, A.M., M.D. Privately printed. Lynn, Mass., U. S. A. 1905. Large 8vo. pp. 61.

This biography was written to correct the misrepresentations of its subject in Newhall's "Lin, or Jewels of the Third Plantation," which is largely fiction but so interspersed with fact that the reader is unable to distinguish between the two. A worthy task has been performed in setting right so admirable a character as that of Mr. Shepard, who was an associate of the Mathers, the Sewalls and the Saltonstalls, and who was distinguished for his patriotism. His eminence as a preacher is evident from the fact that he was invited to deliver the annual election sermon, May 25, 1715. A list of his works follows the memoir.

Memoir of Benjamin Barstow Torrey. By WILLIAM CARVER BATES. Boston: New-Eng. Hist. Gen. Soc. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 9.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER for April, 1906.

Governor William Bradford's Letter Book. Reprinted from The Mayflower Descendant. Published by the Massachusetts Society of Mayflower Descendants. Boston, Massachusetts. 1906. 8vo. pp. VI.-62.

The re-publication of this fragment of Governor Bradford's Letter Book, at this time when interest in Pilgrim history is so widespread, is amply justified by the rarity of both editions of the third volume of the first series of the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society, in which it was first published in 1794 and reprinted in 1810. Through Prince's Chronology it is known that many of the letters used in Bradford's History of Plymouth Plantation were from this letter book. A list of these, and the few other known letters to and from Governor Bradford, would have added much to the usefulness of this reprint.

Ballintubber Abbey, Co. Mayo: Notes on its History. By MARTIN J. BLAKE. From the Journal of the Galway Archæological Society. Vol. III. (1903-4). No. 11. Large 8vo. pp. 65-88. Ill.

This Irish Monastery was one of the Order of Canons Regular of St. Augustine, and was founded in the year 1216. It is still used as a place of worship.

Boston Town Records. A Volume of Records relating to the Early History of Boston, containing Boston Town Records, 1796 to 1813. Boston: Municipal Printing Office. 1905. 8vo. pp. 377.

This is the thirty-fifth volume in the series formerly called Record Commissioners' Reports, and consists of the ninth book of the original records of the town of Boston, with an index.

Old Dartmouth Sketches. No. 13. Being the Proceedings of the Third Annual Meeting of the Old Dartmouth Historical Society, held at the Rooms of the Society, New Bedford, Mass., on March 30, 1906, and containing, besides the usual reports, a Memoir of Thomas R. Rodman. [New Bedford. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 12.

The Great Swamp Fight in Fairfield. A Paper read at a Meeting of the Colonial Dames. By Hon. JOHN H. PERRY, on Oct. 12, 1905. New York. 1905. 8vo. pp. 12. Ill.

This fine paper consists largely, so far as its narrative portion is concerned, of a letter of Gov. John Winthrop, and is a complete account of the fight that ended the Pequot War, July 13, 1637.

The History of the Town of Lyndeborough, New Hampshire. 1735-1905. By Rev. D. DONOVAN and JACOB A. WOODWARD. Published by the Town, Andy Holt, J. H. Goodrich, Luther Cram, Rev. D. Donovan, Jacob A. Woodward, History Committee. The Tufts College Press: H. W. Whittemore & Co. 1906. 2 vols. 8vo. pp. xvi+932. Ill. Plan.

There is nothing of interest or importance pertaining to Lyndeborough which has not received due attention in these volumes. The abundant information furnished is arranged under the captions usually found in town histories. "Old Cellar Holes" and "Town Fairs," however, are subjects not so often introduced in works of this kind, and illustrate, together with such literature as the poem on small-pox, the successful manner in which, from beginning to end, the authors have enlivened their undertaking. From the "Summary View" to the "Mortuary Record," the historical portion of the work, including ample biographical sketches, is thoroughly treated. The Genealogies, occupying two hundred and eighty pages, are a most valuable addition to the history. There is an "Index of names, places and subjects." The volumes are well printed and substantially bound.

History of Plymouth, New Hampshire. Volume I., Narrative. Volume II., Genealogies. By EZRA S. STEARNS, A. M., Member of New Hampshire Historical, New England Historic Genealogical and American Antiquarian Societies. Printed for the Town, by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass. 1906. 8vo. pp. 632, 801. Ill.

This history of Plymouth, N. H., was prepared under direction of a Committee of the town, and not the least of their wisdom was the selection of Mr. Stearns as the historian. Mr. Stearns, by an ample knowledge of sources, methodical preparation of chapters, and possessing a sense for detecting vital information, has produced a history of which Plymouth may well be proud. Volume I. treats of the proprietors and settlers, the affairs of state, militia, school and church, and vividly portrays the society of the town to date. The Revolutionary war period is finely and fully treated. Volume II. embraces genealogies, keeping close to the resident families, who were from the older towns, and of the fourth and fifth generations from the Puritan settlers. The genealogical annotation is the form recommended by the REGISTER. The two volumes make above 1400 pages, of which 800 are genealogies.

The Value of Colonial Influence. A Paper prepared and read at a Meeting of the Colonial Dames, by MABEL OSGOOD WRIGHT, on Oct. 12, 1905. New York. 1905. 8vo. pp. 28.

Furniture, architecture, manners, religion, literature, and legislation are here represented as sources of "Colonial influence," to which so much importance is ascribed by Miss Wright that she says that "without it the Constitution itself would be but as a sieve of shifting sand."

Senate. 58th Congress, 2d Session. Document No. 77. Les Combattants Français de la Guerre Américaine. 1778-1783. Listes établies d'après les documents authentiques déposés aux Archives Nationales et aux Archives du Ministère de la Guerre. Publiées par les soins du Ministère des Affaires Étrangères. Washington: Imprimerie Nationale. 1905. 4to. pp. 453. Ill.

This work was noticed in the REGISTER for Jan., 1904; but in this re-issue, for the use of the U. S. Senate, it is provided with a complete index which vastly increases its value.

Library of Congress. Journals of the Continental Congress, 1774-1789. Edited from the Original Records in the Library of Congress by WORTHINGTON CHAUNCEY FORD, Chief, Division of Manuscripts. Vol. iv. 1776, Jan. 1-June 4; vol. v. 1776, June 5-Oct. 6. Washington, Government Printing Office. 1906. 2 vols. 4to. pp. 416; 440.

The Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Settlement of the Jews in the United States. 1655-1905. Addresses delivered at Carnegie Hall, New York, on Thanksgiving Day, 1906. Together with other select addresses and proceedings. [New York. 1906.] 8vo. pp. xiii+262.

The special event commemorated in this volume is the grant by the Dutch West India Company, April 26, 1655, to the Jews to establish a settlement in "New Netherland." The celebration attracted the sympathy of Gentile as well as Jew, as is shown by such names among its participants as President Roosevelt, Ex-President Cleveland, Governor Higgins, Bishops Greer and Lawrence, President Elliot, and Lieut.-Governor Guild. These were among the speakers at Carnegie Hall, and at Faneuil Hall, Boston. The "Selected Addresses" were delivered the same day in various other cities. There is an appendix consisting principally of "Selected Editorial Utterances from the Newspaper Press," and correspondence. A frontispiece represents a "Commemoratory Medal" designed by Isidore Kontl.

Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolutionary War. A Compilation from the Archives, prepared and published by the Secretary of the Commonwealth in accordance with Chapter 100, Resolves of 1891. Boston: Wright & Potter Printing Co., State Printers, 18 Post Office Square. 1906. 4to. pp. 1008.

The contents of this volume extend from SHA to STH.

Eighteenth Report of the Custody and Condition of the Public Records of Parishes, Towns, and Counties. Public Document No. 52. By ROBERT T. SWAN, Commissioner. Boston: Wright & Potter Printing Co., State Printers, 19 Post Office Square. 1906. 8vo. pp. 36.

Perhaps the most important part of this report is the series of "Don'ts," which has been sent as a circular to every city and town clerk. In the section relating to New Hampshire records, the paper by Mr. A. S. Batchellor, Editor of State Papers, treating of those documents, is quoted in full. The mistake of those who think that there is no further need of State supervision of public records is clearly shown by Mr. Swan in the portion of the report explaining the "Need of the Commission."

State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. Report of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Commission made to the General Assembly at its January Session, 1906. Providence, R. I. E. L. Freeman & Sons, State Printers. 1906. 8vo. pp. 18.

United States Chronicle—A to Z. Published under the auspices of the General Assembly. Providence, R. I.: Narragansett Historical Publishing Company. 1906. 4to. pp. lxxv +577.

Mr. Arnold's expectation that "the reader will find pleasure as well as instruction in the perusal of this volume" will be fully realized, as it has been in its predecessors.

Library of Congress. List of Works on the Tariffs of Foreign Countries. General; Continental Tariff Union; France; Germany; Switzerland; Italy; Russia; Canada. Compiled under the direction of APPLETON PRENTISS CLARK GRIFFIN. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1906. 4to. pp. 42.

The initial movement in the formation of the Association was an announcement in the "Columbian Sentinel" for Dec. 31, 1794. The establishing of the organization is described in the first of the four articles contained in this volume. The other three are sketches of the first three Presidents of the Association.

DEATHS.

SAMUEL ADAMS DRAKE, long a member of this Society, and the son of one of its chief founders, died of Bright's disease, at his home in Kennebunkport, Me., Dec. 4, 1906. He had nearly reached the age of 72 years, having been born in Boston, Dec. 20, 1833. His father, Samuel Gardner Drake, needs no more than the merest word of passing honor and gratitude from this Society, so well are his fidelity and efficiency in the founding of this organization and in the real science of genealogy, known. His ancestry went back through the founders of Hampton, N. H., to the red hills of Devonshire and the clan which gave the world the renowned navigator, Sir Francis Drake; the English connections were not completely traced out, though the family group was ascertained. But the subject of this sketch depended neither on his remote ancestors nor his celebrated father for the honor of his name. As a young man, he made his way to California, and did his part as a gold-hunter. At a later time, he betook himself to Kansas, and threw his energies into the development of that state. There he was living when the Civil War broke out; and so strongly did he feel the error of Disunion that he became a leader in organizing Union forces. The state of Missouri appointed him a Brigadier-General for this work; and when he had performed that special task, he was commissioned Colonel of a regiment in Kansas, and led his troops to active and heroic service in the strife which waged over Missouri and the border regions.

When he took up the line of authorship he naturally saw events in a broad way, which no man not familiar with war could see; and his writings show remarkable comprehension of the strategic and the ultimate effects of the epochs he described. All the time he was a lover of the beautiful, delighting to paint the quiet homes and attractive resting places of the people no less than the arenas of strife. He lacked none of his father's historic sense, and was fond of the study of antiquity and the biography of notable persons. Withal he dreamed by times, and gave legends and tales with cleverness. Year by year he won friends by his frankness, blended well with rare courtesy in listening and great helpfulness in communicating. Among the members of Melrose and Kennebunkport parishes, of the Roundabout Club, U. S.

Grant Post, G. A. R., the Loyal Legion, this Society and other associations, he held a high place for his witty and valuable communications and his companionability.

The summer sojourners of Kennebunk and Kennebunkport, many of them gifted and reputed, loved to linger in his simple library, see his nuggets of book and manuscript, and get in touch with his refreshing, unconventional currents of thought. When occasion called for it, he had a power of timely public speech which made his words memorable. The writer recalls how well he showed, in a local celebration of the centennial of the organization of our government, the wisdom of the Maker of History in raising up the leaders of the Revolution and of the establishment of our republic.

A list of his published writings may be made without order of composition or in exact statement of titles, to close this glimpse of the man and his life:—Old Landmarks of Boston, Around the Hub, Old Boston Taverns, New England Legends, Historic Mansions Around Boston, Our Colonial Homes, History of Middlesex County, Historic Fields and Mansions of Middlesex, Old Landmarks of Middlesex, On Plymouth Rock, Watchfires of '76, Myths and Fables of To-day, Border Wars, Captain Nelson, General Israel Putnam, The White Mountains, Nooks and Corners of the New England Coast, The Taking of Louisburg, Burgoyne's Invasion, Campaign of Trenton, The Making of Virginia and the Middle Colonies, The Making of the Ohio Valley States, The Making of the Great West, The Making of New England, The Battle of Gettysburg, The Young Vigilantes.

At the time of his death, he was engaged on an uncompleted History of the United States which his father had begun. General Drake also wrote many magazine articles of merit. He married, Oct. 5, 1866, Olive Nowell, born Oct. 5, 1837, daughter of David and Esther (Jones) Grant of Kennebunkport, who died Dec. 12, 1886, leaving him two daughters, Louise Isabel, wife of Arthur Harry Woodman of Melrose, and Alice Gardner, a teacher in Melrose Public Schools, who has been the especial delight and companion of his later years. From his home by the sea the body was brought to his former residence, Melrose, and laid in Wyoming Cemetery.

SAMUEL SALISBURY, A. M.

Editor of the REGISTER.

JOHN SALISBURY, who was born March 31, 1835, at Worcester, died there November 16, 1902, was descended from John Gray, a "pioneer" of Boston, whose name first appears in a list for 1630, and who was twice married, first to Anne's, who died September 7, 1694, by whom he had three children: John, born January 5, 1690, died December 15, 1704, and Nicholas and Elizabeth, born August 27, 1694, both of whom probably died in their mother's second marriage to Bridget Williams, to whom he was married September 25, 1697, and by whom he had two children: Elizabeth, born October 28, 1697, and Benjamin, born November 16, 1699, the latter married Deborah Searns of Wrentham, and had a daughter, Deborah, who was buried beside her parents in the New Burying Ground, Boston, but there is no record of their other children.

Nicholas Salisbury was a small merchant, but his son John became connected with rising wealth in the town of Boston. He died December 11, 1748, at Boston, and his son was the daughter of Josiah and Rebecca Ellbridge of Sandwich, who was born April 22, 1709, at Boston and died there August 18, 1792. They had seven sons, three of whom were married and one never married. The sixth son, Samuel, was married and had four sons, of whom one died in infancy, one married, and a third, the oldest, Stephen, married twice, by his first wife, Maria Morgan, one son who married and had a son without male heirs; and by his second wife, Nancy, three sons, of whom one died in infancy, one never married, and the third, Stephen, died in 1875, leaving one son now married but without children. Samuel's fourth son, had one son, the late Edward Ellbridge Salisbury of New Bedford, who left no children.

STEPHEN SALISBURY, A.M.

By WALDO LINCOLN, A.B.

STEPHEN SALISBURY, who was born March 31, 1835, at Worcester, and died there November 16, 1905, was descended from John Salisbury, a "mariner" of Boston, whose name first appears in a tax list for 1689, and who was twice married, first to Annabel, who died September 7, 1694, by whom he had three children: John, born January 5, 1690, died December 15, 1704, and Nicholas and James, twins, born August 20, 1694, both of whom probably died with their mother; second to Bridget Williams, to whom he was published September 25, 1695, and by whom he had two children: Nicholas, born October 28, 1697, and Benjamin, born November 7, 1699; the latter married Deborah Stearns of Watertown, and had a daughter, Deborah, who was buried beside her parents in Granary Burying Ground, Boston, but there is no record of their having other children.

Nicholas Salisbury was a "small merchant" at Boston, but through his children became connected with rising and socially prominent families. He died December 11, 1748, at Boston. His wife was Martha, daughter of Josiah and Rebecca (Elbridge) Saunders of Boston, who was born April 22, 1704, at Boston and died there February 18, 1792. They had seven sons, four of whom died in childhood and one never married. The sixth son, Samuel, was twice married and had four sons, of whom one died in infancy, one died unmarried, and a third, the oldest, Stephen, married twice, having by his first wife, Maria Morgan, one son who recently died in the West without male heirs; and by his second wife, Nancy Gardner, three sons, of whom one died in infancy, one never married, and the third, Stephen, died in 1875, leaving one son now living and married but without children. Samuel's fourth son, Josiah, had one son, the late Edward Elbridge Salisbury of New Haven, who left no children.

The seventh son and youngest child of Nicholas and Martha (Saunders) Salisbury was Stephen, born September 25, 1746, at Boston, died May 11, 1829, at Worcester. He married, January 31, 1797, at the age of fifty-one years, Elizabeth, daughter of Edward and Elizabeth (Harris) Tuckerman of Boston, who was born January 30, 1768, at Boston and died there October 19, 1851. They had three children, of whom but one, Stephen, lived to adolescence. Stephen, Jr., who was born March 8, 1798, at Worcester, and died there August 24, 1884, was three times married: first, November 7, 1833, to Rebekah Scott, daughter of Aaron and Phila (Walker) Dean of Charlestown, N. H., who was born December 21, 1812, and died July 24, 1843; second, June 25, 1850, to Mrs. Nancy (Hoard) Lincoln, widow of Captain George Lincoln of Worcester who was killed, February 23, 1847, at the battle of Buena Vista and was the son of the late Governor Levi Lincoln, she was daughter of Silvius and Nancy Mary (DeVillers) Hoard of Ogdensburg, N. Y., was born October 26, 1820, at Antwerp, N. Y., and died September 4, 1852, at Worcester, having had a daughter by Mr. Lincoln but no child by Mr. Salisbury; third, June 2, 1856, to Mrs. Mary Grosvenor Bangs, widow of Edward Dillingham Bangs of Worcester who died April 21, 1838, and daughter of Moses and Mary (Sykes) Grosvenor, she was born January 14, 1800, at North Wilbraham, and died September 25, 1864, at Worcester, without children. By his first wife, Rebekah Scott Dean, Mr. Salisbury had one child, Stephen, the subject of this memoir, who was, as has been shown, the last but one of the surviving descendants of John Salisbury, the founder of the family so far as it has been traced, to bear the name of Salisbury, and actually the last of the Worcester branch, and, he dying unmarried, this old and honorable New England family, associated for over two hundred years with all that is highest and best in New England life, connected by marriage with many names eminent in colonial and national history, and for one hundred and thirty years representing the aristocracy and wealth of what is now the second city of Massachusetts, has thus become practically extinct.

The first Stephen Salisbury associated himself in business with his eldest brother, Samuel, under the name of S. and S. Salisbury, as merchants in Boston, and came to Worcester in 1767, at the age of twenty-one, to establish a branch of the parent house, while his brother remained in Boston to manage the business there. The business was large and lucrative, and he left to his son, the second Stephen, a fortune which by the natural growth of the town and by wise management and judicious investment made him one of the wealthiest men in Worcester County. He in turn left a large estate to his son, Stephen, who treated it as his father had done, more as a trust for the benefit of his townsmen than for his own gratification. Simple in tastes and unostentations in manner and appearance, not caring for display and unassuming in deportment, both father and son, though born to the purple, if that expression may be applied to American life, present a vivid contrast to the garishness of to-day, when dollars seem to count for more than birth and to displace, in the vulgar mind, the refinements of education and breeding. It is difficult to think of Worcester without a Stephen Salisbury, for although none of those who have borne the name have been prominent in the government of the town, their influence has been felt in every enterprise, and their assistance has been sought and freely given in all worthy charitable and educational undertakings and in many of the varied business ventures of that busy place.

