North Ogden Denies Plea On Zoning

NORTH OGDEN—A request for a zoning change to permit development of a shopping center has been denied by the North Ogden City Council. William F. Homer, Salt Lake City, asked that a seven-acre piece of ground at the intersection of 2750 North and Washington be zoned commercial. It is now residential.

Mr. Homer recently had the land annexed to the city in the hopes the zoning change could be made.

The City Council, however, said they would have to go along with the recommendation of the city planning commission which recommended the change not be made.

The planning commission indicated it felt there was sufficient commercial areas in the city at present and the change did not conform to the city's present master plan.

The commission held a two-hour hearing on the application earlier. City Council members said the commission had made a very complete and careful study of the proposal.

Mr. Homer, present at the City Council meeting, said he felt the action would restrict business development in the community.

ORPHEUM THEATER

Top Stars Frolic in Film About Bachelor and Girls

What happens when an actor becomes famous as a doctor on TV and becomes the idol of millions?

That is the question that is hilariously answered in the Technicolor comedy, "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed?" which is now playing at the Orpheum Theater.

Starred in the film is Dean Martin, as the doctor, and the cast also includes Elizabeth Montgomery, Martin Balsam, Jill St. John, Louis Nye, Richard Conte and Carol Burnett in her first motion picture role.

The story tells what happens when people confuse the actor with the role he plays. Although people come to him with their problems and ailments, he is ill-equipped to help them since his own personal life is a mess of poker games and girls. His private life really becomes chaotic when his friends' wives come to him in search of solace. He becomes caught in the middle—between his cronies and their wives. He also is having second thoughts about his own forthcoming marriage to his movie fiancée, Elizabeth Montgomery.

Miss Burnett plays Miss Montgomery's best friend in the film and tries to get herself married, but in addition tries every trick in the book to bring about the marriage of Miss Montgomery and Martin.

Sophisticated dialogue and funny situations spark the comedy throughout. The film was directed by Daniel Mann and produced by Jack Rose.

Big Business Reported by Clerk in '63

"The Weber County Clerk's Office is getting to be big business," County Clerk Wendell Hansen said today when he reported that $539,809 was received over the counter during 1963, an increase of $19,000 over the previous year.

"Of this amount," he reported, "$481,238 was for alimony and child support payments. The balance of $58,551 was for clerk's fees, which are turned in to the County Treasurer's office to help run the county, and money realized from payment of fines, forfeitures and trust funds.

"The past year has been the most active one in the history of this office," Mr. Hansen noted. More than 24,000 legal papers were processed and recorded. There were 2,014 civil suits filed, an increase of 65 over 1962. Criminal cases too, were up, four from the 285 filed in 1962, and probate cases showed an increase of one, or 225 as compared with 224 in 1962.

"One of the most pleasant duties of this office is the handling of adoption cases," Mr. Hansen said, "which remained about the same, 100 as compared to 102 in 1962."

"However," he said, "the divorce rate continues to be unusually high." There were 398 divorces and 21 annulments, a total of 419, an increase of 31 over the previous year.

Sale of marriage licenses jumped from 943 in 1962, to 1,035 in 1963. But the divorce percentage remained the same as last year, 41 per cent, which is higher than the national average.

Sixty seven new citizens were naturalized during the past year.

Commitments to the Utah State Hospital almost doubled in 1963—78 as compared to 42 in 1962.

There were 880 tax exemption applications filed by veterans, 313 by widows of veterans and 52 by blind persons, which brought the total to 1,245, or 77 more than in 1962.

The number of local citizens traveling abroad was also on the increase during 1963. There were 949 passports applied for, an increase of 289 over the year before. These included missionaries, foreign exchange students, Peace Corps workers, civilian and military government workers and tourists.

Election voting districts were increased from 155 to 174 during the year, and the reapportionment committee completed their work of redistricting the senatorial districts which remained at two, and the legislative districts which were increased from 6 to 7, by an act of the state legislature.

"One other thing should be noted too," Mr. Hansen said. "The purchasing department, which spend much of the $3,049,000 budget, saved a considerable amount by calling for bids and cutting down on non-essential items."

Detention Home Renovation Done

Renovation of the Weber County Juvenile Detention Home to make it more attractive has been completed, Weber Commissioner Jen Patterson said today.

The building has been repainted inside and out and a new shower added. The recreation area has been arranged for more space with television and reading tables available to the young people detained until they appear in court.

The commissioner in charge of the detention home said that the average length of stay is still about three or four days.

OGDEN SCHOOL DISTRICT OKAYS PLAN TO ANNEX BENCH AREA

The Ogden Board of Education has approved the annexation of southeast bench property by the City of Ogden. The action was in the form of approval for LeGrand Stewart, board president, to sign the official petition seeking annexation.

Richard Merrill of the Ogden Planning Commission brought the petition form to the Board of Education meeting and explained, "As owners of school tracts in the area you are considered property owners."

The Ogden School District in the past year has bought southeast bench sites for an elementary school, junior high and senior high.

Schools Too Soft? No, Claims Official

Dr. T. O. Smith said Wednesday advances in education have been "tremendous but not revolutionary."

The Ogden School District superintendent made the comment in an address to the Ogden Rotary Club as an answer to the four major criticisms he said are being directed at the U.S. educational system.

Most criticisms, he said, centers around charges the schools have become too soft, put more stress on life adjustment than acquisition of knowledge, have low standards for passing and graduation and have made no progress.

"It is unfair to say all of these criticisms apply to every school in every city in the nation," Dr. Smith told the Rotarians.

"Schools take the course society directs," Dr. Smith stated. "We have the kind of schools the people want."

To the charge of over-emphasizing life adjustment, Dr. Smith said he "pleads not guilty" for the Ogden City schools.

Standards for passing and graduating have been lowered, he told the Rotarians, so that all students might have an opportunity to acquire what knowledge they are capable of acquiring.

To raise the standards, he asserted, would be to restrict graduation to those students capable of achieving the higher standards and would worsen the dropout problem.

And for every parent who complains the school curriculum is "too soft," he said, "I get calls from four or five saying it is too tough."

Turning to the future, Dr. Smith said he sees further advances in education and continued problems with teacher organizations.

"Teachers have never been as militant as they are today," Dr. Smith told the Rotarians. "This is a national feeling and will be an increasingly difficult problem to handle."

The average salary of teachers in Ogden City is $6,350 this year compared with $5,586 last year, Dr. Smith reported. One-third of the Ogden teachers are at the top of the salary schedule, he said, and more than one-half are in the top five steps of the 15-step schedule.

Dr. Smith said he expects a longer school year and new ideas in adult education in the coming years.

2 Additional Felony Counts

Ben A. Medina of 2621 Monroe appeared in City Court and was arraigned on two more felony charges.

He was charged with two counts of robbery from person in the disarming of two Weber County deputies Saturday night and taking their guns.

Medina was arraigned in the City Court Monday morning on a charge of second degree burglary.

He waived preliminary hearing on all three counts and was bound over to Second District Court by Judge Ronald C. Hyde in the city court. Judge Hyde raised his total bail to $7,000.

Forger Gets Prison Term

Richard Tomney, no address given, has been sentenced to from one to 20 years in the Utah State Prison.

Judge Parley E. Norseth in Second District Court denied probation.

The charge was that the defendant forged the name of Leonard R. Tomney to a contract with the Firestone Stores "with the intent to defraud."

Forfeiture by Airman

Failure to appear in City Court on a charge of having improper mufflers on his automobile cost John T. Lynch, 20 Hill Air Force Base, forfeiture of $10 bail.