Stephen Salisbury, the third, was left motherless at the age of eight years, and from that time until his father's death, in 1884, his character was moulded more by his father, "whose sole constant companion he was," as he himself says, "for more than thirty years," than by any other influence. He first attended, at the age of six, a private infant school kept by Mrs. Levi Heywood, but was taken by his parents, during the following winter, 1841-2, to Savannah, Ga. Upon his return he was placed in the private school of Mrs. Jonathan Wood, and, in 1844, was sent to Boston to attend Miss Bradford's school for boys, where he remained a year, when he returned to Worcester and entered the public schools, ending with the Worcester High School, from which he entered Harvard College in the class of 1856, and received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. in due course. After graduation he studied for a winter at the Frederick William University in Berlin, and attended lectures at the Ecole de Droit in Paris, and, in the summer of 1857, travelled extensively in Europe, extending his trip to Turkey, Greece and Asia Minor. During the following winter he resumed his studies in Berlin, and, in the spring, in company with his father's family, visited Great Britain. Returning to Worcester in 1858, after an absence of more than two years, he became a student of law in the Harvard Law School, where he received the degree of LL.B. in 1861. In the following winter he visited his classmate David Casares, in Yucatan, and there laid the foundation for his interest in American archæology which persisted during his life. He, later, furnished means for extensive exploration of existing ruins in Central America, and contributed many articles concerning them to the American Antiquarian Society, which he afterwards published in three books on Maya antiquities, namely, in 1877, "The Mayas and the Source of their History," in 1879, "Maya Archæology and Notes on Yucatan," and in 1880, "Maya History and Mexican Copper Tools." In these books he gave the results of his own observations and translations of the reports of the men who, under his encouragement, carried on the exploration.

Returning to Worcester he entered the law office of Dewey and Williams, and was admitted to the Worcester County Bar in October, 1863, but he never actively practiced his profession, which he had studied to prepare himself for the care of the large estate of his father which he was to inherit and through which he was called to many positions of trust and responsibility which fully occupied his time. With the exception of a second visit to Yucatan and Mexico in 1885, and a trip to Europe in 1888, and another in 1890, he passed the remainder of his life in Worcester. After his father's death in 1884 he lived alone, a simple bachelor's life, not given much to entertainment though hospitable and fond of company, especially of that of the young.

Though of strong patriotic feelings he did not serve in the war of the Rebellion, his father requiring his services at home. He was drafted in 1863, but furnished a substitute. In December, 1863, he was elected to the Worcester Common Council, and served for three years, being president of the board in 1866. In 1892 he was elected to the Massachusetts Senate, and was twice re-elected, serving in 1893, '94 and '95. He was chairman of the committees on education, on banks and banking, and on the treasury, and a member of the committee on libraries. He was a member of the sinking fund commission of Worcester, from 1889 until his death, and a trustee of Worcester City Hospital from 1871 to 1889, and secretary of the board for all but one year of that time. Aside from these he held no public offices, declining a nomination for alderman after his service in the Council, and frequently refusing to be nominated for mayor; but he always took an interest in public affairs, and was, by general consent, the most public spirited citizen of Worcester. He was always a republican in politics, and was chief marshal of the republican parade in Worcester in the presidential campaign of 1896. His financial interests occupied much of his time, and he was connected as director or trustee with many corporations of a semi-public nature and served them all faithfully and well. He succeeded his father, in 1884, as president of the Worcester National Bank, which office he held at his death. He became president of the Worcester County Institution for Savings in 1882, and retained that office until 1905, when he was obliged to resign by the law prohibiting one man from serving as president of a national and a savings bank. He succeeded his father as trustee of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and became president of the trustees in 1895, and held that office until October, 1905, when he refused a re-election as the condition of his health required a release from some of his active duties. At the same time and for the same reason he resigned as vice-president of the trustees of Clark University, where he had been serving as virtual president since the death of the late Senator Hoar.

He was by no means a brilliant man, being rather slow of thought and hesitating in speech, but he generally said the right thing at the right time and was frequently felicitous in his use of the right words to express his ideas. Though always interested in historical studies he wrote but little; his books on the Mayas, already mentioned, and a memorial volume on his father, which was largely a compilation, being all that he published. He was a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, the American Antiquarian Society, of which he was president from 1887 until his death, the American Geographical Society, the Archæological Institute of America, the Worcester Society of Antiquity, the Sociedad Mexicana de Geografía y Estadística, the Conservatorio Yucatanó, and the New England Historic Genealogical Society, which last he joined, as a life member, April 3, 1889.

To Mr. Salisbury's public spirit Worcester owes the deepest gratitude. He was liberal and bounteous in his public and private charities, and his support of public institutions was almost unlimited both in the money and time which he gave to them. He gave much to the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, as had his father before him, and presented a large tract of land to the city for a public park upon which he expended much for its development. He laid out with great wisdom the greater portion of his home estate, which with its unoccupied acreage had hitherto been rather a hindrance to the growth of the city in that direction, and succeeded, by liberal gifts of land and money and by his wise and liberal policy of development, in making it, with its group of public and semi-public buildings and pleasant homes, a most attractive residence quarter. His crowning work was the Worcester Art Museum which he was instrumental in having established, to which he contributed lavishly during his life and which, by his munificent bequest at his death, should eventually make Worcester the possessor of one of the finest and most important art collections in the country.

Some have criticised his gifts of land as being but a means to the increase of his own wealth, and, undoubtedly, it did enhance the value of his remaining real estate, but wealth was not what he cared for. His own life was most simple and unobtrusive and his personal wants but few. He had no sympathy for display, no taste for ostentation. He was thoroughly old-fashioned in his ideas, and modern manners and methods made him, in late life, rather pessimistic. His whole life was a protest against the present vulgarity of riches. His sense of duty was extreme and governed all his actions, so much so that he often sacrificed his comfort to it, and his generosity was but the expression of this sense of duty, of the feeling that his wealth was a public trust which he should administer for the public good.

UDALL FAMILY RECORD.

Communicated by JOHN DENISON CHAMPLIN, Esq., of New York City.

THE following record of two generations of the Udall family is from an account book of Dr. Lionel Udall, a practising physician at Stonington, Conn., in the first half of the eighteenth century. Dr. Udall, who is ignored by Wheeler in his history of the town, was a man of considerable prominence, and appears to have had a large practice in eastern Connecticut and throughout Rhode Island, extending from New London to Newport. He is said to have been born in England about 1690, to have come early to this country, and to have married in Stonington, where all his children were born, and where he died in 1767. The accounts in his book range from 1750 to 1767. Besides medical charges and credits on the opposite page to patients, the volume contains a few private memoranda and the genealogical record. The first half of the latter is in the handwriting of Dr. Lionel Udall himself, the last in that of his grandson James, born Sept. 19, 1779, son of Samuel Udall.

JOHN SOLENDINE OF DUNSTABLE, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

By ETHEL STANWOOD BOLTON, B.A., of Shirley, Mass.

1. JOHN¹ SOLENDINE, a carpenter by trade, was a settler at Dunstable, Mass., about 1674. No definite facts are known of his former residence, either in this country or in England, but he seems to have associated upon terms of equality with the Tyngs, Ushers, and other prominent families of Dunstable. In 1682, he "was engaged to complete the unfinished meeting-house, which was probably but little more than a log shanty;*" he also built the first bridge across Salmon Brook. The first marriage entered upon the records of the town was that of John Solendine and Elizabeth

*History of Dunstable.

Usher, on August 2, 1680.* Elizabeth Usher was the daughter of Robert Usher of Stamford, Conn., and his wife Elizabeth the widow of Jeremy Jagers,† and a niece of Hezekiah Usher of Dunstable. Robert Usher had died when Elizabeth was still a young girl, and had left her in charge of her uncle. John Solendine and his wife settled in Dunstable, where his four children were born. He lived in a fortified house. In 1692, Maj. Thomas Hinchman, who commanded all the troops in that part of the Province, sent a petition to the General Court, in which he states that "all y^e Inhabitants of Dunstable excepting 2 familys desire to draw off, viz Jno Sollendine & Thos Luff whose Garrisons are nere to each other, these seem willing to ——— themselves with 10 or 12 sould^{rs}." John Solendine stayed, and as late as 1711 resided in one of the seven fortified houses in Dunstable, with four soldiers regularly quartered there. About the time of his marriage, his wife's uncle, Hezekiah Usher, bought of Major Simon Willard three fourths of "Nonacoicus Farm," now a part of the town of Ayer, Mass. At that time "Nonacoicus" was partly in Groton and partly in Harvard, its northern boundary being the brook still called Nonacoicus. Willard had built a blockhouse on the farm, and the Ushers took possession of it, and lived there. This farm bore a rather prominent part in the fortunes of the Solendines.

2. JOHN² SOLENDINE (*John*¹) was born in Dunstable, May 8, 1683. Of his early life little is known, but he evidently followed the Ushers to Groton, for, some time before 1718, he married Susanna Woods.‡ According to a deed§ she was the daughter of Samuel Woods of Groton, and a sister of Samuel Woods, Jr., of Alice Woods, of Rachel wife of Jonathan Whitcomb, and Mary wife of John Goss. The Ushers had left Groton some time before John Solendine went there, for after the death of his great-uncle Hezekiah, Hezekiah Usher, Jr., his son and executor, had sold Nonacoicus to Jonathan Tyng of Dunstable. The younger Usher was a prosperous merchant of Boston. The indenture relating to the sale was signed on May 11, 1687, "between Hezekiah Usher, of Boston, Merchant, Heir and Executor of Hezeziah Usher late of Boston, deceased," and Jonathan Tyng of Dunstable guardian of John Tyng "his son & Heir apparent & intrust to & for y^e s^d Jn^o Tyng one of the Grandchildren of y^e said Hezekiah Usher deceased."¶

In 1713, John Solendine, and Henry Farwell of Dunstable, bought from Jonathan Tyng the part of "Nonacoicus Farm" which had formerly belonged to his great-uncle ¶ Hezekiah Usher. To this they added seventy acres south-east of the farm, which would be in the town of Harvard. He apparently, at the time or soon after, settled on his farm, where he remained for the rest of his life. He was a very active real estate operator, his holdings being in at least four towns—Groton, Shirley, Harvard and Lancaster.

In 1738, John Solendine died intestate, aged 55 years, and on Mar. 12, 1739, his widow Susanna was granted letters of administration.* The total property was valued at £1523: 18: 4. The land "adjoining Bartlett" still bears his name, and is known in Shirley as "the Solendine Meadows," or "Cellendine" as some deeds have it. The widow Susanna married, in 1739, John Haughton of Bolton, Mass.

 4. vi. ISAAC, b. Apr. 18, 1732.
3. JOHN² SOLENDINE (John,² *John*¹) was born in Groton, Nov. 10, 1729. In 1738, when their father's estate was administered, he and his brother Isaac were both called of Lancaster, where they probably resided with their mother and step-father, John Haughton. Just after John² came of age, his father's estate was finally distributed, and he received two pieces of land in Shirley, on one of which was the "Solendine Meadows." He built a house in Shirley, after his marriage in Groton, on June 17, 1752, with Dorcas Whipple, but they had a short married life. The following year Mrs. Solendine gave birth to twins, and died almost immediately after. The daughter Dorcas died the same year; and not long after, John² and his young son moved to Lancaster. In 1761, John Solendine was serving on the western frontier of the colonies, under Capt. Richard Saltonstall, with many other Lancaster men. He died Apr. 17, 1766, in Lancaster.

Children :

1. DORCAS,⁴ b. May 23, 1758, in Shirley; d. Aug. 18, 1758.
 5. ii. JOHN, b. May 22, 1753, in Shirley.
4. ISAAC² SOLENDINE (John,² *John*¹) was born in Groton, Apr. 18, 1732. He was only six years old when his father died, and at least until 1744 he was allowed to live with his mother. In the latter year, Manassah Divol, his oldest sister's husband, petitioned the Court and obtained the guardianship of Isaac and his sister Sarah.† No sooner had Isaac reached his majority, however, than the speculative spirit of his father seized him, and he began to buy real estate. He bought and sold land in Lancaster, Leominster, Rutland and other towns until 1804. In that year Jacob Fisher, William Wilder and John Prentiss, Selectmen of Lancaster, petitioned the Court to appoint a guardian for Isaac, that he "does by excessive drinking, Idleness &c. so spend, waste and lessen his Estate, as thereby to expose himself to want & suffering circumstances."*

Isaac Solendine never married, so far as is known. He bought a farm near his brother John, in 1758,† but in 1762 he sold it again, and followed his brother to Lancaster, where he lived the remainder of his life. He died in Lancaster, of consumption, Sept. 16, 1806, aged 75 years.

5. JOHN⁴ SOLENDINE (John,³ John,³ John¹) was born in Shirley, Mass., May 22, 1753. As a young boy, after the death of his mother, he was taken to Lancaster by his father, and there he spent the rest of his life. His intention of marriage with Susanna Farwell was published May 8, 1773. He died of pleurisy, Feb. 25, 1807, aged 55 years. On Mar. 4, 1808, his widow committed suicide, at the house of her son-in-law, Calvin Wilder.

Children:

- i. JOHN,⁴ 1774; d. Nov. 2 or 4, 1825, of consumption, in the Poor House at Lancaster, aged 51 yrs.
 - ii. SUSANNA, m. Dec. 17, 1795, Calvin Wilder of Lancaster.
6. iii. MANASSAH, b. 1780.
- iv. MARY ANNE, b. 1795; d. Feb. 25, 1807, aged 12 yrs. 9 mos.
6. MANASSAH⁶ SOLENDINE (John,⁴ John,³ John,² John¹) was born about 1780, in Lancaster. He married, Jan. 1, 1804, Deborah Fairbanks of Bolton. His six children were all born in Lancaster, where he lived until 1823. On Feb. 11 of that year, James Parker, Jr., of Shirley, wrote in his diary, "Manassah Solendine moved into the Frost Farm." This farm was on the banks of the Nashua, in "Pine Plain," lying north of the Cateconemaug in Shirley. Two years later, Adeline, his second daughter, went to James Parker, Jr.'s, to live and work, and on June 10, 1825, Mr. Parker wrote, "Abraham Durant and Adeline Solendine were married at my house and went off: moved to Westford same day."

On Nov. 8, 1827, Deborah, wife of Manassah Solendine, died of consumption, aged 46 years, and two years later her daughter Celinda died. Manassah wrote to the Hon. Nathaniel Paine, Judge of Probate, that it was "inconvenient" for him to administer the estate, and requested that Jacob Foster be appointed. He is called then of Lancaster, and it is probable that he moved to his native town after the death of his wife.

On Aug. 16, 1832, Manassah Solendine died of consumption. His wife's gravestone is the only one remaining in Lancaster which bears the Solendine name.

Children:

Communicated by Miss MARY KINGSBURY TALCOTT, of Hartford, Conn.

From the manuscript copy owned by the Connecticut Society of Colonial Dames.

Eastbury Society, in Glastenbury, was incorporated by the General Assembly of Connecticut in May, 1731. The church record of baptisms, marriages, etc., from that date to 1768 is lost.

On Apr. 20, 1769, Rev. James Eells was called to the pastorate, and remained there until his death, Jan. 20, 1805. He was born Mar. 11, 1742-3, in Middletown Upper Houses, Conn., a son of Rev. Edward and Martha (Pitkin) Eells, was graduated at Yale College in 1763, studied theology, and was licensed to preach by the Hartford South Association of Ministers, Oct., 1768. He was a cousin of his neighbour Rev. John Eells of Glastenbury, both being grandsons of Rev. Nathaniel Eells of Scituate, Mass.

This parish is now called Buckingham. (See Glastenbury Centennial, 1853; Dexter's Yale Graduates, III., 18.)

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

LIST OF EMIGRANT LIVERYMEN OF LONDON.—The following list is of some value as, besides the fact of a man having emigrated, we get the name of the Livery to which he belonged, and from this the record of apprenticeship can be obtained, giving age, parentage and place of birth.

The book from which this information is taken has no title page nor is it dated, but it was made about 1801-2, Sir John Eamer, kn., being Lord Mayor.

The names in the body of the book are under wards and streets, then follows that part of London outside the city, next the near counties, then the distant counties, Wales and Scotland, and finally a list of the Liverymen whose addresses are unknown or are abroad.

Those who are stated to be in America or abroad are here printed, but some of the others may have been in America, unknown to the Clerk of the Company, so the list might repay a search for any individual in America thought to have come from England.

THOMAS MALLET, OF NEWPORT, R. I., "came from Great Marlow in ye county of Buckingham, Old England, and departed this life in the year of our Lord 1704 on on ye 16 day of January and in ye 56 year of his age," as his gravestone in Trinity Church graveyard, Newport, tells us. He left no children, but was survived by his widow Mary, who was born in 1664, married first, probably in 1682, Samuel Wilcox of Dartmouth, who died before June 9, 1702,* married second, Thomas Mallet, married third, John Sanford of Newport, and died at Newport, Dec. 15, 1721, in the 57th year of her age according to her gravestone inscription, on Jan. 15, 1722, according to the petition below. Her gravestone in the Common Buring Ground on Farewell Street, Newport, bears an armorial design and is described in The Heraldic Journal, vol. iii.

WILLIAM² WOOD (*John*¹) of Portsmouth, R. I., married Martha² Earle (Ralph¹) of Portsmouth, as shown by Ralph¹ Earle's will, dated Nov. 19, 1673. William² Wood moved to Dartmouth, Mass., and there died in 1697. The inventory of his estate was taken in July of that year, and the estate divided among his ten children, viz.: i. Willam Wood; ii. George Wood; iii. Josiah Wood; iv. Daniel Wood; v. John Wood; vi. Joseph Wood; vii. Mr. Mallet's wife; viii. Sarah Wood; ix. Margaret Wood; x. Rebecca Wood. (Austin's Gen. Dict. of R. I., p. 231.)

Hence the name of Thomas Mallet's wife Mary was Mary Wood. By her first husband, Samuel Wilcox (son of Daniel and Elizabeth (Cook) Wilcox*) she had three children, whose births, as children "of Samuel Willcocks," are recorded at Dartmouth, Mass. They were: Jeremiah, born Sept. 24, 1683; William, born Feb. 2, 1685; and Mary, born Feb. 14, 1688.† William evidently died young. Jeremiah and Mary appear at various dates in Newport Land Evidences;‡ and in Oct., 1728, Jeremiah Wilcox, the only son of Mary Sanford dec'd, late wife of John Sanford of Newport, butcher, and Capt. Thomas Brooks, whose dec'd wife Mary (formerly Mary Wilcox) was the only daughter of said Mary Sanford, petitioned the Town Council for a settlement of said Mary Sanford's estate.§

BETHUNE.—In the article on George Bethune, ante, page 238, Mr. Noyes states that Bethune came to Boston about 1710, and was a member of the Scots Charitable Society. He was indeed a member of that Society, joining in 1705, and was in Boston earlier than that year, having been a witness on 11 Oct., 1703, to a document signed by William Gibbins.

Mr. Noyes does not mention the parish in Scotland from whence Bethune came, neither is it mentioned by Mrs. John A. Weisse in her history of the Bethune family. William Bethune, advocate, had the estate of Craigfoodie in a parish of Fifehire called Dairsie. It is two miles north-east of Cupar. In Dairsie Castle lived Archbishop Spottiswood, and there he wrote his Church History of Scotland. In the parish are also two hills of moderate height, Foodie and Craigfoodie, both being remarkable for bearing crops nearly to their summits. That of Craigfoodie is 554 feet high, parts of it being known as Easter and Wester Craigfoodie. Five miles north-west of Cupar is Creich, of which the Bethunes were lairds.

William Bethune, advocate, of Craigfoodie, made his will in 1703, and died in 1706. In the "Inquisitionem Retornatarum Abbreviatio" we find under date of 10 May, 1680, "Magister Gulielmus Beathune de Craigfuiddie advocatus, haeres Jacobi Beathune filii Roberti Beathune de Bandorie, fratris,—in annuo-redditu 100 l. de villa et terris de Coull; in terris de Easter Leathrisk, in speciale warrantum dictae villae et terrarum de Coull."

George Bethune purchased the estate on the south corner of Washington and Summer streets, Boston, in 1724, and there erected a brick house which stood for over a century in the possession of the family, and was known as Bethune's Corner. A description of the house shows it to have been a fine example of the dwellings of that period.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

JOHN HAMPDEN.—It is proposed to build in Chalgrove, Oxfordshire, England, in memory of John Hampden, the patriot, one of the twelve grantees of land in Connecticut in 1632, who was mortally wounded in the skirmish of Chalgrove Field in 1643, a Village Hall for general purposes, on a plot of ground within the Vicarage Glebe. The Vicar has offered the site, and the Patrons (the Dean and Chapter of Christ Church, Oxford) have sanctioned the plan.

In Chalgrove itself little if any help can be obtained, and it is hoped that admirers of John Hampden elsewhere may wish to combine in promoting this useful work. Subscriptions will be gladly received, on behalf of the Committee, by the Rev. J. Howard Swinstead, Chalgrove Vicarage, Wallingford, Oxfordshire, Eng.

BOOK NOTICES.*

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail.]

Paternal Pedigree. Compiled by JOSEPH WHITMAN BAILEY. Boston, Mass. 1906. Blue Print Chart. 4 ft. 8 in. by 1 ft. 10 in.

In a note Mr. Bailey says: "While there is some slight difference of authority as regards a few distant and unimportant lines, it is believed that no such difference exists in any of the more material descents."

Thomas Ferrier and Some of his Descendants. Compiled by ELIZABETH FERRIER LANE. The Independent, Elkhorn, Wisconsin. 1906. 8vo. pp. 56.

Thomas Ferrier came from Ireland, probably in 1729, and in 1731 is found at Little Britain, in what is now Orange Co., N. Y. At the end of the record of his descendants are short sections bearing the titles "Vanderoef," "Wisner," "Ancestors of Hiram W. Lane," and "Goldin." The print of the pamphlet is fine, and the amount of matter put into its pages is considerable, and well indexed.

Freese Families. By JOHN WESLEY FREESE. Published jointly by the Author and Benjamin Marsh Freese and Edwin Abraham Freese, all Great Grandsons of Abraham Freese. 1749-1800. [Cambridge. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 78. Ill.

The name of the immigrant Freese of New England has not been discovered. This genealogy begins with John Freese who settled on Freese's Island, incorporated as a part of Deer Isle, Maine. The record of the descendants of his sons, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, constitutes the greater part of the work, with with the exception of the "Miscellaneous Data" which consist of "disconnected items concerning individual Freeses." The genealogy contains many biographical details. Print and binding are good, and there are fifteen full-page illustrations. There is no index.

The Hills Family in America. The Ancestry and Descendants of William Hills, the English Emigrant to New England in 1632; of Joseph Hills, the English Emigrant to New England in 1638, and of the Great-grandsons of Robert Hills, of the Parish of Wye, County of Kent, England. Emigrants to New England 1794-1806. Compiled by WILLIAM SANFORD HILLS, and edited by THOMAS HILLS. The Grafton Press: Genealogical Publishers. New York. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. xx + 713. Ill. Plans. For sale by the publishers, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City.

The title pages indicate the contents of the greater part of the volume, the remainder consisting of "Partial Lines," "Recent Immigrants and their Families," "Supplementary Records connecting with the Connecticut Branch," and appendixes and indexes. The general accuracy of the work may be inferred from the statement of the editor that the compiler, though totally blind, being "blessed with a tenacious memory, was able to so arrange the results of his investigations that not in a single instance did the editor find confusion in his lines." It gives a careful and comprehensive record of more than five thousand individuals, and is a monumental work that every member of the family can regard with pride and satisfaction. The compiler and editor deserve great credit for the production of such an excellent genealogy, which is a finished example of good taste in the printer's art.

Genealogy of the Parke Families of Connecticut; including Robert Parke, of New London, Edward Parks, of Guilford, and others. Also a list of Parke, Park, Parks, etc., who fought in the Revolutionary War. Compiled by FRANK SYLVESTER PARKS. Washington, D. C. 1906. 8vo. pp. 333. Ill.

The principal contents of this volume, besides those indicated on the title page, are "Some English Parke Families," "Peter Park and Descendants," and "John Parks, of Emhurst, England." Peter Park was of Stonington, Conn.

* All of the unsigned reviews are written by Mr. FREDERICK WILLARD PARKE of Boston.

Biography is abundant in these pages, and the genealogy itself, which is arranged according to the REGISTER system, comprises all that it has been possible to learn, during a search of six years, concerning the families which were the subject of the investigations. The work is thoroughly indexed.

A Genealogy of the Lineal Descendants of John Steevens who settled in Guilford, Conn., in 1645. Compiled by CHARLOTTE STEEVENS HOLMES, 1906. Edited by CLAY W. HOLMES, A.M., Elmira, N. Y. [Elmira, 1906.] Large 8vo. pp. 162.

In the chapter of this genealogy which relates to the emigrant ancestor, the author upsets the pedigree given to John Steevens in the genealogy recently issued by the Rev. C. Ellis Stevens, LL.D. Exception is also taken to Dr. Stevens's arrangement of the children of the emigrant. Of the American family, the descendants of Thomas,² son of John,¹ have been recorded with special care. There is an appendix containing "The Planters Covenant," wills, and miscellaneous matter. This well compiled and edited book is printed in clear type on exceptionally good and heavy paper, and is thoroughly indexed.

Tayer (Thayer) Family Entries in the Parish Register of Thornbury, Gloucestershire, England. Communicated by WALTER FAXON, Esq., and EDWARD HENRY WHORF, Esq. With Introduction and Notes by HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M. Abstracts of Wills relating to the Tayer (Thayer) Family of Thornbury, Gloucestershire, England. Communicated by HENRY ERNEST WOODS, A.M. [Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1906.] Large 8vo. pp. 11.

These two titles are combined in a single pamphlet, reprinted from the REGISTER for July, 1906.

In Memoriam. A Sketch of the Life of the Rev. Francis Bickford Hornbrooke, D.D. By his Wife. Together a Tribute by his Friend, James DeNormandie, D.D. Newton: Newton Graphic Publishing Co. 1905. 8vo. pp. 52. Ill.

Dr. Hornbrooke was ordained minister of the Union Congregational (Trinitarian) Church, East Hampton, Conn., in 1874, but afterwards embraced the Unitarian faith, finally becoming pastor of the Channing Church, Newton, Mass., from which he resigned in 1900. He died in 1903. Dr. Hornbrooke's breadth both of intellect and sympathy is finely indicated in this sketch. Dr. DeNormandie's tribute is the address which he delivered at the funeral.

Ralph's Scrap Book. Illustrated by his own Camera and Collection of Photographs, and compiled by his father, EDMUND BICKNELL. Dedicated to his friends and presented to them in his memory. Lawrence, Mass. 1905. Square 8vo. pp. 453.

This volume is the memorial of the talents of an only child whose literary abilities promised a life of success, but who died at the age of twenty-three. The book consists of reminiscences of his activities, extracts from his writings in prose and verse, and an account of his protracted struggle with the disease to which he finally succumbed.

Biographical Sketch of the Rev. Charles C. Kimball, D.D., LL.D. By J. H. E. n. p.; n. d. 12mo. pp. 8. Portrait.

Dr. Kimball was a Presbyterian minister, though several years of his life were devoted to educational work. He was born at Newport, New Hampshire, in 1834, and died in New York, in 1905.

An Address on the Character of General Seth Pomeroy, delivered on the Two Hundredth Anniversary of his Birth, by George Ellwood Pomeroy, at First Church of Christ, organized 1661, Northampton, Mass., Sunday, May 20, 1906, under the auspices of Seth Pomeroy Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution. [Toledo, Ohio. 1906.] 4to. pp. 19.

A Sketch of the Life of George Roberts, who fought under John Paul Jones. By CHARLES H. ROBERTS. 1905. Reprint with Corrections and Additional Memoranda. [Concord, N. H.] Large 8vo. pp. 8. Fac-simile.

George Roberts, the grandfather of the writer of this sketch, was born at Dover, N. H., in 1755. His family were Quakers. He was under Commodore Jones both in the Ranger and the Bon Homme Richard, and partook in the engagement with the Serapis.

Memoir of Robert Charles Winthrop, Jr. By HENRY HERBERT EDES. Reprinted from the Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Vol. X. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son. University Press. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. 21. Portrait.

This interesting sketch closely follows in character one by the same author which appeared in the REGISTER for July, 1906.

Our Work. Vol. 2. No. 7. May 1, 1906. Published monthly under the auspices of the Winkley Guild, in the interests of the work at Bulfinch Place Church, [Boston, Mass.] 8vo. pp. 4. Ill.

The article in this number to which attention is particularly invited is "Bulfinch Place and the Bulfinch Family."

Historical Sketches of Bluehill, Maine, by R. G. F. CANDAGE, Brookline, Mass. Printed for the Bluehill Historical Society. Ellsworth, Maine: Hancock County Publishing Co., Printers. 1905. 8vo. pp. 88.

This volume is a collection of stories interspersed with genealogy, containing many anecdotes and personal reminiscences of members of the families of which accounts are given. The sketches consist of facts collected from history, tradition and memory respecting the homesteads of the Southern part of Blue Hill and their occupants. Some of the narrations are exceedingly humorous, as, for instance, that relating to the church meeting "to make enquiry concerning an alleged contradiction between the Rev. Mr. Fisher and Mrs. Fisher on the subject of some cherry rum thrown away between them."

Burlington, Connecticut. Historical Address delivered by Epaphroditus Peck at the Centennial Celebration, on June 16, 1906. Printed and published by the Bristol Press Publishing Co., Bristol, Conn. 8vo. pp. 36.

Vital Records of the Town of Dorchester from 1826 to 1849. Boston: Municipal Printing Office. 1905. 8vo. pp. 288.

This volume, arranged on the plan adopted for vital records issued under the State act of 1902, is the thirty-sixth report in the series of Boston Records, and comprises, besides the contents denoted on the title-page, "additional deaths, copied from epitaphs of the First Burying Ground in Dorchester, which do not appear in the Dorchester Records."

Hills Family Genealogical and Historical Association. Incorporated July 6, 1894. Twelfth Annual Report of the Directors. Barnard Memorial Building, Boston, June 5, 1906.

This report calls particular attention to the publication of the Hills Genealogy, a notice of which will be found elsewhere in this issue of the REGISTER. After an appreciative recognition of the immense amount of work done by the compiler, the President of the Association, who was also the editor of the genealogy, gives a careful and exact description of the methods used in arranging and indexing the volume, which contains the record of more than five thousand names.

Proceedings of the Celebration of the Two Hundred and Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the Settlement of Medford, Massachusetts, June, 1905. Prefaced by a brief History of the Town and City from the day of settlement, by JOHN HOOPER. Published by the Executive Committee. [Boston. 1906.] Large 8vo. pp. xii+261. Ill. Maps.

Mr. Hooper's history occupies eighty-seven pages of this volume and is an excellent epitome of the development of the town. The five days of the anniversary celebration are completely recorded, all the addresses, which formed so large a part of the exercises, being given in full. The illustrations are numerous and of superior quality, the greater part being portraits.

History of the Marine Society of Newburyport, Massachusetts, from its incorporation in 1772 to the year 1906: Together with a complete Roster and a Narrative of Important Events in the Lives of its Members. Compiled by Captain VOL. LX. 28

WILLIAM H. BAYLEY and Captain OLIVER O. JONES. [Newburyport.] 1906. 4to. pp. 506. Ill.

The objects of this Society, as stated in the preface, are "to improve the knowledge of the coast by the several members, upon their arrival from sea, communicating their observations, inwards and outwards, of the variation of the needle, soundings, courses, distances, and other remarkable things in writing, to be lodged with the society, for the greater security of navigation, and to raise a common fund for the relief of the members and their families in poverty, or other adverse circumstances." Interesting as the records of the society are, they are surpassed by the "Incidents in Lives of Members." A list of the curiosities in the Society's Museum appropriately follows this latter section of the work. There is an index of subjects and of members.

The Fifty-third Annual Report of the Directors of the American Congregational Association, presented on May the Twenty-eighth, 1906. Report of the Congregational Library. Boston: American Congregational Association, Congregational House. 1906. 8vo. pp. 22.

The French Blood in America. By LUCIAN J. FOSDICK. Illustrated. New York, Chicago, Toronto, London and Edinburgh: Fleming H. Revell Company. [1906.] 8vo. pp. 448.

This work consists of three books; the first, "The Rise of Protestantism in France"; the second, "Early Attempts at Colonization"; the third, "The French Protestants in America," the last book being divided into four parts entitled respectively, "New England," "The French in New York," "Pennsylvania and the Southern States," and "The French in Various Relations." From this outline of its contents its comprehensive character will be seen, justifying the author's assertion that no other single volume is its equal in this respect. From Joan of Arc, who is considered the forerunner of the Protestants, to the settlement of the Huguenots in America, the history of French Protestantism and of its connection with this country is given most fully. The letter-press and illustrations are in keeping with the general excellence of the volume, and there is a good index.

The Investments of Harvard College, 1776-1790: An Episode in the Finances of the Revolution. By ANDREW MCFARLAND DAVIS. Reprinted from the Quarterly Journal of Economics, Vol. XX., May, 1906. [Cambridge. 1906.] 8vo. pp. 399-418.

This pamphlet consists of what Mr. Davis calls a "brief inspection" of the accounts of Ebenezer Storer, treasurer of Harvard College at the period of the Revolution, and shows the admirable manner in which he and others who had charge of the college investments met the duties imposed upon them.

The John P. Branch Historical Papers of Randolph-Macon College. Published Annually by the Department of History. Vol. II. No. 2. June, 1906. Richmond: Taylor and Taylor Printing Co. 1906. 8vo. pp. 183. Price $1.00. Address Wm. E. Dodd, Editor, Ashland, Va.

The contents of this number consist of "R. M. T. Hunter," by D. R. Anderson, and "Virginia Opposition to Chief Justice Marshall,"—Reprints from the Richmond Enquirer, 1821.

The documents published in these "Records" are arranged under the heads of the respective Governors, and in chronological order. In these volumes the dates are Jan. 3, 1751—Aug. 1810. A large proportion of the contents is correspondence. As to the work in general, its plan includes all denominations, furnishing therefore a complete ecclesiastical history of the State.

Official Records of the Union and Confederate Navies in the War of the Rebellion.

Published under the direction of the Hon. CHARLES J. BONAPARTE, Secretary of the Navy, by Mr. CHARLES W. STEWART, Superintendent Library and Naval War Records. By authority of an Act of Congress approved July 31, 1894. Series I—Vol. 20. West Gulf Blockading Squadron. From March 15 to Dec. 31, 1863. Washington: Government Printing Office. 1905. 8vo. pp. xiv+960. Ill. Map.

Princeton Historical Association. Extra Publications, Number One. A Brief Narrative of the Ravages of the British and Hessians at Princeton, 1776-1777. Princeton, N. J.: The University Library. 1906. Large 8vo. pp. x+56. Price $1.00. Apply to Library of Princeton University.

This narrative was written by some person in his eighty-fifth year whose name it has been impossible to ascertain. Though including accounts of the battles of Trenton and Princeton, it affords no new information respecting either. Its importance consists in its relation of facts regarding the "twenty-six days tyranny" of the British and Hessian occupation of Princeton. The notes of the editor, Mr. V. L. Collins, Reference Librarian of Princeton University Library, furnish many confirmations of the sufferings inflicted by the hostile army on the people of New Jersey. In addition to the extensive annotation there is an index.

The Twentieth Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, 1861-1865. By Brevet Lt.-Colonel GEORGE A. BRUCE. At the Request of the Officers' Association of the Regiment. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin and Co. The Riverside Press, Cambridge. 1906. 8vo. pp. viii+519. Ill. Maps.

This regiment, commanded by Col. William Raymond Lee, was known as the Harvard Regiment from the fact that a large proportion of its officers were young men from Harvard College. Its services were of the most notable character, and it is the fifth on the list of regiments that encountered the heaviest losses. The engagement at Ball's Bluff, in which this regiment partook and which was particularly fatal to Massachusetts men, is related with what the author considers undue prolixity, but which he says "is the only correct and complete history of it that he has ever seen." The record of the actions of the regiment, which is compiled from official reports, general and regimental histories, and newspapers, is supplemented by the Roster.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT.

FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE NEW ENGLAND
HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY :

It has long been the custom for the president to make an annual address to the Society, though I have sometimes thought that perhaps it was a custom that might be more honored in the breach than the observance, inasmuch as it seems to be expected that the president shall review the proceedings of the year, which have already been fully set forth in the various reports. Last year the incongruity of presenting the same facts in three different forms suggested to the Society the propriety of printing the reports instead of reading them to those of the Society present, and this suggestion was adopted and the reports accordingly printed. As it is wholly unnecessary for me to repeat what is of necessity embodied in the reports, I shall only touch upon a few points in them to which I desire to call particular attention ; and, first, the house we live in, which we all realize has been outgrown by the Society, and is wholly inadequate to its requirements. Not only are we crowded for space but we are exposed to danger from fire, and the loss of our library and collections would be irreparable. Fortunately, we have acquired sufficient land in the rear of our building to enable us to erect thereon a fire-proof structure for our library, and should our property not be taken for public use, we should, during the year, take some steps towards building. Our finances are in extremely good condition, and we have reason to be pleased that we have this year lived within our appropriations, a consummation devoutly to be wished hereafter. Our library too, shows a healthy growth, and the Librarian and Committee in charge are entitled to no small measure of credit for their able and intelligent conduct of its affairs.

The same may be said of the editor of the REGISTER and your Publication Committee ; in fact, all of your active committees merit the regards of the Society.

Genealogy is now generally considered a legitimate subject of study. Fifty years ago this was far from the case, and those who gave themselves only in a moderate degree to this branch of history, were looked upon as at least erratic. Now, however, a man can hardly be regarded as educated who does not know something of his own family history, and something, too, of that of the larger characters of history, for education, once confined to the narrowest limits, has overleaped its bounds and now finds the widest fields of knowledge all too narrow for its exploration. Even the imagination, once the unquestioned prerogative of Art, has been made tributary to Science, and may now be as legitimately employed by an Agassiz and a Pierce, as by a Longfellow and a Holmes. At the same time, we are far from being an educated people in a real sense. Our system of popular education has produced imperfect fruit ; indeed, much of the product of our colleges and universities is coarse and unsound. How many men who boast a diploma are devoid of that ethical sense which is the test of true culture. The other day a party of young men, higher classmen in one of our colleges, who had evidently been participants in a football game, entered a car upon which I was coming to Boston. Proceeding at once to monopolize the vacant places, they sprawled over the seats, placing their feet in many instances over the backs of those in front of them, and by loud talk, snatches of college songs, and horse play made themselves obnoxious to their fellow travellers. I wondered if an intelligent foreigner would not have supposed these fellows to have been descendants of one of our aboriginal tribes, rather than of respectable American families, and I wondered still farther what they would be likely to become when they entered upon the real business of life. Certainly, most of them could never become cultivated, well balanced christian gentlemen ; rather would they, the spiritual side of their nature having in the process of their education been left fallow, become exploiters of selfish business schemes, attaches of yellow journalism, and political bosses, to whom all games, if successful, are orthodox ; in other words, apt devotees of commercialism, to use a popular and expressive term, which embodies all forms of greed for gain, and of which the consummate flower is graft. Yes, with all our boasted devotion to education, we are still far from being an educated people. We have learned enough to use slang more copiously and more graphically than it was ever used before by any people, and to exploit fads most convincingly to shallow thinkers; but having neglected moral and religious education in the schools, we are losing our morals and our faith. It seems to me that the most crying need of the time is education in morals, particularly that phase of morals relating to one's private and public duties. In these respects the moral sense seems to have become woefully blunted.

So strong has the spirit of commercialism become, that a man cannot perform a service to a fellow man, and especially to the public, without being suspected of being influenced by selfish motives; in fact, men as a rule wholly fail to recognize disinterestedness in any service, hence men of character very largely refuse to accept public office in which they might render valuable service, because they shrink from attracting to themselves the attention of illnatured critics, which would not only render them personally uncomfortable, but tend to lower them in the esteem of their fellows. Party papers, whose only function should be to instruct their readers in the principle of their party, showing by fair arguments their superiority over those of their opponents, are largely responsible for this; too many of them ignoring argument and indulging in inuendo and personal criticism bordering often upon libel. Nothing debauches public morals and lowers the character of public service more than this, and if the boycott is ever justifiable, it should be applied to papers which resort to such reprehensible methods.

I have intimated that commercialism has invaded every field of human activity, even people who were taught in older fashioned times to regard the ballot as a sacred thing to be used only in promoting the public welfare, have found out that it really possesses commercial value and employ it for private advantage. I have been astounded at this new phase of graft. Said an alderman in a good New England city to me, Mr. X has withdrawn his trade from me much so my loss, because I failed to get his street paved. This attracted my attention, and investigation disclosed the fact that men owning property upon some street frequently traded their votes in order to secure the nomination or election of men who would pledge themselves, as an offset, to make improvements to their pecuniary benefit. Citizens, whatever their private interests may be, who have no higher conception of the sanctity of the ballot than to prostitute it to private gain in any form, might as well join the despicable army of floaters and sell their votes to the highest bidder. It is strange that men cannot see that such practices must inevitably result in giving the direction of government to venal men to their own injury as well as to that of the public.

It is high time that the pupils in our public schools should be given the advantage of a course of instruction in good citizenship; in fact, I believe that such a course of instruction is necessary if we would make this country the abode of a free people. Evidences of the need of such instruction are constantly multiplying. Within a month, a candidate was visited on the eve of an election by a considerable number of boys from one of the best wards of the town. They had chosen a spokesman who informed the candidate that they wanted a valuable piece of ground which he owned, part of the lawn of a fine old estate, for a ground for football and other games, and they backed up their demand by informing him in the most significant manner that their fathers were all voters. Not contented with this, they called the next day upon a member of the city committee and requested him to use his influence with the candidate, who could have their fathers' votes if their request was granted. These boys had, of course, learned the commercial value of votes in their own homes, where education begins, and must begin if education in the schools is to achieve its best results.

It is certainly a hopeful sign to see that writers are taking up the subject of the duties of citizenship. Such works as "The Citizen and the Neighbor" and "The American Citizen," written by Rev. Charles F. Dole of Jamaica Plain, are invaluable, and can be made of great public service. If the contents of these little books could be made available to the youth of this country, the benefit to them would be incalculable, because it would put them on the highway to the knowledge that the man who holds a ballot has had bestowed upon him by the nation a sacred trust to be used solely, in accordance with his best light, for the public good. To use his ballot for personal profit renders a man unworthy of the franchise.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

Prepared by ALBERT MATTHEWS, A.B.

THE subject of names is a large one, and has been treated frequently and extensively. Nevertheless, it will perhaps be possible, in brief space, to throw out some suggestions which may prove of value to the members of a society like this. Do not some of us, in our genealogical researches, feel that our labor is in a somewhat narrow field? The facts we accumulate about a certain person are doubtless of extreme interest to ourselves and to the descendants and family of that person, but are they so to others? Can we not broaden the field, and so make the labor more interesting at once to ourselves and to others?

Let us consider for a moment the matter of Christian names. There are instances of double names in the seventeenth century, and they were perhaps more common in the eighteenth century than is generally supposed. At that time, they were apparently more frequently given to girls than to boys. At the present day our English cousins are as heavily burdened in this respect as we are; but in England boys seem seldom to be named after distinguished persons. With us, on the contrary, this practice is most pronounced. Its origin is to be found in the political turmoil engendered by the Stamp Act. On October 16, 1766, a Boston boy "was Baptized by the Name of Wilkes, when it had No. 45, in Bows, pinn'd on its Breast." Within the next few years children in Boston were baptized by the names of William Pitt, Oliver Cromwell, Paschal Paoli, Catharine Macaulay, George Whitefield, Samuel Adams, George Washington, Charles Lee, Henry Knox, and Benjamin Franklin. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that, were other material lost, the history of our country might be reconstructed from Christian names. Thus from a source so seemingly unpromising as baptismal registers facts of interest can be drawn.

In investigating the origin and history of literary usages, it is surprising how often it becomes necessary to inquire minutely into the lives of persons. Wherever we find a term containing a proper name, there seems to be an ineradicable tendency in the human mind to explain the term by referring it to some person or thing of the same name. Thus,—to take but a few instances,—it has been alleged that Brother Jonathan is derived from Governor Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut, Uncle Sam from Samuel Wilson of Troy, Yankee from Jonathan Hastings of Cambridge, lynch law from Charles Lynch of Virginia.

The Sons of Liberty have not received the attention they deserve. The name itself was coined by Colonel Isaac Barré in the debates on the Stamp Act in the House of Commons in 1765. They appear to have had a regular organization, and the warning notices issued by them were sent out in the names of "M. Y., Secretary," "O. C., Secretary," "P. P., Clerk," etc. Were these the initials of the members who held the positions? Again, what was the significance of "Joyce, Jr."—the name under which the chairman of the committee for tarring and feathering masqueraded? Once more, was the father of Samuel Adams actually, as he is said to have been, the founder of the Caulkers' Club, and did the Caulkers' Club give rise to a word which has played so important a part in the political history of our country—caucus? Those searching for genealogical facts relating to the prominent actors of the Stamp Act period may at any moment stumble on letters or documents which would solve these questions.

These remarks have been desultory and inadequate in the extreme, but perhaps enough has been said to show that genealogical researches and investigations into the origin of literary usages, besides satisfying a natural desire to ascertain the facts, often throw light on the manners, the customs, the political beliefs, and the history of our colonial or provincial or national periods.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Litt.D., William Tracy Eustis, Esq., Nathaniel Johnson Rust, Esq., Henry Winchester Cunningham, A.B., William Taggard Piper, Ph.D., and Nathaniel Cushing Nash, A.M., the Committee :

The total expenditure from the unrestricted income of the Society, for the year ending 31 December, 1905, has been $9,158.48. The details of this expenditure are given in the report of the Treasurer.

Legacies have been received from Walter Titus Avery, amounting to $950.00, and from Robert Charles Winthrop, Junior, amounting to $3,000.00.

The Committee has authorized the purchase of four Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, three Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western, three Central of New Jersey, three New York Central & Hudson River, three Missouri Pacific, and three Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad bonds, each of one thousand dollars, as an investment of the principal on hand.

The Committee also reports that by practising the strictest economy—restricting the work in the Library merely to what was indispensable—the Society has lived within its income this year, and has used none of its invested funds to pay current expenses; but expenses have been so reduced, by cutting off many things that would improve the Library, that the Committee earnestly hopes the friends of the Society will come to its aid by generous gifts and bequests during the coming year.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON REAL ESTATE, by Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Litt.D., Henry Winchester Cunningham, A.B., Thomas Hills, Esq., and Nathaniel Johnson Rust, Esq., the Committee :

The Committee, appointed early in the year, has examined the present House and the adjoining real estate owned by the Society, and considers that it has great possibilities, and can hardly be improved upon as a home for the Society. The Committee also looked at several sites and buildings in the neighborhood, but found prices high and buildings not adapted to the Society's purposes, and came to the conclusion that the present situation was as good a one as means permitted, particularly as it was important for genealogical work to be near the State House and the Court House. And as there seemed to be no immediate prospect of the present House being taken for public purposes, the Committee abandoned further search.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by George Brown Knapp, A.M., Helen Frances Kimball, Myles Standish, M.D., Joseph Gardner Bartlett, Esq., and William Prescott Greenlaw, Esq., the Committee :

The danger of the total and irreparable loss by fire of the Library of our Society has oppressed the Committee on Library for several years. It was known to them that the construction of the Library building made it a very hazardous fire risk and that the building was structurally weak.

It was evident to the most casual observer that the original structure, a lightly built dwelling house, had been weakened by the removal of all the interior partitions except those surrounding the stairs, that the heavily loaded library floor was supported upon unprotected iron columns incapable of withstanding any great amount of heat. It was known that a weak floor had been laid above the old library floor in such a way as to leave an open space from wall to wall both ways between the floor and the ceiling below it. That the upper floor added weight without giving additional strength and left an open space which would allow fire to spread rapidly, weakening the light timbers, so that there would be a collapse of the building in a short time if fire once got under way in that space. The timbers of this floor were known to be neither large enough nor near enough together for a building used for public purposes, and that they had been very much weakened by cutting to accommodate gas pipes in the centre of the span.

It was also known that the old-fashioned construction created open spaces running vertically between the brick walls and the plaster on all sides behind the bookcases, and would be exceedingly difficult to reach in case of fire, so that enormous damage to the books by water and otherwise would result from even a slight fire. These spaces would, in all probability, also serve as flues to conduct fire into the dangerous places, namely, the space between the library floor and the ceiling below it, and the loft above the library ceiling.

The furnace room was low studded, so that it was evident that the ceiling was dangerously near the top of the furnace, and that in cold weather the room was frequently overheated.

It was remembered that when the building was enlarged, years ago, the rear wall of the original structure had been removed up to the level of the balcony in the library, leaving the weight of the roof and the remaining portion of the rear wall supported by brick piers over that portion of the library room. These facts, and a general sense of insecurity, induced the Library Committee to appoint a sub-committee to investigate the condition of the building. Mr. J. Gardner Bartlett for that sub-committee made the following report :

“The edifice was originally built over 100 years ago for a dwelling house, was altered for their use when bought by the Society about 35 years ago, and has since been enlarged and altered twice. In 1891 the bulging of the north wall rendered the building liable to collapse, and this wall was strengthened by piers and the building tied together with cross rods in the floors.

The whole construction of the building from cellar to roof is totally unsuited for the purpose of a Library or the deposit of valuable books or manuscripts. Investigations at various times have shown that dangerous conditions exist, like exposure of woodwork to heat and smoke flues, timbers so cut for piping as to reduce their strength by half, exposure of the building to explosion from escaping gas, etc. The whole construction of the building is too light for the purpose for which it is used, and is also of an inflammable character; the construction of the library floor and roof, especially, is of such a nature as in case of fire to afford a clean sweep for flames and a total loss of the contents of the building.

Nor is the safe at all a secure place for the valuable treasures of the Society, as the roof is not tight, and in case of a fire the contents of the safe would surely be damaged if not ruined by water; moreover, if the safe be made water-tight, as the limit of its capacity has been reached, further fire-proof space is necessary for new accessions.

Besides the risk from fire in the present building, the rapidly increasing accessions of the Society require larger quarters.

As the collections of the Society are not only of great money value, and historical importance, and besides the manuscripts, over 1,000 printed titles could not be replaced at any expense, we recommend that all such unreplaceable matter should be deposited at once in some safe place until the Society shall have a modern, thoroughly fire-proof building, the need of which is imperative."

The Committee accepted the report, and voted to approve and forward the recommendation in the last paragraph to the Council of the Society.

A sub-committee was then appointed to inquire into the expense of making the building less dangerous in case of fire. This sub-committee invited Messrs. Wheelwright & Haven, the well known architects, to make an examination of the building and an estimate as to the probable cost of such structural changes. These gentlemen reported as follows :

"BOSTON, 29 Nov. 1905.

MYLES STANDISH, M.D.,

N. E. Historic Genealogical Society.

Dear Sir:—In response to your request we submit the following report on the danger from fire in the Building of the N. E. Historic Genealogical Society and as to the possible and advisable precautions to be taken to lessen fire risk without complete reconstruction of the building, together with the cost thereof.

The building is an old dwelling house which has been altered over from time to time as requirements made necessary.

The walls, with the exception of an addition on the rear, are of less thickness than are now required by the Boston Building Laws (see Note A) and that on the north side is badly cracked and bulged. The party wall is 12" thick and further it is perforated by the timbers of the adjoining building. This perforation may also be the case in the lower stories, but this we were not able to ascertain without removing bookcases and plastering.

The floors are not stiff enough to carry the heavy load of the books without considerable vibration on the second and third floors. The ceiling of the third story in the old part is badly out of level and is held up by a light truss of old pattern and very light wood ties from the rafters supporting the ceiling joists. The roof is composition for the addition and slate for the old part. All walls with the exception of parts of the Basement and First Story are plastered on wooden laths and furring.

Note A.—The building is 50 ft. high to the highest point of the roof, and for a building of this height the Boston Building Laws require the following thicknesses of walls.

	Building Law.		As Existing.
		Front & Party Wall.	Side Wall.	Addition.
3d	16"	12	12	16

1. Fire Risk from External Causes.

The perforation of the party wall at the level of the third story ceiling may be easily remedied by closing the draft space with brick or metal lath and plaster, but the bearing of the timbers 8" into the wall is a more serious matter.

With this condition, if there were a severe fire in the adjoining building the party wall would probably be thrown by falling beams causing a section of the roof construction and all of the ceiling joists to fall upon the third floor which is already heavily loaded. If the floor joists of the third floor run 8" into the north outside wall, as we have reason to suppose, this wall already very weak would undoubtedly fall between the buttresses. If this should occur the library building would be a total wreck, and even if this wall should not fall the building, even if it were not wholly destroyed, would probably be so damaged that it would be poor economy to reconstruct.

The slate of the old roof when exposed to fire from the outside would crack and fall, leaving the roof boarding unprotected.

2. Fire Risk from Internal Causes.

The ceiling of the boiler room is of the ordinary construction of wood laths on plaster applied to the bottom of the floor joists. The plaster of the ceiling has been knocked away in places, leaving the laths and space between the timbers exposed. Fire might be caused in this room by overheating in the furnaces or by leaking gas, and in the basement in general, might be caused by rats or by spontaneous combustion in oiled rags or waste. A fire started in the cellar would be likely to ignite the wood lathed ceilings, thence, by the air spaces between the floor beams to the side and party walls of the building it could spread to all stories and the roof. The large number of wall cases renders it difficult to gain access to the furring space in case of fire.

Another way for fire to spread is offered by the light shaft starting at a little below the level of the second floor and running through the roof. The sides of this shaft are of stud construction and the party wall is framed with wood and plastered on wood lathing. Fire originating in the basement could follow up the under side of the stairs from first to second stories directly into this light shaft as there are unprotected glass doors on the stair landing and above this there is a window in the third story.

Hot air pipes to the various floors run behind wood casings and in many places are surrounded by cases filled with books, making fire channels hard of access.

To render the building a less dangerous fire risk we would propose :

1. To strip the party wall in all stories, fill solid with mortar between the wood furrings and then metal lath and plaster, leaving no air space.
2. To remove all ceilings plastered on wood lath and replace with metal lath and plaster.
3. To fire stop with plaster at both sides of each floor to prevent the spread of fire behind the furrings. In the basement to cross stop between the joists at several points the whole length of the building, to prevent the spread of fire in a horizontal direction between the floor beams.
4. To strip the plastering from staircases, fire stop them in accordance with the requirements of the Building Laws and plaster on metal lathing.

5. To build new roof of steel and concrete, carrying the weight on the party wall side by four steel columns extending from the new roof level to the basement floor. These should be located against the party wall in the adjoining building owned by the Society. On the side opposite the party wall three steel columns will carry the weight of new roof to the tops of the present buttresses. This method will relieve the party wall from any roof load, except that coming on it from the adjoining building, and the wall opposite the party wall will receive no roof load above the level of the third floor at which point the wall is reinforced by the buttresses.

6. To protect the furnace pipes by some effective insulating material.

The electric light installation should be thoroughly inspected by competent experts and all possible precautions taken for its proper insulation.

We would suggest replacing the present wooden bookcases with metal cases. This is especially desirable in the vaults and storage spaces in the basement and first story.

With the building in its present condition a night watchman should be employed and his service checked by a watchman's clock.

The total cost of fire-protecting the structure and of building a new roof of incombustible material as herein advised would not be less than $15,000, not reckoning the cost of storage of the books, etc., of replacing the present wood cases with metal, or of inspecting and further insulating the electric light installation.

Yours truly,

WHEELWRIGHT & HAVEN."

The architects' figures, it will be noticed, do not cover the expense of the metal cases and shelves, nor the cost of handling and storing the books during the reconstruction of the building, which would easily double the expense, and we should still have a building with weak walls, wooden floor timbers, and lacking space for the future growth of the Library.

Even at the present time, every available inch of space is occupied, and we have more than 20,000 volumes and pamphlets in storage. Our most valuable papers would still be stored in the brick vault of the present building, which is a structure of doubtful security. It is a brick arch construction, supported by iron beams. These beams, being unprotected like the iron columns in the hall above, would collapse if heated, and the entire manuscript collection would be lost. The roof of the safe is now badly cracked and thin, and probably would not be strong enough to survive the fall of the party wall, if the building itself should be destroyed.

We have land in the rear of the present building on which a building approximately 65×70 ft. and 80 ft. high, built of brick, with steel and tile arch floor construction, equipped with steel stacks, could be erected for $125,000, even at the present high prices of material and labor. A building 65×70 ft. and 80 ft. high would have four times the capacity of the present building, and if planned aright, ought to be sufficient for the growth of the next fifty years.

The construction of such a building is earnestly recommended, and the Committee on the Library hopes that the Society will take such action in the immediate future.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by Caleb Benjamin Tillinghast, Litt.D., Chairman :

The activities of the Committee on Publications for the year 1905 embrace

(1) The quarterly publication of the REGISTER and the annual Proceedings of the Society, which are now comprised in one volume.

(2) The publication of Register Soame, 1620, of the wills recorded in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury.

(3) The publication of volume 6 of the Memorial Biographies and the partial preparation of volume 7.

(4) The publication of the Vital Records of the towns of Palmer and Medway, and the city of Newton. The records of Edgartown, Norton and Sturbridge will be published during the coming year, and those of a large number of other towns are in various stages of preparation.

The preparation and publication of all the volumes issued by the Society is carried on as rapidly as is consistent with careful editing and the best mechanical results.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by William Richard Cutter, A.M., Chairman :

The Historian confesses that in seeking help from surviving friends of our deceased members he has neglected the help this Committee stood ready to furnish. Mr. Heywood of the Committee has died.

The sixth volume of the Memorial Biographies has been published during the year. The volume has been edited and printed under the direction of the Historian, and members of the Committee have assisted in the work when they have been called upon. The Historian is now at work on the material for the seventh volume.

The chairman has written a number of sketches for the Proceedings. Where the work has been only a condensation from a single article, no signature has been appended, and the same omission has been made in the case of sketches prepared from material formerly contributed by deceased members to the archives of the Society.

It is not easy at times to get the exact date of death of members living at a distance, and if persons residing in other states, than Massachusetts, would inform the Society of the dates of death of members belonging in their vicinity, which come to their knowledge, it would be a help.

Rev. Anson Titus is writing a sketch of President Elmer H. Capen.

This is all that the Committee is doing at the present time.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by Charles Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., Chairman :

In behalf of the Committee on researches in England, I have to report that there have been no meetings during the year, there having been no funds to use in connection with that branch of the Society's work.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, prepared by Francis Apthorp Foster, Esq., Secretary of the Committee, and presented by Henry Ernest Woods, A.M., Chairman :

The Committee on Heraldry begs to report that during the past year it has had a much smaller number of inquiries than usual to answer.

Two books published in 1904 seem worthy of special mention :

Macdonald's "Scottish Armorial Seals," and Fox-Davies's "Art of Heraldry."

Of another character is Crozier's "General Armory: a Register of American Families entitled to Coat Armor." With the attitude of the Society towards the wholesale use and abuse of arms, it is impossible for your Committee to recommend this work.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by John Albee, Esq., Chairman:

The Committee on Epitaphs reports that during the year there have been added to the Library by donation copies of inscriptions from the following cemeteries:

1. Cedarville Cemetery, East Sandwich, Mass., from Levi Henry Elwell, M.A., Amherst, Mass.
2. North Cemetery, Salem Road, North Billerica, Mass., from Miss Martha Ann Dodge, Billerica, Mass.
3. First Presbyterian Churchyard, Schenectady, N. Y., from Nathan Van Patten, Schenectady, N. Y.
4. Old Burying Ground, North Andover, Mass., from Hollis Bailey, Cambridge, Mass.
5. Old South, Farm, Brush Hill, Plain, Central, West, and New South Burying Grounds, Sherborn, Mass., from John Bliss Brainerd, M.D., Brookline, Mass.
6. St. John's Church Graveyard, Providence, R. I., from Miss Mary Alice Keach, Providence, R. I.

And through the Committee on Vital Records:

7. Hinsdale, Mass., Cemetery Records, and
8. Partridgefield (now Peru), Mass., Inscriptions, both from James Hosmer, Hinsdale, Mass.

The preparation of these manuscripts has required a great amount of time, patience and careful work, and the Committee takes this occasion to express appreciative thanks to those who have contributed to the results.

It is to be noted with pleasure that the seven old grave-yards in Sherborn, Mass., have been copied in excellent form by Dr. Brainerd, who reports that he found a large number of inscriptions illegible, a condition that unfortunately is too often noted in old graveyards; and that again emphasizes the need of prompt action in preserving the data recorded in graveyards which have not yet been cared for.

The circular "Suggestions as to Copying Inscriptions," the preparation and printing of which was mentioned in the report for last year, has been found to be of decided assistance in the work, especially in securing greater accuracy and more uniformity in the manuscripts.

Co-operation in the work of copying, one instance of which was reported by this Committee in the last report, namely, the excellent results attained by the Daughters of the American Revolution at Cohasset, has been adopted by the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at Hingham, the adjoining town, and the final copy is being prepared. The Daughters of the American Revolution in Milford, N. H., have made substantial progress along the same line, and the final copy is being made there also. The Sons of the American Revolution at Springfield have made a beginning in that place. The Arlington Inscriptions, contributed by the Arlington Historical Society some years ago, is another instance of the successful working of the plan of co-operation. These instances are mentioned to call the attention of the patriotic orders and the local historical societies to a field that falls within the scope of their operation. Experience shows that a leader can soon gather around himself or herself enough helpers to allow the field work to be speedily completed.

Additions to the card catalogue of this Committee are being continually made, showing in what places the inscriptions have been copied and where the copies are to be found. If a copy has been made and deposited in safe-keeping, sooner or later the facts will be printed.

The work of the Committee seems to be peculiarly in accord with the motto on the seal of the Society, "In Memoriam Majorum," in that it seeks to fulfil and render certain of accomplishment the purposes the "great multitude" had in mind when they erected the humble slate memorials as "sacred to the memory of" those they loved.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by Arthur Greene Loring, Esq., Chairman :

This Committee has had several meetings during the year.

The members of the Committee, personally, have continually urged upon the proper officials the importance of printing their records, but so far as has come to their notice but little has been done in this line during the year.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON CONSOLIDATED INDEX, by Francis Apthorp Foster, Esq., Chairman :

The Committee on the Consolidated Index begs to report that a sufficient number of subscriptions at $5 per part have been received to cover the cost of publication.

The Committee's attempt to get a proper price on printing the Index caused a delay of some months, which was still further increased by the death of the chairman, Captain James Swift Rogers ; but it is now happy to report that the work is progressing rapidly. Three numbers have been issued this year, and, at the present rate of progress, six parts may be expected annually until the work is finished.

As 600 copies of the rarest volume of the REGISTER were printed, and as there are probably about 500 complete sets of the REGISTER in existence, holders of nearly complete as well as of complete sets should secure the Index before it is out of print. The fact that a complete set of the REGISTER lacking the Index will be less useful and probably less valuable than a set with the Index but lacking the rare volumes should not make it difficult to dispose of the remaining unsold sets before the work is completed.

The Committee believes that the Society should not profit pecuniarily by this undertaking, and proposes that the subscribers shall benefit by the $2,400 donated originally for the preparation of the Index. It further proposes, after reimbursing the Society for money advanced, to give to subscribers pro rata any balance on hand at the completion of the work.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

PRESENTED BY WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW.

THE LIBRARIAN has attended to the duties of his office throughout the year, devoting from one to two hours per day more than is required of his assistants in forwarding the interests of the Society. He has usually been the first to enter the building in the morning and the last to leave it at night, exercising the most rigid vigilance over the heating and lighting apparatus as a safeguard against fire. In his endeavors to build up the Library and increase its usefulness, he has enjoyed to a remarkable degree the cooperation of the officers, members and employees of the Society. Below he submits a statement of the growth, progress and needs of the Library, to which is appended the required list of donors.

Accessions.

Again, as in 1904, the additions to the Society's collections in the Library and the Cabinet have been eminently appropriate. Two hundred and fifty-three genealogies have been acquired in 1905, which, with the six hundred and twenty-five secured in 1902, the three hundred and sixty-two in 1903, and the same number again in 1904, makes a total of over sixteen hundred genealogies added in four years. The accessions for the year number 829 volumes, 763 pamphlets, and 1098 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 217 volumes, 99 pamphlets, and 15 miscellaneous articles were purchased, 542 volumes, 639 pamphlets, and 1083 miscellaneous articles were given, and 70 volumes and 25 pamphlets were received in exchange. Adding to the last published estimate, the accessions received since, and deducting the duplicate municipal reports (40 volumes and 2560 pamphlets) disposed of in 1904, gives 32,498 volumes and 32,479 pamphlets as the approximate number in the Library, December 31, 1905.

Manuscripts.

The Society has been fortunate in securing genealogical manuscripts during the year. Among these worthy of special mention at this time are genealogies of various Rogers families compiled by the late Capt. James Swift Rogers of Boston, and presented by his widow; genealogies of several Cook families, and partial copies of local records in the vicinity of Pittsfield, Mass., gathered by the late Rollin H. Cooke of Pittsfield; an Adams genealogy compiled by the late Hon. Andrew N. Adams of Fair Haven, Vt., and presented by his widow; an Eldred genealogy given by Mrs. Marian Strong Baker of Washington, D. C.; a Pulsifer genealogy given by Mrs. Cornelia Lucretia Boardman Pulsifer of New Bedford; Ward, Plummer and Lang genealogies given by Mrs. Harriet Emeline Richardson of Aurora, Ill.; a collection of manuscripts from the library of the late Hon. Charles Henry Bell of Exeter, N. H., given by Mr. Hollis Russell Bailey of Cambridge; several volumes of English records gathered by the late Joseph Jackson Howard of Blackheath, Kent, Eng.; an original Diary, kept by Israel Litchfield, given by Miss Ella Farmer of Hingham, Mass.; an original list of marriages by Rev. John Webb, 1714-1749, and the second volume of the records of the New North Church of Boston, of which Mr. Webb was the first minister, given by Mary Lincoln Eliot of Boston; and a very large collection of copies of town, church, and probate records, epitaphs and deeds, relating to Barnstable, Mass., made by the late Gustavus A. Hinckley of Barnstable, and bequeathed by him to the Society.

Growth and Use of the Library.

The efforts put forth in recent years to increase the Library have been directed mainly toward the acquisition of genealogical publications and manuscripts, and properly so, for the Society has become widely known as the Genealogical Society, and the chief use of its Library, both by members and visitors, is for the purpose of making genealogical investigations. Probably less than five per cent of the books consulted are examined for all other purposes. The historical side, however, has not been wholly neglected, especially when opportunity occurred to secure desiderata at low or moderate prices; yet it has been thought wise to leave to the various state and local historical societies of New England the opportunity for each to excel in its own special field of activity. To gather and preserve for public use the records of the families who have lived within the confines of New England since its settlement is a task sufficiently large to engross the energy and to absorb the means of any one institution. And it is certainly more in accordance with modern ideas, for the Society to specialize in what to some, perhaps, may seem a narrow interpretation of its founders' purposes, accomplishing much in the more restricted field, than for it to divide its energy and means among a wider range of objects, failing to obtain more than a moderate degree of success in each. The remarkable growth of the Library along genealogical lines is to a large extent due to the general demand of visitors for genealogical information.

Danger from Fire.

The wooden buildings on the adjoining land recently purchased by the Society have been demolished this year, making a slight change for the better in external conditions. See the former reports of the Librarian. For expert opinions of the dangerous condition of the Society's Building, read the Report of the Committee on the Library.

Binding.

Finding it impossible to purchase duck of an uniform texture and color, in small quantities, for binding, the Librarian has had made to order a quantity of cloth sufficient for several years.

Economy and Service.

In response to a general demand "to take in sail" at the beginning of the year, it has been necessary to curtail expenses wherever possible. As a result, fewer books have been purchased, less binding has been done, and scarcely anything worth mentioning has been accomplished on the card catalogue. Miss Chapman and Miss Rayne of the Library staff have been assigned temporarily to the Consolidated Index, and jointly given charge of the editorial work on it. This transfer has materially lessened the pay roll of the library and has provided efficient editors for the Index, but it has also seriously interfered with the progress of the library work. Miss Stickney has been appointed by the Council as Assistant Librarian, and continues to attend to the routine work of the Library.

The Treasurer's report for the year indicates that the Society has lived within its income. The Librarian regrets the necessity of reporting that, in order to do this, it has been impossible to purchase desirable books frequently called for, to keep up the cataloguing and binding, and to give the best service in assisting members and visitors.

MEMOIRS
NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Arranged by Rev. GEORGE MOULTON ADAMS, D.D., Historian.*

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1905, with the addition of six deceased in preceding years. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

HEZEKIAH SPENCER SHELDON, of West Suffield, Connecticut, a life member since 1886, died August 29, 1903. He was a native of Suffield, and was born June 23, 1820. His father was Julius Curtis Sheldon, and his mother's maiden name was Mindwell Spencer. He was a descendant of Isaac Sheldon, of Dorchester, Windsor, and Northampton, through Jonathan,² Elijah,³ Martin,⁴ Julius C.⁵ † Julius Curtis Sheldon was born in Suffield, where the family had lived for several generations, December 12, 1791, and died December 5, 1873. His mother was born in Suffield, April 22, 1797, and died August 23, 1885.

The subject of this sketch was married, November 1, 1843, to Almira C., daughter of Barlow Rose. They had no children. He died in Suffield, leaving only a brother, Martin J. Sheldon, of Suffield. In his letter of acceptance to the Society he says, "My education to the age of seventeen years, was in the common school; polished up with a few terms at the Connecticut Literary Institution of Suffield. Then I commenced a most instructive course in the study of human nature, by teaching district schools five winters, boarding 'round, and working on the homestead farm in the summers. The broad acres of that farm, through five successive generations, are still in the family name. Alas, only the sons of the Green Isle till its soil!

"I was a Suffield representative in the Connecticut legislature, for the years 1857 and 1881, and have held many local town offices. I am vice-president (serving as president) of the First National Bank of Suffield. I am collecting, transcribing, and printing (privately) the 'Documentary History of Suffield in the Colony and Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, 1660-1749.' I have printed already, in pamphlet form, 195 pages, and I hope to complete it. I am the author of a pamphlet entitled 'Suffield and the Lexington Alarm in April, 1775,' 22 pp. I have written the article 'Suffield' for the 'Hartford County Memorial History.'" An examination of his documentary history of Suffield shows it to be a work of much merit. He adopted the documentary, in preference to the narrative form, because it was his belief that "no history can be so complete, or valuable, as the records themselves, accurately transcribed."

* After the death of Rev. Dr. Adams, William Richard Cutter, A.M., who was appointed Historian, completed the arrangement and editing of the Memoirs.

† Mr. Sheldon preserved the following facts regarding these ancestors:—Isaac, d. July 27, 1708; Jonathan, b. May 29, 1687, d. Suffield, April 10, 1769; Elijah, b. Northampton, Nov. 2, 1719, d. Suffield, June 1, 1785; Martin, b. Feb. 1, 1762, d. Sept. 4, 1848.

HENRI RAYMOND CASGRAIN, D. Litt., F. R. S. C., was born December 16, 1831, at Rivière Ouelle, Province of Quebec, Canada, and died February 11, 1904, in the Convent of Les Religieuses du Bon-Pasteur, Quebec, where he had retired during the last thirty years of his life. His father was Hon. Charles Eusèbe Casgrain, his mother Elizabeth Anne Baby, daughter of Hon. James Baby, of Sandwich, Ontario.

Henri Raymond Casgrain was educated at Sainte Anne College, and made his entry in the world as a medical student at McGill University, Montreal. About a year afterwards, he left to enter the Seminary of Quebec, where he was admitted to holy orders. He devoted a few years to the ministry and was professor at Ste. Anne College, until he was obliged to take rest on account of his eyes, which were gradually losing sight as the result of his night studies.

Generally, during fifteen or sixteen consecutive years, he used to pass the winters in Europe, particularly in Paris, where he formed the acquaintance of divers literary and scientific men. There he collected a considerable number of historical documents, the greater part of which were printed in Quebec by the Provincial Government.

The principal works of l'Abbé Casgrain are: "Légendes Canadiennes," "Biographies Canadiennes," "Histoire de l'Hotel Dieu de Québec," "Un Pèlerinage au Pays d'Évangéline," which was crowned by the Académie Française, and "Montcalm et Lévis," 2 vols.

The Abbé was a friend of Parkman. Their correspondence relating to the Acadians, in which he rectified some historical errors of his friend, brought forth the "Documents inédits sur le Canada et l'Amérique," in 1888. They are intended to be the counterpart and correction of Akin's collection of "Nova Scotia Archives," published in 1869. In view of writing the Pélérinage, the Abbé twice visited the principal places of the old Acadian settlements, and examined the Archives of Nova Scotia, at Halifax. Then he crossed to London for additional researches, more particularly in the British Museum. From thence he continued to Paris for the same object.

The Abbé Casgrain was a corresponding member of this Society, elected in 1875.

By Hon. PHILIPPE BABY CASGRAIN, K.C.

AMOS BUGBEE CARPENTER, of West Waterford, Vermont, a corresponding member, elected in 1847, was born in Waterford, May 25, 1818, and died in that town, April 26, 1904. He lived all his life on the home farm in West Waterford, and married, June 24, 1847, Cosbi B., daughter of Ezra and Hannah (Burleigh) Parker, of Littleton, New Hampshire, who was born June 24, 1828, and died March 25, 1904. He was appointed postmaster when the post office at West Waterford was first established, in 1855, and resigned the office in 1888, being succeeded by his wife, who was postmistress at the time of her death. He was elected in 1888 a representative in the legislature for two years. He was survived by five of a family of seven children.

His life extended back to the first generation of Waterford inhabitants, and almost to the beginning of the town's history. He was identified with nearly every one of its enterprises, had an excellent memory, and knew thoroughly its history and its people, and no one was better qualified to write its history. Instead, however, his time for twenty years was devoted to an effort to prepare a history of the Carpenter family, involving an extensive correspondence and travel into different parts of New England. This work was published by him in 1898, under the title "A Genealogical History of the Rehoboth Branch of the Carpenter Family in America." In the preparation of this work,—like other genealogists of his day,—he went from town to town in quest of every one of his name, making note of every record, tradition, item of information, land ownership, and probate record,—not forgetting the memorials of the dead in the different burial-places of the towns which he visited.

By S. F. CUTTING, and others.

WALTER TITUS AVERY, A.B., of East Moriches, New York, a life member since 1871, died on June 10, 1904. He was born in the city of New York, January 18, 1814, the only child of John Smith^a Avery and his wife Amelia Titus. His parents were natives of Huntington, Long Island. John S. Avery, his father, was a successful merchant of New York City. His mother was a daughter of Israel and Temperance (Norton) Titus. His father was the son of John⁴ and Ruth (Smith) Avery. John⁴ Avery was graduated at Yale College in 1761; son of Rev. Ephraim,⁴ who was graduated at Harvard College in 1731 (REGISTER, 9: 173); son of Rev. John,³ Harvard College 1706; son of Robert²; son of Dr. William,¹ of Dedham.

Walter Titus Avery was graduated from Columbia College in 1832. He began in the profession of civil engineering on the location of the New York and Croton Aqueduct in 1836, and was civil engineer on the Hudson River Railroad, from 1847 to 1850. He then became a merchant, located in Stockton, California, from 1851 to 1856, and then in New York City, from 1856, and onwards till his retirement.

He was a benefactor of the Society, leaving to it a bequest of one thousand dollars.

Mr. Avery left to the Dedham Historical Society of Dedham, Mass., the sum of one thousand dollars, and quite a collection of books and genealogical manuscript of the Avery family. He also left to the Pocumtuck Valley Memorial Association of Deerfield, Mass., the sum of one thousand dollars. A friend writes: "Mr. Avery was greatly interested in the genealogy of the Avery family, and spent both time and money in quest of information relating to the early history of the family, not only in all parts of this country, but in England as well. In features and complexion he resembled his mother, though possessing strongly the Avery characteristics. In California he was engaged in selling supplies for the miners under the firm name of Avery and Hewlett. He returned to New York in 1856, and formed a partnership with an old friend as importers and commission merchants under the firm name of H. E. Blossom and Co. At Mr. Blossom's death in 1863, Mr. Avery continued the business with a former associate, the firm being Avery and Lockwood. Retiring from business in 1885, Mr. Avery passed most of his time in a quiet village on the Great South Bay, Long Island, dividing his time between his favorite pastimes of yachting, driving and reading. He was well known among his friends as a student of Shakespeare." He was unmarried.

LOUIS PINDLE WHITE was born in Preston County, Virginia (now West Virginia), December 20, 1856, the son of Thornton and Bersheba Ann (Davis) White. His father was a native of Maryland and his mother of Virginia. The names of his mother's parents were Thomas H. Davis and Mary Hawley. He was educated in the common school branches only, and previously to 1892, conducted a department store at Elk Garden and Terra Alta, both in West Virginia. He was cashier of the Terra Alta Bank, from 1892 to 1897, and afterwards president and manager of the Bank of Whatcom, at Whatcom, State of Washington. He also held the office of vice-president of the Washington State Bankers' Association, and president of the board of regents of the State Normal School in Whatcom, and belonged to the Knights Templar, Mystic Shrine, and Knights of Pythias. Of the last named organization he was a past chancellor.

He married, May 4, 1882, Mary Ellen, daughter of George Washington and Margaret Ann (Silbaugh) Burke. By this marriage there were eight children, born between 1883 and 1899, by name Clarence George Thornton, Jessie Pearl, Lewis Pinckney, Lilly, Harry Stanhope, William Bruce, Helen Frances Luella, and Margaret Virginia.

Of his ancestors, his grandfather William White married Charlotte Johnson, and his great-grandfather Henry White married Mary Felton. Thomas H. Davis, his mother's father, was a soldier of the war of 1812, and Capt. John Davis, his mother's grandfather, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. His father Thornton White was born March 29, 1823, and his mother Bersheba Ann (Davis) White was born October 6, 1827.

Louis P. White died July 10, 1904. He was a resident member of this Society since 1902.

IRA DAVENPORT, of Bath, New York, a life member of this Society, to which he was elected in 1898, was born in Hornellsville, New York, June 28, 1841, and died in Bath, in that state, October 6, 1904. He was the son of Ira and Lydia (Cameron) Davenport, and a descendant of Thomas Davenport, who settled in Dorchester, Mass., in 1635.

Ira Davenport was educated at the Union school, Bath, N. Y., and at Russell's school, New Haven, Conn. He was state senator, 1878-82; state comptroller, 1882-84; the unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of New York in 1885; and a representative from Bath in the forty-ninth and fiftieth Congresses, 1885-89. In the New York senate, he served both terms as chairman of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation. He was married to Katherine Lawrence Sharpe, on April 27, 1887. On his mother's side of the family he was a descendant of Ewen Cameron, of Inverness, Scotland, born 1730. Dugald Cameron, son of Ewen, and father of Lydia (Cameron) Davenport, was born in Inverness, in 1776, and became one of the first settlers of Bath, N. Y. Dugald Cameron died at Albany, while a member of the Legislature, March 30, 1828.

Rev. ELMER HEWETT CAPEN, D.D., LL.D., was born in Stoughton, Massachusetts, April 5, 1838, the son of Samuel Capen and his wife Almira Paul. His paternal line of ancestry was Samuel,⁷ Elisha,⁶ Samuel,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Samuel,² Bernard¹ Capen. His maternal line of ancestry was Almira,⁷ Samuel,⁶ Samuel,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ Samuel,² Richard¹ Paul. His remaining ancestral lines are in the Bailey, Payson, Gay, Withington, Fales, Fisher, Fenton, Shepherd, and Morse families.

Dr. Capen was fitted for College at Green Mountain Institute, Woodstock, Vermont, and entered Tufts College in 1856, graduating in 1860. At the first election after he was twenty-one years of age, he was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and bore an honorable part in the conduct of its business. He studied at Harvard Law School, and was admitted to the Bar in 1863. He soon, however, determined to enter the Christian ministry. He was ordained and installed as pastor over the Independent Christian Church at Gloucester, Massachusetts, October 5, 1865, where he remained nearly five years, and because of the ill-health of his wife, removed to St. Paul, Minnesota. But change of climate did not grant the needed restoration, and he returned to New England, becoming pastor in Providence, R. I. He came to the presidency of Tufts College, March 13, 1875, and presided over its interests until his decease, March 22, 1905.

His services for Tufts College can scarcely be estimated. Under his presidency the enrollment of students rose from eighty-three to one thousand, and the number of the faculty from fifteen to nearly two hundred. President Capen was an administrator. He had great concerns in his charge and executed them with skill and foresight. He was a person of commanding presence, and was recognized as a leader among the people. From 1889 to his death he was a member of the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

In the Christian pulpit, Dr. Capen was in the foremost rank, and as an orator concerning academic subjects had few equals. While alert in promoting the freest spirit in scholastic affairs, and in the furtherance of Christian ideals, he was ever foremost in his adherence to the central principles of the Universalist Church. He was a student among students, and a man among men. The world is richer and better because of his service, and his memory is cherished not only by the student body and alumni of his College but by citizens and lovers of good government throughout our country.

President Capen married, January 3, 1866, Letitia Howard, daughter of Hon. Thomas Mussey, one time a resident of New London, Connecticut. She died September 5, 1872. He married, February 12, 1877, Mary Leavitt, daughter of Oliver Edwards, Esq., of Brookline, Massachusetts, who survives him. Their three children are Samuel Paul Capen, professor of Modern Languages, Clark University, Worcester; Ruth Paul Capen, Tufts College 1902; and Rosamond Edwards Capen. President Capen became a resident member of this Society in February, 1904.

By Rev. ANSON TITTS.

WILLIAM HENRY PULSIFER was born in Boston, November 18, 1831, the eighth in descent from Benedict Pulsifer, who settled at Ipswich, Massachusetts, in 1662, and who is the first of the name of Pulsifer known to have lived in America.

Mr. Pulsifer attended the Grammar and High Schools of the city of Boston. Upon leaving school, he engaged in mercantile business in Boston, and resided there, with occasional extended business visits to the West, until 1859, when he removed to St. Louis, Missouri, where he became engaged in the manufacture of white lead and other chemical products. He continued to reside in St. Louis until 1890, when he retired from active business and returned to the east, residing in the winter at Newton Centre, Massachusetts, and at Washington, District of Columbia, and passing the summer at his country place at Nonquitt, on Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts.

During his residence in St. Louis, Mr. Pulsifer was prominent in many business and financial enterprises. He was for many years President of the St. Louis Lead and Oil Company, Treasurer of the American Central Insurance Company, a director of the National Bank of Commerce and of several other corporations. He was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; a member of the St. Louis Academy of Science; of the Anthropological Society of Washington; of the National Geographic Society; of the American Folk Lore Society; of the American Forestry Association; of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, admitted in 1891; of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution; and of the Bostonian Society. He was also a member of the Union Club in New York and of the Cosmos and Metropolitan Clubs in Washington.

Mr. Pulsifer died April 9, 1905, at the Highlands in Washington. He leaves a widow, and one daughter, Mrs. H. Duncan Wood of New York.

OTIS BRIGHAM BULLARD. Like very many of the older families of New England, the Bullards emerge into our history in the fourth decade of the seventeenth century. Benjamin Bullard was one of the group of pioneers who ventured to settle west of Charles River, near where Medfield, Sherborn, and Millis (formerly East Medway) corner together; and doubtless he and his growing family shared with the Fairbanks, Lelands, Morses, Daniels, and others, the protection of their good stone garrison-house on the shore of Bogistow Pond, when King Philip's war party attempted its destruction by means of the cartload of burning flax.

Isaac and three generations of Samuels succeeded Benjamin in the ancestry of him whose career we now call to mind. Of these, Samuel Bullard, Esq., of Holliston (1742-1816) was a noted surveyor and almanac-maker. Capt. Samuel Bullard (born 1777) inherited the homestead of four generations of Bullards of Holliston, a daughter town of old Sherborn, which Benjamin Bullard helped to found. At this homestead Otis Brigham Bullard was born, August 18, 1815, when Madison was president of the United States, when the sterner aspects of Puritanism still prevailed in old New England homes, when still "a man was famous according as he had lifted up axes upon the thick trees."

The boy had a mind receptive toward the educational opportunities that came to him. Enough of the grandfather's blood ran in his veins to make him interested in mathematics and surveying, and under Matthew Metcalf he assisted as engineer on the old Boston and Worcester railroad in 1839. He had flattering opportunities to make some application of mathematics his life-work, but somehow he early felt himself drawn away from family traditions and so-called practical affairs into the pursuit of music as a profession. Availing himself of such training in this direction as circumstances then allowed, he devoted his best energies during the most active years of his long life to the elevation of public taste through this chosen fine-art. As choir-master and as teacher of singing classes of boys and girls in his native town and elsewhere, he left a distinct mark upon his time, and very many bear testimony to his usefulness. He was greatly aided in this work by his self-effacing, devoted wife, Abigail Cutler, whom he married January 11, 1843, and with whom he lived in most helpful relations for more than sixty-one years.

As a successful public school teacher in his young manhood, later as a member of the school board for many years, as town treasurer, as loyal and efficient member of his home church to his life's end, as neighbor, citizen, and friend, many of his best qualities were brought into exercise. He was one of the first to support the Free-soil party. He was always in warmest sympathy with the cause of public righteousness. Having once adopted an opinion or allied himself with a cause, he, with innate persistency, held to it faithfully at all hazards. His mathematical instincts and training made him accurate in observation and statement of facts, and just because of this quality he was a valuable source of information concerning the past.

In 1869 he left Holliston for permanent residence in Washington, District of Columbia, where for twenty years or more he was proprietor of the Washington Conservatory of Music. His death there, from a street accident, April 25, 1905, may have come to him somewhat as a relief in the loneliness of old age, without children or near relatives. Yet a long life, spent, as his was, in close contact with the men and events of his time, gathers up a fund of knowledge and experience which the world loses with regret.

He was a life member of this Society, admitted in 1865.

By Prof. U. WALDO CUTLER.

JAMES CLARKE DAVIS, born in Greenfield, Massachusetts, January 19, 1838, died at his home in Jamaica Plain, May 11, 1905. His father, George T. Davis, was born in 1810, graduated at Harvard in 1829, lived in Greenfield from 1833 to 1865, and died in Portland in 1877. He was an excellent lawyer, a noted wit, a singularly agreeable converser, a most hospitable entertainer, a genial, lovable man. He was a son of Wendell Davis of Sandwich, and grandson of Thomas Davis of Plymouth. His mother, Harriet T. Davis, was a daughter of Nathaniel P. Russell of Boston, and was described by James Freeman Clarke, for whom James Clarke Davis was named, as having a brilliant intellect, easy flashing wit, self-possessed graceful demeanor—all the qualities which charm society. She died in 1862.

Mr. Davis attended school at the Deerfield and Phillips Exeter Academies, graduated at Harvard in 1858, belonged to five college societies, studied law in his father's office and at the Harvard Law School, was admitted to the bar in 1861, entered his father's firm, and in 1862 removed to Boston where he practised until his death. For several years he was clerk to the attorney general, and afterwards was assistant attorney general. He prepared for the city of Boston a "Digest of Massachusetts Decisions of Municipal Interest," which was published by the city in 1866. He belonged to the Union and St. Botolph Clubs, and was secretary of the former for four years, and one of its trustees. He was secretary and a trustee of the Adams Nervine Asylum, one of the council of the Boston Bar Association, and one of the class committee and also secretary of his college class. For several years he was one of the school committee of Boston. He was a resident member of this Society, elected in 1900.

On June 3, 1873, he was married to Alice W. Paine of Worcester, daughter of Charles Paine. They had two daughters. They lived on Mt. Vernon Place in Boston till 1883, and afterwards in Jamaica Plain, where they maintained a delightful home, made sad in 1902 by the death of the elder daughter. Mrs. Davis and the younger daughter survive. His only brother, Wendell, and his only sister, Ellen, died several years ago, both unmarried.

Mr. DAVIS had little taste for court practice and gradually withdrew from it, and at last devoted himself almost exclusively to the care of trust funds and the management and settlement of estates. He was often appointed receiver of insolvent companies, and in all such cases did his work to the great satisfaction of the court. In his experience there was no such thing as swerving from the strictest ideas of right. Those who knew him well reposed implicit confidence in his integrity, fidelity and accuracy.

In politics Mr. Davis was a Republican; and in religious faith a Unitarian. He attended the church of Rev. Dr. James De Normandie of Roxbury, with whom he had a warm friendship.

By HON. CHARLES ALLEN, LL.D.

WILLIAM SWEETZER HEYWOOD was born in Westminster, Massachusetts, August 23, 1824, the son of John and Betsey (Edgell) Heywood. His ancestors in the direct line were John,¹ who was settled in Concord in 1656, John,² Phineas,³ Timothy,⁴ John.⁵ On his mother's side he was descended from William¹ Edgell of Woburn, through William,² William,³ and Betsey.⁴ Reared on his father's farm in the southerly part of Westminster, he was educated in the common schools of his native town, and at Leicester Academy, also at Clinton Liberal Institute, Clinton, Oneida County, New York. It has been said of him that he was "endowed by nature with a superior mental and moral constitution."

His father attended the Universalist Church at Westminster, and under the direction of Rev. Varnum Lincoln of that church, and later of Rev. Adin Ballou at Hopedale, Mr. Heywood prepared for the christian ministry and was ordained May 25, 1849. He early became interested in the great moral reforms of temperance, anti-slavery, woman's rights, and the cause of peace. In 1848 he took up his residence with the Hopedale Community, an attempt at "practical christian socialism." At Hopedale he preached as an independent practical christian, and was also associate editor of the Practical Christian, published by the Hopedale Community, meantime serving the Community as its president, until it virtually failed in 1856.

On May 11, 1851, Mr. Heywood married Abigail Sayles, daughter of Rev. Adin and Abigail (Sayles) Ballou. With her he established in 1856 the Hopedale Home School, which continued successfully for seven years. In 1864 he left Hopedale, and entering into fellowship with the Unitarian denomination, he was settled as pastor of Unitarian societies in Scituate, Hudson, Holyoke, the Parmenter St. Chapel in Boston, and at Sterling. Everywhere he was a devoted teacher and pastor, and always charmed by his "simple, guileless goodness."

In 1888 his native town of Westminster voted an appropriation for a history of the town, and he was selected as the town's historian. The history is a work of great merit, a volume of nearly a thousand pages, published in 1893. More recently he edited and published some of the writings of his father-in-law, Rev. Adin Ballou. Mr. Heywood was elected a resident member of this Society in 1887. He made frequent use of its library, and was actively interested in its affairs, particularly as a member of the committee on graveyard inscriptions.

An invalid for more than two years, Mr. Heywood died at his home in Dorchester, Massachusetts, May 24, 1905. Besides his widow he left an only child, Lucy Florence, born July 28, 1861, the wife of John Holden, Esq., of New York, and two young grandchildren. Those who were privileged to know William Sweetzer Heywood have remarked the singular beauty of his domestic life, his entire genuineness, and his spiritual helpfulness.

HERBERT CORNELIUS ANDREWS, son of Alfred Hinsdale and Ella Cornelia (Matson) Andrews, was born in Chicago, Illinois, March 19, 1883. He was descended from John Andrews (often spelt Andrus) and Mary, his wife, who were among the earliest settlers of Farmington, Connecticut, John Andrews being admitted to the church there on May 9, 1658; made freeman May 20, 1658; and his name appearing among the 84 proprietors in 1672.

From these ancestors his line of descent was as follows: John¹ Andrews and Mary ———; Daniel² Andrews and Eunice ———; Daniel³ Andrews and Mabel Goffe; Hezekiah⁴ Andrews and Anna Stedman; Ezekiel⁵ Andrews and Roxana Hinsdale; Alfred⁶ Andrews and Mary Lee Shipman; Alfred Hinsdale⁷ Andrews and Ella Cornelia Matson; Herbert Cornelius⁸ Andrews.

As a child he was far from robust, and during his later years there were always physical limitations. He was absorbed in his studies, including music, and every study possessed for him an intense interest. He graduated from the High School at Oak Park, Illinois, in 1899, with high honors, and later attended the University of Chicago, and Colorado College, Colorado Springs. At school and college, in addition to the regular studies, he mastered stenography and typewriting; took a course in advertising, and salesmanship; and for a time studied designing. While at Colorado College he studied harmony, and showed marked ability in musical composition.

After a year at Colorado College, he became so broken in health that he was obliged to give up all further thought of school and devote himself to an outdoor life. He spent a year alone in Flagstaff,

Arizona. He next went to Pasadena, California, where after a few months his health had so much improved that he became anxious for definite occupation, and accepted an engagement with the Los Angeles agents of the A. H. Andrews Co. of Chicago, of which his father is President. After spending a year in business, he refused the offer of a fine position in San Francisco, as the opportunity had now come to him to devote his entire time to genealogical research, a work absolutely congenial to him and to which he had for several years devoted all time not otherwise engaged. That he came naturally by his great love for genealogical research is plainly seen when we consider that he was the grandson of Alfred Andrews of New Britain, Connecticut, who spent so many years in work of this kind, and whose labors bore fruit in the "Andrews Memorial," "Hart Genealogy," and "Genealogy and Ecclesiastical History—First Church, New Britain."

He established a studio at Los Angeles, and devoted himself exclusively to genealogical work, becoming in a very short time the recognized authority in genealogy and heraldry on the Pacific Coast. The work which he accomplished in the few years in which he was engaged in genealogical matters was surprisingly large. He compiled many family histories—making a specialty of this line of work, in the execution of which he was enabled to show his superior artistic taste, in addition to partially compiling and entirely editing the Hinsdale Genealogy (the manuscript of which is completed and the publication expected at an early date), and he had also compiled the Matson Genealogy, which is now ready to go into the hands of the printer, as well as completed a manuscript of 1,000 pages on "Early Connecticut Families," besides having devoted much time and attention to the foreign ancestry of many of the early families in this country. For some months before and at the time of his last illness, he was principally engaged on the history of a branch of the Rindge family, and he kept at the dearly beloved manuscript days after he should have laid it down, so eagerly did he hold on to his life work.

In December, 1904, he was obliged to undergo an operation for appendicitis, but which upon examination proved to be sarcoma of a very aggravated type. He apparently recovered from the operation and was able to get to his studio and to attend to some work, but a relapse occurring, he was brought back to Chicago in April, and failing very rapidly, died, after much intense suffering, on May 31, 1905. His funeral took place at the home of his parents in Lombard, Illinois, and his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at that place. The following tribute was paid to him by a relative: "What makes it so clear in regard to the future of this young man is that he seemed before he left us to have made adjustment to all the conditions passing or probable. He had the open mind and the forward look. That attitude discovers and reveals. It is not too much to say that he had native ability to enter upon any of the paths open to human effort. But better, he had the disposition to work along any or all of them as exigency might seem to require. A fine scholar, yet he made a valued hand in a lumber mill. He kept the guiding thread in any department of thought and action to which he was introduced. The last year of his life shows his Plato read and marked. His mind was opened once and forever to the treasures of literature. When he left us he was an authority in genealogy and heraldry, a remarkable result for a man so young. Some of us thought that this study would inevitably make of him an historian. We are sure that from his fine sensibility and keen perception, we should have had something that would rank high in truth and taste."

Although only twenty-two years of age at the time of his death, he has left a distinct mark, and this Society is a loser by his untimely decease. Realizing what he had already accomplished in his short life, one cannot but deplore the loss of what he undoubtedly would have done had he been allowed to live the allotted "three score years and ten."

He was a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, elected in 1904.

By ALFRED LYMAN HOLMAN.

JOSHUA MONTGOMERY SEARS, A.B., whose death occurred at his farm in Southborough, Massachusetts, June 2, 1905, after a somewhat protracted illness, was born at Yarmouthport, Massachusetts, December 25, 1854. He was descended in direct line from Richard Sears, the Pilgrim, who came to this country in the "Leyden" in 1630.

His father, Joshua Sears, born at Yarmouthport, August 20, 1791, came to Boston and established himself in business, where from small beginnings he accumulated a large fortune. He married, in February, 1854, Phoebe, daughter of Deacon Robert Snow of Brewster, by whom he had only one child, the subject of this sketch. Mrs. Sears died January 1, 1855; and Mr. Sears two years later, February 7, 1857.

A good part of the early life of Joshua M. Sears was passed in the family of the late Alpheus Hardy, who was one of the trustees of his father's estate. He attended school at Andover, Massachusetts, going later to Stuttgart and Berlin, and from there to Yale College, where he graduated in the class of 1877. While in Europe, he became the owner of the Freiligrath and Curtius Libraries, the former of which is now a part of the fine library in the Boston house on Arlington Street; the latter he presented to Yale College.

He married, September 17, 1877, Sarah Carlisle, daughter of Charles F. Choate, then of Cambridge, Massachusetts, who, with two children, a son and daughter, survives him. In college, Mr. Sears was a member of the base-ball nine of his class, and all through life he showed an active interest in athletics. As a business man, he was connected with many important interests. He was for many years a director of the Second National Bank, the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company, and the Old Colony Railroad. He was treasurer for over twenty years of the Children's Hospital.

He was prominent in the yachting world, as one of the syndicate which built the defender "Puritan," and as the owner of many fine yachts. His latest purchase, the steam yacht "Sultana," was being fitted out for a summer cruise at the time of his death. He passed much of his time—as much as his business cares would permit—on his beautiful farm in Southborough, and devoted a great deal of thought and energy to its development. Of all his possessions, this was the nearest and dearest to him; and it was there he turned when his last and fatal illness came upon him.

Mr. Sears was a man of generous impulses, devoted to his friends, and always ready to help others, giving freely of his time and money. In college he assisted many of his class-mates; many struggling musicians have been the recipients of his bounty; and his charities to all have been without number—all done without ostentation or show of any kind, known to none outside the beneficiaries except those intimately connected with his business affairs.

He was a life member of this Society, elected in 1881.

CHARLES WILLIAM DARLING died June 22, 1905, in Asbury Park, New Jersey. He was born October 11, 1830, in New Haven, Connecticut, and was the son of Rev. Charles Chauncey Darling, a Presbyterian clergyman of New York City, by his wife Adeline E., daughter of William and Eliza Dana of Boston, Massachusetts, and granddaughter of Robert Davis, an officer of artillery in the war of the Revolution. His grandfather, Dr. Samuel Darling, a graduate of Yale, and a physician of New Haven, married Clarinda, daughter of Rev. Richard Ely of Saybrook, Connecticut. His great-grandfather, Judge Thomas Darling of New Haven, who married Abigail Noyes (granddaughter of Rev. James Pierpont of New Haven, one of the founders of Yale College), was the son of Samuel Darling, who was born in England in 1695, and came to New Haven in 1722, where he died in 1760.

Charles William Darling was educated in New York City, and graduated from New York University. After his graduation, he traveled in England and on the continent. Upon his return to the United States he connected himself with the National Guard of the State of New York, and when Edwin D. Morgan was elected Governor he became a member of his staff. In 1864 he was appointed aid-de-camp on the staff of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, then in command of the Army of the James. The following year, when Reuben E. Fenton was elected Governor, he received an appointment on his staff as assistant paymaster general, and in 1867 he was appointed military engineer-in-chief of the State of New York, with the rank of brigadier-general.

Gen. Darling in 1869 again visited England, and was the recipient of many courtesies from the English authorities. He subsequently traveled extensively in Europe, Asia and Africa, and his absence abroad covered a period of about ten years. Upon his return, in 1879, he removed from New York City to Utica, New York, where he resided until his death. He was connected with many historical and scientific societies; was a member of the American Authors' Guild; associate member of the Victoria Institute of India; honorary member of the Egyptian Exploration Company, and secretary of the fund for the promotion of its work. For several years he was president of the Young Men's Christian Association. He was a corresponding member of this Society, elected in 1885.

Gen. Darling married, in 1857, Angeline E., daughter of Jacob A. Robertson of New York City. He left no immediate family.

From the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record.

REV. GEORGE EDWARD DAY, D.D., elder son of Gad and Roxanna (Rice) Day, was a descendant of Robert Day, who came from Ipswich, England, to Boston, Massachusetts, in the bark "Elizabeth" in April, 1634, and was one of the original proprietors of Hartford, Connecticut, having probably journeyed thither through the wilderness with Rev. Thomas Hooker in 1636. Through his mother he was descended from Thomas Yale, uncle of Elihu Yale, in whose honor Yale College received its name. He was born March 19, 1815, in Pittsfield, Massachusetts, but in 1822 removed with his parents to New Haven, Connecticut.

After graduation from Yale College in 1833, he taught two years in the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb in New York City. In the education of this class he was deeply interested, and in 1836, while a student in the Yale Seminary, wrote on the subject for the American Journal of Science. The results of his investigations, made by request during subsequent visits abroad, were published in a "Report on Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb in Europe, especially Germany," in 1845, and in one on similar institutions in Holland and Paris, in 1861. On completing his theological course in 1838, before entering the active ministry, he was Instructor in Sacred Literature in the Yale Divinity School for two years. He was ordained pastor of the Union (Congregational) Church in Marlborough, Massachusetts, December 2, 1840, continued there seven years, and then from January, 1848, to May, 1851, filled the pastorate of the Edwards Church, Northampton, Massachusetts.

Following ten years of pastoral work, he was for fifteen years Professor of Biblical Literature in Lane Theological Seminary at Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1863 he established The Theological Eclectic, which he edited through seven volumes, when it was merged with the Bibliotheca Sacra. While abroad in the summer of 1865 he purchased in Great Britain and on the continent large additions for the library of Lane Seminary. In April, 1866, he returned to New Haven as Professor of the Hebrew Language and Literature and Biblical Theology in the Yale Divinity School, and maintained his official connection with the school to the close of his long life. The value of his services in the erection of the present buildings was gratefully acknowledged by his associates, and his self-sacrificing devotion to his work, both in instruction and outside of the class-room, was manifest. In 1888 he became Dean of the Divinity School, and for three or four years thereafter shared the duties of his professorship with Professor Harper, afterwards President of Chicago University. Upon his retirement from the office of Dean in 1895, he was made Professor Emeritus.

Professor Day retained his enthusiasm for linguistic study, acquiring new languages even in his later years. He translated from the Dutch Van Oosterzee's "Biblical Theology of the New Testament" in 1871, and edited an American edition of Oehler's "Biblical Theology of the Old Testament" in 1883. By taste and experience he was well fitted for his share in the revision of the English version of the Bible, and served as secretary of the American Revision Committee, and a member of the Old Testament Company from its formation in 1871. He was thoroughly familiar with the history and present condition of the great missionary work of the church, and at his own expense collected and catalogued an exceedingly valuable missionary library, now numbering about seven thousand five hundred volumes. This he gave to the Yale Divinity School, and also provided funds for its maintenance and increase. He was active in efforts which resulted in the erection of a monument to Rev. John Robinson, the "Pilgrim" pastor in Leyden.

Professor Day died July 2, 1905, in his ninety-first year. Injuries resulting from a fall had confined him to his house for fifteen months previous. He married, in 1843, Amelia H., daughter of Henry and Mary Oaks. She died in 1875, and he afterward married Olivia Clarke Hotchkiss, who survives him. The latter was the daughter of Lewis and Hannah (Trowbridge) Hotchkiss. There were no children by either marriage.

Professor Day compiled "A Genealogical Register of the Descendants in the Male Line of Robert Day, of Hartford, Conn., who died in 1648," first edition, New Haven, 1840; second edition, 1848. He was a corresponding member of this Society from 1847, a member of the Royal Asiatic Society of Japan, and a corresponding member of the American Oriental Society from 1848.

JACOB CHESTER CHAMBERLAIN, B.A., M.S., died in New York, July 28, 1905, aged forty-five. Descended in the seventh generation from William¹ Chamberlain of England, whose appearance of record in New England was in 1648, he was born in India, July 3, 1860, eldest son of Jacob⁷ Chamberlain, M.D., D.D. (Jacob,⁶ Isaac,⁵ Isaac,⁴ Jacob,³ Jacob²), and Charlotte (Birge) Chamberlain, daughter of Chester Birge. He married at Albany, New York, June 12, 1895, Annie Mary Irwin, daughter of William P. Irwin. Mrs. Chamberlain and an only child, Anna Irwin, survive.

Having been graduated with honor from Rutgers College, New Brunswick, New Jersey, in 1882, he took a post-graduate course in chemistry, and thereafter devoted himself to electrical research and engineering. He was actively connected with several of the great electrical undertakings of the last twenty years in this country, and patented important electrical inventions. A pioneer and leader in the application of electric motive-power to boats, he was, at the time of his death, general manager of the Automatic Refrigerating Company. Holding the degree of Master of Science, he became one of the early members of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. He was one of the governing board of the New York Engineers' Club, and an influential member of the Colonial Club, the Marine Field Club, and the Grolier Club. In the objects of the Grolier Club he was specially interested, and his collection of first editions of early American authors was already regarded as one of the best in the United States. To the enlarging and perfecting of that collection, he was constantly and enthusiastically devoted.

He was also an experienced, accomplished genealogist. One of the founders and most generous supporters of the Chamberlain Association of America, he gave to it much of its early inspiration in genealogical directions. At the time of his death he was engaged in genealogical researches whose scope far exceeded the Chamberlain ancestry in America. Yet his highest excellence was not in his notable electrical discoveries and achievements; nor in his marked business success; nor in his skilful, important work as bibliophile and genealogist. His highest worth was in his character and personal culture. He was faithful to the welfare of both his city and his country. In him gentleness was blended with strength, and amiableness with resolute integrity. Well born and well brought up, he appeared, even to those who knew him most intimately, to have no remotest inclination to any form of dishonor. Comely, courteous, joyous, with a genius for friendship, he was the light of his beautiful home, a centre of attraction among many acquaintances, and an example of perfect uprightness in wide business relations. He was, all in all, a Christian gentleman of rarely noble type.

He was a resident member of this Society, elected in 1896.

JOSEPH FOSTER, M.A., the antiquary and genealogist, was born in Sunderland, England, March 9, 1844, the son of Joseph and Elizabeth (Taylor) Foster. He was a nephew of Birket Foster, the artist. Educated in private schools of North Shields, Sunderland, and Newcastle-on-Tyne, he inherited his genealogical faculty from his grandfather, Myles Birket Foster. After editing four volumes of Lancashire and Yorkshire pedigrees, he transcribed the admission registers of the four Inns of Court, a herculean task, extending over several years. The acquisition of the register of our oldest University, coupled with those of the Inns of Court, with which they dovetail, illustrating and annotating each other, materially strengthened Mr. Foster's position; but still, before he could hope to grapple effectually with so arduous a task as the annotation of the earlier "Alumni Oxoniensis," it was necessary that all the Bishops' certificates of institutions to livings (since the reformation), now deposited in the Public Record Office, should be laid under contribution, with the result that we have these 150,000 institutions, etc., alphabetically arranged as a clergy list, and have Mr. Foster's greatest work comprised in eight volumes.

His best known critical work was undoubtedly "Chaos," under which category he classed for the first time all known "soi-disant baronets." "Chaos" formed a minor portion of the "Peerage, Baronage and Knightage," compiled and edited by Mr. Foster in 1880-1884, for the pedigrees of which the records of the Herald's College were unreservedly placed at his service. From the study of this prolific worker have also emanated such useful works as "Men at the Bar," "Scottish Members of Parliament, 1857-1882," "Gray's Inn Admission Register, 1521-1889," "Our Noble and Gentle Families of Royal Descent," and several minor family histories. Within recent years have been published "Some Feudal Coats of Arms," "Two Tudor Books of Arms," "Some Feudal Lords and their Seats," and "Banners, Standards, and Badges," the last three of which Mr. Foster edited for the De Walden Library.

Mr. Foster married, August 12, 1869, Catherine Clark, daughter of George Pocock. He was a corresponding member of this Society, elected in 1883. He died in London, July 29, 1905.

This sketch is chiefly from the London Times.

LEANDER MILLER HASKINS, of Rockport, Massachusetts, who died in that town, August 1, 1905, aged sixty-three, was a life member of this Society from 1889. He was a native of Rockport, born June 20, 1842, was fitted for college at Phillips Andover Academy, and was graduated at Dartmouth College in 1862. He then taught school in his native town, and afterwards employed himself in civil engineering. In 1863, during the Civil War, he was appointed clerk in the commissary department of the army, and was attached to the Nineteenth Army Corps. He became later a clerk in the Navy Department.

After the war, he engaged in the fish and commission business on Long Wharf, Boston, and in this business he was engaged at the time of his death. He was one of the pioneers in the fish isinglass business. He served as a representative in the legislature for one year. He was a director in the Faneuil Hall National Bank of Boston, and in the Rockport National Bank, and other corporations; and was a member of the Boston Art Club, and many other organizations. He was also interested in yachting. He was married, his wife dying some years before him, and he is survived by an adopted daughter, Louise Canfield, of Montclair, New Jersey.

By his will, Mr. Haskins named his adopted daughter as residuary legatee, and provided that there shall be established first a trust fund of $65,000, to continue fifteen years after the execution of the will. After enumerating how the income shall be distributed among relatives and friends, direction was given that the income of one thousand dollars be given to the First Congregational Church of Rockport for general purposes, and the income of another thousand to the public library in that place, for the purchase of books. From the trust fund the following religious organizations in Rockport will receive the amounts named: First Congregational Church, ten thousand dollars for a parsonage fund; Methodist, Baptist, Universalist, Episcopal, and Catholic churches, each three hundred dollars. The house and thirty acres of land in Rockport, and forty acres more in Rockport, are to be used for hospital and park purposes. After these provisions are carried out, ten thousand dollars is to be set apart, the income to be used to aid worthy indigent students of Rockport in taking courses in Dartmouth College or the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the first named to be preferred.

GEORGE TRUMBULL HARTSHORN, A.M., was born in Worcester, Massachusetts, October 20, 1860, and the only child of George Franklin and Isabella Frink (Trumbull) Hartshorn.

He was fitted for college at Adams Academy, Quincy, and entered Harvard in 1878. After graduating from Harvard College in 1882, he pursued the study of chemistry, and, in 1883, took the degree of Master of Arts. He was for three years instructor of chemistry in Harvard College, working in association with Professor Charles Jackson. In 1886 he gave up his work at Harvard and went to Taunton, where for some years he went on with his chemical research work.

On November 17, 1891, he married Miss Alice Roberts of Cambridge, Massachusetts. They had one son, George Dean Hartshorn. The last few years of Mr. Hartshorn's life were devoted almost entirely to the study of musical composers and their works. Of an intensely musical nature, and gifted with a rare facility of playing easily any musical instrument, all branches of the study interested him, and he collected a fine library of old and rare musical books.

Mr. Hartshorn died August 22, 1905, at his home in Taunton, after an illness of several months. He was a resident member of this Society, elected in 1892.

FREDERICK HASTINGS RINDGE was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, December 21, 1857, and died in Yreka, California, August 29, 1905. He was the son of Samuel Baker Rindge, a merchant of large estate, whose acts of private beneficence and public liberality have left a permanent impress upon Boston and Cambridge.

In early youth he attended the schools of Cambridge and Boston, receiving his final preparation for college from Dr. James Laurence Laughlin. During his vacations, and while a young lad, his mind was broadened by extensive travel under the direction of his father. In 1870 he went to California, and during 1871 and 1872 he visited most of the places of interest in Europe. Entering Harvard College, he was graduated in 1879. His whole life was an exemplification of the stern rule of probity and religious adherence to the principles which characterized his forefathers, softened by a gentle consideration for the opinions of those differing from him, and by charity for the frailties of the erring.

After the close of his college career, he was called to assume the grave responsibilities of his father's estate. Those responsibilities were borne in a manner surpassing the expectations of his most sanguine friends, as the record of the many official and private resolutions and testimonials from his native city, and his many benefactions, public improvements and religious endowments, in the land of his chosen home on the Pacific Coast, show.

He was prostrated in the last year of his college course by an illness, from which he suffered during the remainder of his life.

On May 27, 1887, he was married to Miss Rhoda May Knight, of Trenton, Michigan, the daughter of James and Rhoda Lathrop Knight, and from this marriage were born two sons and a daughter:—Samuel Knight, at Los Angeles, April 9, 1888; Frederick Hastings, Jr., at Redondo, September 5, 1890; and Rhoda Agatha, at Santa Monica, April 20, 1893.

Early in his California life, Mr. Rindge purchased the historic Rancho Topanga Malibu, a tract of many thousands of acres of most picturesque mountain, valley and canon. Here he erected a commodious residence, and in his charming book, "Happy Days in Southern California," he has given a graphic account of this mountain home and his happy life there with his family.

A few years since he changed his residence to Santa Monica, of which he was one of the most enterprising and progressive citizens.

The evils of intemperance had been impressed upon his heart from his youth, and he gave neither countenance nor excuse for the sale of intoxicating spirits. He devoted his best energies to abolish the traffic. A member and trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Santa Monica, by his generosity the religious edifice was greatly enlarged, beautified, and furnished. Nor did his activities in the religious life cease with his removal to Los Angeles. He wrote for private distribution several books of meditations, and upon his election as President of the Young Men's Christian Association in Los Angeles he instituted measures which in their fruition will give to that organization a home whose equal does not exist upon the Pacific Coast. He once said: "I derive the greatest satisfaction in my life in Christian work."

In his private charities, and relief for the destitute, he took none into his entire confidence, and not until the great record shall be read will be known the story of all his good deeds.

His public benefactions have for the most part become known. In testimonial of the love for his native place, and the home of his ancestors, he erected and presented to the city of Cambridge its municipal building, a public library, and the Didactic Public Buildings, and he founded and supported for many years the Manual Training School for boys. In Salem, he founded and endowed the Children's Island Sanitarium.

In the management of his estate, with keen foresight and discriminating judgment he invested largely in California, principally in the central and southern sections, and with the improvements made thereon, these have greatly increased in value. As a relaxation from his many business obligations, he gave considerable attention to scientific research and the early history of America. He was a life member of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, elected in 1885, and of the Archæological Institute of America. His collections in numismatics and in the aboriginal fine arts were of such value, that he was induced to place them in the loan exhibition of the Peabody Museum of Harvard College and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts; and in the hall, erected as an annex to his spacious mansion in Los Angeles, he gathered an exhibit of the Pacific Coast archæology, and memorials of the early history of California, which has no equal among private collections.

Upon the institution of The Harvard Club of Southern California, he was unanimously elected its President; and in view of the expected visit to Los Angeles of Mr. Roosevelt, who was his friend and associate in college, he was elected for a second term.

Mr. Rindge was a descendant of Robert Kinsman, of England, who was born in 1629, and came to the Massachusetts Bay Colony, settling in Ipswich. His daughter Mary was married to Captain Daniel Rindge of Ipswich.

Mr. Rindge was also a descendant of Daniel Harrington, who was born and died in Lexington, Massachusetts, a participant in the fight of Lexington and Concord, and who gave patriotic service during the War of the Revolution, retiring with the rank of Captain. His young son, Levi Harrington, was drummer of his father's company, and participated in the siege of Boston and in subsequent campaigns. He was also descended from Samuel Baker, one of the Ipswich Company, which marched for the relief of Lexington on April 19, 1775.

TIMOTHY THOMPSON SAWYER, Litt.D., was born in Charlestown, Massachusetts, January 7, 1817, the son of William and Susanna (Thompson) Sawyer. His father was a descendant of Thomas Sawyer who settled in Lancaster, Massachusetts, in 1634. Mr. Sawyer's mother was the daughter of Timothy and Mary (Frothingham) Thompson of Charlestown, who were descendants of James Thompson and William Frothingham, both of whom were members of the company who came over with Governor Winthrop, to establish a colony, in 1630.

Mr. Sawyer's uncle was engaged in the hardware and ship chandlery business in Merchants' Row, and there when he was fourteen years old, Mr. Sawyer commenced his business career, and there he remained until the death of his uncle, June 27, 1837. He then engaged in the ship chandlery business on his own account, until a promising opportunity offered to join a new firm to engage in the shipment of ice. The style of the Ice Company was originally Gage, Hittinger and Company, afterwards Gage, Sawyer and Company. The business was interesting and successful, and Mr. Sawyer continued in it until 1860.

Mr. Sawyer was a director in the Bunker Hill Bank, from 1851 until his death, and was president from 1885 to 1890. In 1854 he was chosen one of the trustees of the Warren Institution for Savings, and was president of the Institution from 1880 till 1903, when he resigned on account of advanced age. After holding many minor offices in Charlestown, Mr. Sawyer was mayor of the city for three years, 1855-1857, and was in 1857 also a member of the House of Representatives of Massachusetts. In 1858 he was a member of the Senate. In 1872, after the resignation of Edward Lawrence, the first president of the Mystic Water Board, he was chosen Mr. Lawrence's successor, and held the position until Charlestown was annexed to Boston. Afterwards, when the Cochituate and Mystic Water Boards were merged and the new Boston Water Board commenced its duties, he was chosen chairman of that Board, and held the position for the three years succeeding.

Mr. Sawyer has shown some literary ability and has written many articles for the local papers. Some of these articles have been assembled in a book of over five hundred pages, entitled "Old Charlestown, Historical, Biographical, Reminiscent." The book is an interesting and graceful memorial of the many eminent citizens who have in times past lived under the shadow of Bunker Hill. But it is more than that. It is a complete illustration of the author's abounding loving kindness towards his fellow men.

Mr. Sawyer was one of the original organizers and one of the most efficient promoters of the Public Library of Charlestown, and gave to it liberally from his private funds. He was president of its board of managers from the time of its opening, January 1st, 1862, until it became a branch of the Boston Public Library, after the two cities were annexed in 1874. He was for many years chairman of the standing committee of the First Universalist Church in Charlestown. For more than forty years, he was one of the board of trustees of Tufts College. In 1903 the degree of Litt. D. was conferred upon him by the college.

Mr. Sawyer was a citizen of Charlestown until the fall of 1885, when he removed to Dartmouth Street in Boston. He died in Magnolia, Massachusetts, September 4, 1905. He was a most lovable gentleman, actuated through his long career by the highest and best motives only, rejoicing in and aiding the successes or sympathizing in and relieving the failures of others, dispensing affectionate good cheer to the world he met, and ever striving to make it a better and happier world for his having lived in it. He was a resident member of this Society, admitted in 1884.

ELIJAH BRIGHAM PHILLIPS, (Ebenezer Morgan,⁷ Dr. Ebenezer Humphrey,⁶ Ensign Jonathan,⁵ Joseph,⁴ Theophilus,³ Rev. George,² Christopher¹), was born in West Sutton, Massachusetts, August 20, 1819, and died at his home in Brookline, September 13, 1905. His ancestry of the seventeenth century was wholly of the Puritan migration and within the Bay Colony. The three best known of that clergy were among his ancestors, George Phillips of Watertown, Richard Mather of Dorchester, and John Cotton of Boston.

Mr. Phillips's schooling was obtained in the Westborough village schools, supplemented by a year at Leicester Academy. He was, his life long, an insatiable reader. He commanded a style in his correspondence and reports, ready, clear and direct. He liked to recall that as a boy he had trundled flour on his barrow from the Concord store to the door of the Philosopher. When nineteen years old, he entered the employ of the Boston and Worcester Railroad Company at Boston, and thus began an exceptional career of fifty years in railroad service. These years coincided with the half century which witnessed the commencement and development of steam transportation, with all which that meant to the world. He played a not unimportant part in that development. He was in turn Boston freight agent of the Company, its general agent, and its master of transportation.

In 1852 he was called to Ohio, as superintendent of the Cleveland, Norwalk and Toledo Railroad, then building. Six years later he returned to Boston, as superintendent of the Boston and Worcester Railroad, where he remained seven years. He was elected in September, 1865, president of the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana, which Company united with its neighbor, in 1869, to form the present Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, and he was the first president of the consolidated company. The following year he organized the Phillips and Colby Construction Company to build the Wisconsin Central. For several years he operated it in conjunction with the Milwaukee Northern.

In May, 1879, he was chosen president of the Eastern Railroad of Massachusetts. Shortly after, he was one of a commission of three to arbitrate between the State and the Fitchburg Railroad. The early part of 1883 he devoted to the management of the Toledo, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad; later in that year he was elected president of the Fitchburg Railroad. Four years of negotiations with the governor and his council representing the State ownership of the Hoosac Tunnel, and with the two corporations immediately to the west of it, resulted in the union of the four properties in one organization. He retired from railroad affairs in 1890, having completed a half century of strenuous railroad work, during which he had been foremost in introducing, as railroad science progressed, the many new methods and appliances which made for efficiency, economy and safety.

As the late Henry Pratt of the Michigan Central Railroad said of him, he was "a good disciplinarian; he set an example of fidelity; he hated shams; faithful to the interests committed to his care; straightforward; an example of commercial honesty." Bishop Charles Edward Cheney, of Chicago, speaks of:—"The Christian faith, the spotless integrity, the fidelity to conscience, the family affection, the never wavering loyalty to friends which marked the long life of Elijah Brigham Phillips."

He married, February 2, 1845, Maria Rebecca, daughter of Henry (born in 1784 in Walberton, co. Sussex, England) and Mehitable (Copeland) Ayling, of Boston. A devoted and happy union of forty-nine years was severed by the death of his wife, May 2, 1894. Their three children survive them.

Mr. Phillips became a resident member of this Society in 1890.

Hon. JAMES MADISON BARKER, LL.D., of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, Judge of the Supreme Court of the State, died suddenly in Boston, October 3, 1905. He was a resident member of the Society since 1901. He was born in Pittsfield, October 23, 1839, the son of John V. and Sarah (Apthorp) Barker.

He enjoyed the best educational advantages, preparing for college in the public schools of his native town, at Hinsdale Academy and at Williston Seminary. Entering Williams College in 1856, he was graduated with high rank in the class of 1860. He studied law, first in a law office at Bath, New York, and in 1862 and 1863 at Harvard Law School. In the latter year he was admitted to the Massachusetts bar, and at once formed a partnership with Major Charles N. Emerson of Pittsfield, a lawyer of note, who served with distinction through the Civil War. Two years later, Major Emerson was appointed to the internal revenue service, and Mr. Barker became associated with Thomas P. Pingree in the practice of the law, the partnership continuing until Judge Barker's elevation to the bench. This was in November, 1882, when a vacancy occurred on the Superior Court bench.

His wide knowledge of the law, keenness of comprehension, analytic quality of mind, and aptitude for clear incisive statement, contributed to his success as a judge, and the record shows that while on that bench his rulings were upheld in large measure upon appeal to the Supreme Court. His reputation for courtesy and firmness was equally in his favor, and when Judge William Allen died, in 1891, he was appointed to the vacant seat on the bench of the Supreme Judicial Court. Before his connection with the judicial branch of government removed him from active participation in politics, Mr. Barker was prominent in the councils of the Republican party. He was in the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1872 and 1873, serving on the Committee on Railroads. In consequence of the great fire in Boston, which occurred on the 9th and 10th of November, 1872, the Legislature was convened in special session. It was during this extra session that the memorable resolution censuring Charles Sumner was adopted by a vote of 103 yeas and 66 nays. Mr. Barker was recorded in the negative.

Near the close of the session of 1874 a resolve authorizing the appointment of a commission to inquire into the expediency of revising and amending the laws of the State relating to the taxation and exemptions therefrom was passed, and Mr. Barker was appointed on the commission. In 1881 and 1882, Mr. Barker was a member of the State Commission to revise the Public Statutes. In June, 1880, Mr. Barker was a member of the delegation sent by Massachusetts to the Republican National Convention at Chicago. He was foremost among the opponents of a third term for General Grant. He also was a worker for the civil service reform plank that went into the platform of that year.

Mr. Barker married at Bath, New York, September 21, 1862, Helena, daughter of Levi Carter and Pamela (Nelson) Whiting. Mrs. Barker died April 11, 1889. The Barker home has always been in Pittsfield. Justice Barker had seven children, and five survive him. His son John is a member of the bar. His daughter Mary was married to Harry G. Day, Esq., of New Haven. His other daughters were Alice, Olive, and Elizabeth.

GEORGE EDWARD ATHERTON, a resident member of this Society since 1897, died in Brookline, Massachusetts, October 31, 1905. He was born in Charlestown, Massachusetts, May 2, 1845. His father, Samuel Atherton, was a descendant of Maj.-Gen. Humphrey¹ Atherton who came to this country in 1635. The line to George Edward⁶ was through Consider,² Humphrey,³ John,⁴ John,⁵ Samuel,⁶ Samuel.⁷ His mother, Temperance Holbrook, was the daughter of Col. Joseph and Mary (Rich) Holbrook.

He was educated at Chauncy Hall School, Boston, and in the public schools of Dorchester, Massachusetts. He spent his early life in Dorchester, and started in his business life with his father in the leather business, from which he retired about 1894. He was married first, September 15, 1869, to Emma A. Coffin of Wakefield, Massachusetts, by whom he had two children, Edith and George Edward. His first wife was the daughter of Nathaniel R. Coffin, and her death occurred December 11, 1879. He was married second to Isabelle King Ray of Andover, Massachusetts, June 2, 1881. His second wife was the daughter of Frederick Ray.

By his second marriage he had three children, Ray, Ellen Parker, who died when an infant, and Emma. After his second marriage, he removed from Dorchester to Brookline.

Mr. Atherton was a member of the Union Club of Boston, and trustee of several estates.

Rev. MYRON SAMUEL DUDLEY, A.M., a resident member of this Society since 1899, died November 17, 1905. At the time of his death he was acting pastor of the Congregational Church in Newington, New Hampshire. He was born in Peru, Vermont, February 20, 1837, was graduated with honor at Williams College in 1863, and from Union Theological Seminary in 1869, and also studied a year in Andover Theological Seminary. He was acting pastor at Otego, New York, 1869-'70; ordained September 28, 1871; acting pastor, Peacham, Vermont, 1871-'72; pastor, Cromwell, Connecticut, 1874-1885. Later he had pastorates in North Wilbraham, Massachusetts, 1886-'89, and Nantucket, 1889-'97.

He was a descendant of the Dudleys of Concord, Massachusetts, through Francis,¹ Samuel,² Samuel,³ Stephen,⁴ Gen. Peter,⁵ and Gen. Stephen⁶, his father. ("Dudley Family," page 599.) His parents were Stephen and Lydia (Davis) Dudley. He received his education first in the common schools, and later in academies in Londonderry, Vermont, and Manchester, Vermont. At first he had planned to become a civil engineer, and at one time he taught Latin and Greek in Burr and Burton Seminary, at Manchester, Vermont. In 1863, while teaching school in place of a brother, in Kentucky, he carried out his resolution to enter the army. Therefore he returned to Vermont, and enlisted in the Fifth Vermont Volunteers, then stationed in Virginia. From a private in this veteran regiment he rose through the grades of sergeant and first lieutenant to the position of captain. He was wounded in the Battle of the Wilderness, but shared, however, with his regiment in the victories of the Shenandoah Valley, and in the campaign about Petersburg. He was mustered out with his regiment in June, 1865.

He was married first to Martha M. Hale, August 20, 1873, who died July 20, 1876. By this marriage he had a daughter, who died young. He was married second to Sarah D. Todd, a daughter of Rev. John Todd, D.D., the well-known author. This wife died October 26, 1884; and he was married third to Mary Elizabeth Marrett, September 14, 1892, who survives him.

He published a "Historical Sermon at the re-dedication of the Congregational Church, Peacham, Vt., 1874"; a "History of Cromwell, Conn.," 1881; "Funeral Sermon of Ira Hutchinson, M.D.," Cromwell, 1881; a sketch of Cromwell, in the History of Middlesex County, Connecticut, 1884. He had also written a history of his college class: "Class of Sixty-Three, Williams College. By the Class Historian, 1903." And there were other publications. His history of Cromwell, Connecticut, his studies in the early history of Nantucket, and his memoir of Edward Griffin Porter, president of this Society, were all marked by his characteristic thoroughness. He was a man of great public spirit, and interested especially in civil service reform, and in forestry and village improvement.

After joining this Society, Mr. Dudley became a very active member, and was appointed on the committee on the library. One of his earliest duties was the preparation of a memoir of its president for the REGISTER, which was afterwards published separately. The article on the "Churches and Pastors of Nantucket, Mass., from the First Settlement to the Present Time," in the REGISTER, January, 1902, was enlarged and published separately, as was also his article entitled "Historical Sketch of Newington, New Hampshire," July, 1904.

Rev. JAMES DAVIE BUTLER, D.D., LL.D., of Madison, Wisconsin, a corresponding member of this Society since 1847, died November 20, 1905, at the age of ninety-one.

He was born March 15, 1815, in Rutland, Vermont. In his letter of acceptance, dated from Norwich University, March 20, 1847, and still preserved, he mentions a manuscript volume giving a history of his family, and the fact that he was a member of the New York Historical Society; and that he presented to the New England Historic Genealogical Society the first pamphlet published by the Vermont Historical Society. His family, he said, originated in Massachusetts.

From a notice published in 1888, the following facts are gleaned.

His father settled in Rutland, Vermont, in 1787, but was born in Boston, where his lineage is traced from 1637.

Mr. Butler was graduated at Middlebury College in 1836, with high honor. After a year in Yale theological seminary, he returned to Middlebury and served five years as a tutor. He finished his course in Andover theological seminary, and was immediately elected Abbot resident. During the second year of his residence he accepted an invitation from Prof. Edwards A. Park to accompany him to Europe. Their passage (in 1842) lasted forty-seven days. After a stormy return passage he reached America near the close of 1843. He was advised to prepare European lectures, and did so, and one or another of these descriptions he was invited to deliver more than three hundred times in, or near, New England. After supplying the Congregational church in Burlington, Vermont, for half a year, he became a professor in Norwich (Military) University, now the Military College of Vermont, of which, at one time, he was acting president. He resigned his position there in 1847. He was pastor of churches in Wells River, Vt., South Danvers (now Peabody), Mass., and in Cincinnati, O., followed by professorships of Greek in Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Indiana, and in the State University of Wisconsin, at Madison.

In 1867 he again went abroad, extending his travels to the Orient, and to other European countries which he had not before visited.

In 1869, he penetrated into the Yosemite, and crossed to the Sandwich Islands in a sailing bark, and reached the volcano Kilauea.

He visited Europe a third and fourth time, in 1878 and 1884. He passed down into Colorado, Mexico, and Cuba. In 1883, he entered Portland, Oregon, by the first train on the Northern Pacific, and then went on through the Puget Sound to British Columbia. In 1890, then in his seventy-sixth year, he undertook a tour around the globe. It was accomplished in seventeen months, and he went alone.

He was elected to the American Antiquarian Society in Worcester at a date that ranks his name as one of the earliest members on its roll.

His writings were widely circulated. One of the most notable, from the literary standpoint, was his paper on words used once for all in Shakespeare. His lecture on "Commonplace Books" was called for more than a hundred times.

He was married, in 1847, to Anna, daughter of Joshua Bates, President of Middlebury College, by whom he had four children.

GEORGE ALLEN DARY died at his home in Roxbury, Massachusetts, on December 30, 1905. He was born in Taunton, Massachusetts, November 30, 1842. His father was George Leonard Dary, the son of Allen Dary, a farmer of Rehoboth, and a soldier of the war of 1812. Allen's father was John Dary, a private in the Revolutionary War, and John was the son of Lewis Dary, the first of the family name in this country.

George Allen Dary took great interest in genealogical study, and published the Dary Genealogy in 1903. He was a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Sons of Colonial Wars, and Sons of the Revolution. His father dying when the son was only six years old, and the mother when the son was only thirteen, he was placed under the care of a guardian in Taunton until the year 1855, when, coming to Boston, he entered the law office of Samuel E. Sewall, and was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1872. He was later a partner in the firm of Sewall and Angell, and then of Sewall and Dary. He held many trusts, which he administered with most scrupulous care. He was regarded as a most expert and reliable conveyancer. He was a founder and a member of the Abstract Club, the Massachusetts Title Insurance Company, and the Conveyancers Title Insurance Company. In 1901 he was chosen Government expert to report all the titles for the Nahant fortifications. He examined the title of the various purchases of President Cleveland at Gray Gables.

Among other things he was extremely fond of music. For many years he was on the music committee of the First Religious Society of Roxbury. He attended the Symphony Orchestra concerts from the first, and was a contributing member of the Philharmonic Society and the Orpheus Musical Association.

His greatest rest and pleasure was in out-of-door life. He was fond of the deep woods and of fishing with the fly. Fifteen years in succession he passed his summer vacations camping in the woods of Maine and New Brunswick.

He shunned prominence as much as others seek it. He had no desire to be known by many, but valued highly the friendship and loyalty of a few. He was absolutely honest, and never had any money which he did not earn by hard work. He was a most industrious man; worked hard and fast at his desk, and frequently until late in the evening; was worried if every account was not paid and up to date, and every probate account allowed. At his death, —unforeseen by him,— he left all his papers, accounts, and affairs, in as perfect condition as if he had known the hour of it months in advance.

He was a resident member of the Society, elected in 1899.

By WILLIAM HOAG, Esq.

[The following sketch of Hon. Ira Davenport, arranged for by the late Rev. Dr. Adams, was not found until after the sketch on page liii was printed.]

IRA DAVENPORT. His grandfather, Noah Davenport, was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and his maternal grandfather, Dugald Cameron, was a prominent citizen of Steuben County, New York, in its early development, having come from Scotland in the latter part of the 18th century. Ira Davenport, the father of the subject of this sketch, when a young man, removed from Columbia County, New York, to Steuben County, where he established his home and married Lydia, the daughter of the above-mentioned Dugald Cameron. The late Ira Davenport was the youngest child of this marriage.

His father's death, in 1868, threw upon him the responsibility of the management of important interests in various States, but he found time to devote himself to all measures which he believed would make for the material and intellectual welfare of the people of his county. He was largely instrumental in securing for the town of Bath the New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home. He endowed liberally the Davenport Home for Female Orphan Children at Bath, an institution founded by his father, and he left to the village of Bath the library which bears his name, with a fund to properly maintain it. In politics he was a member of the Republican party.

In 1877 he entered public life. In that year he was elected to the State Senate, and in 1879 was re-elected to the same office. During the four years he served as a Senator in the New York Legislature he made such an impression upon his party and the people of the State that in 1881 he was nominated and elected comptroller, in which office he demonstrated his sterling business methods and sagacity. In 1884 he was elected a representative in Congress, and the following year his party honored him by naming him as its candidate for Governor of the State; but the Democratic party carried the election and he was defeated. In 1886 he was re-elected to Congress, and at the end of his second term he retired to private life. In 1887 he married Katharine, only daughter of General George H. Sharpe of Kingston, New York.

Mr. Davenport was a wide reader, a man fond of and versed in the humanities, of a nature broadly tolerant, keen of insight and humor, a lover and judge of painting. Public honors were never sought by him; they came to him unsolicited, and evidenced the esteem in which he was held by his county, his district, and his State.

By SEVERY B. SHARPE, Esq.

Memoirs of the following named members of the Society may be found as indicated:—

HON. LUCIUS MANLIUS BOLTWOOD, in the REGISTER of October, 1905; JAMES SWIFT ROGERS, A.B., and HON. ANDREW NAPOLEON ADAMS, in the REGISTER of January, 1906; and BENJAMIN BARSTOW TORREY, in the REGISTER of April, 1906.

It is expected that a memoir of ROBERT CHARLES WINTHROP, JR., A.M., will appear in the REGISTER of July, 1906, and one of HON. STEPHEN SALISBURY, A.M., and GEORGE WILLIAM MARSHALL, LL.D., in the REGISTER of October, 1906.
